Here's a Pointer.

Tea is an article about as much used as anything, yet very few understand the buying of it. Osh-K-Osh tea is about as well known as any tea on the market; regular price is 40 cents a pound and never been sold for less, but for the balance of this month Stroud Bros., 370 George street, are selling it at 28 cents a pound, four pounds for one dollar.

Could They be Cheaper ?

It would seem as if the depression had completely squeezed every drop of blood out of values. Joseph Armstrong & Co. are now advertising a closing out sale of their entire summer stock of ladies vests at 15 cents each. Prices surely could'nt go lower.

to Visit Rochester for $1.75. Do not miss it !

Adeline Gray.

Just received at the Peterborough Bookstore and also at H. Thompson & Co's old stand, several copies of the latest novel, "Adeline Gray," by Mr. Hampden Burnham, author of "Canadians in the Imperial Service." Only a few copies left. Call early at the Peterborough Bookstore or Thompson's old stand. A. H. STRATTON & Co.

Altar Boys Outing.

The altar boys of St. Peter's Cathedral, through the generosity of Rev. Father Casey, rector of the Cathedral, enjoyed an outing at Chemong Park, yesterday. Two bus loads left town early in the day with the youngsters, who spent a most enjoyable outing at the Park. Sports of all kinds were indulged in, and a lacrosse match was played between two picked teams. The excursionists returned home about 8:30 in the evening and were pleased with the day's enjoyment, and loud in their praises of the popular rector of St. Peter's.

Baskets Full of Attractions !

Laid at Rest.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Hayes, took place on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock to the Roman Catholic Cemetery, and was largely attended. The floral tributes were beautiful, among them being two handsome wreaths from the members of the Peterborough Fire Brigade, and a beautiful pillow with the word "mother" across the centre, from her children. The members of the fire department attended in a body. The pall bearers were Messrs. W. and J. Dineen, J. Dunn, F. McAulliff, O. Curran and M. O'Donnell. A grand requiem mass was celebrated Monday morning at eight o'clock in St. Peter's Cathedral.

The Fruit Market.

Messrs. Oke & Co., fruit and commission merchants, Water street, are handling a large quantity of fruit just now. The quality is remarkably good and the retail trade find no difficulty disposing of it. During the past few days they have been in receipt of heavy shipments of early peaches from the Niagara Fruit Growers' Association and other growers and the quotations have ranged at prices so fair and moderate for such good fruit as to create an active demand. The Messrs. Oke & Co. are large apple buyers and in a short time intend to place themselves in communication with our best apple growers and buy all they can get their hands on of suitable varieties for their trade.

The Procession To-morrow

Will start with the Foresters' excursion to Toronto, Queenston, Niagara Falls and Buffalo by the early C.P.R. train at 4.42 in the morning. You have the privilege of going to-night if you like, or on any of the three C.P.R. trains all day to-morrow. You can take the early morning train at 4.42, or the last train to-night, and get to the Falls and Buffalo, see all the sights, and be back home again on the midnight express to-morrow night about 11 o'clock. The tickets, however, are good for three days, if you want to stay longer. This popular excursion is by C.P.R. parlour coaches to Toronto, by commodious steamers to Queenston, by electric railway to Niagara Falls and Slater's Point, and by steamer Columbian to Buffalo—rail, boat and electricity! The specially low rates are as follows:

To Toronto and return—only $1.75.
To Niagara Falls and return—only $2.25.
To Buffalo and return—only $2.75.

They Made a Raid.

The train with the excursion party from Toronto to Peterborough, the Guide says, stopped at the down town station last Monday night, for the purpose of watering the engine. The young roughs then made a raid on Martin Griffin's, and after partaking of a couple of dollars worth of liquid refreshments, went off, not only without paying their bill, but carried away two or three bottles of pop, and one of them was making off with the silver water jug. Martin has got some of their names and they had better settle the matter before they get into trouble.

A Fine Highland Shop Display.

The special decorations in the windows of Miss Rudkins, is both an artistic success and a graceful compliment to the Highland Cadet Corps which will arrive in the morning. The decorations consist of displays of tartans of different clans, but in different designs. The entire decorations are unusually beautiful and effective.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

IN HONOUR OF THE FORESTERS.

The Fire Brigade Band Plays in the Park.

Last night the Court House park was the scene of one of the best open air concerts ever given there. The Fire Brigade Band furnished the whole programme. It had been arranged that the Stayner band, which accompanied the Foresters, should contribute half of the programme, but for some reason not known, the visitors did not put in an appearance. The park under the skilful hands of Mr. J. W. Brisbin, whom, as the result proved, the reception committee wisely selected, looked like a scene from the Arabian Nights. Thousands of parti-coloured Chinese lanterns formed a cordon of soft, swaying light around the park, and from the dark foliage of every tree the lights shone out, and when is added the presence of shifting throngs of citizens—gaily attired ladies and their escorts—and the thousands seated upon the grass, the scene was a very pretty one. The band furnished a splendid programme, judiciously varied to suit all tastes, consisting of Lancers, two or three valses, a pretty and catchy song and dance, and two classical selections, from Rossini and Donezetti—La Fille du Regiment. The work of the band was beautifully done, the crescendo movements and the up passages being especially marked with fine finish and smoothly delicate effects. The band has very greatly improved during the past year, due to diligent rehearsals and careful teaching and conducting, and last night played with a finish that was exceedingly creditable. The cornet solos of Mr. W. H. Calder, the euphonium solo of Mr. E. McCabe and the B flat cornet solo of Sergt. George Grange, were delightful features of the several selections. A flurry of rain near nine o'clock made a little scattering, but the shower ceasing, most of the people returned and the band played till ten o'clock. During the evening Mr. Harry Long's ice cream marquel on the park grounds was well patronised and proved a great convenience.

INDEPENDENT FORESTERS' HIGH COURT CONTINUES.

NO HIGH COURT DIVISION AND REDUCED SALARIES DECIDED UPON.

Exchange of Civic and Fraternal Courtesies—The Proposal to Divide the High Court Held Over—Salaries Dealt With in the Direction of Reduction—The Election of Officers Partially Completed.

The High Court resumed session at 2 o'clock.

A large part of the afternoon session was occupied with the duties of reception. The Supreme Executive, in the rich and attractive uniform of Royal Foresters, were received with royal honours. Oronhyatekha, Supreme C. R., responded in his usual happy mode. He never visited the High Court of Ontario without deriving inspiration. He was delighted to announce that, on the first of August, the reserve fund was $1,018,000, and that to-day the Order has at its back $1,030,000. Again, he would say, "God bless Ontario and every Forester therein."

Judge Wedderburn, Supreme Counsellor, the old man, eloquent of the Order, touched, in his brilliant way, on the history of the Order. Forestry now commanded the respect and admiration of our friends and the fears of enemies. Forestry had stretched out to take in the English, Irish, Scotch and even a dash of Mohawk. We were now a millionaire at twenty-one. Of all this Oronhyatekha was a splendid part. He wanted to see Forestry the best and strongest in the world, till its banner was wafted by every breeze that blew in the habitable world.

CIVIC AND FRATERNAL WELCOMES.

To Bro. Rev. A. McGillivary, High Chief Ranger, and Delegates of the High Court, Independent Orders of Foresters:

DEAR SIR AND BROTHERS,—On behalf of Court Chemong, No. 530, we desire to extend to the High Court officers and delegates a hearty welcome to our town, and to express the wish that your deliberations here may be of the most pleasant character.

The importance of the High Court and of the business which it transacts at its sessions, is known to us in so far as we as Foresters know the great interests controlled by your honourable body.

You have gathered here as representatives of hundreds of courts located in different parts of the province, and the welfare of each of these courts, as well as the welfare and interest of each individual member of those courts, is centred here to a large extent.

With our interest in our Order burning with a fervent warmth, we express the hope that your deliberations will proceed smoothly and under the guidance of the well founded principles of our Order, be conducive to the best interests of Independent Foresters. That such will be the case we have not the slightest doubt, for the wisdom that has guided us so successfully in the past is still with us, and the able minds that have shaped the course of the High Court in its business procedure have not left us, but are supported by others who have the ability to weigh questions, and arrive at best conclusions.

And sirs and brothers, while we do not desire to go into details, we cannot extend a welcome to the High Court without remarking upon the phenomenal progress that Independent Forestry has made. Established on fraternal lines that attract and elevate when a man comes within its borders, it is praiseworthily organized on a business basis for benevolent objects; it is a grand success, a worker of relief throughout the world. The record of our order financially is unprecedented, and for this thanks and credit must be given to those in whose hands the management has been placed.

For all this success the members of Chemong Court unite with the brethren at large in rejoicing, and we, like others, look forward to continued success in the future, confidently feeling that our foundation is sure.

Again, in order not to be to lengthy, let us on behalf of Court Chemong, welcome you and the High Court officers and delegates to our town of Peterborough. We believe we can honestly claim it is one of Canada's most enterprising and progressive towns. Her citizens love their town and work together for her advancement, and are never slow in appreciating an honour done to the town. We can, therefore promise you courtesy wherever you go while you remain among us, and especially will you all be welcome and warmly received among Independent Foresters.

We bid you welcome, again, on behalf of the Peterborough brethren, and hope that your visit will be pleasant to each and every one of you, and your deliberations profitable and pleasant to the order generally.

The H. C. Ranger made a happy and suitable reply and was followed by Supreme Secretary J. A. McGillivray, who congratulated the court on its progress.

town and county, consisting of H. Nesbitt, D. D. H. C. R., Peterborough; C. R. Courtenay, D.D.H.C.R., Durham; F.J. Jameson, member of Executive Committee; J. Clarke, M. D., W. Menzies, J. N. Greer, M. D., A. Clegg, P. C. R., R. E. Layfield, P. C. R., W. A. Stratton, F. H. Dobbin, members from Courts Peterborough No. 29, Littlejohn No. 92, and Langton No. 344, and Primrose, Mount Pleasant, representing 500 brethren, presented the following address:

To the High Court of the Independent Order of Foresters:

WORTHY HIGH CHIEF RANGER AND BROTHERS:—

On behalf of the Canadian Order of Foresters of the Town and County of Peterborough, we desire to extend to you a most cordial and fraternal welcome, on this the first occasion of your High Court meeting at Peterborough.

We address you as brothers, feeling, that whilst your society and our society differ in name and in many important particulars, yet the broad and noble principles which underlie and are the foundation of your order are the same principles which support and strengthen the order which we represent.

We are the more pleased to welcome you to Peterborough, for here is one of the most populous and thriving communities of Canadian Forestry in the Dominion, who understand the high importance of your presence amongst us and who appreciate the noble aims and the wonderful success of your splendid organization.

We trust that you will retain pleasant memories of the days you spend in our midst and that the result of your labours here will not only be conducive to the higher prosperity of your own order but will be one step forward in bringing together all men into closer communion and fellowship, and making them better and wiser.

Oronhyatekha, S.C.R., thanked the brethren for the address; he was happier for it; he desired the friendship and good will of all societies. He regretted that they did not know each other well enough.

THE FREEDOM OF THE CITY.

Mayor Kendry and the town councillors presented the following address:

To the High Court of Ontario of the Independent Order of Foresters:

HIGH CHIEF RANGER, OFFICERS AND GENTLEMEN:

It is a pleasant duty which the Council of the Town of Peterborough has to perform in welcoming the members of this High Court to Peterborough. We are pleased, and the people of the town whom we represent are pleased to have a visit from so large a number of prominent gentlemen, and to have the High Court of so distinguished a society as the Independent Order of Foresters hold its deliberations here. While we are always gratified to be in a position to welcome visitors, it is an especial pleasure to welcome the chosen representatives of an Order that exists for one of the most laudable objects for which men can unite. There is no work more commendable than that of ministering to those who are helpless and suffering, and in uniting for such a work you form a society that should receive the sanction of all. And while every man is pleased to receive kind attention from his fellow man when he is afflicted, here are many who, though they may sorely need further aid, are unwilling to receive even from their friends, help of a financial character, and this, again, is where a society such as yours, is of benefit. No member of this society, who is sick and in distress, receives the aid that is given as charity; your methods divest it of every appearance of that character, and the member in receiving benefits receives what is due to him, and his manliness and independence are not weakened. By the same methods, also, he through your Order makes provision for his family when he is called away from them. None the less, however, is the help appreciated, and hundreds can testify to the great benefits received through membership in your Order. We, therefore, trust that your deliberations will result in further progress and prosperity, and that your Society, which has made such rapid strides forward in the past, will continue to grow and extend its field of usefulness.

At the same time we hope that your stay among us will be pleasant, and that when the work that has called you together is accomplished, you will carry away only pleasant recollections. As citizens of Ontario we are proud of this province, and we will also plead guilty to feeling a little pride in our town. We desire you to feel at home here, to feel that for the time being, at any rate, you are citizens of the town. In a word, in bidding you welcome to Peterborough we offer you the freedom of the town.

JAS. KENDRY,
Mayor.

The High Chief thanked the civic deputation for calling the police off and the S. C. R. was of the opinion that they would have a great big time to-night.

A GENERAL WELCOME.

Communications expressing a hearty welcome to the visiting High Court were received from the Board of Trade, from the church warriens of St. John's church, and Sons of Ireland P. B. Association.

DIVISION DISCUSSED.

The report on Appeals and Amendments presented by Bro. Thos. MacGillivray showed that during the year there had been no appeal against the rulings of the High Chief during the year.

The report on the State of Order introduced a long and animated discussion. Bro. Wm. Hickey, High Counsellor, moved, seconded by Bro. Barclay, that the High Court jurisdiction be divided. It was thought that such division would lead to increased efficiency.

Bro. Wilkins, of Court Imperial, opposed division and moved that no further action be taken at present, seconded by Bro. Kennedy, of Bolton. Bro. Cameron, of Court Sir Oliver, favoured this motion.

Bro. Atkinson thought that a large body like this gave dignity to the Order. Bro. Courtney, of St. Thomas, thought there was not sufficient time now to consider the question. Bro. Kerr, of Court Fergus, doubted that the High Court had power within itself to divide; this motion, then, would be out of order. Representative Oronhyatekha, Supreme C. R., did not consider it dividing the house against itself; why should we not have two such High Courts as this of Ontario? It is not a question of expense. The expenses of the Order need not be increased; they could divide the present salaries. The division of the Order is in the interests of the Order; no reference to subordinate courts could bring together a representation more able to deal with the question—once and for all. They had material for twenty such H. C. Rangers as the present incumbent. "Yes, for 900," remarked the H. C. R. sotto voce. Wardrope, of Court Hamilton, believed that no valid reason has been offered for division.

Dr. Thompson, of Queen City, urged that the question had originated in the High Executive and should receive serious and careful consideration, emanating as it does from a noble experience of our trusted workers.

Hetherington, of Brock, thought that financial calculations should have been presented, showing comparatively the benefits and costs of division.

Chandler, of Deseronto, thought every delegate had been instructed to vote. He had been so instructed to vote for division.

The H. C. R. called the High Secretary to the chair and desired him to make a statement. The courts were informed on this matter by a circular and afterwards through the Forester. The essence of the matter was that the work was too onerous for one high standing committee. He said, "give me one-half of the territory and one-half the number and I shall double the results of the present year."

He furnished the financial statistics, Bro. Hetherington had asked for, showing that in the case of creating two Forestric capitals, as against one such centre, there would be no difference in the per diem allowance, but there would be a difference of 1,301 miles in favour of division. It is a wise expenditure when it brings good returns; with better organization, better results must come.

The Supreme Secretary felt that a High Standing Committee must do even better work than last year, if the field is to be fully occupied. They must get two more Inspectors. He was ready to give his vote in favour of division.

Rickard, of Newcastle, thought the question had been submitted to the subordinate courts. He had been instructed to vote against division.

P. H. C. R. David Miller pointed out the analogy of the division of church territory into jurisdictions. Growth always followed these divisions. "Give us the two High Courts in Ontario and in ten years we shall have twenty-five thousand members in each."

Stevens, of Court Toronto, thought that expenses should be curtailed.

Smith, of Argyle, ably opposed the division of the High Court. He thought that division would render each High Executive liable to undue influence from the Supreme Executive.

Kappelle, of Toronto, urged that if the interests of the Order are consulted there will be division; if the interests of Toronto are consulted, there will be no division. With two High Courts we can get two High Chiefs who will fill the duties for the honour. It is business we want and we can attain it only through working on business principles.

Rev. Gracie, of Gananoque, Ross, of Harwood, and Delamere, of Minden, carried the discussion down to the hour of adjournment. The court adjourned till 9 p. m.

EVENING SESSION.

The High Court resumed business at 9 p. m., when the H. C. R. read the following message, from Flint, Mich., signed by J. A. Frise, P. H. C. R., and Frank Dullan, High Treasurer:—

"Peace, harmony and good will to yourself and to the High Court of Ontario. May the blessing of Heaven rest on your proceedings. Forestry with us, in Mich., is on the forward march." (Applause.)

The debate on the question of division was resumed by Bro. Fraser, of Ottawa, followed by Bro. Dibbs, of Odessa, Thomas, of Moira, McNair, of Carleton, Murdock, of Rose, Fred Cook, Proctor. Bro. Backus closed the debate, and an amendment to collect information, concerning division, and submit it to the subordinate courts, prevailed on a division of 320 to 184.

The Finance Committee's first report was presented by Bro. Dan. Rose, jr. It noted that in 1893, the Order increased by 3,404 members, and in 1894, by 4,117; the revenue of the Court increased in 1893, by $1,650.34, and in 1894, by $3,556.58. The sum of $500.00 was passed as an indemnity to the H. C. Ranger for his preeminent services during the year; $100 to the H. V. C. R. The various salaries were fixed as follows:—H. Sec., $800.00; H. Treas., $200; H. Sr. Inspector, $1200.00; H. Jr. Inspector, $750.00.

The Court adjourned until 9:30 this morning.

SECOND DAY—MORNING SESSION.

The High Court resumed its session at 9:30 Rev. Alex. Macgillivray in the chair.

For High Chief Ranger, there were nominated Harry Collins, of Toronto; A. H. Backus, of Aylmer; Rev. Alex. MacGillivray, of Toronto; W. R. Hickey, of Bothwell. All other nominees having resigned Bro. Harry Collins was declared elected by acclamation.

For Vice-Chief Ranger—Rev. Evans Davis, London; G. L. Wilson, Toronto; L. P. Barclay, Whitby; W. R. Hickey, Bothwell; W. B. Sanders, Stayner; D. E. Cameron, Toronto; Rev. Robt. McNair, Carleton Place. All the nominees retired except W. R. Hickey and Rev. Robt. McNair. Number of votes cast, 376; necessary to election, 289; Rev. Robt. McNair received 301 and was declared elected H. V. C. R.

For High Secretary—W. J. Hetherington, Toronto; J. B. Halkett, Ottawa; Alex. McKee, Uxbridge; John Gilmore, Toronto; Wm. Rea, Ottawa; J. S. R. McCann, Kingston; John R. Hill, Toronto.

Bro. J. B. Halkett was re-elected High Secretary on the first ballot.

During the course of the election of officers, Dr. Clark, Past High Physician, moved that the whole question of division, of the High Court Jurisdiction, be reconsidered. The motion was defeated.

Dr. Hodgetts having resigned, the first ballot was taken, resulting in the election of Dr. Bell.

THE EFFORTS OF THE EARLY ENGLISH PHILOLOGISTS.

Some of the Definitions Are Quite Amusing—How Words Were Taught Before Books Were Printed—The First and Subsequent Dictionaries Down to Johnson's.

There was a time when there were no dictionaries. Then the master sat in the midst of his pupils, and explained to them the mysteries of words, and taught them how to preserve the words in manuscripts. But as people multiplied, and the demand for knowledge increased, pupils became masters in distant lands, far from the schools and their teachers, where their only reference was the precious manuscript of their own copying.

The pupil master met with great difficulties and many failures in his efforts to change the master tongue into the language or dialect familiar to the pupils who surrounded him. By reason of these difficulties and failures he was forced to study out the best manner of expressing the mysterious characters, and having succeeded in this, he would write the meaning, or gloss, as it was termed, in his manuscript, above the word or phrase that had given him trouble. And the very first word thus marked, or glossed, by the first of these pupil masters, was the first seed sown from which grew all the dictionaries that followed.

The making of manuscripts advanced with the spread of knowledge, until they became beautiful works of art, and the addition of glosses here and there, written in large, bold, red letters, did not add to their appearance. To avoid this defacement, the glossed words were written at one side, in a column, separate from the manuscript. This was the first form of a dictionary.

As the languages grew in numbers, and the different teachers gave their own rendering of the different words, a more pretentious name for the art of word-making was chosen, and glosses became glossaries. There were many of these glossaries printed as soon as printing became a possibility, while many others remained for centuries in the original manuscript.

Up to the beginning of the sixteenth century the sole aim of all the word books was the explanation of rare, difficult, or as they were aptly called, "hard" words. For centuries English lexicographers advanced very slowly. Their word books were constructed in a quaint, rambling, delightful style.

The first real dictionary was compiled by John of Genoa, and printed by Guttenberg himself, in 1460. The first English dictionary was written by Richard Francis, a Norfolk man. It was a very small affair, with but few pages, and was called "The Little Expositor, or the Little Discloser." It contained only nouns and verbs, the nouns in one list and the verbs in another.

This was followed by "The Catholicon Anglicum," dated 1483, which remained in manuscript form until a few years ago, when the Early English Text Society was granted the privilege of publishing it. A more pretentious word book was compiled by Richard Hulvet in 1552. It was divided into sections, English, Latin, and French. The English was printed in black letter, the Latin in roman, and the French in italics. In certain cases where the author was ignorant of the French definition, he apologized and omitted it.

"The Manipulus Vocabularum," containing seventy-seven leaves, was published in 1570. The author's excuse for publishing another dictionary, when there were so many already in use, is unique:

"While the larger and more costly books are suitable for the more advanced students who are richable, mine is fitted for beginners and them who are poorable, who can afford no better."

He had a department of rhyme words which he said was "for scholars as use to write in English metre."

In 1573 John Baret published a dictionary which he called "The Alveria—the Bee Hive." His pupils, whom he called his "diligent bees," gathered the material for the work during the course of their studies. It was a quadruple dictionary, having an English, Latin, French and Greek department. He apologizes for the omission of certain Greek words in this quaint manner:

"I could not joins the Greeke with every Latin word for lacke of Greeke letters, which the printer had not leisure to provide."

Some of the word books already mentioned had double columns arranged alphabetically, with headings at the top of the page in this style: "B, ante—A, B, ante—E, B, ante—I," etc. In 1611 Cotgrave published a French and English dictionary, which gave the three index letters at the head of each column, as used at the present time. The author called it "A Bundle of words."

A genuine English dictionary, diminutive in size and curious in construction, was published in 1616. A girl is described as a "roe-buck of two years," and a column and a half is given to the description of a crocodile, closing in this way: "It will weep over a man's head, after devouring the body, and then devour the head also." Possibly from this comes the expression, "crocodile tears."

The first dictionary that aimed to give the derivation of words and the regulation of accents, was published in 1617, and the first dictionary that was written with a purpose was published in 1623. The author says: "I believe that ladies and gentlemen desirous of a refined and elegant speech will also like an English expositor of vulgar words, mock words and fustian terms, in order that they may be able to express themselves properly."

He describes the barble as "a fish that will not meddle with the bait until with her tails she have unhooked it from the hooke."

Two years after Thomas Blount published the "Glossographia"; Edward Phillips, the son of Milton's sister, published "The New World of Words." He copied so freely from "Glossographia," blunders and all, that it caused a quarrel between the two authors.

In 1721 Matthew Baily wrote "The Universal Etymological English Dictionary," which appears to have been the pioneer cyclopedia. He was a popular schoolmaster and yet he described the sea unicorn in this exaggerated style: "A fish, eighteen feet long, having a head like a horse, with scales as large as a crown piece; six large fins like the end of a galley oar, and a horn issuing out of the forehead nine feet long and so sharp as to pierce the hardest bodies."

John Wesley comes next with his dictionary of 100 pages. In the preface he says: "The author assures you that he thinks this is the best dictionary in the world. Many are the mistakes in all the other dictionaries which I have seen, whereas I can truly say I know of none in this."

And thus are we led up through the ignorance and gradual awakening of the times to Johnson. He was a scholar, with the dreams of a poet, but he awoke to the needs of the public and wrote a dictionary. Although he was charged with making 4,300 blunders, it was the best that had yet been written. It is said that the volumes grew so bulky that students were frightened away, and it is not surprising, when we learn that when he had arrived at the word "lexicographer," he had filled two large volumes that were half a yard high, a foot wide and a finger thick, weighing many pounds. When his work was completed it represented eight years of solid labor himself and a small army of assistants.

Johnson had many successors of all sorts.

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterises both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

A PRODUCTIVE MUSHROOM BED.

It Costs but a Trifle and Will Produce for Two Years.

According to the Muses des Familles, the following is a very simple and cheap method of preparing a mushroom bed that will yield a crop all the year round.

In a pine box about twenty inches in depth and three feet square, place a four-inch thick stratum of a mixture of three parts of dry cow manure and one part of garden soil. Having procured some mushroom spawn, break it up and sow it in a second stratum of manure and earth two inches in depth. Slightly compress the whole and cover with an eight inch layer of earth, which should be kept damp by watering through a fine hose.

In six or eight weeks the first crop of mushrooms will appear at the surface, and will continue to do so for at least two years, provided the bed is kept damp.

A small quantity of aqua ammonia added to the water with which the bed is moistened will hasten the appearance of the fungi.

The box should be placed by preference in a place where the light is not too bright, say in a cellar in which the temperature is moderate and equable, or in a dark part of a stable.

The Light Wheel Problem.

The light wheel problem, which this year more than ever is absorbing the attention of cyclists, is a pretty difficult one to solve satisfactorily. Everybody wants to ride a light wheel, but everybody does not want to ride one that will not stand the pounding of a rutty road or an occasional tumble. Wood rims are being extensively ridden, but they are not as strong as metal rims and never can be. A great many wheels that weigh from eighteen to twenty-four pounds are being ridden over all kinds of roads this season, in Brooklyn and out on Long Island, and a large percentage of them are coming to grief. The rider of one has to be as careful of his mount as if it were a delicate racehorse. Universal use of feather-weight wheels will scarcely come until the roads are far better than they average to-day. England has had the light wheel craze and has gotten pretty well over it. American wheelmen like the light machine and don't want to give it up. Hence they are crying for good roads and are accomplishing much in that direction. It is maintained by many good riders that over an ordinary road a 30 pound wheel is easier and faster riding than a 20-pounder, because it is easier and steadier and does not lose way in bounding over a hummock or a rut. There are many who predict either better roads or a return to heavier wheels next year, or else a more extensive use of aluminum in the construction of bicycles.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Taught the Doctor a Lesson.

A certain well-known physician of the south side was a victim of his own "previousness" the other day. He had successfully treated a wealthy lady's daughter for diphtheria and the lady was extremely grateful for it. When the child was thoroughly well, mother and daughter appeared at the physician's office. The little girl slyly handed the physician a neat little knit purse, while the lady went on to say: "For having saved my child, doctor, I want to present you with this purse."

"But," said the physician, after an embarrassing pause, "I have sent you a bill for $300."

The lady flushed; then said quietly: "Let me have the purse, please."

She took two $100 bills out of it and returned it to him with the remark: "There are $300 in there now, so your bill is paid," and left the room.

Now the doctor is cursing his clumsy tongue for the bad break it made. That little speech cost him $200.—St. Louis Republic.

How Cloves Grow.

The small evergreen tree from which cloves are taken was originally a native of the Spice Islands, but it is now cultivated in warm climates in all parts of the world. The clove of commerce is the unopened flower of the tree. They are quite small, but grow in large clusters among the branches. After gathering the buds are smoked by a wood fire and dried in the sun. Both the taste and smell of the cloves depend on the quantity of the oil they contain.

Sometimes the oil is separated from the cloves before they are sold, and the odor and taste are in consequence much weakened. If you desire to know something of the form of the bud in the natural state soak a few cloves for a short time in hot water. The petals of the flower will soften and readily unroll.

Training The Senses.

The eye always sees what it wants to see, and the ear hears what it wants to hear. If I am intent upon bird's nests in my walk, I find birds' nests everywhere. Some people see four-leaved clovers wherever they look in the grass. A friend of mine picks up Indian relics all about the fields; he has Indian relics in his eye. I have seen him turn out of the path at right angles, as a dog will when he scents something, and walk straight away several rods, and pick up an Indian pounding-stone. He saw it out of the corner of his eye. I find that without conscious effort I see and hear birds with like ease. Eye and ear are always on the alert.—John Burrows in the Century.

Unintelligible.

Two Scotch ladies of Stranraer were one day returning from church, when they found the town hall placarded with news of the victories in Spain.

"Is it no surpreesin', Kirstie," said one, "that the Breetish aye beat the French in battle?"

"Not in the least, Maggie," was the reply. "Dinna ye ken that the Breetish aye pray before gaun into battle?"

"But canna the French pray, too?"

"Au' wha'd understand them, if they did?" was the contemptuous response. "Jabbering bodies!"—Youth's Companion.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Ett. Whiting, of Galt, is the guest of Mrs. F. H. Birt.

Mrs. Thos. Dancey, of Picton, is visiting friends in town.

About 125 tickets were sold here for the excursion to Bobcaygeon on Tuesday. All reported a pleasant time.

The school rates for the present year, including debentures, etc., amount to 14½ mills on the dollar. This makes the total rate on village property 20 3-10 mills.

As some of the best pupils writing at the examinations at Norwood are reported failed, several appeals will be sent up for a re-examination of the paper. It will be about the first of October before the list of successful candidates willbe complete and it is fully expected that a few more will obtain certificates.

We hear that Mr. Harrison intends to rebuild his factory which was destroyed by fire last Friday night.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church last Thursday evening an invitation was extended to Rev. Mr. Somerville to become pastor of the church.

Mr. Chas. O'Reilly has gone to Fowler, Mich., for a month's holiday.

In the recent examinations Norwood High School passed 32 candidates including honour and pass matriculants, junior leaving and primary. This is not as high a total as passed last year, nor is the percentage up to Norwood's average, but the school heads the list of schools of three masters and passed a greater number than almost all the High Schools and Collegiate Institutes of four, five and six masters. Last year Norwood swept the province, and even this year, such schools as Campbellford, Trenton, Albert and Pickering Colleges, Kingston, Cobourg, Port Hope, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Whitby, and Port Perry, not to mention the smaller schools throughout this district, are all below Norwood in the total number, passed and we have no doubt in percentage, still further below, as nearly all of the above have about double the number of students in attendance.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION

held a regular meeting on Monday evening, Messrs. Roxburgh, chairman, W. H. Stephenson, secretary-treasurer, Rork, Brackenridge, Raddon, Brethen and Anderson being present. The minutes of the regular meeting were read and signed. Moved by Mr. Anderson, seconded by Mr. Raddon, that the action of the executive committee in engaging Mr. Wood as teacher during the Model School term be confirmed.—Carried. Moved by Mr. Brethen, seconded by Mr. Breckenridge, that the opening of the Model School be advertised in the Campbellford Herald, Hastings Star, Norwood Register, and Peterborough EXAMINER.—Carried. An account of W. P. Plant for $1.75 was passed. The chairman then presented, on behalf of the finance committee, an estimate of the receipts and expenditures for the current year as follows:

| Expenditures on behalf of High School | $3,319 50 |
| Receipts | 2,151 60 |
| Amount to be levied | $1,167 90 |
| Of this amount Norwood pays 73 per cent., or | 852 27 |
| Expenditures for Public School | 2,562 50 |
| Receipts | 775 50 |
| Amount to be levied | $1,787 00 |

Norwood will pay $1,304.51 towards this levy.

Moved by Mr. Brackenridge, that the estimates, as presented, be adopted.—Carried. The board then adjourned.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 15, 1894.

At the Ingersoll Cheese Board thirty-one factories boarded 1,560 boxes white and 195 boxes colored; total, 1,755 boxes. Sales, 210 boxes at 9½c, 70 boxes at 9 11-16c 70 at 0 13-16c, 55 at 9 7-8c.

At the Belleville cheese market 1,638 boxes, balance of July make, were offered for sale; 265 boxes were sold at 9½c but for some lots 9½c was refused. Small attendance but market lively.

The improvement in the London stock markets continues, but dealings in Americans are still mainly professional notwithstanding the passage of the tariff bill, which caused a small boom.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Grain receipts are limited and prices unchanged. Wheat steady, with sales of two loads of new white at 59c to 60c. Oats lower, 500 bushels selling at 34c to 36c for old, and at 32c to 33c for new. Barley and peas purely nominal.

Wheat was lower at the opening in Chicago but later advanced in sympathy with corn, closing ¼c to 1c higher. Corn spurted on advices that the recent rains were too late to help the corn materially. May closed 1¼c to 1½c higher; September 2¼c and cash 2c to 2½c. Oats were dull but followed the larger markets, closing ¼c to 1c higher.

Buffalo—Cattle—Only half a dozen cars on sale, mostly odds and ends, quiet, only a peddling trade. Sheep and lambs—Eight cars on sale, mostly common to fair. Fair to good lambs, $3 to $3.50; no choice offered; fair to good mixed sheep, $2.50 to $3. Hogs—Nine cars; stronger; choice to heavies at $5.80; choice mediums and corn fed Yorkers, $5.70; fair to choice pigs, $5.55 to $5.65.

London closing prices in New York were fully 1 per cent higher. This created much bull enthusiasm and opened the market on about a parity. The gains did not hold, as the market was full of realizing orders. In the first thirty minutes a sharp reaction took place. About 11.30 a report gained currency in the street that the decision of the House to introduce a free sugar bill was more inimical to the American sugar refining company than at first appeared. This was backed up with heavy sales by a leading broker, which had the effect of reaching a large stop order, and resulted in a sharp decline. The movement in sugar weakened the entire market, having its greatest effect on the industrials. An element of strength was imparted to the grangers by favorable weather reports.

GEORGE SEALEY'S DEATH.

The Coroner's Jury Returns a Verdict of Death by Poisoning.

VIENNA, Ont., Aug. 15.—George Sealey, a retired wealthy farmer, parted some years ago from his wife, giving her $200 per year to sign off all her claims against him. For the past two years Mr. Sealey has had as a housekeeper a Mrs. Robbins. About a year ago Mr. Sealey took sick, gradually growing worse until a month ago, when he died. The bulk of his property he left to Mrs. Robbins.

After his death a good deal of talk arose about the circumstances surrounding it, and some peculiar letters being found a detective decided to investigate. He soon found evidence which he considered justified him in laying an information before Dr. McLay, the county coroner, who at once issued a warrant to have the body of the deceased taken up and a post mortem examination held.

The examination was held about two weeks ago by Drs. Sinclair and Hoover, and resulted in traces of poison being discovered. Subsequently the stomach, liver and kidneys were taken by Detective Clayton to London and given to Prof. Harris, the Dominion analyist, to analyze. The inquest was resumed on Monday. Prof. Harris was present and swore that he had analyzed the liver, kidneys and stomach and had found three grains of arsenic. The case was given to the jury at 6 p.m., and after being out about an hour they brought in a verdict that Mr. Sealey came to his death by poison administered by some person or persons unknown.

FOUL PLAY IS FEARED.

A Niagara Falls Woman Disappears Mysteriously—No Trace of Her.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 15.—On the 7th inst. a Mrs. Gath, whose maiden name was Miss Annie Blunda, disappeared with a sum of money amounting to about $600 which she recently received as her share of the money for which a farm in Willoughby, Welland County, Ont., had been sold. Since then no trace of her has been found and her relatives are anxiously awaiting information regarding her whereabouts. They fear that she may have met with foul play.

The missing woman is described as being about 32 years of age, a German, weighing about 116 pounds. She wore, it is thought, a black dress at the time of her disappearance. She is 5 feet, 2 inches in height and carries her left hand in a sling. Mrs. Gath, it is said, disliked very much to leave the farm, saying she would feel discouraged and homesick if she did so. Her husband and infant child died shortly after the sale of the farm, thus adding to Mrs. Gath's lonesomeness.

Found a Bandit's Treasure.

INDIAN BAY, Ark., Aug. 15.—While B. S. Sanders of this place was squirrel hunting across the river this week he found a pot containing $10,000 in silver and gold, American coins, none of them mined later than 1860. The money was unearthed by the roots of a large oak tree which was blown over by a severe windstorm a few weeks ago. The find was made on the farm of M. D. Cartwright, of Ripley, Miss. Old settlers say the deposit was made by the noted bandit, John. A. Murrell. S. A. Murrell, a relative of the bandit who formerly lived here, dug for money in the locality where this find was made, twenty years ago.

Tenement Burned in Brooklyn.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 15.—The three-storey frame building at No. 25 Mills street was burned yesterday. There were a number of families in the house, the members of which were all asleep. They were finally aroused and had great difficulty in escaping. Five persons were seriously burned about the face and arms.

Grand Trunk Property Destroyed.

GEORGETOWN, Ont., Aug. 15.—Fire broke out in the G. T. R. station at Terra Cotta. Efforts were made to check the flames but to no effect, and in a few hours the station and freight shed were a heap of ashes. The fire is supposed to have originated from a spark from the engine. Loss about $500.

SOME FUNNY STRIKES.

GREAT LABOR DISTURBANCES FROM VERY TRIVIAL CAUSES.

A Costly Thought About an Employer's Intentions—A Strike for Light—The Queer Champagne Kept by a Wigan Innkeeper—A Beggar's Strike.

Discussion of the recent A. R. U. strike was in progress when a friend of the Gleaner pulled a little note book from his pocket, at the same time remarking that he had collected some interesting facts about the causes of strikes, and found that many great labor disturbances had sprang from very trivial causes. Then he told how at Lowmoor, England, some years ago the woolen dyers struck because they thought fifty of their number were to be discharged, their time checks having been mislaid by the time keeper. Iron employes in a Pennsylvania town once struck for the political liberty of being allowed time on election day to go and vote. The cart boys at Dronfield coal mines struck because they were forbidden to ride the mules from the pit shaft to the stables. They returned to work on a compromise that they were not to drive the animals furiously after working all day. The Liverpool dock laborers once struck because an attempt was made to prevent them from wearing the badge or button of their union.

At Brierfield, England, there was once a strike of weavers because the employer refused to light up the plant during a heavy fog, thus obliging the hands to lay off. They demanded light on such occasions or pay for time lost, the scale being on piece work.

One of the first signal victories of workingmen in strikes occurred among the colliers of England, notably those of the Wigan neighborhood, over twenty years ago. They won in their demand for more wages, and, finding it paid to strike, they continued to do so at intervals until they were getting about $5 a day, very large wages for England. The men had more money than they knew what to do with, and the extravagances and luxuries they attempted often bordered on the ludicrous. One day a party of men, black with coal dust, but with gold sovereigns jingling in their pockets, were drinking at an inn. After imbibing quantities of ale one suggested champagne. None of them had ever seen it. The barmaid knew there was some in the cellar, but she, too, was equally ignorant of its appearance.

It was kept for a chance visit from the aristocratic. At a venture she brought up a bottle which she thought might be champagne. It was opened, and a heavy, black fluid gurgled out. The men drank and kept a bold face, some even pretending to like it. Another bottle was called for, and another. None would yield, but drank the stuff with a pretended relish that was heroic. Finally one suggested a return to beer, as he said champagne was too heating for him. All fell in with the idea with enthusiasm. It afterwards developed that they had been drinking red-hot table sauce for champagne.

But the most remarkable strike on record was one recently threatened at Bucharest, in Roumania. It was a strike of beggars. In the cities of Roumania, as in Paris, Lyons, Rome, Florence, and other cities of Europe, the beggars constitute an organized body. In Bucharest they had increased so notably that the authorities forbade them following their queer calling in certain portions of the city. The beggars held a meeting to consider what action they should take. A committee was appointed to wait on the Prefect of Police to convey the ultimatum. It was that unless the embargo was removed, they would strike and resort to other means to obtain, without working, the living the world owed them. There were already more thieves, footpads, and cutthroats than the police could well manage, and, under this threat of joining the ranks of the lawless, the Prefect of Police rescinded his action.

BLUEFIELDS' TROUBLE

The People of the Mosquito Reservation Tired of Jamaican Rule.

TWO FIERY RIVALS FOR POWER

Spanish Generals Who Seek the Governorship of the Reservation—The Reason the American Marines Deserted Their Countrymen—Native Lives in Danger.

MOBILLE, Ala., Aug. 17.—The steamer Semniva arrived here from Bluefields, Mosquito reservation. She left Bluefields on the morning of Aug. 10. The Semniva brings the following advices: The Nicaraguans arrived in the vicinity of Bluefields on Monday, Aug. 6, and moved on Bluefields. Their forces numbered 800. Bluefields was occupied peaceably. The Mosquito flag was lowered, loaded into a cannon and fired with a salute to the Nicaraguan flag, which had been hoisted to the top of the flagstaff. British and American marines were notified by Gen. Cabezas to return to their vessels. The order was obeyed.

The British offered to take the Jamaicans and natives to Port Limon free of charge if they desired. Six hundred of these subsequently accepted the invitation, as there were rumors that the Nicaraguans intended to kill the Jamaicans and natives.

There was for a time a reign of terror among this class of inhabitants. They ran through the streets, the women screaming and the children crying, the men hurrying hither and thither, carrying their household goods. Some left all they had and rushed to the wharves, willing to go in any sort of a craft, their only desire being to get away from Bluefields at once. The scene at the wharves was one long to be remembered.

The British man-of-war Mohawk took as many of the refugees as she could carry. Others went in private boats. General Cabezas assumed command of Bluefields, and issued a proclamation declaring martial law in force.

The Americans felt much disappointed at the action of the commanders of the American vessels, the Marblehead and Columbia. They thought American marines had been landed to protect American lives and property, but at the supreme moment these had been abandoned. The officers claim they were compelled to obey the orders of Cabazas, but would nevertheless brook no interference with American interests. The Americans who attend to their own affairs and have taken no part in the present intrigues are not in the least molested. Those Americans who were involved in political intrigues have left.

General Lacayo, formerly commissioner-general at Bluefields, returned with the army, and already there are two factions in the army composed of adherents of Cabazas on the one side and the sympathizers of Lacayo on the other. The latter is the most popular of the two, and it is said the plum that causes the rivalry between them is the governorship of Bluefields.

It is reported that Lacayo has threatened to blow out the brains of Cabazas at the first opportunity, and as they live within fifty yards of each other the opportunity may come at any moment. About 300 troops have been sent to Rama and Greytown, and it is reported Lacayo has taken advantage of this opportunity to rid Bluefields of a number of adherents of Cabazas. One of the passengers relates that Lacayo told him personally that he is in Bluefields to stay.

The only fear the people of the Mosquito reservation have from the establishment of a government by the Spaniards is that they will make the import and export duties so high that nobody can do business. The people of Bluefields have had their fill of Jamaican government and want no more of it. A government by the Spaniards would be far preferable.

WELLMAN WILL TRY IT AGAIN.

He Will Make Another Attempt to Reach the Pole in 1896.

TROMSOE, Norway, Aug. 17.—Walter Wellman and his companions with the crew of the wrecked steamer Ragnvald Jarl arrived here from Spitzbergen aboard the fishing yacht Berntine. Wellman says that the expedition had almost reached the eighty-first parallel of latitude when forced to turn back on May 12. Many hardships were suffered. The aluminum boat rendered excellent service, resisting pressure which would have destroyed ordinary boats. Wellman declares that he will make another attempt in 1896 to reach the pole by the Spitzbergen route.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Professor Barker of Pennsylvania, who is a visitor at the meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, has suggested that the British Association and its sister organization of the United States, make the proposed meeting at Toronto in 1897 a joint one. The American Association held its annual meeting about five years ago at Toronto, and its members have been enthusiastic in its praise since. Professor Barker is confident that the suggestion would meet with favor on his side of the Atlantic and from the opinions expressed by individual members here it is believed the British Association will take kindly to the proposal also. The meeting would be memorable as the greatest assemblage of scientists ever known.

NEWS FROM THE ORIENT

WAR FEVER INTENSE IN JAPAN

The Government Continues to Exercise Strict Censorship Over all the News—A Decree Issued Announcing a Revision of Treaties With Foreign Powers.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—A despatch to the Central News from Shanghai says that the official inquiry into the Kow Shing affair will open there to-day.

The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says that the negotiations for the Chinese war loan are still proceeding. It is rumored that the Rothschilds will assist in floating the loan.

The Boersen Courier of Berlin says that the amount of the loan is reported to be £10,000,000.

A despatch from Yokohama says: "The Japanese government has announced its decree for an early revision of the treaties with European powers giving foreigners land-holding taxation privileges and granting the right of trial in their own consular courts.

The announcement has caused agitation among foreigners. The government declares that it only seeks to fix an approximate date when the privileges shall cease."

Enthusiasm in Japan.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times says 50,000 Japanese troops have been landed in Corea, and that more are landing almost constantly. The Chinese fleet is passive. "In Japan the war fever is intense and universal," says the correspondent. "The press and popular orators, both under official control, are developing schemes for the conquest of Manchuria. As the Japanese government continues to exercise a strict censorship over all news, everything reported concerning the war is extremely partisan."

The Price of Celestials' Heads.

The Central News correspondent in Shanghai says the governor of Formosa has published a schedule of rewards for Chinese who capture or destroy Japanese ships, or kill or capture Japanese soldiers or sailors. The soldiers or sailors may be taken dead or alive. The governor offers 6,000 taels or almost $2,000 for the destruction of a big Japanese warship. For the destruction or capture of a small warship he promises 4,000 taels or about $1,200. Two hundred taels will be paid for the head of a Japanese officer and 100 taels for a head of a Japanese private.

News Per Steamer Tacoma.

VICTORIA, B. C. Aug. 17.—Oriental papers, which were received by the steamer Tacoma, differ as to the relative strength of China and Japan but the opinion prevails that, taken everything into consideration, they are on tolerably equal terms. The war will be watched with interest as the first occasion when steel armored vessels will be in conflict. English papers in Japan ridicule the claims of Japan to a great naval victory in the first engagement, as the vessels engaged were in no way equal.

Since the naval fight at Gasan, the running of Japanese steamers between Jinseen and Fusan has been suspended. General travel on smaller Oriental lines is much broken, and news of an authentic nature is difficult to obtain. That the western world knows more about the Corean situation than can be learned either in Hong Kong or Yokohama, was the verdict of passengers on the Tacoma, after looking over the late despatches in local papers.

The King of Siam Dead.

The king of Siam was reported to be dead when the Tacoma left and H. M. S. Rattler had gone to Siamese waters.

QUEBEC RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

Nearly All the Honors of the Closing Day Won by Ontario Riflemen.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—Yesterday was the closing day of the province of Quebec Rifle Association meeting, and the Western riflemen carried off nearly all the honors. The Carslake trophy was won by the Thirteenth Battalion of Hamilton by 683, the Sixth Fusileers of Montreal coming next with 682. Lieut. D. Mitchell of Hamilton won the first prize in the individual score with 104 points. The Twelfth Battalion of Toronto won the aggregate team match and the first aggregate was won by Captain Rogers of Ottawa. In the extra series, 500 yards, Sergt. Bayils of the Twelfth Battalion lead and Staff-Sergt. A. Bell of the Twelfth won the long range prize at 900 yards. The meet has been a decided success. Most of n left for home to-night.

A Toronto Boy's Body Found.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—The body of young Harry May, of 7 Garden avenue, was found floating in the Humber river under one of the bridges. Chas. Nurse took charge of the corpse and immediately despatched a messenger to notify the lad's parents of his discovery. He also sent word to Dr. Cotton, coroner of Lambton Mills. From the locality in which the body was found it is believed that the unfortunate child must have been playing on Monday around the crib work of the bridge and fell into the water unnoticed. It is not likely that an inquest will be held.

Incendiary Fires at Strathroy.

STRATHROY, Ont., Aug. 17.—Another fire has occurred here, this time on English street, in the old Leynes planing mill, which has been used lately as a stable by W. W. Sutherland. The contents, together with a couple of pigs, were burned. There was no insurance on the building. This makes the fourth fire inside of two weeks and like the others was no doubt the work of an incendiary.

Killed on the G. T. R.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17.—The body of Edward McKeown, farm laborer, was found on the Grand Trunk track near the Cove bridge yesterday. The body was badly mangled. McKeown was in the city the previous afternoon and it is supposed that he was walking home when struck.

THE AMERICAN TARIFF

When the Provisions of the New Law Become Operative.

DOLPH WANTS WOOL TAXED

Notices Given of Amendments to the Four Independent Tariff Bills—Queen Lil's Commission Fails in its Object—The President's Illness.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Doubt still exists in the minds of many importers as to the assessment of duty on goods arriving in this country prior to or on the day the tariff bill becomes effective, but not formally entered until after the bill has become a law.

It is explained at the treasury department that the bill will not go into effect until the day after the President's signature is affixed, or the law becomes operative through the expiration of the ten days limit. If the bill were signed to-day, Friday, Aug. 17, it would become operative at one second after midnight, or at the beginning of Saturday, August 18. Therefore, as the law does not become operative until the day following its approval, or the last day of the limitation, goods reaching a United States port on the day of signature, are subject to assessment under the McKinley tariff, and it will not avail the importers anything by waiting until the following day to make entry. In case, however, where goods arrive on the day preceding the date of effect and are assessed under the McKinley law, refunds of any excess of duty over the senate law will almost certainly be made.

Amendments to the Four Tariff Bills.

The Senate showed itself yesterday to be of a practical turn of mind and rather inclined to action than to discussion. It passed with only the briefest statement the bill reported by Senator Hill for the exclusion and deportation of alien anarchists. It disposed of the bill to place on the free list sugar, coal, iron ore and barbed wire by referring each of them to the Finance Committee by votes of nearly 2 to 1.

Various notices were given of amendments to the four independent tariff bills and it will be within the competency of the Finance Committee to consider and pass upon them. These amendments were to restore the McKinley Act duties in wool by Mr. Dolph; to repeal the new tariff bill, by Mr. Aldrich; and to continue the sugar bounty until July 1, 1905, by Mr. Manderson.

Queen Lil's Embassaries Return Home.

The four members of the Royal Hawaiian Commission; who came here to secure redress for ex Queen Liliuokalani or to prevent the recognition of the new republic, have left for Honolulu. Whatever the exact nature of their mysterious mission to Washington may have been, it seems certain it was a complete failure. The position understood to have been taken by the state department was that when the United States government offered to restore Liliuokalani on condition of granting general amnesty, and she refused that offer, insisting upon taking off the heads of the chief members of the provisional government, the administration considered its relations with the ex-Queen as terminated.

President Cleveland Sick.

Private Secretary Thurber makes the following statement: The president has left for a few days' absence on the advice of his physician, in the hope of staying off an attack of malaria, from which he has been suffering for several days. The attack culminated in fever, which, however, is under control. Anxiety over the tariff situation is supposed to have aggravated the indisposition.

Yesterday's internal revenue receipts were $1,279,618, against $686,193 on Wednesday. It is expected to-day will show a further increase.

A HUSBAND'S CRUELTY.

BUFFALO, Aug. 17.—Unable longer to endure the beating inflicted upon her by her husband, Emma Kulpinski committed suicide by taking carbolic acid. Before taking the draught she wrote a letter, saying:

"I have been your dog and not your wife; now it will end. It seems hard to part from my children; treat them different from what you did me."

The husband, Julius Kulpinski, is a baker. When arrested he expressed no surprise that his wife had killed herself. He admits the cruelty and says she tried once before to die.

A Prize-Fighter Held for Murder.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 17—A special from Plattsmouth, Neb., says: The coroner's jury in the case of Pugilist Robins returned a verdict that death resulted from the recent prize fight, and held James Lindsay, principal and all connected with the fight for murder.

Brewing Plant Destroyed.

NORTH TONAWANDA, N.Y., Aug. 17.—The Niagara Brewing Company's plant, owned by Busch Bros., Buffalo, was burned yesterday. Loss, $75,000. The plant covered nearly an acre of ground.

Toronto Mirrored in the Sky.

BUFFALO, Aug. 17.—A beautiful and wonderfully perfect mirage was seen in the northern sky yesterday. Toronto city, the harbor and the island were visible for nearly half an hour. Those who were first to discover the phenomenon claim that they could distinctly see the church spires of Toronto, but the atmospheric conditions changed so quickly that only the outlines could be discovered after the first ten minutes. As late as 11 o'clock Lake Ontario could be traced. The clouds lowered, obliterating the beautiful picture.

Fight With Horse Thieves.

MERRILLVILLE, Ind., Aug. 17.—Members of the Rose township anti-horsethief society and a gang of horse thieves had a fight near this city. Three thieves were seriously wounded and captured. More than 150 shots were fired, and half a dozen men were wounded.

Boats For Hire.

You can always find a comfortable canoe or skiff at the Peterborough Canoe Co'y. boat house, King street, two blocks East of George street. Reasonable terms.

The Daily Examiner is delivered to any part of the Town for 10c. a week, 25c. a month, $2.00 for six months.

Daily Examiner.

SOMETHING ABOUT JULY.

July has come, July has gone, leaving a great deal of sickness, no doubt, I believe, caused by its sudden change to heat and cold ranging from 63 degrees to 95 degrees from noon to 3 p. m., following the outgoing of its twin sister June. It came in hot, the first day being 90 degrees above zero, the 2nd at 91 degrees, then down on the 17th and going up to 93 degrees, the 18th to 94 degrees, the 19th up to 95 degrees the 20th at 90 degrees, then again on the 27th going up to 95 degrees and the 28th at 93 degrees; thus we had 8 days; at 90 degrees and over and those at 80 degrees and up to 90 degrees, virtually counted up to 16 days. Again our two coldest on the 7th and 8th, each day going down to 63 degrees, and the 6th at 65, and I believe those terms of extremes are the cause of the sickness. While again, we had 4 days between 70 and 80 degrees, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 70 degrees. Rain fell on 13 days, to the depth of 2 and 6-100 inches. A fair sample for July having no severe storms. Nine times thunder. The heaviest rain fell on the 12th and only 60-100 inches. We had hail on the 11th, 4 times rainbows, 5 times solar coronas, and once lunar coronas, but again the absence of auroral lights is remarkable. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month, respectively, namely: North-west, 12 days; south, 1 day; south-west, 7 days; west, 2 days; north, 1 day; north-east, 4 days; and south-east, 4 days.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Ennismore council met in the town hall on Aug. 1st with all the members present. After routine, on motion of Mr. Perdue and Mr. Moloney, the Court of Revision was closed for the year 1894. On motion of Mr. Moloney and Mr. Nicholls, John S. Sullivan was paid the sum of $1 as overwork on statute labour in 1893. #### A Lake Shore Freight Held Up.

LAPORTE, Ind., Aug. 16.—A local freight on the Lake Shore was held up at Whiting. The train was running at a slow rate when three men climbed aboard. Two of them, whose faces were masked, held cocked revolvers in their hands. The third member of the gang went through the pockets of the men and took everything of value on their persons. The men had just drawn their monthly salaries. When the robbery had been committed the bandits dropped from the train and disappeared in the woods. President Newell has authorized a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the robbers.

Uprising in Venezuela.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A special from Caracas, Venezuela, says: An uprising occurred on Sunday morning at Maturin. The government troops fought all day. They finally received reinforcements and the rebels retreated in disorder to Angostura. There they reorganized and gave battle again. The government troops again drove them back with heavy loss, capturing a large quantity of arms.

Big Lead Mine Discovered.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, Aug. 16.—The biggest lead mine ever struck in this state has been discovered by Jones, Goldthorpe & Co., on a claim once abandoned on account of water. It contains caves full of lead ore as large as ordinary dwelling rooms, and yielding 50,000 pounds daily.

Wholesale Grocery Burned.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A fire yesterday in the wholesale grocery store of R. C. Williams and Co., corner of Hudson and Thomas Streets, damaged the building and stock to the amount of $250,000. Insured. The fire was discovered on the top floor but its origin is unknown.

"A little farm well tilled,

What could you wish a man better than that? The last is not the least by any means, but how can a wife be well willed if she be the victim of those distressing maladies that make her life a burden? Let her take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and cure all painful irregularities, uterine disorders, inflammation and ulceration, prolapsus and kindred weaknesses. It is a boon and a blessing to women. Thousands are in the bloom of health through using it, when otherwise they would be under the sod. Are you a sufferer? Use it, or some day we may read—

Baggage Agents Convention Closed.

QUEBEC, Aug. 17.—A large party of American railway baggage agents met at the Chateau Frontenac yesterday. They arrived by the Canadian Pacific railway and after their business meeting they took in the sights of the town and vicinity. In the afternoon the baggage agents held a formal meeting, when they decided upon certain reforms in the C. O. D. collection and excessive baggage weights. Several other important measures were adopted, such as the handling of railway company's mails, which was arranged on a more practical basis. The annual meeting was adjourned to St. Louis, Mo., for next year. The party broke up, some going to the far-famous Lake St. John, others going to other famous trout and salmon fishing grounds. President H. P. Dearing and Secretary J. E. Quick declared themselves enchanted with our Canadian scenery.

Serious Accident at Ayton.

AYTON Ont., Aug. 17.—The overturning of an omnibus here filled with passengers on their way to the station resulted in four persons being injured, two of them very seriously. It was a closed rig and rolled down an embankment several feet high. Aaron Wanger, a creamery owner of long standing here, was hurt so badly as to necessitate amputation of one of the feet below the ankle, and Mr. A. Henderson, of Egremont, will probably be lamed for life by breaking his leg badly. Mrs. Roedding of this town and Mrs. Hartman, of Stratford, were both badly bruised, and a little child slightly injured. The driver and another child escaped unhurt. The horses became frightened and ran away.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 17, 1894.

New York stocks were a purchase on declines. London bought specialties. The market all around was easier.

Wheat declined in Chicago on lower cables and large receipts, closing ½ to 1c lower. Corn showed weakness for similar reason and closed ½ to ¾c lower. Oats were firm, but lost ¼c in sympathy with wheat and corn.

The London stock market after opening dull closed strong all around, Americans finishing near the best. Foreigners are now buying Americans pretty largely. Grand Trunk declined on the half yearly statement, showing only 200 available. A feature of the day was the sharp rise in silver and silver securities.

At East Liberty, Pa., sheep were in fair supply; extra, $3.10 to $3.60; good, $2.40 to $2.80; fair, $1.80 to $2.20; common, 50c to $1; yearlings, $1.25 to $3.25; lambs, $2 to $3.60.

At St. Louis receipts of sheep were 2,000; native mixed, $2 to $2.65; lambs, $2.85 to $3.

HE'S ALL RIGHT.

Richard Harrison has Backache for Some Years—It was Due to Kidney Disease—No More Backaches Now.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6,—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact, that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

Dyspepsia causes Dizziness, Headache, Constipation, Variable Appetite, Rising and Souring of Food, Palpitation of the Heart, Distress after Eating. Burdock Blood Bitters is guaranteed to cure Dyspepsia if faithfully used according to directions.

CASERIO GUILLOTINED

The Assassin of President Carnot Pays the Penalty to the Law

HE MET DEATH FEARLESSLY

And Shouted the Cry of Anarchy Before the Knife Fell—The Execution Performed Quietly—Sketch of the Youthful Criminal and His Crime.

LYONS, Aug. 16.—Santo Caserio the murderer of President Carnot was guillotined at five o'clock this morning. The scene of the execution is about 50 metres from the prison. Three hours before the time set for the execution a detachment of troops comprising the 98th Battalion of Infantry and two squadrons of the Seventh Cuirassiers took positions on the ground. They were reinforced later by gendarmes and policemen. Deibler, the executioner, arrived at 3 o'clock bringing with him the well known guillotine.

The van conveying the guillotine was escorted by gendarmes on horseback. The operation of erecting the machine occupied about an hour.

There was a heavy shower during the night which had the effect of driving away nearly all the curiosity seekers. At three o'clock there were hardly one hundred persons waiting. Some time before daylight the weather improved and the curious began to gather again.

Shortly before five o'clock the condemned man was led from his cell to the guillotine. His arms were firmly bound behind him. When the attendants seized him to lay him under the knife he struggled fiercely to free himself. At 4.45 o'clock all was ready. Caserio shouted: "Courage, comrades. Long live anarchy."

The knife fell at five o'clock precisely, and Caserio's head dropped into the basket.

Caserio and His Crime.

Santo Caserio was born in the little town of Motta-Visconti, Lombardi, on September 8, 1873. He was then the youngest of six children. When he was 14 years of age he was apprenticed to a baker at Milan. At this period of his life he is said to have been exceedingly docile, with a distinct religious tendency. Two years ago, however, he fell under the influence of the anarchists. Everywhere he was in relations with French and foreign anarchists, and some months ago he was thrown into prison for distributing anarchist handbills outside the barracks at Milan. He remained five months in prison and on being released took refuge in Switzerland. Thence he went to Cette, where he got a place as a baker in the house of one Viala. He continued to work up to June 23 of this year, except for a month passed in the hospitals in January and February.

On June 23 he quarrelled with his master and was dismissed. Forthwith he went to Guillaume Vinaux, a cutler, and bought a dagger. For several months he afterward said his mind had been made up to execute a coup. His plan at last became definite. He decided to kill the President of the republic, of whose visit to Lyons he had learned. Caserio reached Lyons the same night. He bought a paper containing a programme of the fetes in honor of the President's visit and went with the crowd to the Rue de la Republique.

The President had gone to Lyons to attend the opening of the Industrial Exhibition. On the evening of Sunday, June 24, he attended a banquet at the Palais du Commerce and left shortly after nine o'clock to drive to the Grand theatre where a gala performance had been arranged in his honor. In the neighborhood of the Bourse, Caserio ran towards the President's vehicle, sprang to the step and buried the dagger in the President's breast.

His trial was begun in Lyons August 2, and lasted only two days. The assassin would not say a word to incriminate others, declaring that he had no accomplices. The jury after an absence of fifteen minutes returned a verdict of guilty and Caserio was sentenced to death. The sentence was confirmed two days ago by the pardons committee.

REFUGEES TO BE SENT BACK.

General Ezeta and His Party Will be Denied a Haven on American Soil.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The U. S. Cruiser Bennington with the San Salvador refugees on board was sighted about 30 miles south of Heads on Tuesday night. Lieutenant Stoney of the Navy Yard at Mare Island has been ordered to keep watch for her and speak her outside the three mile limit.

Bennington's lights were made out and shortly afterwards he delivered orders to Commander Thomas from the commandant at Mare Island to remain outside until further orders from Washington.

It is the general opinion that the refugees will be sent back to San Salvador without being allowed to land on United States soil.

THE LABOR COMMISSIONERS

Evidence Taken at Chicago With Regard to the Strike

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—The national board of labor commissioners convened yesterday in the district court room of the Federal building, Carroll D. Wright presiding. The clerk was directed to read the president's commission signed July 26 and aimed only at the trouble between the Illinois Central and the Rock Island roads and the employees of those roads. Mr. Wright then announced the course which would be pursued by the commission, declaring that the employees of the road and their friends would be the first examined.

George W. Howard, Vice-President of the A. R. U., was the first witness. He said the cause of the strike was that the general managers association made a declaration that they would back up George M Pullman.

Mr. Howard proceeded to tell how the Pullman employes had joined the A. R. U in a body and how when a committee had called upon Mr. Pullman and asked him to arbitrate he refused and a strike was ordered.

All the minutes of the A. R. U. and all its documentary evidence was proffered to the commission by Mr. Howard and accepted. Mr. Howard was cross-examined by Messrs. Kernan and Worthington. He went minutely into the extent and cause of the strike. He testified that he had given information to city detectives that certain persons had been paid large sums by General Egan of the Rock Island road to burn cars, thereby arousing public sentiment against strikers.

John D. Kernan asked the witness a number of questions with a view to showing that strikes are unnecessary and that they give the lawless element a chance to commit acts of violence. Mr. Howard acknowledged this was true, and that it was better not to strike than to strike, if possible.

Forgave Her Wayward Husband.

GREEN BAY, Wis., Aug. 16.—Albert L. Lane, who abandoned his wife and one child about three weeks ago at Lebanon, Ind., and eloped with a woman from Indianapolis, has been found in this city. The couple had rented storerooms here and opened a notion store, representing themselves as man and wife. On their arrival here two weeks ago Chief of Police Nolan detected a resemblance to the description given in a notice of a man missing from Lebanon. Chief Nolan wired to the law firm of Griffith & Potts, Indianapolis, who were doing the man's family legal business, they supposing he was dead. They answered to keep an eye on the party until officers arrived. Last evening J. Jordan, of the firm, and Lane's wife arrived here. The man was located. Matters were satisfactorily settled, and the wayward man was forgiven, and will return home with his wife in the morning. His relatives are wealthy.

The Engineer Died of Fright.

TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 16.—H. F. Skyles, who was in the Santa Fe wreck at Hurdland, Mo., Sunday morning, says that as they were approaching the Hurdland switch Skyles moved to Engineer Humphrey's side of the cab and said: Was it not at Gibbs' we had orders to stop." Just then the headlight of the west-bound train showed around the curve. Humphrey said not a word, nor moved hand or foot, but looked straight ahead with glassy eyes at the other engine, which was moving at a terrific rate. Skyles spoke to him again, but still he did not move, and the fireman to save his life jumped. When the collision occurred the other train was almost at a dead stand, proving that if Humphrey's engine had been reversed at least a serious wreck could have been prevented. Humphrey is believed to have died of fright as he saw the other train coming.

The Lord's Actions Denounced.

DUBLIN, Aug. 16.—The Freeman's Journal, commenting upon the rejection of the evicted tenants bill by the House of Lords, urges Ireland to resent this "intolerable insult." The Freeman's Journal says that "peace can no longer be preached to the evicted tenants. Now is the time for the people to make their power felt in strong, united agitation. Justice and mercy fail to move the Irish landlords. Their vulnerable place is fear. Let the pressure of public opinion be applied in a practical form." The Independent says: "The Government has made a series of mistakes, the first and greatest being its failure to take earlier action."

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

A Campbellford Wedding.

A quiet wedding took place in Campbellford, Wednesday, the contracting parties being Mr. J. A. Stewart, manager of the Standard Bank, Brussels, and Miss M. J. Ferris, youngest daughter of the late J. M. Ferris, of Campbellford. Dr. G. M. Ferris acted as best man, while the bride was attended by Miss McCallum, of Cobourg, and Miss Kathleen Ferris, the little niece of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Anderson, of Norwood, assisted by Rev. T. W. Jolliffe, of Campbellford, in the presence of the immediate friends. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Sault Ste. Marie and Port Arthur.

A Heroic Rescue.

One of the little camps on Horseshoe Island in Stony Lake was on Thursday last, deserted by all but a group of three ladies and a young man, a Mr. Gates of Peterborough, who was enjoying himself fishing from a canoe. Though not far from shore the water was deep. By some mischance Mr. Gates lost his balance and went overboard. Twice he went down and rose again, and the third time as he sank beneath the waves he cried desparingly, "I am gone." One of the three ladies who had witnessed the accident was Mrs. J. O. McCarthy, of this city, wife of the superintendent of the Temperance and General Life Assurance Co. She heard the cry and at once realized the fact that Mr. Gates was drowning. Without a moment's delay she plunged in, swam to the spot, dived down and brought the almost lifeless form to the surface and then to the shore. Twenty minutes later, after continuous hard work, the heroic rescurer was rewarded by seeing Mr. Gates restored to consciousness. He owes his life to Mrs. McCarthy's bravery and ability as a swimmer. —Toronto Globe.

At the close of the meeting the delegates proceeded to have a jolly good time and paraded the different streets of the town until the wee sma' hours, being accompanied by the Stayner band, members of the Fire Brigade band, and the bugle and drum corps. The boys were out for a good time and they had it. It was their intention to visit the residence of Mayor Kendry and rouse him from his slumbers, the same thing having been done at Sarnia last year, but the distance was too far. They invaded the chamber of the High Chief Ranger at the Oriental, and altogether had a jolly good time. The delegates desire to thank the members of the Fire Brigade and bugle bands for their kindness in taking part in the sport and furnishing music.

A CHEEKY TRAMP.

A Resident of Aylmer Street Gives a Tramp a Meal and he Walks off with a Watch.

Mr. James Russell, Aylmer street, notified the police to-day that a silver watch had been stolen from his house some time to-day. It appears that yesterday a tramp called at his residence for a meal and was accommodated. It is supposed that while partaking of the meal he espied the watch and began devising ways and means by which to steal it. This morning he called at Mr. Russell's again and asked for something to eat, and soap and water in order to clean up. While performing his ablutions, it is supposed he took the watch. As stated above, Mr. Russell notified the police, who are on the look out for the supposed thief.

TO BE MADE A CITY POST OFFICE.

The Peterborough Post Office Service to be Re constructed.

The EXAMINER learns not from an official but semi-official, and what it considers a reliable source, that after the 1st of October the Peterborough post office will rank as a city office. The postmaster will be placed on a salary of $2,000, the assistant postmaster, who is understood to be Mr. John Corkery, will receive $800 at first with an advance every year of $50, as provided by statute, while the salaries of the other officials will be graded in proportion. The EXAMINER is pleased that the representations it made in the public interest as to the inadequate salaries to secure efficient service have borne fruit.

Power of Money.

Twenty-eight cents will buy a pound of the best forty cent Japan tea ever sold. Stroud Bros., 370 George street, will sell for the balance of this month one pound of Oak-K-osh tea for twenty-eight cents or four pounds for one dollar. It is worth trying for none better was ever sold at forty cents a pound. th

A WEST END BRIDAL.

Nuptials of Mr. W. F. Johnston and Miss Dumble.

On Wednesday evening "The Pines," the handsome and picturesquely placed residence of Mr. D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate for Peterborough, was the scene of a social event of more than usual importance, the marriage of Mr. William Francis Johnston, of the firm of Dumble & Johnston, barrister-at-law, to Miss Mary Louise Eliza, eldest daughter of Mr. D. W. Dumble. The marriage ceremony was performed by the uncle of the bride, Rev. A. H. Reynar, M. A. L. L.D., Toronto, Professor in Victoria College, in the presence of about forty guests. The duties of bridesmaid were performed by the little Misses Reynar, cousins of the bride, and Mr. W. D. Parker, of the Ontario bank, assisted the groom. At the conclusion of the usual wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston left on a bridal tour, which will include points of interest in New York State and elsewhere.

This wedding arouses no inconsiderable interest. The bride is a loveble and popular young lady, and the groom is a young man whose future promises prominence in his profession. His many friends in town, and especially in the ranks of the young Liberals, in which he was a prominent and able worker, will wish him and his fair bride a married life of unalloyed happiness and the EXAMINER joins in hearty congratulations and best wishes to all parties concerned.

BIG BLAZE IN MONTREAL.

The Building and Machinery of a Steam Laundry Destroyed—Loss $50,000.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—The visiting firemen, who are present in Montreal attending the fire chiefs convention, were given a fine opportunity last night to witness the Montreal firemen handle a fire.

Shortly after eleven o'clock fire started in Reid's fruit establishment, next door to the Montreal Steam Laundry on St. Antoine street, and before the firemen reached the spot it had communicated with the laundry. The brigade were quickly on the spot, but the fire which had gained a sure foothold had made rapid headway, and the whole block was soon in flames. It then became a fight between the firemen and the element. An immense crowd of people were attracted to the scene from from all parts of the city and amongst the firemen were many of the visiting firemen, who gave all the assistance possible.

During the fire the electric wires in the neighborhood were cut and the whole street car service stopped.

The Montreal laundry building was almost completely destroyed. The loss will probably be heavy as the building contained a quantity of very valuable machinery which will be badly damaged. The laundry people estimate their loss at over $50,000.

The Fire Chiefs' Convention.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—The delegates to the fire chiefs' convention are having a splendid time in Montreal. There was very little done at yesterday's session of the convention beyond the reading of several papers, the convention adjourning early to allow the members to attend an excursion given to them down the far-famed St. Lawrence river. The remainder of the afternoon and evening were passed in festivities. The next important business now before it is the election of officers and the choice of the next place of meeting. It is expected that Chief Benoit, of Montreal, will be elected president of the association and the choice of the next meeting place seems to be between Salt Lake City and Augusta, Me. There is a good deal of canvassing going on ever the matter.

POLITICAL NOTES.

A Cross Petition in London—East Algoma Petition Abandoned.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—As the required money could not be raised the Conservatives have decided to abandon the protest against C. F. Farewell, the Liberal member for East Algoma.

A cross petition was filed yesterday against Mr. Thomas Hobbs, the defeated candidate in London, who opposed W. R. Meredith. In addition to the usual charges, Mr. Hobbs is accused of holding a position which would render him incapable of sitting as a member in the Legislature.

There was an application filed asking an extension of time for serving notice of petition on Mr. Savage, member for West Algoma. If the application is not granted the petition will be abandoned.

Opening of the Driving Park—Diamond Bicycle Tournament—The Highland Cadets Capture Peterborough—Miscellaneous Excursions—A Successful Celebration.

Yesterday was Peterborough's Civic Holiday and it was a most delightful one. The day was generally observed by an entire suspension of business, except that pertaining to the relief of hunger and thirst. The decorations that have been conspicuous during the week remained in situ and the town had a gala appearance. The day was pretty thoroughly celebrated, the festivities beginning at as early an hour as four o'clock. The Foresters who remained in session till three o'clock did not think it necessary to retire, many of them leaving on early trains. The Stayner Band was abroad and led a procession of Foresters, en robe de nuit, and gave an impromptu serenade to the citizens on George street, leaving visible "signs" of their harmless hilarity. The good example of the visitors was followed later on by large numbers of citizens. The patrons of the several excursions, as will be noted in the proper place below, were early astir and sought their respectiue wharves and stations and away for a day's enjoyment. But was the Diamond Bicycle Tournament and the parade, and exhibition of the Highland Cadet Corps of Montreal. The latter arrived by C.P.R. at 7.20, the regular train being late. They were met at the station by a large concourse and tendered a hearty welcome, and escorted by the 57th Battalion and Bugle band to their quarters, the Oriental, where they bivouacked during their stay in town. Meantime figures in knickers and broad-braided coats appeared plentifully on the streets indicating the presence of the bicycle cracks to compete in the Diamond Tournament.

At one o'clock a muster was held at the drill shed, and the thousands of waiting spectators who lined the streets were charmed by the appearance of the parade. The Cadet Corps, Capt. Lydon commanding, escorted by the band of the 57th Battalion, the Bugle band and by a score or so of 'cyclists, who formed the rear guard, marched down George street to the park where they were to assist in the formal

OPENING OF THE DRIVING PARK.

Persons who have not visited the Driving Park for some time were surprised at the transformation. About six weeks ago the Driving Park passed into the hands and into the management of a new and energetic syndicate of sporting citizens. With an energy and judgment that promise well for the future of the Driving Park, they went to work and made decided improvements. For a quarrter of a mile in front of the grand stand on either side of the track a new and substantial fence has been erected, a new judges and press stand has been put up, and the grand stand partially covered in. It is to be completely covered at once, but the time was too short to have the work completed by yesterday.

The track deserves more than passing notice. It is as near perfection as to grade and other qualities as a soil turf can be brought. Yesterday it was as even as an asphalt pavement and as smooth as a billiard table. Mr. Geo. H. Orr, the official timer of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, who acted here in that capacity yesterday, says it is the finest and safest track in Canada. Of course this was said in reference to 'cycling, but any track that is the best for 'cycling should be the best for horse work. The syndicate intend to manage the Driving Park in a thoroughly first class manner and to arrange and encourage meets that will bring the best horses in our Canadian stables into the entry book. Indeed, on Labour Day, Monday, Sept. 3rd, a fine programme of trotting and running events and bicycle races will be run off.

and the exhibition of the Highland Cadet Corps were run off together. There was a large attendance of the public, and the grand stand was filled. The space that was not protected, owing to lack of time, by the permanent roof, was protected by two of Turner's canvas canopies, under one of which was seated the bands of the Royal Scots, Montreal, and the 57th, who fraternized most amicably and with a true musicianly spirit. They played together during the afternoon, Bandmaster Cook and Bandmaster Millar alternately conducting, and splendid music was liberally furnished.

The bicycle races were conducted under the following official staff: Mr. Geo. H. Orr, official timer of the C.W.A., timer; A. H. Stratton, referee; G. L. Hay, W. Salisbury and C. LeBrun, judges and scorers; Ed. Brown, starter, and Sergt. Sharpe, bugler.

The races were advertised to start at 2 p.m. sharp, and sharp was the key note of the whole series.

The races were run with brisk promptitude, and with the best of good management. It may be pointed out that ten events with big fields were run off without the slightest approach to accident, a circumstance almost unprecedented at bicycle meets, the list of wounded being generally a prominent feature of such gatherings. But Peterborough was an exception and has thus earned a splendid reputation for properly conducting a sportsmanlike and safe bicycle race meeting. While much is due to good management, no little is due the excellence of the track, which is both fast and safe to a degree. As to its safety, the absence of accident stands as a witness, and, as to its speed, the quarter mile race, with some of the fastest wheels not entered, gave a time only a second and a fraction behind the Canadian quarter mile record. On the whole, the Diamond Bicycle Tournament was a great success and it is only a justice to state that a large share of the success is to be credited to the energetic and hustling secretary, Mr. Geo. H. Horkins, whose work before and during the meet, was effective and much appreciated. The races were generally without incident. Some of the events, however, were very pretty races, the completion being close and exciting. The races being for amateur classes, the prizes were in kind, consisting of diamond pins and rings for first prizes and silver articles for second. The following summary indicates

THE EXPOSITION OF THE CADETS.

Between the different bicycle events, the Highland Cadet Corps gave splendid expositions of their proficiency in the field of arms, under Capt. Lydon. As the gallant lads marched upon the parade in front of the grand stand with their picturesque grey uniforms, jaunty, feathered Glengary caps, and with the soldiery bearing and smart air of a line regiment, and with precision of march, they were the recipients of unstinted applause, which was frequently repeated during the series of exercises they presented. Capt. Lydon put the boys through the following movements:—Fancy drill, which was admirably done, and, which deserves the same comment, manual and bayonet exercise and physical drill with bar bells. The applause during and at the conclusion of these movements, was very hearty, and the lads, with their excellent drill and gentlemanly bearing, were deserving of the popularity they won during their two days' stay in town. Capt. Mason, who had the management of the visit of the Cadets, proved himself a model host, and deserves credit for bringing so fine and well behaved a body of embryo soldiers to town.

THE EVENING CONCERT.

In the evening a concert was given in Bradburn's opera house, the programme being furnished by the Highland Cadet Corps, Royal Scots Band and Mr. Harry Rich, humourist. Owing to the late hour in which the programme at the Driving Park was concluded, and the short time elapsing between the evening meal and the hour of the entertainment, the audience assembled, was not a very large one. Adjutant Mason acted as chairman, and the programme presented was a very interesting and enjoyable one. The opening number, physical drill to music without arms by the cadets was very creditably performed, as well as the sword drill, bayonet exercise and bar-bell exercise to music, being executed with remarkable skill and exactness. The singing of Mr. Harry Rich, the well known humourist, brought down the house. He was encored in all his selections, and responded. Mr. F. Riddell in his Highland fling and sailor's hornpipe, proved himself to be a dancer of considerable ability and his efforts were deservedly encored. The sleight of hand performance by Mr. Douchey was very interesting, and was well received. The different selections rendered by the band of the Royal Scots were highly enjoyed by the audience and warmly received, especially the burlesque "Faust up to Date," introducing many of the latest songs. A very enjoyable programme was brought to a close, by the playing of the National Anthem by the Royal Scots' band.

The Royal Scots Band returned home at midnight, but the Cadets remained over to-day and enjoyed a holiday, free from military restraint and work, and their excellent behaviour shows them to be possessed of the instincts of soldiers and gentlemen.

FORESTERS' OUTING AT JUBILEE.

The excursion of Court Peterborough No. 29, C.O.F., to Jubilee Point yesterday was quite a success. The steamer left the Wolfe street wharf about 8 o'clock with over one hundred and fifty excursionists on board and Jubilee Point was reached a little after twelve o'clock. The excursionists partook of dinner in true picnic style, and during the afternoon a trip was taken around Rice Lake, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. A large number of the excursionists spent the day fishing and some good catches are reported. On the homeward trip the steamer went into port at Campbellitown, where supper was enjoyed, after which they embarked for the trip home, the wharf being reached about 9 o'clock. Capt. Ada and crew were very obliging and courteous to the excursionists and altogether the outing was a very enjoyable and successful one.

ANOTHER FORESTERS' OUTING.

About 250 excursionists took in the trip to Toronto, Niagara and Buffalo yesterday under the auspices of Court Littlejohn No. 92, C. O. F. A number went as far as Toronto and spent the day there, but over one hundred and fifty went on to the Falls and Buffalo and took in the sights of both places, especially enjoying the electric railway trip through the places of interest at and around Niagara Falls. The excursion of Court Littlejohn this year has proved a decided success.

THE CANTON'S ROCHESTER OUTING.

The excursion of Canton Peterborough, No. 10, Patriarchs Militant, to Rochester, yesterday was quite a success. The excursionists took the steamer North King from Port Hope to Charlotte. Quite a number remained over to take in the celebrated Rochester horse meet which is being held in that city.

OTHER EXCURSIONS.

A small number took in the C. M. B. A. excursion from this point to Niagara, but the number was added to at Lindsay, and all report a very pleasant outing.

Quite a number of private parties held gatherings down the river yesterday, and spent the day in fishing and boating.

The trains to Chemong and Lakefield carried a good number up the lakes, where the day was pleasantly spent.

Altogether the Civic Holiday in Peterborough was very becomingly and enjoyably passed by the mass of the citizens. There was very little artificial hilarity in evidence, and what little there was, was good-natured and harmless—except perhaps to the fit of a few hats next morning.

THE AMERICAN TARIFF

Secretary Carlisle Computes the Cost of Free Sugar to the Treasury.

THIRTY MILLIONS OF A DEFICIT

A Motion to Refer the House Bill Placing Sugar on the Free List Will Probably be Referred to the Committee on Finance.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The House bill to place sugar on the free list was taken up in the Senate yesterday in the early part of the proceedings and occupied attention up to the time of adjournment. In connection with it a communication was read to the Senate from Secretary Carlisle to Senator Harris (Dem., Tenn.), actiug chairman of the Finance Committee, giving figures to show that with sugar on the free list there would be a treasury deficit of from $28,000,000 to $30,000,000. Despite that communication a motion was made by Mr. Berry (Dem., Ark.) that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the bill, and that motion was antagonized by one offered by Mr. Harris that the bill be referred to the Committee on Finance. Mr. Harris argued in support of his motion. Speeches were made in favor of the passing and against a reference by Mr. Berry.

SECRETARY CARLISLE.

Mr. Vest's speech was made in the execution of his promise to turn the calcium light on the theory of the bill in the finance committee, the Democratic caucus and the conference committee. As usual he was earnest and impassioned; and there was no lack of frankness or plain speaking in his remarks. His allusions to the President were especially entertaining to Senators and to the galleries. The President found a defender in Mr. Vilas, and the action of the Democratic party in Congress in passing the bill was supported and justified by Mr. Palmer.

The proceedings were closed with a highly amusing scene between Mr. Chandler and Mr. Harris, in which Mr. Chandler borrowed the words, tone and manner of Mr. Harris on several occasions during the debate on the tariff bill, to the effect that the day had been wasted in useless discussion and that the country was weary of such debates and was demanding immediate action.

Notice of an amendment to the free sugar bill was given by Mr. Jones, imposing a duty of 30 per cent. ad valorem on all sugars. Without any action whatever on the bill the Senate adjourned.

It was stated last night by those in charge of affairs in the senate that the motion to refer the free sugar bill to the committee on finance would prevail today when it came to a vote.

Secretary Carlisle's Estimate.

The letter from Secretary Carlisle, which was read in the Senate yesterday, reviews the probable effect upon the revenues and gives an approximate estimate of expenditures. The Secretary assumes that the new sugar duties will yield $43,478,958; iron ore, $270,920; coal, $436,149; and barbed wire fencing, wire and wire rods of iron and steel about $300,000.

The Secretary says that with sugar on the free list the expenditures during the present fiscal year will exceed the receipts $24,478,058, and if the duties are removed from the other articles specified as well as sugar the deficit will be $29,478,058, not including $2,363,000 of the Pacific railroads maturing this year, payment of which is guaranteed by the government. With the articles of sugar, etc., dutiable, as in the Senate bill, the Secretary anticipates a surplus of $15,000,000.

Tariff Protection Denounced.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 16.—The Democratic state convention adopted a platform which says; "We denounce all tariff protection of whatever kind as a fraud and robbery of the American people for the benefit of the few. We maintain that no tariff taxes should be levied except for the purposes of revenue only and that such taxes should be limited to the necessities of the government, honestly and economically administered.

Coal Miners Going to Work.

English Woolen Men Satisfied.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Reports from Leeds, Bradsford and Huddersfield indicate that the English manufacturers of woolens expect great benefits from the passing of the Gorman bill. The Pall Mall Gazette says that the Bradford manufacturers kept quiet while the tariff question was pending as they feared any utterances from them might affect the prospects of the bill unfavorably. Now, however, they rejoice openly.

Knollys Publishes Another Denial.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Sir Francis Knollys, who acts as Secretary to the Prince of Wales, pub is es once more th statement that the Duke of York has not been married prior to his union with the Princess May of Teck. Reports to the contrary, says Sir Francis, could have originated only in a desire to cause the Duke and Duchess of York vexation and pain. This statement was made at the direct instance of the Prince of Wales.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 16, 1894.

At the Napanee cheese board 370 white and 545 colored cheese were offered; 40 sold at 9½c, 100 at 9¾c, and 50 at 9 13-16c.

Wheat was irregular at Chicago and closed weak and fractionally lower. Corn and oats were featureless, the close for each being ⅛c higher.

At East Liberty, Pa., receipts of sheep were liberal. Extra, $3.10 to $3.30; good, $2.60 to $2.90; fair, $2.20 to $2.25; common, 50c to $1; yearlings, $1.25 to $3.20; lambs, $2 to $3.00.

The London stock market was quieter and experienced a healthy reaction after the sharp rise recently. Americans opened firm and then gave way on realizations, closing in the house at the lowest point. The tone is still bullish.

THE FARMERS MARKET.—The receipts of grain continue small and prices unchanged. Wheat steady, with sales of three loads of new white at 59 to 60c. Oats steady, 300 bushels selling at 32 to 33c for new. Barley and peas purely nominal.

BUFFALO.—Cattle—four cars; slow and only a light peddling trade. Sheep and lambs—six cars; good to best lambs, $4 to $4.40; extra wethers, 3.60 to 3.75. Hogs—ten cars; strong and higher; choice heavy, $5.85 to $5.90; ditto mediums, $5.70 to $5.82.

The course of the New York stock market is bullish. The advance in discount of the tariff bill has been sharp. It was largely engineered by the professional element. Money brokers believe that the market is broadening materially and that it will soon be established on a higher basis. The continued weakness of sterling exchange contributes to the better feeling. London's attitude was more in conformity with our market.

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these colums last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

COLONIAL CONFERENCE REPORT

Two Leading London Papers Express Their Opinion of it.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The Daily Chronicle in commenting upon the report of the inter colonial conference at Ottawa, says: "The most instructive and the most significant feature of the doings at Ottawa, as disclosed by the official report, is the practical collapse of the ingenious proposal under the guise of which certain well-meaning persons sought to impose a new form of protection upon the United Kingdom. Let us hope that we have now heard the last of the imperial customs union."

The Morning Post, referring to the conference's resolution regarding the Act of 1873 preventing Australia and New Zealand from making their own arrangements with Canada and Cape Colony, expresses the opinion that the views have such a strong expression that the Earl of Jersey can scarcely do otherwise than recommend the Government to amend the Act in accordance with the resolution.

Livery Stables Destroyed.

BERLIN, Ont., Aug. 16.—A fire occurred here yesterday and completely gutted the American livery stables and carriage works of Ephraim and Aaron Bricker, respectively, Queen street. Fortunately a heavy rain started about this time which with the excellent work of the fire brigade kept the fire confined to this building, otherwise disastrous results were anticipated, the building being situated almost in the heart of the town, and the hay, straw, etc., giving the fire king undue advantage. As it is the loss is estimated at from $5,000 to $10,000, with insurance about enough to cover it. All the live stock was saved, the chief loss being the building, buggies, carriages, robes, harness, tools, etc.

Baggage Agents Association Convention.

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.—The American Association of General Baggage Agents met this yesterday afternoon in the Windsor hall. The association had intended to meet here during the past month, but were unable to carry out their intention owing to the Chicago strikes. The association was formed February 22, 1892, and includes the general baggage agents of all the railway systems of America and Canada. This is the first meeting of the association in Canada, and it is considered probable that the president for the next term will be chosen from one of the Canadian roads. The sessions of the convention was private but a number of questions of interest to the baggage men were discussed.

Brutal Assault on a Woman.

BRAMPTON, Ont., Aug. 16.—Yesterday Jack Lowdon, a worthless old loafer appeared at the kitchen of the Graham house and asked for breakfast. The cook did not comply with his request as expeditiously as he thought she should, and some words passed between them, ending in the old man striking the woman over the head with a stick of fire wood, knocking her down. The wound bled profusely, and it is thought to be of a serious character. Lowdon was arrested.

Divorces Sold in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Aug. 16.—A local paper publishes a sensational story in which it is claimed that divorces are openly sold in Montreal. The dealer is said to be one Rabbi Drunker, and the reporter claims to have gone through the ceremony. The name of a prominent Jewish Rabbi is also mentioned, but the story is likely to give rise to legal proceedings.

A Waterloo Brewer Suicides.

WATERLOO, Ont., Aug. 16.—Christian Huether, the brewer, committed suicide by taking paris green. He has suffered severely for years with asthma and it is thought while having a bad spell and suffering from consequent depression of spirits he took the poison.

BUFFALO GIRLS BADLY DUPED.

Stage-Struck Young Women Swindled by a Theatrical Fakir.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 16.—Several score of stage-struck Buffalo girls were cleverly duped last week by Chas. Ames, a theatrical fakir, who struck town on Monday, hired a room, advertised for inexperienced girls to go on the stage in a "grand ballet" and after swindling over forty young women, who longed to display their charms before the foot-lights, left the city with the handsomest girl of the lot. They went to the Hotel Gratiot, Dunkirk, and registered as man and wife. Ames stayed with his bride two days and deserted her on Monday morning after stealing her money and jewellery. It is said that Ames has served a term or more in prison under the name of Brown for bigamy and has numerous other shady transactions standing against him.

A Girl Foully Murdered.

HENNIKER, N.H., Aug. 16.—Arthur McLean hired a team at a livery stable here and in company with Nettie Douglass left in the direction of Contoocook. Yesterday the team came back to the stable with no one in the carriage, but near by the lifeless body of Miss Douglass was found with three bullet holes in her head. McLean was found in a field half a mile from the village. He is under arrest awaiting examination. He is 18 years of age and Miss Douglass was 15.

All Chess Playing Beaten.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—According to a despatch received in this city yesterday Carl August Walbrodt played on Tuesday evening at the Nuremberg Chess Club fifty one games simultaneously. He won forty two, lost five and drew four. This is the greatest achievement of its kind ever given before.

Dissipation Brought Him to It.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Alban H. Snyder, the city representative of the Dry Goods Economist, was found dead in his room at the Broadway Central hotel, having committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. Cause, dissipation.

A Negro Scoundrel Lynched.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 16.—Mrs. Martin Nolan, living near the city, while walking along the pike near her home, was outraged by a negro named Marshall. He was arrested and taken to jail. At night a mob took him out and hanged him.

Cholera and all summer complaints are so quick in their action that the cold hand of death is upon the victims before they are aware that danger is near. If attacked do not delay in getting the proper medicine. Try a dose of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, and you will get immediate relief. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to effect a cure.

Suffering For Years from Insomnia and Nervous Debility—Prostrated, Exhausted—No Vitality—No Rest Until "Nature's Sweet Restorer," South American Nervine Tonic, Built up the Nervous Organism, and Gave Back to the Wearied and Exhausted Nerve-Centres their Wonted Vigor.

ADOLPHE LABODIE, B.C.L., J.P., OF THE WELL-KNOWN LEGAL FIRM OF LABODIE & LABODIE, MONTREAL.

For four generations the remarkable family of LaBodie have been prominently identified with the legal and professional life of Montreal. A long line of active, intellectual men, whose ambition to rise to prominence meant a constant drain upon the nerve forces and a tremendous demand for brain power. Mr Adolphe LaBodie, B.C.L., J.P., etc., has for seventeen years been actively engaged in the legal profession, living, as the duties of intellectual men of this fast age demand, beyond the reserve limit of natural nerve force, requiring more of the nerve centres at the base of the brain than they can possibly fulfil, which always results in nervous prostration, dyspepsia, hot flashes, insomnia, constipation, and attendant evils.

Mr. LaBodie spared neither time nor money to obtain relief, went to Europe for special treatment, all to no purpose. His attention being directed to South American Nervine Tonic, he concluded to try it. Result—immediate relief from insomnia, and a perfect and permanent cure from all other disorders, with but five bottles of the Nervine.

Mr. Adolphe LaBodie, under date of April 27th, writes from Montreal:—"I was suffering from insomnia and nervous debility; prostration and exhaustion, rather than rest, followed a night's experience. I took five bottles of South American Nervine, and am wholly recovered, and now enjoy restful nights. I have tried many remedies, have been treated in Europe, and can say with truthful emphasis that the South American nervine has cured me."

There is reason in all things: business reasons in business, truthful reasons in truth. Mr. LaBodie's statement herewith is the truthful reason why, if South American Nervine Tonic cured him, it will cure you. It is the nerve builder for brain workers. Brain and stomach cannot both work at the same time with healthful and happy issues. One must suffer. Intense intellectual activity produces indigestion because the brain is consuming all the nerve power. South American Nervine Tonic holds nature to a happy poise, and life and its duties swing to fruitful success.

THE MIKADO IS UNEASY

He Will Feel the Pulse of His People in Regard to the War

ENGLISH FEELING IN JAPAN

The Press Express Contempt for Japan's Great Naval Victory in the Kow Shing Affair—Seven Chinese Vessels Reported to Have Been Sunk.

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 16.—The Northern Pacific liner Tacoma, which left Yokohama on August 1, arrived yesterday, completing the fastest passage she ever made. There was no incident of special importance in the trip and war had not been declared formally between China and Japan before her sailing, although hostilities had been instituted.

Full particulars of the sinking of the Chinese troop ship Kow Shing while flying the British flag were received at Yokohama a few days prior to the Tacoma's departure, and speculation was rife as to what action England would take, war not having been declared when the Kow Shing was cleared by the British consul, and therefore being a simple merchantman flying the English colors.

The English press of Japan unite in expressing contempt for "Japan's great naval victory," and the general tone of their editorials on the war is strongly condemnatory of Japan's policy.

The Mikado is hardly satisfied with the assurance of his government that the people demanded war and has instructed his superintendent-general of police to report on the feeling of the people in regard to the recent course of his government.

Four transports for Corea were still missing when the Tacoma left Japan and the supposition was that they had been lost in a typhoon which had raged with exceptional violence on July 26.

The Sea Fight Denied.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News says the Yokohama report that there was an engagement between Chinese and Japanese fleets August 11, and that the Japanese were victorious, is denied officially. The Japanese fleet is still cruising at the mouth of the gulf of Pe-Chi-Li and the Chinese fleet has not been sighted. Chinese reenforcements are equipping and advancing through Manchuri.

The Daily Chronicle correspondent in Yokohama says: Rumors are current that seven Chinese vessels were sunk in an engagement with the Japanese, August 10. This is probably an echo of the Yokohama despatch received Tuesday reporting a naval engagement August 11.

Locomotive Engineers at Brockville.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 16.—Yesterday the members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and their ladies invaded the town to the number of about 700, being the occasion of a convention of the Canadian division, to which the American brethren were invited. The response has been a most generous one. Representatives are present from all parts of Canada and the United States, among them P. M. Arthur, of Cleveland, Ohio, Grand Chief Engineer, and other grand officers, also Shandy McGuire, of Oswego, the poet of the Brotherhood. In the afternoon there was a business meeting when various matters of interest to railways and railwaymen were discussed. After the meeting the members formed in procession and headed by the band marched through the principal streets. In the evening a complimentary entertainment was given in the Opera House.

I. C. R. Brakesman Killed.

TRURO, N. S., Aug. 16.—Brakesman Albert Holmes, of the I. C. R. works, Truro, was fatally injured at Milford Station yesterday. He was breaking on a special to Halifax. While shunting at Milford, and stepping between two cars, the smoke from the engine blinded him and made him miss his footing. He fell between them and the train ran over his left leg at the knee, completely crushing it. It was some time before he was missed and a considerable quantity of blood was lost. He was brought to Truro and put under surgical care but died shortly after.

A Bomb in South London.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Daily Telegraph reports that a bomb exploded last evening in the post office at New Cross, South London, and that the office was much damaged.

Fashionable Wedding at the Capital.

OTTAWA, Aug. 16.—In Grace church last evening at 8 o'clock Miss Alice Patterson, daughter of the Hon. J. C. Patterson, Minister of Militia, was married to A. St. George Ellis, a prominent lawyer of Windsor, Ont. The bridesmaids were Misses Kathleen and Annie Patterson, sisters of the bride. J. F. Patterson, her brother, was best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the Patterson residence and the bridal pair left by the 10.30 train for Muskoka, where they will spend their honeymoon.

The Camp at Levis.

QUEBEC, Aug. 16.—The Toronto and London volunteers arrived by the steamer Bohemian and went into camp at St. Joseph de Levis yesterday. No. 4 Company, Fredericton, has also arrived. They number about 100 men each. There is also two companies of about 75 men each of attached members of the militia at the camp. General Herbert has arrived to take command.

Fell Sixty Feet Into a Sewer.

HAMILTON, Aug. 16.—Charlie Carter, 9 years of age, whose parents live at 49 Peter street, fell about 60 feet into the sewer opening at the mountain. He was badly bruised in many places and sustained several scalp wounds, but as far as the doctors can ascertain no bones are broken and it is possible he will recover.

The Chinese pay their doctor only so long as he keeps them in health. They believe in preventing rather than curing disease. This is sound sense, and one of the strongest recommendations of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a medicine which not only cures diseases but prevents them.

SATANITAS' SPLENDID VICTORY

The Vigilant's Skipper Claims the Race Was a "Put up Job."

RYDE, Aug. 17.—Whatever chance the Vigilant may have had in the race yesterday for the Ryde town cup, valued at $500, she was forced to sacrifice it in jockeying with the Britannia, which clung to her throughout the contest, occasionally forcing her into shallows, where in windward work she found it impossible to use the full depth of her board and thus made leeway, which was beneficial to the Britannia. The object of the skipper on the Prince's cutter seemed to be to help the Satanita to win the race. That, Captain Hank Haff described in an interview after the race, was undoubtedly Capt. Carter's scheme.

The Yankee skipper says that after crossing the line the Britannia ran up on his port or weather quarter and blanketed him. Then the wily Briton made an effort to cross the white sloop's bows and Capt. Haff luffed up to prevent this. The jockeying, always forced on the Yankee skipper, continued until the two boats were two miles off the course. This enabled the Satanita to win, which she did by a handsome margin. She vanquished the Britannia by 6 minutes and 23 seconds and the Vigilant by 7 minutes and 50 seconds. On corrected time the Vigilant was beaten by the Satanita 8 minutes and 32 seconds and by the Britannia 3 minutes and 31 seconds.

As the tussles approached Cowes, close-hauled, a heavy rain-squall lashed up from tipped seas and the yachts heeled heavily to port. The Vigilant demonstrated that she was made for wrestling with weather by reducing the lead of the Britannia to 1 minute, 20 seconds or 50 seconds since leaving the Spit. In the run from Cowes the Vigilant lost 7 seconds to the Britannia, 55 seconds to the Satanita. Time at finish: Satanita, 3:36:00; Britannia, 3:42:23; Vigilant, 3:43:50.

The average strength of the wind during the race was less than 10 knots. Capt. Haff says the victory of the Satanita was a "put up job." It is somewhat doubtful on this account whether the Vigilant will enter the race to-day for the Royal Victoria around the Isle of Wight for the Commodore's Cup, valued at $400 to go to the winner and a prize of $200 for the second. The Satanita, Britannia, Vigilant, Corsair, Carina, and Namara have been entered in this race.

The Vigilant and Britannia will sail on Saturday 15 miles outside the Needles and back or the reverse for the Wolverson cup.

CULMINATED IN MURDER.

Fatal Ending of a Twenty Years' Feud Among Staten Island Squatters.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The feud which has been in existence among the squatters at South Beach, S. I., culminated in murder yesterday. Frederick Bergman was killed as he opened the door of his home. The shot came from a gun which had been placed in a position commanding the entrance, and from the trigger of which a string led to the door knob.

Bergman's father in-law, Thos. Burke, is under arrest on suspicion of being the person who fixed the gun. He is 70 years old.

It was a day of death in the little shanty made of drift wood standing at the extreme end of South Beach. In the morning the infant child of Bergman's died. He had been out making arrangements for the funeral and was returning home to comfort his wife, who was prostrated over the death of the child, when he met his own death.

The body of the child in the house did not deter those who had planned to kill Bergman from carrying out their design.

There has been war among the squatters for twenty years over land which Burke sold, but to which he had no title.

BRICKS ARE THE BEST FOR OUTFALL SEWER.

THE QUESTION OF MATERIAL DECIDEDLY SETTLED.

Report of the Toronto Tile vs. Brick Deputations—That is Their Decision—Third Reading of Outfall Sewer By-law—Mr. Cahill's Stand in the Interests of Workingmen.

A special meeting of the town council was held Wednesday night to receive the report of the deputation—Messrs. Mayor Kendry, Best, Dawson and Sutton—which went to Toronto on Wednesday, to make inquiries and observations of practical work to decide the relative merits of sewer pipe and brick as materials for the proposed outfall sewer.

Mr. Best stated that the deputation were fortunate in meeting on the spot of actual operations with sewerage officials, including Mr. Keating, city engineer of Toronto, and the contractor of sewerage works, and they were informed that brick sewers were better than pipe, as experience had shown that sewer pipe of the size of 18 inches when taken up had been found to be cracked, and he (Mr. Best) had by virtue of what he had seen and been told, become a convert to brick sewers as the cheapest in the end. These experts in Toronto stated that they had in an experience of 20 years never known an 18-inch sewer pipe to be taken out without showing cracks and splits, though smaller sizes, by exposing less surface to pressure, were not so liable to breakage.

Mr. Dawson said he never knew anything more fortunate in the way of getting an unbiassed opinion. They came upon the city engineer and contractor actually engaged in constructing brick sewer, and these gentlemen unhesitatingly pronounced in favour of brick for an outfall sewer, against sewer pipe of 18 inches in diameter. The pressure at 10 feet caused cracks and splits to develop. Brick taken out of a sewer that was being rebuilt was found to be perfectly sound.

Mr. Sutton said that the sewer the Toronto people were rebuilding was too small as an outfall sewer, and he, Mr. Sutton, did not think that it was wise to make any modification in Mr. McDougall's plan, which proposed a brick outfall. A smaller sewer would not serve the purpose, or be as lasting.

The Mayor said the deputation was much indebted to the gentlemen mentioned for the information given. Himself and the other members of the deputation were, from what they had learned from practical test, unanimously in favour of a brick sewer. He thought the deputation learned much more from these practical men that could have been given by consulting an engineer.

Mr. Dawson said that the deputation could not have been more courteously received than by Mr. Keating and other officials, and the thanks of the council were due him and them.

Mr. Cahill said the expense incurred by sending the deputation was money well spent, for it settled the question of the relative merits of a brick and a pipe outfall sewer.

Mr. White moved, seconded by Mr. Cahill, that the expenses of the deputation to Toronto be paid.—Carried.

PASSING THE BYLAW.

Mr. Best moved, seconded by Mr. White the third reading of the by bylaw to authorize the construction of a main outfall sewer, and to provide funds for the same. The bylaw received its third reading.

Mr. Cahill moved, seconded by Mr. Dawson, that the sewer be built by day work and that the Sewerage Committee be authorized to employ a competent foreman.

Mr. Cahill made a strong plea in favour of his motion, which he wished adopted, in order to give the largest amount of labour to local men, whom it was painful to see walking about the streets in enforced idleness. The chief object of passing the by-law aside from the usefulness of the outfall sewer, was to give employment to our idle citizens. He believed it influenced a great many to vote for the by-law. Indeed that was what was in his mind in favouring the by-law and it was only by the means which his motion suggested that this object could be gained to the fullest extent—that was the only means of giving employment to the largest number. If a contractor got the work he would select the best workmen to a limited number and as these would serve his purpose, as a matter of business he would employ no others and many others would be deprived of employment; whereas by day work men who were not so good could be given employment at lower wages and still have the employment many of them so greatly needed. By failing to carry his resolution the council would be failing to carry out the spirit of the resolution passed at the last meeting of the council to the effect that only ratepayers of the town be employed on the sewer. A contractor might carry out the letter of this resolution by employing a few of the best workmen he required, while the mass of labouring men whom it was desired to provide with work, would be without employment upon a town work specially designed to give them employment. By his plan every man that could work, could be put to work and if he could not earn a full day's pay, he would earn something. In this way we would get value for the amount paid out and thus the town would be saved a large expenditure on charity which it would have to make if many of our townspeople were not given employment between this and winter.

Mr. Best mentioned that the weak point in Mr. Cahill's argument, was the lack of somebody responsible for the proper performance of the work.

Mr. Cahill showed that a foreman, whom the town could trust, would protect the town interest, and the idea that lay behind the passing of the by-law,—to give employment, would be carried out and nobody the worse, and hundreds of working men, who would thus get employment, would be the better off.

The Mayor pointed out that we had $21,000 to spend to build this sewer, and we should have an estimate of a contractor, obtained by tender. We should have some idea of the cost before we started. The contractor should be bound to employ only ratepayers of the town.

Mr. Dawson said he was strongly in favour of doing the work by the day, and in favour of giving town mechanics and labourers, and also to the brick yards work, in making the brick, and the latter was one reason he favoured a brick sewer.

Mr. Cahill again insisted that the proposal to give out the work by contract was contrary to the spirit of the motion passed by the council to give employment to local workingmen. A contractor could employ a certain number of men he would choose, and others would have to stand idly by.

TENDERS DECIDED UPON.

Mr. Best moved, seconded by Mr. White, that the sewerage committee be authorized by the council to ask for tenders for material and construction of the outfall sewer as proposed under bylaw 720.

Mr. Hall pointed out that as there had been no expert estimate of the cost of the proposed outfall sewer, we would be running a great risk if we undertook the work without an estimate, such as tenders would bring out. Mr. Hall called attention to the fact that Mr. McDougall's report spoke of the necessity of a pumping plant at the outfall during the period of high water, and we ought to know all about this matter before proceeding.

Mr. Best explained that Mr. McDougall had told him that the pumps would not be necessary from any point above Lake street and then only for a few days at the period of highest water.

Mr. Best's motion was declared carried.

Mr. Cahill's motion was declared lost and the yeas and nays were taken as follows:

Yeas—Messrs. Cahill and Dawson—2.

Nays—Messrs. White, Best, Hall, Sutton and Mason.—5.

Mr. Hall moved, seconded by Mr. Mason, that the whole matter be referred to the Sewerage Committee to consult the town engineer, and to have plans and specifications prepared before asking for tenders and with power to act.—Carried.

The council adjourned.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

LACROSSE.

The Peterborough Juniors had a decided snap in their match with Cannington on Tuesday on the P.A.A.A. grounds. There was a good number present, but the game was too one-sided to be interesting. The Cannington team was a much heavier team than the juniors, but they were outplayed at every point. They appeared on the field in the same style of guernsey as the Canningtons of ten years ago, when they played against the old Peterboroughs. The games were taken so fast that no actual count was kept, but the result was said to be something like 8 to 2 in the juniors' favour. The juniors have played two games within a week, winning both of them.

Beaverton and Orillia played lacrosse on Wednesday last, the former team being defeated by four straight games in about twenty minutes.

The Granites will play a junior Port Hope team in that town on Saturday, Aug. 25th.

Belleville and Port Hope play lacrosse on Monday next—Port Hope's civic holiday.

On Wednesday, Aug. 22nd, Peterborough and Port Hope will play off the tie at Millbrook. The members of the local team are requested to turn out each night between now and that date, and put in continued practice in order to make a good showing on that occasion.

BASEBALL.

The Auburn's and Alerts played ball, on the Riverside Park, yesterday morning. The Alerts put up a very ragged game in the field, and allowed the Auburns to run their score away up in the twenties, the Alerts only scoring five runs. The batteries were Weeks and Cowan; Riley and Lynch.

Cobourg cannot now be dislodged from the leadership of the Midland League. They have lost but one game the entire season and that is now under protest.

The Sentinel-Star says: Mr. Peter LePage, an old Woodstock resident and late of Peterborough, where he played with that town's league baseball team for two seasons, is in town.

CRICKET.

An eleven of the Peterborough cricket club journeyed to Cobourg yesterday and played the cricketers of that town a friendly game. Cobourg went to bat first and succeeded in piling up only 38 runs before the last wicket fell. The bowling of Houldsworth and Stocker was very destructive to the Cobourgs. Stocker seemed to be in first-class condition, and his fine bowling was one of the features of the game. In Peterborough's first innings Houldsworth, Montgomery and Halliday, did good batting, scoring 41, 16 and 12 runs respectively. Peterborough retired at the end of the innings with 102 runs to their credit. Cobourg in the second innings succeeded in getting the same number of runs as in their first, making in the two a total of 76 runs. This left Peterborough with a score of 26 runs and one innings to spare. Following is the score:

KILLED BY THE KAFFIRS

MOUNTED POLICE REPULSED

The Boers Fleeing Before the Savage Rebels—Mail Coaches Looted and the Passengers Massacred — Waste and Rapine Along the Letaba River.

PRETORIA, South African Republic, Aug. 18.—The rebellion of the Kaffirs is assuming alarming proportions and the efforts of the authorities of the republic to suppress it have up to the present proved unavailing. The Transvaal mounted police detachment, which has been attempting to relieve the garrison at Agatha, besieged by the Kaffirs for some days past, has been repulsed with, it is feared, serious loss. Emboldened by their success, the Kaffirs pursued the retreating troopers and made an attack upon the main column of the Boer forces. The Kaffirs were driven back, but the advance of the column has been retarded.

From the Boer settlements along the Letaba river come reports of severe fighting between isolated parties of retreating Boers and the Kaffirs, who are burning the Boer homesteads all along the river. The Boers are fleeing before the Kaffir advance, taking with them all their portable property, but large quantities of provisions and cattle have necessarily fallen into the hands of the Kaffirs.

The latter have murdered a number of Boer farmers and their wives and children and the fiercest feelings of the Boers have been aroused against the rebellious natives.

In the Zoutpansberg district devilish outrages have been committed, and large numbers of women and children have been killed and a large amount of property has been destroyed.

In all the disturbed districts the mail and passenger coaches have been stopped, many of the passengers have been killed, and the coaches, after having been looted, have been destroyed and the mules stolen.

The Murchison road is entirely closed. The Kaffirs are reported to have erected a strong barricade across it, a point where it passes between two hills, and they are said to have prepared to defend this point vigorously. The government is reinforcing its column of troops as rapidly as possible, and it is expected that an advance in force will be made upon the Kaffirs today.

THE BI-METALLIC STANDARD.

A Committee at Washington Favors the Adoption of Bi-Metallism.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—At the meeting of the Bi-metallic League yesterday the committee appointed to recommend a plan of action submitted a declaration which among other things said:

"A year has passed since Congress was called together in extra session to repeal the silver purchase law and complete the establishment of the single gold standard. The results of this policy are before the country. Leading articles of consumption are lower than for 300 years; wheat is lower in England than at any period since Charles I. or the landing of the pilgrims in New England; merchant bar iron is lower in price than ever before since its first use by man; cotton was never so low before. The great agricultural classes are brought to the verge of ruin. The money question is therefore the supreme issue before the country.

"There is no other and there can be no other of sufficient importance to displace this until this is rightly settled. Fortunately the field has been at last cleared for this battle. The tariff is now out of the way. There will be no further contest between protection and free trade for both alike in the end lead to the same goal. The only way out is to restore the bi-metallic standard of money, and until that is done there can be no return to prosperity to the country."

The committee recommended that the advantages of free coinage throughout the country subvert every other issue to this, and that a committee be appointed to make arrangements for a general convention to prepare a plan of campaign for the next national election. The report was adopted.

Grand Trunk Train Held Up.

SAGINAW, Mich., Aug. 18.—Train No. 3 on the Cincinnati, Saginaw and Mackinaw branch of the Grand Trunk railroad was held up near Burt, a small station fourteen miles south of this city, last night. A train carrying officers from this city has gone to the scene of the hold-up.

U. S. Gold Reserve Increases.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—The gold reserve was increased yesterday to $53,112,962, the highest it has been since August 3. A steady gain has been in progress since August 8.

The Anarchist Clari Confesses.

ROME, Aug. 18.—Clari, one of the anarchists arrested in the suburbs a few days ago, charged with plotting to assassinate Premier Crispi, has confessed that the leader of the conspirators is a man named Cerqueetti. Three more anarchists connected with the plot have been arrested. All the prisoners are educated men.

Tenants Bill Next Session.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in answering Justin McCarthy yesterday, said the government would reintroduce the evicted tenants bill at the next session.

ACTIVITY IN THE EAST

JAPAN IN GOOD FIGHTING TRIM

She Has a Force of Twenty Thousand Men in Corea—A Big Battle Expected Before Seoul—The Japs Blame Chinese Pirates for the Kow Shing Affair.

VICTORIA, B.C., Aug. 18.—When the steamship Empress of Japan, which has just arrived here, left Yokohama, news of war and rumors of blockade filled the air. All along the Chinese coast beacons and buoys were being removed. Railway and telegraph lines were being hastily constructed in both China and Japan. Torpedoes had been laid at the entrance of all the rivers and more ships and further supplies of arms and ammunition were being ordered. Exceptionally stringent press regulations had been adopted to prevent any but official news being published. Strong efforts are being made by the Japanese to throw all the blame for the Kow Shing affair upon piratical Chinese troops on board, who forced Captain Galworthy to cast himself into the sea to escape being murdered at their hands, and the Japanese assert that England has the strongest possible claim for damages against China.

In Corea China still appears to have the advantage of numbers in her land force, though Japan to credited with having 20,000 men in the field and more troops are being constantly landed by both belligerents. There is every prospect of a severe engagement in the neighborhood of Seoul before many days. Each of the European powers has landed a small force to protect its consulate at the Corean capital. It is reported that the Corean Government has officially intimated to Japan that they will promptly sever all connections with China.

Japan Well Prepared for Fighting.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Captain Ingles, who has just concluded a six years' service as naval adviser to Japan, said in an interview yesterday: "The ships, officers and men of the Japanese navy are distinctly comparable to those of any European navy. The officers are energetic and studious. The engineers are especially good, and the engines are admirably worked. I have seen the Naniwa worked 100 revolutions a minute, which was her natural draught trial speed in England. The Japanese are very smart with the hand-worked guns, but do not take so readily to the hydraulic guns. The seamen are entirely un-oriental—always alert, patient and cheerful. The Japanese officers are faithful students of Capt. Mahan, the American naval historian.

"The Japanese army, with which I am intimately acquainted, is equipped admirably. The troops exhibit great dash and steadiness in sham fights and under fire and their discipline is extremely good. The artillery is remarkably well served; the drivers are fearless and the gunners are smart. Physically the Japanese are ideal soldiers, with strongly developed legs and light bodies, and they are untiring marchers.

"I do not believe that the Japanese seriously mean to attack the Chinese forts. They are too wise and value their ships too highly to do that. I am of the opinion that their recent affair at Wei-Hai-Wei was a reconnaissance. I believe the Japanese will clear the sea before the winter and that the campaign will be mainly on land. The usual commonplace remarks about the certainty of the ultimate success of the Chinese owing to their numbers and resources may be true, but it is not easy to foresee the result, Japan's modernity being a new factor in the far east."

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times confirms the supposition that the Japanese visit to Wei-Hai-Wei and Port Arthur was merely a reconnaissance for the purpose of drawing fire and getting angles. The Japanese vessels have since been cruising in the gulf of Pe-Chi-Li seeking the Chinese fleet.

The Kow Shing Inquiry.

The finding of the court in the official investigation at Shanghai of the sinking of the Kow Shing is that the steamer Kow Shing was sunk on July 25 by a Japanese naval vessel, and that Capt. Galesworthy and the other officers of the Kow Shing showed great coolness and judgment under the trying conditions of the conflict. The court added that the Kow Shing's English officers used all means in their power to avert the catastrophe and deserve high praise for their efforts.

Torpedoes will be laid at the entrance of the Tokio and Nagasaki harbors early next week.

THE CHOLERA IN EUROPE.

New Cases and Another Death in Amsterdam—Spreading Elsewhere.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 18.—Three new cases of cholera and one death were reported in this city yesterday. One case of cholera was reported in Rotterdam.

BUCHAREST, Aug. 18.—The spread of cholera in Bessarabia has induced the Roumanian Government to establish a military cordon on the frontier.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—The police of Schneidmuehl in East Prussia have closed the public baths and forbidden the use of unboiled water and raw fruit on account of the cholera.

VIENNA, Aug. 18.—While the troops belonging to the Cracow garrison were marching through Silesia and Galicia to take part in the manoeuvres eight soldiers were attacked with cholera at Bielitz and two at Oswiecin. The populace is greatly excited, fearing that the troops will spread the disease.

Sir Adolphe Writes to the Standard.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—In the Standard there appears a short letter from Sir A. P. Caron in reply to some comments on the riots in Quebec recently occasioned by an attack on the members of the Salvation Army. Sir Adolphe declares that the French Canadian inhabitants of Quebec are among the most law abiding citizens of Canada.

THE EMBARGO REMAINS

The British Board of Agriculture Publishes Official Documents

EVIDENCE AS TO CONTAGION

There Was No Positive Testimony That the Cases Examined Were Not Affected With Pleuro-Pneumonia — Slaughtering Regulations to Continue.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The board of agriculture has published the official documents concerning the importation of Canadian cattle. Mr. Gardiner, president of the board, has decided that the prohibition must stand.

The documents comprise the evidence of seventeen experts and a minute containing the board's deductions.

No one testified positively that the cases examined were not cases of contagious pleuro-pneumonia. Many confirmed the decisions of the officers of the board. The board considers that the evidence negatives the suggestion that the disease is catarrhal or croupous pneumonia. Messrs. Hunting and MacQueen favored the theory that it is a disease hitherto unobserved.

The board expresses the opinion that the next step is with the Canadian veterinarians, and in conclusion says: "It is beyond all question that a disease occurs in Canadian cattle which many of the ablest and best qualified veterinarians in Great Britain declare to be contagious pleuro-pneumonia, and which even those holding the opinion that it is a new disease pronounced bacterial, and that the disease could not have developed to the extent shown when the animals are killed, three weeks after shipment, unless contracted before leaving Canada. The matter deserves, and will doubtless receive the serious attention of the Dominion Government. In the meantime it is clearly the board's duty to maintain the regulation requiring slaughter at the port of landing.

ABOLISHED THE DUTY ON FISH.

Canadian Trade With Porto Rico on the Same Footing as Norwegian.

HALIFAX, Aug. 18.—George E. A. Bokes & Co. received a telegram from Porto Rico reading: "Import duty on fish abolished."

G. E. Bokes, who was seen regarding the matter and effect it would have on trade, stated that a few weeks ago the board of trade of held a special meeting to consider the effect of the Norway-Spanish treaty on trade between Canada, Porto Rico and Cuba. Under the treaty, fish from Norway would be admitted free of duty, while our fish would be subject to a duty of about 60 cents per 100 pounds. Owing to the superior quality of Norway fish the Nova Scotian article would be practically shut out of the market and the result would be almost ruinous. The outcome of the abolition of the duty will be that Canada will be about on the same footing as heretofore, thereby saving to skippers of Nova Scotia the market they had for years.

MANGLED BY A THRESHER.

Terrible Accident to a Swiss Farm Hand in South Easthope.

STRATFORD, Aug. 18.—A frightful accident occurred on the farm of Henry Petrie, in South Easthope, by which a young Swiss lad named Buser lost his life. Threshing operations were in progress when, by some mishap, Buser, who was working about the separator, fell into the cylinder and was so terribly mangled that death ensued in a few minutes. The lad was seventeen years of age and only lately came to this country.

Eastern Ontario Press Association.

RENFREW, Ont., Aug. 18—The annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Press Association was held here yesterday. The members present met in the temperance hall. The attendance was not as large as had been expected. Those who put in an appearance were the president, Mr. John A. Macdonald, of the Arnprior Chronicle; the secretary, Mr. James McLeod, of the Arnprior Gazette; Mr. Bone, of the Pembroke Standard, and Mr. Reves, of the Egansville Enterprise, and the representatives of the local papers. The secretary read letters of excuse and explanation from members absent on account of over pressure of work and impaired health. No papers on newspapers were read and the meeting adjourned to meet on the second Friday of October in Carleton Place.

Firemen's Convention Closed.

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—The Fire Engineer's convention closed its sessions here last night. A number of papers were read but the most interesting business was the election of officers. The following officers were elected: President, Chief Engineer Benoit, Montreal; Secretary, H. A. Hills, Wyoming, Ohio, re-elected; Treasurer, D. C. Larkens. Lieut.-Governor Chapleau, of Quebec, was elected an hon. president, and Ald. Stevenson, chairman of the Montreal Fire Committee, an hon. vice-president. It was decided to hold the next convention at Augusta, Ga. A warm resolution of thanks was passed to the local firemen and citizens for their hospitality.

A Cuban's Opinion of Canada.

OTTAWA, Aug. 18.—Mr. Giberso, of Cuba, who has been here for a couple of days, has left for Quebec. He intends spending about two months between Canada and the United States, studying economic questions. He expressed himself as very much pleased with the progressive spirit he had observed in Canada, but thought the country would be better off with free trade. He would like to see an extension of trade between Canada and Cuba.

Gored to Death by a Bull.

YARMOUTH, N.S., Aug. 18. — While Jacob A. Roberts, of Kemptville, this county, was passing through a field, he was attacked by a vicious bull and gored to death, being horribly mutilated. His son found his remains with the bull lying beside them. The animal attempted to attack him, but failed and he escaped. Mr. Roberts was 67 years of age.

HUSTLING HAVELOCK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. James Bryans, who has been visiting friends in the neighborhood of Peterborough, was taken ill, and was under the doctor's care. She is better again, and is expected home soon.

Mr. D. T. Connolly of the Glynn House lost his youngest child Johnnie by death on the 8th of August.

Mr. Thos. Milne met with a sad loss by the death of his twin daughters. One died on the 7th Aug. after about a day's illness. The other died as suddenly the next day, aged five months. Mr. and Mrs. Milne have the sympathy of the village in their double bereavement.

The Oddfellows and Workmen who have been working together so harmoniously, have leased four acres of Mr. W. Mathison's grove on the east end, and intend making an attractive race track and sporting ground out of it. Much credit is due the enterprising members of both societies for their efforts to provide suitable grounds of this kind, which have been a long-felt want in the village.

Drain's new brick block on the corner of Quebec and Ontario streets, makes a handsome addition to the central portion of the village. It is built of brick, two storeys high. The stores are large and well fitted up, with plate glass front, and presents a business-like appearance. Mr. B. M. Fredericks, who carried on a good general store on Concession street, now occupies one store, with a fine and complete assortment of general groceries, dry goods, etc., under the management of Mr. H. B. R. Dryden. The other store is now occupied by Mr. F. E. Harper's furniture and undertaking establishment, which keeps a well selected stock of goods in that line.

Mr. H. B. R. Dryden has moved his job printing plant to Havelock and has fitted up a small office in rear of his store where he will keep his hand in at "the art preservative of all arts," by doing such work as his facilities will permit.

Miss Lizzie Joyce, of Napanee, Miss S. Phillips, of Norwood, and Mr. Henry Laskey, of Deseronto, have been visiting with the family of Reeve Joyce.

Havelock's highways and byways present a creditable appearance. The streets are clean and gradually getting into good repair and new road work is going on in different parts of the village. A new sidewalk has been put down in front of Jeffs and Drain's blocks and Street Inspector McIntyre is spreading the appropriation economically and well.

Work has commenced for the erection of a new Presbyterian manse alongside the church. The new pastor has become very popular and the congregation are showing their practical appreciation of their minister by providing a home of their own for him.

The Havelock football team have come off victorious in three matches lately and have covered themselves with glory, without gore. They first visited Hastings and did up the local team in short order, although their opponents had a combination of crack players from Norwood and other places. They then kicked the ball out of sight for the South Dummer team, and won the game with flying colours before the Dummer boys had time to pull themselves together. Their last match was with the Castleton team, in which they scored their third victory. A prize of $12 had been offered for the best team in these three matches, and of course the Havelock boys raked in the boodle. Their team was captained by Mr. H. B. R. Dryden, who handled the boys with the strategy of a Wellington.

A big camp meeting is to be held here commencing on the 28th August by the Free Methodists of the district. The camp is to be pitched in Patterson's grove and is expected to be a big affair.

Dr. Jeff's fine brick block is nearly ready for business. It is a substantial ornament to the village and reflects credit on proprietor, contractor and workmen. The corner store is to be occupied by Dr. Jeff's drug and fancy goods business, the middle store is intended for a new hardware or harness business and a jeweller is to open in the first store. Plate glass windows have been placed in all the fronts and both the exterior and interior designs and finish will contribute very much to the attractive business appearance of the block. The large and commodious hall upstairs is to occupied by the local societies and will be one of the finest village halls in Ontario.

Messrs. J. B. Gould & Co., the wonderful cheap men, of Havelock, have been running a lively clearing sale during the past month. This sale has been a regular scorcher, prices have been startling, and it is intended to clear out the summer goods to make room for the arrival of their mammoth fall stock, which is to arrive in September. The sale is to close on 18th of September, and judicious buyers, who want to make their dollars do double duty, buy now. The slaughter is in every department, and as price is no object, the bargains that await the early buyers will be worth coming after. Mr. Gould keeps everything in first-class order, convenient and handy, and his stock-keeping is a credit to his ability. Painters are at work decorating the outside of his large premises with paint and attractive signs, and material is being laid down for building large sheds and stables on the east side, for the convenience of farmers and their teams.

"A little farm well tilled,

What could you wish a man better than that? The last is not the least by any means, but how can a wife be well willed if she be the victim of those distressing maladies that make her life a burden? Let her take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and cure all painful irregularities, uterine disorders, inflammation and ulceration, prolapsus and kindred weaknesses. It is a boon and a blessing to women. Thousands are in the bloom of health through using it, when otherwise they would be under the sod. Are you a sufferer? Use it, or some day we may read—

Bradstreet's Trade Report.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Bradstreet's says: Special telegraphic and mail advices summarizing interviews with more than 500 leading wholesale dealers and manufacturers at 47 cities throughout the country as to the present affect, if any, of the prospective tariff bill, should it become a law, indicate relatively less enthusiasm at large eastern centres, except at New York and Baltimore, almost uniform satisfaction throughout the southern states, and similar advices from the central and northwestern states, except where serious crop damage has taken place. In far west little interest is manifested in tariff legislation, notably at Denver and Helena, where silver attracts more attention. Opinion seems to favor the probability of a near by gain in volume of transactions in general lines. The number of business failures in the United States this week is 234, against 197 last week.

A Canadian Girl's Death.

LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 18.—Carrie E. Potter, aged 25, an actress in the 1492 company, came from Boston on Tuesday and was taken ill in a store, and declared that she had been drugged. The proprietor, to get rid of her, took her to the Harris house and paid for her lodging. There she caused some commotion by dancing before the parlor mirror. In the morning she was found dead in her bed with her face bloody and looked as if she had died in great agony. The police kept the matter quiet, thinking she had taken strychnine, but a post-mortem shows that she died of hemorrhage. It was found last night that she has relatives in Dansville, P.Q., who will care for the body.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

From our own Correspondent.

Messrs. M. Hunter and J. McIntosh were up to Toronto this week arranging with the C. P. R. officials of this division for the erection of a platform at the crossing at the 10th concession where the officials have granted them the privilege of flagging their local daily passenger trains. The gentlemen are to be congratulated on their success in procuring the special privilege for the residents of that portion of the township, which will no doubt prove a boon to farmers in the vicinity who have produce to ship, and wish to board the train either east or west.

A WELL-KNOWN HAMILTON MERCHANT.

Says that Lactated Food Saved his Baby Boy.

'Tis the Only Food that "Saves Babies' Lives."

Mr. F. Chester Fearman, the well-known merchant, of Hamilton, Ont., gives strong and positive testimony regarding the great superiority of Lactated Food over all other brands now sold.

Mr. Fearman says:—"Our boy Herbert, when four months old, was given up by us, and we fully expected to lose him. We tried many forms of nourishment without success; but as soon as we commenced to use Lactated Food he rallied and throve; to-day he is the pride and envy of the neighbourhood."

From every quarter of Canada joyful and happy reports are continually coming in about the wonders worked by Lactated Food. No other food in the world can equal Lactated as a nourisher for the weak and sickly baby.

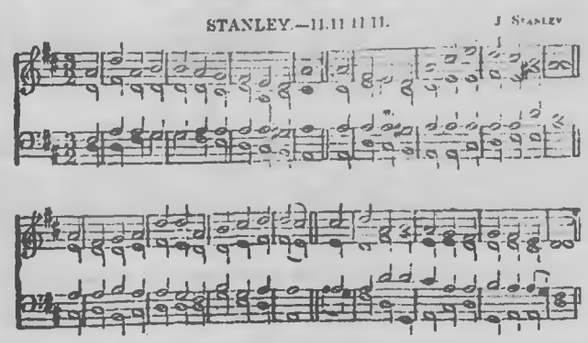
"I Owe My New Life to Paine's Celery Compound."

Testimony of a Toronto Gentleman Written in Verse and Set to Music.



I once was a suffrer, was burdened with woee,
Dyspepsia and Headaches my terrible foes;
From day unto day I was tortured with pain,
My efforts and prayers for relief were all vain.

My friends recommended new nostrums each day,
I foolishly heeded what each had to say;
But, instead of improving, I really got worse,
Each draught and each pill proved a snare and a curse.

Wrapp'd up in despair and quite tired of life,
I hearken'd one day to the voice of my wife;
She said: "My dear Ned, I have found the true cure,
For all your afflictions, 'twill conquer I'm sure."

I asked for the name of the cure she had found,
The answer came quickly, "Paine's Cel'ry Compound";
Ah, yes! 'twas a name I had heard of before—
Had heard of its virtues to heal and restore.

With courage and faith I received the glad news,
And decided the Compound to faithfully use;
Oh joy! let me sound the glad tidings around,
I'm cured through the use of Paine's Cel'ry Compound.

Dyspepsia and Headaches are things of the past,
Behind me forever these burdens I've cast;
I'm healthy and hearty, digestion is sound—
I owe my new life to Paine's Cel'ry Compound.

India Ink as a Barometer.

"Besides the well-known uses to which India ink has been put by the civilised people of the world," said Professor Levi H. Hawkins, of New York, last night, "It is regarded by the Chinese as a most trustworthy barometer. The way I happened to discover this fact was in this way. I had occasion to step into a Chinese laundry a few months ago, and saw on the table a saucer which was filled with a blackish fluid. Being of rather an inquitive turn of mind, I asked the Celestial what it was. He explained to me in broken English that it was by the fluid in the dish that he foretold what the weather was to be. He said it was India ink, diluted to a certain invariable consistency, and from his long custom of noting the action produced upon it by the atmospheric conditions, he was able to predict the weather with a good deal of accuracy. He said that during periods of drouth the fluid dried up very rapidly, and the dish had to be filled two or three times a day; while if a rainstorm was approaching and the air filled with moisture, the mixture would remain in the saucer for several days."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Scrofula humors and all diseases caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of the system, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 18, 1894.

At St. Louis, sheep receipts were 185. The market was quiet on account of the light supply. Fairly good southwest mixed sold at $2.60.

Wheat was dull in Chicago and lost 1-4c to 1-2c. Corn also lost 1-2c to 1c on more favorable reports of the crop. Oats were weak, closing 3 8c to 1-2c lower.

The London stock markets were quieter. Two small failures were announced, one a bull in Americans. The other was a bear in Americans. Prices closed at about the lowest, but with a strong undertone. Union Pacific was exceptionally firm. The excitement in silver securities is abating.

In Buffalo cattle were steady, only 20 head on sale. Hogs, 3,300 head on sale; closed very weak for light grades, with 8 cars unsold. All heavy goods sold. Sheep and lambs, 2,000 head on sale; closed extremely dull with some sheep unsold. Common to fair sheep ranged down to $1.25.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—On the street 300 bushels of wheat sold at reduced prices. New brought 55c to 56c and old at 57c. About 400 bushels of oats came in. Prices were stronger. Old sold at 36c and new at 32c to 33c. The outside market for grain is still nominal in price, and nothing doing.

The New York market was nervous and irregular up to noon, owing to the pending action on the Burlington dividend. When the news of the declaration of the regular 1 1-4 per cent by the Burlington directors reached the street, it was immediately reflected by higher prices in that stock. During the last hour the market broadened and the entire list, with slight exceptions, was decidedly strong, the Grangers leading.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Pleased With the Treatment.

Rural Dean Carey, the Kingston Whig says, has returned from the High Court meeting of the I.O.F. at Peterborough and speaks in great praise of the citizens on account of the fine usage the delegates received. Mr. Carey noticed one feature, most important, about the hotel and boarding house people—the delegates were not over charged. This is the first instance of a square deal on this score that Mr. Carey has ran across at any place he has been present in convention. Mr. Carey thinks Peterborough an enterprising town. The delegates were furnished with pamphlets laying down the principal characteristics of the place, its resources, manufactories, etc.

THE VISIT OF THE CADETS.

They are Delighted With the Two Days' Visit.

The Highland Cadet corps, of Montreal, which has been spending two days in Peterborough, on its annual outing, returned home last night on the midnight C. P. R. Express. The lads are very highly delighted with the treatment they received in Peterborough. They assert that they have never been so handsomely entertained at any other place where they have passed their annual holiday. This is not so much to the credit of Peterborough, for the citizens delighted to pay attention to a body of lads, who by their military smartness and invariably gentlemanly behaviour, earned the little courtesies they received. Last night, the 57th Rangers' band and the Cadet corps kindly gave a free entertainment in the drill shed. The Cadets gave expositions of fancy drill and other exercises which were splendidly done and received with enthusiastic applause. Pipers McGinnis and Riddle were also in evidence. Piper Riddell, fresh from recent conquests with his fourteen medals, gained new laurels by dancing the Highland fling and the sword dance. When the gallant cadets went to the train they were escorted by the Fifty Seventh band and many of the officers and hundreds of citizens. The Highland Cadet corps captured Peterborough completely, and we shall be happy to see them again in town.

THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION AT POINT LEVIS.

The Fifty-seventh Ahead there, as Well as in No. 3 District.

Two out of the fifteen men sent by the Fifty-seventh to the Camp of Instruction at Point Levis, have been returned, failing to pass the exceedingly strict gauntlet of the examining surgeon. One was rejected for having a tip of one of his fingers wanting, and the other lacked a little of the required chest measurement. However, these men were not alone, other squads, no larger than Peterborough, had as many as seven men rejected, and the Quebec regiments had men rejected because they could not speak English,—so it appears that the Government is to begin the extirpation of the dual language system with the army. The Fifty-seventh has more men in the camp than any other Canadian regiment, an evidence of the superior esprit de corps as well as superior physique of the men of the Rangers. There are about a thousand men in camp at Levis, and of these about 700 are under instruction, and the remaining 300 are composed of the three regular companies of infantry stationed at Toronto, London and St. Johns, which are for the first time brought together in regimental character. This camp is organized by General Herbert for the instruction of non-commissioned officers. All who pass the prescribed examinations at the completion of the course of instruction, about Sept. 4th, will be granted certificates of qualification for non-commissioned officers.

POLICE COURT.

August 18th.

At the police court, this morning, Frank Fairen, Pullman Hotel; C. LeBrun, Palace Restaurant and T. Dunn, Bodega, were charged by Chief Bonzel that, as keepers of taverns, "licensed under the liquor license Act, they did fail to maintain in immediate connection therewith, the accommodation of stable room for four horses, in addition to all horses usually kept in the stable, for the use of the licensees or their families or persons employed by them, as required by by-laws Nos. 703 and 704 of the town of Peterborough, passed Jan. 29th and Jan. 31st, 1894, respectively."

Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the town, Mr. R. R. Hall on behalf of the defendants and Mr. R. E. Wood to watch the cases in view of a possible conflict between the provisions of the Liquor License Act and the by-laws of the town, whose breach was charged.

In the case of Frank Fairen, the evidence taken showed that he had not complied with the town by-law in the matter of stable accommodation and in view of his counsel undertaking that within a week the requirements of the by-law in respect of stabling would be complied with, the case was enlarged till Friday morning, Aug. 24th.

In the cases of the other two defendants, Dunn and LeBrun, the evidence taken showed that they had not complied in the matter of stable accommodation as required by the town bylaw. They relied from their defence upon the fact that, as their licenses were granted by the License Commissioners upon the payment of $100 extra in each case, under the Liquor License Act which permits the issue of two licenses without accommodation, that their cases did not come within the requirements of the town bylaws. After argument by counsel, the cases were enlarged till Friday, Aug. 24th.

The proprietors of the Oriental and Southern hotels were charged with maintaining an extra bar in their hotels on Monday, Aug. 13th. In each case a fine of $20 and costs was imposed and paid.

The occupants of the Commercial House and Balmoral Hotel were charged with selling liquor without a license. In each case a fine of $50 and costs was imposed, and in case of the Commercial House, paid.

Proof of International Anarchy.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—All day Thursday the police here made domiciliary searches on strength of information obtained through the arrest of 14 anarchists on Wednesday. The results were beyond expectation. Many letters proving conclusively the intimate relations, if not the co-operation of Berlin and Paris anarchists were seized and much anarchist literature was destroyed or confiscated. Bombs, loaded and ready for immediate use, were found in the rooms of a widow named Werner.

TO ASSASSINATE DUPUY.

A Vicious Plot Against the Life of the French Premier Frustrated.

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Le Journal says the police have frustrated an anarchist plot to assassinate Premier Dupuy. The premier is in Vernet Les Bains, not far from the Spanish border. He is accompanied by three Paris detectives, as rumors of a plot against his life have been numerous recently. These detectives are supposed to have detected the plot through the presence of several militant anarchists in the neighborhood of Vernet. The anarchists had been warned of their danger before the police expected to arrest them and fled to Spain.

Further details of the plot against Premier Dupuy's life have been ascertained and they confirm in most respects the information published by Le Journal.

The main plot was hatched in Barcelona by Spanish and fugitive anarchists. Three men were designated by lot to execute it. They were to cross the border about the middle of August, and were to assassinate the Premier during his absence from Paris.

Mr. R. H. Green, the obliging market clerk has added a much needed improvements to the market scales in the shape of a new cattle and sheep pen. The live stock market has been rather brisk this week, several carloads of sheep were weighed on the market scales by Messrs. Shaughnessy and Kennedy, and Morrison and Hetrick, and shipped by Messrs. Williams and Hall, exporters of Montreal, per G.T.R. and ocean steam vessels via. Montreal for European markets. Also the two weeks production of a large number of cheese factories were weighed and shipped by Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald for Messrs. Cook and Warrington, of Belleville, and Messrs. Clurton and Wrighton, Peterborough, for the English market.

Nothing Strange.

Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

Mr. Wm. Madill, druggist says: I have particularly noticed the effects of Phenyo-Caffain in cases of nervous headache and find results from the use of the pills highly satisfactory.

CHEMONG PARK AND BRIDGE-NORTH ITEMS.

Of all weeks of interest at this park, the past one and the one we are now in has been, and is the best of all not only this season, but I am informed by the proprietor of the hotel that it has been the busiest since the inception of the house. A continual influx of foreign guests and tourists have been coming to the hotel, and every part of it has been kept full. In the evenings dancing and singing have been indulged in in the ball room, adding in every way to the enjoyment of the guests and park residents. The largest excursion of the season came to the park Wednesday. It was a joint one held under the auspices of Foresters and Oddfellows of Cannington and vicinity. They were accompanied by their village brass band, which dispensed some very fine selections, and reflected great credit on the village, and their very able leader, Mr. Pollard. To say they enjoyed themselves and went home delighted with charming Chemong Park would be saying only a little, but it is seldom you see such a large number of excursionists so quiet and refined as they were. The hotel, though taxed to its utmost, dined over 200, and very rapidly were they waited upon and treated to an excellent bill of fare at "the hotel."

The "Idle Hour" still continues in great favour, not a single day passing without it being chartered for a trip up the lakes. Several good days sport, fishing, have been indulged in. On Saturday last your worthy and esteemed councillor and merchant, T. Kelly, captured two lunge, one a 16½ lbs. and the other 9 lbs. Mr. T. Dunn, who was delighting many of the guests by singing some very fine songs, also got two bass, one 5½ lbs, the other a three lb. one. Mr. Dunn delighted every one, as his songs are of a high grade and his voice is clear and perfect.

The following are the autographs found on the register since last writing of the latest arrivals at the hotel: T. J. Kearney, Seattle, Wash.; S. H. Thom, M.D., A. E. Bottom, F. Mimms, W. J. Read, Bobcaygeon; B. A. Ostrom and wife, Miss Kathleen Ostrom, E. D. Powell, C. E. Powell, Miss Ida Powell, Louisville, Ky., Aug. Brain, San Antonio, Texas; D. C. Sullivan, Miss Mark, Miss Panaker, A. G. Warren, E. C. Denton, Rochester, N.Y.; T. M. Leeds, Edgar Lee, Leslie Hopwood, R. T. Lewis, Frank McCreary, H. M. Asling, Mr. and Mrs. Green, Miss Andrews, Toronto; D. C. Sullivan, Rochester; and Mr. and Mrs. Knox, Orono.

Though everyone gets a warm welcome at the Park Hotel, yet it is seldom you see a party receive such a warm one as that of the Ostrom party, and it is no wonder, as the good natured, genial smiles and winning ways of Mr. Ostrom, will endear him to everyone, and your correspondent, in conversation with him, learns that he is a great fisher, so, in next letter, will be able to have some good and interesting fish stories. Mr. Ostrom, in addition to having his family with him, has a most magnificient thoroughbred blood hound, Prince Carl, for which he has refused $1200. He is a beauty and in every way docile, and the Prince accompanies them wherever they go, so Mr. Ostrom and party travel in no small company when they have a Prince accompany them.

Thursday being civic holiday, a very large crowd drove to the Park, and enjoyed the day fishing and boating. Mr. Kelly again captured some fine lunge, as also Mr. Carton, and when they were laid in a row on the verandah of the hotel, a finer catch could not be seen. Then, if there are any that say fishing is no good, just let them go and tell Mr. Kelly that. Col. Lazier, wife and niece, of Belleville, who have been enjoying themselves greatly for three weeks past, at "the Hotel," left for home Wednesday, and spoke in the most glowing terms of Chemong Park, and if spared, will return next year with a large party. Several others, who have been here for from two to five weeks, returned to their homes to again resume their various duties and business of life, feeling invigorated and refreshed, and other fresh arrivals are to be here Monday. In fact, Mr. Fobert says, there appears to be no abatement, as yet, of guests.

PRAISE FOR PETERBOROUGH.

It Pays Decidedly to be Polite and Hospitable.

The Toronto News, under the heading, "a model for others," evidently seeing through the eyes of a Forester delegate, says:—"Peterborough is, in many respects, a town that might serve as an example for others and from which even Toronto may learn a useful lesson.

Its main thoroughfare is faced with blocks of buildings that would not suffer by comparison with those of any city in Canada. It has dry goods and boot and shoe stores that are almost the equal of similar establishments on Yonge or King streets. Its electric railway service is, population considered, one of the best in the Province. And it has some of the most extensive manufacturing industries to be found in the Dominion.

But what is most noticeable of all is the commendable pride which each citizen takes in his place of residence. He believes he lives in one of the most favoured parts of creation and never misses an opportunity of making everybody within reach acquainted with this fact. Several conventions and demonstrations have been held in Peterborough this week, and all those taking part in these were bombarded with addresses, in which the beauties and advantages of the place were extolled and every stranger seen on the streets was presented with a little leaflet, containing "Fifty Facts," in which was set out a concise statement of all material points relating to local business interests.

No wonder the town increased in population from 6,812, in 1880, to 9,717 in 1890; no wonder the number of factories is 216 and that there are 1,876 employes in the factories. The enterprise of the people deserves the prosperity they enjoy."

The Irrepressible Small Boy.

Now is the season when the ubiquitous small boy fills himself with green plums and greener apples, and bolts half-ripe cherries, seeds and all. His voracity almost invariably leads to Cramps, Diarrhœa, or Dysentery, and the family hearthstone resounds with his lamentations. If his parents are prudent people, they will have a bottle of Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER ready for such summer emergencies, and a spoonful of this great specific will bring the youngscamp around all right. Druggists all sell it. Only 25c. per bottle, new large size.

RIVER AND LAKE RIPLETS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The moonlight on the lake and river, given by the Misses Stricklands', of Lakefield, per steamer City of Peterborough, Tuesday evening, to Hales' bridge and return, was a most enjoyable affair, some seventy-five invitations being issued to the elite of Lakefield and Peterborough. After a most pleasant sail down the river, the party returned home, arriving at port Peterborough at 12 o'clock m., apparently well pleased as regards the "man in the moon," as well as the courtesy and kindness of the crew. They intend holding another one at some future date. The moonlight jaunts are getting extremely popular, many of which are booked per steamer City of Peterborough, as well as the "Daisy."

Oak Orchard, some of 13 or 14 miles from Peterborough, which has been passed over rather slightingly, makes no pretension to being a summer resort, yet it is a very attractive place, and owing to its location on the Otonabee, tourists can have the pleasure of a days' sailing on the river, in this district. Oak Orchard is very attractive and the numerous steamers plying the waters call to let their tourists off and on.

Doc. Turner, of Millbrook, and party comprising R. Ruddy, R. Deyell, Geo. Dean and L. F. Clarry, are the guests at the hotel. They have their steam launch with them and are having excellent sport.

The steamer Beaver passed through here Tuesday with palace scow attached with three or four hundred passengers for Peterborough.

The grand union picnic under the auspices of the Cobourg Citizens' Band and Loyal True Blues to Idyl Wild per C. P. and M. railway and the steamer City of Peterborough on Wednesday was well patronized, some four or five hundred passengers being aboard. A good orchestra for dancing was furnished by the band. A baseball match between the band and the True Blues was won by the latter after a closely contested game. Hot and cold water was furnished in abundance free to the knights of the basket. After a pleasant outing they returned home, arriving in Cobourg at 7.30 highly pleased with their trip on the new steamer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Odette, with their children, Masters Vernon and J. B., Misses Catharine, Marguerite, Katie and baby Muriel, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. Gordon and family, Masters Rolland, and George and Miss Josephine and baby, Mr. and Mrs. 'Dolphus Guerin, and Master Joseph, are camped at the forks about a mile from the point, for the balance of the season. They are have great luck with the finny tribe, having caught 37 pounds in two days. They have their steam launch, the Marguerite, with them, two skiffs, three canoes, four tents and hammock—quite an antique village.

Mr. Odette, captain of the Marguerite, is most generous with his steam yacht, entertaining guests of Hotel Jubilee on moonlight excursions in and about the lake and her tributaries and is highly appreciated by tourists, especially by our American cousins, who are loud in their praises of the hospitality shown by the captain and his crew.

Under the representation of Mr. Chas. Fairbairn, of Bobcaygeon, we find that the American anglers fishing in and about the northern lakes only have to pay an annuity of one dollar for the entire season, while those along the front have to pay five dollars for a license covering only three months. We cannot understand how the fishery inspectors in and about Rice Lake received orders from headquarters to tax Americans on those waters $5, while the overseers on the upper lakes are scheduled at $1. Friday Fishery Overseer Gilchrist snapped two American anglers and had them hand over $5 each. Unless the anglers at this end of the line are not fairly dealt with there will be trouble as they consider themselves with the northerners. All they wish for is fair play.

A surprise party from the head of the lake (Bewdly), took the point by storm Thursday evening. Some twenty-five couple, equally divided, availed themselves of a moonlight sail down the lake, where they took possession of the dancing pavilion, which was, in due course, decorated with Chinese lanterns, festoons, bunting, etc., supplied by the ladies. The Bewdly orchestra of five pieces furnished excellent music throughout the evening. The night was delightfully cool and the view from the grounds across the lake was very pretty. At 12 o'clock Manager Jackson, of Hotel Jubilee, announced with the gong that supper was ready. The spread was a most elaborate one and reflected great credit on the attendants engaged in and around the Point—they being taken unawares. Mr. Beckett furnished the ladies throughout the evening with cool iced drinks, while he looked after the gentlemen and saw that their wants were attended to. The party returned home in the early hours of the morning, being greatly pleased with the manner in which the "Midnight Marauders" were entertained.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE

is in store for you when you buy Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. If you ever took the ordinary liver pill, big and bulky, nasty too, you'd appreciate a good thing, especially when it is sugar-coated, tiny as a mustard seed but very effective. Other things being equal, the smallest is the best in liver pills—hence, "Pleasant Pellets."

If you are troubled with Indigestion, Constipation, Biliousness, Bilious Headaches, and a hundred and one ills which depend upon an inactive liver,—use Dr. Pierce's Pellets. With these pills you get not only temporary relief but a positive cure; they're guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or your money is returned.

For fat people who suffer from indigestion, for hearty eaters and high livers—those whose livers are sluggish, this pill is what is most needed.

Take a Pellet after dinner.

RELIEF AT LAST.

THE EXPERIENCE OF A LONDESBORO YOUNG LADY.

A Victim of Severe Pains, Dizziness and Watery Blood—At Times Could not go up a Step—How She Regained Health and Strength.

From the Clinton News Era.

Miss Kate Longman is a young lady of about 22 years of age, who lives with her mother in the pretty little village of Londesboro, six miles from the town of Clinton. Both are well known and highly esteemed by their many friends. The New Era having learned that Miss Longman had been a great sufferer and had recently been restored to health by the timely use of a well known remedy, dispatched a representative to get the particulars of the case. In reply to the reporter's inquiries Miss Longman said that if her experience might be the means of helping some other sufferer, she was quite willing that it should be made public. "For a long time," she said, "I was very poorly. I was weak and run down and at times suffered pains in my back that were simply awful. My blood was in a watery condition and I was subject to spells of weakness to such an extent that I could not step up a door step to save my life. I doctored a great deal for my sickness, but without avail. At last, after having frequently read in the News Era of cures effected by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I determined to give them a trial. The result was that my health soon began to return and the pains and weakness left, and I was again restored to health." At this moment Mrs. Longman entered, and being informed who the visitor was and what was his mission, said: "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest medicine known. My daughter was so sick that I feared that she would die, and she continually grew weaker until she began the use of Pink Pills, and they have cured her, as she has not had a recurrence of the trouble since." Miss Longman is now the picture of health, and declares that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are entitled to the credit. The News Era knows of many others who have benefitted by using this remarkable remedy.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a specific for all diseases arising from an impoverished condition of the blood, or a shattered condition of the nervous forces, such as St. Vitus' dance, locomotor ataxia, rheumatism, paralysis, sciatica, the after effects of la grippe, loss of appetite, headache, dizziness, chronic erysipelas, scrofula, etc. They are also a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, correcting irregularities, suppressions, and all forms of female weakness, building anew the blood, and restoring the glow of health to the pale and sallow cheeks. In the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of any nature.

Dr. Williams' Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing their trade mark and wrapper printed in red ink, at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address.

The Economy of Bees in Nature.

Dr. J. M. Hicks discourses on the aid of bees in the fertilization of flowers in the following well-chosen language:

"How beautiful we see and realize the fact that bees are the sure messengers in assisting horticulture and the horticulturist in reaping and gathering a bountiful harvest of fruits as well as many of the various grains and seeds of the land. Thus, when combined with the service performed by the bees in their eager pursuits, our admiration extends beyond them to their Great Originator, who, by such apparently small means, accomplished so simply yet so completely a most important object of creation. While the bees are receiving from the plants sustenance and at the same time giving them fertility, both to the horticulturist and to the florist is seen their valuable assistance in procuring remunerative returns. Thus it is true that if it were not for the valuable aid that bees and other insects perform in fertilizing many of the blooms of fruit trees and garden plants, we should soon be found wanting in a proper supply of fruit and seeds in carrying on the laudable business of horticulture, as well as fail in having seeds of a good quality at planting time. Thus we see that the two are directly and intimately connected with and depend largely upon each other."

The Chinese pay their doctor only so long as he keeps them in health. They believe in preventing rather than curing disease. This is sound sense, and one of the strongest recommendations of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, a medicine which not only cures diseases but prevents them.

To remove worms of all kinds from children or adults Dr. Low's Worm Syrup is a safe and sure remedy.

Sanitary Troubles in Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 18.—Another battle between health officers and people of the south side occurred here over a suspected case of smallpox. It was reported to the health authorities that two children were ill in the town of Lake, not far from the line of the city limits. A crowd assembled and prevented the officers from getting in the house. The mob was furious and was only quieted by the officers retiring when finding that the children were only suffering from measles.

The Yacht Race at Ryde.

Campania Beats the Records.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—The big Cunarder Campania broke all previous western records by 3 hours and 18 minutes arriving at the Sandy Hook lightship at 5:46 p.m. yesterday, making the run in 5 days 9 hours and 29 minutes. The best previous record was that of the Lucania, made in October 1893 which was 5 days, 12 hours and 47 minutes.

HALL'S BRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 6.—Richard Harrison is well known here and everywhere highly respected. That he has been a sufferer for some years from backache and other kidney troubles was a well known fact, that gained much sympathy for him. Lately he has been moving around here as spry as a kitten and in the best of health. All his kidney troubles had disappeared, so he said, when questioned, and he further said that the cause of their disappearance was his having used a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The reputation of these pills as a specific in all kidney disorders is now firmly established in this part of Ontario.

NIAGARA'S WATER SUPPLY.

The Albany Committee Wants the Taking of Water Checked.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The report of the sub-committee appointed by the convention to report as to the water being taken from the Niagara was presented to the full committee on legislative powers yesterday and adopted.

Relating to the companies and individuals drawing water under grants, it gives these figures of what is taken: Niagara Falls Hydraulic Company, 462,000 cubic feet per minute or 3,455,760 gallons; Niagara River Hydraulic Tunnel Company, 516,000 cubic feet per minute, or 3,859,900 gallons, or three per cent of the entire amount flowing over the American falls; Lockport Water Supply Company, Niagara County Irrigation Company, Lewiston Water Supply Company, Buffalo and Niagara Power and Drainage Company, no work begun; Model Town Company, water to be taken from 200,000 horse power; Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Company, no limit to the amount to be taken.

None of those companies pay the state anything for the privileges, or paid any sum for the grant. The total for the two companies working is 1,494,000 cubic feet per minute, or 9 per cent. of the entire flow over the American falls. In return the state has not received one cent except the promises of Niagara Falls Power Company to supply electricity to the Niagara reservation, while for similiar Canadian grants several hundred thousand dollars has been paid. Unless the taking of water is checked the great spectacle at Niagara will be destroyed.

The committee recommends the following amendment:

"No charter, license or privilege to divert from their natural channel the waters of the Niagara river or any portion thereof above Niagara Falls shall be granted to any corporation, association, person or persons except for sanitary domestic or fire purposes, and such waters shall not be diverted for any purpose except as herein indicated.

"All corporations, associations, person or persons who have heretofore been licensed or granted the right to divert the waters of said river shall be under the direction and control of the Commissioners of the State Reservation at Niagara or such other official or officials as may be given the control of said reservation.

"Each of said corporations, associations, person or persons shall only be permitted to divert any portion of the waters of said river in such amounts and upon such conditions and for such compensation to the State as the said commissioners or officials shall determine."

"But this section shall not be so construed as to prevent the legislature from altering, suspending or repealing any or all grants or charters which permit the waters of Niagara River to be diverted from their natural channel."

PAUL WERNBERG'S ROMANCE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Further examination of Paul Wernberg before Commissioner Alexander yesterday on the charge of stealing jewellry from his boarding mistress in Toronto, developed the fact that his prosecutors were more desirous of having the young man sent back to Canada, because of his failure to carry out a promise of marriage, than because of his not having returned the watches. Wernberg gave testimony in which he said that he was engaged to marry a young woman, but did not have the wherewithal to begin housekeeping. His financee was pressing, and her parents impatient, while to add to the young man's misfortunes, his creditors were dunning him with debt bills which he could not meet. He had the watches in his possession for the purpose of repairing them, when life became insupportable, and to relieve the strain he pawned one watch, failed to return the others, and took his flight to New York, only to be arrested here on the charge of larceny.

His chief prosecutor, Mrs. Rosie Stern, is a relative of Wernberg's fiancee, and it was on that account, he said, they were so bitter against him. Commissioner Alexander adjourned the case until Monday.

SUIT AGAINST BRADSTREETS.

An Interesting Case Arising Out of the Rating of a Montreal Firm.

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—A novel action has been taken by Henry and N. B. Hamilton, dry goods merchants, against Bradstreet's mercantile agency. In the March book, issued by Bradstreets, H. and N. B. Hamilton were rated as having good credit and a capital of $70,000 to $100,000. In the last book issued in July he and N. B. Hamilton were rated as having no capital. They therefore sue the Bradstreet Co. for $50,000 for having caused their rating in regard to the capital sunk in the business. The action will be of the greatest interest to business men throughout the country, although analogous cases have never been before our courts.

Canadian Trade Reviewed.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—Trade in Canada shows no gain in distribution, but a more cheerful feeling exists. At Montreal the impression is the tide has turned. The St. Lawrence transportation companies are doing little as compared with a year ago. The better feeling at Toronto is said to be based on expected favorable effects from tariff changes in this country. At Halifax the outlook for fall trade is encouraging, and the fish catch has been good. Total bank clearings at Montreal, Toronto, Halifax and Hamilton aggregate $15,320,280, a decrease of 8.9 per cent. from last week, and of 7.2 per cent. from a year ago. There are 40 business failures in Canada this week, against the same number last week, and 26 failures this week last year.

Labor Day in Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Aug. 18.—Labor day, the first Monday in September, will not be generally observed here. The Hamilton Typographical Union will run a big excursion to Buffalo to help the Americans with their big demonstration there and a large number of labor men will go over the border for the day. It is probable a big labor demonstration will be held here a year hence.

Cholera and all summer complaints are so quick in their action that the cold hand of death is upon the victims before they are aware that danger is near. If attacked do not delay in getting the proper medicine. Try a dose of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, and you will get immediate relief. It acts with wonderful rapidity and never fails to effect a cure.

My feet were so badly swollen that I could not wear my shoes. I got Yellow Oil, and to my astonishment it gave instant relief, and two bottles completely cured me. Mrs. W. G. McKay, Berwick Ont.

CANALS COMMITTEE AT ALBANY.

The State Legislature Has Power to Impose Tolls on Canadian Products.

ALBANY, Aug. 17.—The constitutional convention committee on canals has about finished its work. The committee to-day reported favorably one very important amendment to section three, article seven of the constitution, which amendment reads:

"The Legislature may in its discretion impose or remove tools on products of the Dominion of Canada passing through the canals of this State."

Mysterious Murders Near Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Aug. 17.—Excitement is running high among the farmers in the vicinity of Spencerport and Adams basin over the mysterious manner in which several persons have met death on the tow path within the past ten days. It is a common thing to find the dead body of a man lying on the tow path. The bodies are all found near the same spot and no tracks are left to identify the perpetrator of the deed. The latest find is the body of a young man 28 or 30 years of age, dark hair, and who wore congress gaiters. Another body was found last Sunday and is not identified as yet.

An Old Buffalo Man Suicides.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Yesterday the sexton on his rounds in Forest Lawn cemetery discovered lying on a grave the dead body of an old man, his throat cut and his hair dyed with blood. The body was that of Christopher Bernhardt; the grave was that of his faithful wife who had gone before. By his side lay the razor, fallen from his grasp. The old man had left his home on Elmwood avenue 24 hours ago and had not since been seen by his family. He was the father of the Bernhardt Brothers, liquor dealers.

A Farmers' Alliance Goes Under.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 17.—The Georgia Farmers' Alliance has gone to pieces. After a stormy meeting held at Dublin, with only 75 delegates in attendance, this course was determined upon. The leaders endeavored to effect an amalgamation with the Populist party, but it was determined to close out the business of the Alliance exchange, discontinue the publication of the Living Issue, and disband the order.

They May Fight Yet.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Peter Jackson said yesterday he was willing to accept the offer of the National Sporting Club of London, England, for a fight with J. J. Corbett to a finish for $15,000. He said that he did not know until yesterday that a fight to a finish could be had there, but now that he knows it, he is anxious to bring it off. An American referee will be allowed.

Honoring the Memory of Bryant.

CUMMINGTON, Mass., Aug. 17.—Pleasant skies and the presence of distinguished spectators and poets, together with the desire to do honor to the memory of Wm. Cullen Bryant, drew hundreds of visitors to this little town yesterday, and the centennial observance of the birth of the poet was a complete success.

The Premier's Sons Have a Narrow Escape.

WINDERMERE, Ont., Aug. 17.—An exciting incident took place here that caused quite an excitement for some time. A boat which was being sailed by Sir John Thompson's two sons was upset by the sudden squall. The accident was noticed from the verandah of the hotel and on alarm being given several boats started to their rescue. It was none too soon as the boys were about leaving the boat to attempt to swim to shore to which place, encumbered with their clothes, it would have been impossible for them to reach. As it was the young men were taken home apparently none the worse for their ducking.

HAMILTON, Aug. 17.—Long & Bisby, wool dealers, of this city, have over a million pounds of wool stored in their warehouses here, nearly all of which will be shipped to the United States as soon as the new American tariff becomes law. At present there is an export duty of 12c per pound on wool, but under the new bill this duty is taken off and wool is admitted free. The Canadian wool clip of 1894 as well as the clip of last year is nearly all still in the country, but the bulk of it will be exported to the Eastern States as soon as the tariff comes into effect.

A Female Anarchist Released.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Emma Goldman, the anarchists' heroine, was released today from the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island. She entered the prison ten months ago, a general session's jury having found her guilty of making an incendiary speech in Union Square to the unemployed. Imprisonment, it is said, has had no effect on the woman's principles and it is probable that she will agitate more determinedly for anarchism than ever.

Amnesty for Sicilian Revolutionists.

ROME, Aug. 17.—The cabinet has resolved to grant amnesty to all persons sentenced to imprisonment for one year or less on account of their activity in the revolt in Sicily and Massa di Carara last winter. Persons sentenced to imprisonment for three years or more for taking part in either revolt will have their terms reduced one year each.

Will Increase Satolli's Power.

ROME, Aug. 17.—It is reported that the Pope will shortly make Archbishop Satolli's delegation to the church in the United States absolute and sovereign. Archbishop Satolli would not then be subject to the congregation of the propaganda, but to the Pope alone.

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 18. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

BASEBALL.

A nine from Peterborough drove out to Orono yesterday and played the nine of that village a friendly game. The Peterborough's proved the victors by a score of 13 to 6. Cobourg was defeated yesterday by the Stars of Rochester, 20 to 13.

FOOTBALL.

The members of the Lock Works Football club put in some good practice on Civic Holiday. They are getting in good condition and promise to make a record the coming season.

Dennistoun, Staff-Sergt. Bartlett, Privates Blade, Pentland, Curtis and G. Fitzgerald. This team will no doubt give a good account of themselves while away, and will bother the bull's eye to no small degree. Owing to the extreme distance of the meet this year, the 57th Batt. will only send the above team.

WOULD RULE THE WAVE

PREPARATIONS FOR AN ATTACK

The Fortified City of Wei-Hai-Wei the Object on Which Japanese Manœuvres Are Centered—Rumors of Skirmishes Between the Two Forces.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—The steamer China, which arrived from the Orient on Saturday, brings advices to August 7. Japanese people are stirred to their depths by the present complications with China. The affair absolutely engrosses the attention of people, high and low. So soon as matters assumed a serious complexion petitions began literally to pour into the central staff office from country localities asking permission to serve in the army. A leading dignitary was Gen. Shizoku, who had seen active service during the civil war in Satsuma.

The Japanese Gazette says: "The whole nation is imbued with one spirit—to humiliate China. High and low, rich and poor, soldiers and merchants have but one desire. The probable consequences are utterly ignored. No thought of possible reverses, of bloody reprisals upon Japan coasts or of financial confusion daunts their warlike ardor. In Japan's immense superiority they repose the utmost confidence. Nor is the temper of the Chinese, so far as it can be gathered from the Shanghai papers just received, one whit less bellicose.

It is more dangerous because they admit that at first Japan may be victorious, but of the ultimate issue they have no doubt. Japan, with its slender resources of men and money, can be no match in the long run for China's millions. The magnitude of the preparations might well make Japan pause if she had not already proceeded too far to extricate herself without the loss of prestige. But this is impossible and the two nations now stand committed to war.

The Battle at Song Hwan.

Our army was drawn up in battle array at Cahil Won, while the Chinese troops were posted at Song Hwan and Phyong Thaik. Now, between the two armies lay a track of rice swamp, through which flows a small river. Our troops fought very hard with this river between themselves and the enemy. But it being very difficult to cross this stream under fire, a party was despatched by the way of Chik San, so as to make a flank attack on the Chinese. The Chinese were not prepared for this move, and they were easily put to flight.

The number of Chinese engaged in this fight is stated to have been 2,300.

Panic in Financial Circles.

A panic prevails in Japanese financial circles on account of the Corea imbroglio, says the Asahai. Banks have suspended their loans while deposits are being fast withdrawn. Capitalists are unwilling to invest as they expect to have an opportunity of making large profits through the panic. The money market is now very stiff. "But" continues the Asahai, "this is more due to the influence drawn from the fact that the present war is far greater and more expensive than the Satsuma rebellion.

Food in consequence of the war is rising in price. The Tsoati, says the North China Daily News, has informed foreign consuls that measures will be taken to close Woo Sing Bay. The same paper states that 12,000 troops have been safely landed in Corea. The Nan Kang squadron is to attack the coast of Japan while the Foo Choo and Canton ships are to make an attempt on the Loo Choo Islands so that as anticipated the Viceroy will not content himself with operations in Corea.

The Grim Reaper in Camp.

The Chinese Gazette learns that 20,000 troops are being called out for each province. It is also rumored that Japanese cruisers are preparing for an attack upon Silver Island so as to command Yang-Tse and so prevent the coming up of the 500,000 troops from Nanking.

The Tien-Tsin correspondent of the China Gazette says: We hear from Corea on good authority that a great deal of sickness prevails among the Chinese troops and that they are hanging themselves by dozens in despair of their surroundings. The Japanese are also in a pretty bad plight, great numbers having died and illness is still rife in their camp. But the death rate is very much higher among the Chinese'"

The Japan Mail says: "Now that fighting has commenced between China and Japan, we may expect that events will move rapidly. There has been an assured belief in Pekin that European powers would never allow the situation to reach a belligerent stage. And in confidence of that belief China has been allowing herself to talk very large, but Japan cannot possibly consent to any settlement that leaves China exultant. The heart of this country is in the struggle. Its honor is thoroughly involved. Every effort should be made to cripple or destroy the Chinese navy. Command of the sea would mean for Japan the liberty to carry out without molestation her scheme of reform in Corea. It is not necessary for her to strike any blow at the heart of China. Her programme, we think, should be to secure herself in Corea, leaving to the Chinese the task of driving her out. Such a task is wholly beyond their strength."

To Attack Wei-Hai-Wei.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News gives in to-day's despatches a gloomy view of affairs at Wei Hai-Wei, the fortified city on Shantung promontory. There is little doubt that the Japanese intend to attack this Chinese stronghold shortly, despite the tradition of the Chinese that the place is impregnable. The lights along the promontory have been extinguished and the buoys have been removed and the Chinese are constantly adding to the defence by laying torpedoes and submarine mines. Nevertheless, on three successive nights in the last week Japanese torpedo boats have entered the harbor and reconnoitred the forts. The crews of the Chinese torpedo boats which lie in the harbor had no inkling of the nearness of the enemy until the Japanese vessels were leaving. The Wei-Hai-Wei forts then opened fire but it was too late to accomplish anything.

The success of these three Japanese expeditions has greatly shaken the confidence of the army in the impregnability of Wei-Hai-Wei. The supposition is that the Japanese are preparing for a combined land and sea attack on the stronghold. The garrison is being increased to meet such an attack and heavy guns are being added to the artillery in the interior line of defence. The foreigners who are employed in the Wei-Hai-Wei arsenal are leaving the place. Nearly all the Englishmen and Scotchmen have gone and within a few days only natives are likely to be left in the shops.

The feeling against foreigners is running high among the military of the city. The soldiers have fired several times upon the foreigners who were leaving the shops and have been checked only with difficulty by their officers. All the foreigners are reproached and insulted as they depart. None of them have been wounded as yet but their escape has been due almost solely to the strenuous efforts of the officers who have been charged with responsibility for their safety. The main Japanese squadron has been sighted again in the gulf of Pechili.

Several Skirmishes Reported.

The Times correspondent in Shanghai telegraphs: It is reported that several skirmishes between Japanese and Chinese troops have occurred at Ping Rang where a great battle is likely to be fought soon.

The Daily Telegraph says: It is stated on high authority that in the recent combats near Seoul the Chinese fired upon a Japanese ambulance carrying men who wore the Geneva cross. They killed a doctor and some hospital attendants.

Leaving for the Scene of Hostilities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Last night a number of Japanese officers left the Grand Central depot at seven o'clock bound for Vancouver. Under orders from the Mikado they are homeward bound from Europe to resume their places in the army and navy.

At Vancouver, Japanese and Chinamen will embark on the same steamers, the Empress of Japan, August 27. They are homeward bound to take part in the fight between China and Japan.

SEIZING SHIPS IN THE TYNE.

Vessels Built For the Belligerents Not Allowed to Leave British Ports.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—The government has ordered the custom officers of Newcastle to seize, under the foreign enlistment act, a torpedo catcher built at the Elwich works on China's order, and to detain the vessel until she shall have been condemned and released by process of law.

Government officers have gone aboard another vessel in the Tyne because they were convinced that she was fitting for service in the Chinese Japanese war. The work on the vessel has been pushed with the greatest haste since the declaration of war, and recently materials of war have been placed aboard her. As far as can be ascertained neither China nor Japan ordered the vessel. It is thought that she may be fitting merely for speculative purposes, her owners intending to offer her to China or Japan after getting away from English waters. Despite the presence of the officers work on the vessel has not been stopped. More seizures of vessels are expected. The steamer Alaska, which China bought before the war from the Thames Iron Company, lies in the Thames. She is an armor clad carrying rapid firing guns. She is understood to be shipping her crew.

A despatch from Vienna says that 20,000 Manulicher rifles made in Austria have been shipped to China.

NOTORIOUS ROBBER KILLED.

Luna, the Border Bandit, and His Wife, Shot Down by Soldiers.

CITY OF MEXICO, Aug. 20.—The killing of the famous border bandit Luna and his wife by a troop of soldiers, 40 miles from this place has caused great rejoicing at Tamalejia. The soldiers came unexpectedly on the notorious couple who immediately took refuge behind some rocks and opened fire. The soldiers returned it and killed them both. Luna's wife as usual fought by her husband's side and only ceased shooting when killed. They have committed hundreds of robberies and six assassinations. The dead desperado was imprisoned for two years in the Texas penitentiary, but making his escape, had been a terror for several years along the Rio Grande.

General Saraiva Dead.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—A special despatch from Valparaiso says: Brazil's Government reports that General Saraiva has died from the wounds he received in a fight on August 10. The rebels are now dispersing at Cruz Alta, in the Urugnayan frontier, and entering that republic badly whipped and thoroughly rejected. This probably ends the revolt in Rio Grande do Sul.

Fire in a Royal Palace.

LISBON, Aug. 20.—The royal palace at Cintra, where the Queen Dowager passes most of her time, was partly burned on Saturday night. Deputy Costa and two of his friends were seriously injured while helping the occupants of the palace.

To Be Hanged for Rape.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 20.—The jury which has been trying Joseph Dusty on the charge of rape committed on a little girl returned a verdict of guilty on Saturday and sentenced the defendant to be hanged.

Boats For Hire.

POLITICS IN BRITAIN

The Breach Between the Premier and Sir William Harcourt.

MR. GLADSTONE MAY RETURN

The Improvement in the Health of the Veteran Leader Gives Rise to the Belief That He Will Become the Leadership—Evicted Tenants Bill.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—Although Parliament will not rise for a week all interest in its proceedings is dying out. The party debates are ended and only the annual supplies necessary for the expenses of the administration are left to be voted.

Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer and leader of the House of Commons, will start to-morrow for a long tour of the continent. It is doubtful whether he ever again will appear at the head of the Liberal commissioners. When Parliament shall reassemble in the middle of January another will probably be found in his place, for the breach between him and Lord Rosebery is known to have widened rapidly in the last few weeks.

They had been at odds for years before the last Gladstone cabinet was formed and before Mr. Gladstone's retirement had come to dislike each other rancourously. The insecurity of the Government immediately after Mr. Gladstone's withdrawal forced them to patch up a truce and speak flatteringly of each other in public. As soon as they felt the ministry firm in the saddle, however, they dropped all superfluous courtesy and now neither one ever alludes to the other one in public. The Radicals have complained frequently in the Commons that Sir Wm. Harcourt has not given sufficient time for the discussion of their pet schemes. To these complaints the invariable reply has been: "If you are not pleased with me you can easily remove me."

Mr. Gladstone has referred in private letters recently to the improvement of his general health, his eyesight and his hearing and has spoken as if he might soon resume public speaking. These utterances have encouraged the belief in some quarters that the old man might return to parliament and rescue his party from the predicament. This is unlikely, yet should he give more definite signs of his willingness to return he would be received by the Liberals with open arms. When the evicted tenants bill shall reappear in parliament next session it will have been greatly broadened so as to include most of the recommendations made by the Irish land committee. If the House of Lords throw it out again Lord Rosebery will dissolve parliament at once and appeal to the country to settle the whole question of the upper house's existence.

The government has promised that the evicted tenants bill shall run its course concurrently with the Welsh disestablishment bill. This promise does not satisfy some of the Welsh members and they are out once more with threats of dire vengeance in case the Ministers do not come up more promptly to the Welsh demands. David Lloyd George, the belligerent Welsh Nationalist, who sits for Carnarvon district, thinks that the Government will again break faith with his countrymen, and that a general election must be held before the church in Wales can be disestablished. The Government's uncertain attitude toward the Welsh, and Welshmen's suspicious attitude toward the Government form one of the most serious problems to be faced by the Liberal party at the opening of the next session. A Government defeat may be the issue of the situation almost any day after the business of the session begins.

SUICIDE IN GRAVENHURST.

A Former Business Man Ends His Life With Three Bullets in His Brain.

GRAVENHURST, Ont., Aug. 20.—William Minardus, formerly in business here, committed suicide by firing three bullets from a 38 calibre revolver into his right temple to the brain. The desperate act was committed in his own house as the family were retiring. There will be no inquest.

Minardus had been out of business for some time, and it is said had fallen into irregular habits. His life is said to be insured in two companies for $2,000. He was a member of the Masonic order and at one time belonged to the Oddfellows. He leaves a family of ten children, one only son being in the bakery business.

Madill Speaks at Stratford.

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 20.—A union picnic of the various Protestant societies of the city was held in the Queen's Park on Saturday. Mayor Monteith presided and the orators were Rev. J. C. Madill, president of the C. P. A., Mr. Thomas Magwood, M. P. P., and Mayor Essery of London. In the course of his remarks Mr. Madill took occasion to say that during the late provincial election the C. P. A. han been accused by the Grits of being on the Tory side because they opposed Sir Oliver Mowat and now in view of their declared intention of opposing Sir John Thompson they were charged by the Tories as being on the Grit side. But they had said before the election that when they were through with Sir Oliver they would go after Sir John Thompson and he wanted to state publicly that they intended to do so.

Burned Down by Tramps.

GANANOQUE, Aug. 20.—On Saturday the store sheds belonging to the Rathbun Company and contents were totally destroyed by fire. The shed was situated close to the Gananoque junction of the G. T. R. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is suspected to have been started by tramps, as the building was supported on posts, and a quantity of hay aronnd it afforded a convenient resting place for such as are driven by necessity to seek shelter. Four thousand tons of hay alone were stored in the shed, belonging to W. H. Britton & Co., hay dealers. It was insured for $3,000.

Suicide in Montreal Harbor.

MONTREAL, Aug. 20.—Yesterday an unknown young man, aged about 26 years, deliberately committed suicide by jumping into the river at the long wharf. He removed his coat which was subsequently found on the wharf by the harbor police. It is stated the young man refused all kinds of assistance when tendered him. His body has not yet been found as it was carried down by the current.

A counter petition against Mr. McCleary, the defeated Conservative candidate in Welland county, has also been fyled.

One-third of the seats in the new legislature have been protested. An election by the people is no longer an assurance of a seat in the House. It is often but the beginning of a more expensive and prolonged contest in the courts.

THE NEW U. S. TARIFF.

The Empire.

Comparison between the new tariff bill passed by Congress and the new Canadian tariff as just revised by Parliament is not easily made. The classification of articles in both tariffs is in many cases different. The duty on a particular article in one tariff may a specific duty while in the other tariff the duty on the same article may be an ad valorem rate, so that to strike a comparison the value becomes an element in the calculation and values vary a good deal.

In general the United States measure is more strongly protectionist than our own law, though in some cases the duties are about equal, while again in others the Canadian rate is higher. This feature is particularly observable in the agricultural schedules and those duties which affect the produce of the farm. The revision of the Canadian tariff has left the farmer well protected, because while it decreased the duty on the article he has to buy, it left them untouched on the articles he has to sell. The Americans, however, in their own interests as consumers have been compelled to lower the duty on certain food products. In this way the new tariff supplies a comparison of the direct interest and concern to our farmers. The following list partially illustrates this:

| Live animals.. | 20 per cent | 20 per cent. |
| Live hogs..... | 1½c. per lb. | 20 per cent. |
| Oats ..... | 10c. per bu. | 20 per cent. |
| Oatmeal ..... | 30 per cent. | 15 per cent. |
| Barley ..... | 30 per cent. | 30 per cent. |
| Flour..... | 75c. per bbl. | 20 per cent. |
| Butter ..... | 4c. per lb. | 4c. per lb. |
| Cheese ..... | 3c. per lb. | 4c. per lb. |
| Eggs ..... | 5c. per doz. | 3c. per doz. |
| Conden. milk.. | 35c. | 20c. |
| Beans..... | 15c. per bush | 20 per cent. |
| Potatoes ..... | 15c. per bush | 15c. per bush. |
| Hay ..... | $2 per ton. | $2 per ton |
| Peas ..... | 10c per bush | 20 per cent. |
| Vegetables, fresh ..... | 25 per cent. | 10 per cent. |
| Hops ..... | 6c. per lb. | 8c. per lb. |
| Beef, fresh .... | 3c. per lb. | 20 per cent |
| Mutton, fresh.. | 35 per cent. | 20 per cent. |
| Canned meats.. | 25 per cent. | 20 per cent. |
| Pork ..... | 2c. per lb. | 20 per cent. |
| Lard ..... | 2c per lb. | 1c. per lb. |
| Poultry ..... | 20 per cent. | 2c. per lb. |
| Apples, green .. | 40c. per bbl. | 20 per cent. |
| Apples, dried .. | 25 per cent. | 20 per cent. |
| Grapes ..... | 2c. per lb. | 20 per cent. |
| Plums..... | 25 per cent. | 1½c. |
| Honey ..... | 3c, per lb. | 10c. per gal. |

This indicates that in a good many lines the Canadian farmer is better protected than the American farmer. The Americans were forced to do this, not by any consideration for Canada, but in the interest of their industrial and city population which has fared so badly during the past two years of depression.

Another feature of the new bill that concerns Canada is the decrease of duties on articles which this country exports to the States. Some of these decreases are as follows:

| | McKinley Tariff. | Now Tariff. |
| Sawn lumber.. | $1 per M. ft. | Free. |
| Shingles..... | 20 and 30c. per M. | Free. |
| Staves..... | 10 per cent. | Free. |
| Wool..... | 11c. per lb.—50 per cent. | Free. |
| Canned fish.... | 30 per cent. | 20 per cent. |
| Horses ..... | $40. | 20 per cent. |
| Cattle..... | $10. | 20 per cent. |
| Hogs..... | $1.50. | 20 per cent. |
| Sheep..... | $1.50. | 20 per cent. |
| Butter ..... | 6c. per lb. | 4c. per lb. |
| Cheese..... | 5c. per lb. | 4c. per lb. |
| Milk, con..... | 3c. per lb. | 2c. per lb. |
| Beans..... | 40c. per bush. | 20 per cent. |
| Eggs..... | 5c. per doz. | 3c. per doz. |
| Honey ..... | 20c. per gal. | 10c. per gal. |
| Hops ..... | 15c. per lb. | 8c. per lb. |
| Onions ..... | 40c. per bush. | 20c. per bush. |
| Potatoes ..... | 25c. per bush. | 15c. per bush. |
| Barley ..... | 30c. per bush. | 20 per cent. |
| Barley, malt .. | 45c. per bush. | 40 per cent. |
| Wheat ..... | 25c. per bush. | 20 per cent. |
| Flour. ..... | 25 per cent. | 20 per cent. |
| Mutton..... | 2c. per lb. | 20 per cent. |
| Poultry, dres'd. | 3c. per lb. | 3c. per lb. |
| Agricultural implements.. | 45 per cent. | Free. |

To what extent this may affect international trade is largely a matter of conjecture, though the tendency will undoubtedly be towards stimulating commerce and a larger sale of Canadian products to the States. This is but right, seeing that during the past five years Canada has bought $267,000,000 worth of goods from the republic, and has only exported $208,000,000 worth thereto. In fact, Canada is one of the best customers the United States have, and instead of unfriendly tariff legislation has every reason to look for fair treatment.

The Empire may claim that the farmer is well protected under the revised tariff because it has left the articles he has to sell untouched, but has decreased the duties on what he has to buy. This is an admission that a reduction of duties on articles is a benefit to the consumer and if a reduction is a benefit, why would not entire removal be a greater. And what would it matter to the farmer, who has produce to sell if the government, put on a duty of a hundred per cent! But the tariff revision has not lessened the duties on what the consumer has to buy. The most odious form of tariff taxation, the specific duties, are largely retained. The effect of these duties is to bear heavily on the poor man and lightly on the rich. For instance, a duty of, say, five cents a pound on the rich man's broadcloth at $5.00 per yard would be a trifle compared to the same duty on a labourer's tweed at 50 cents per yard. Specific duties of a few cents per pound or yard often conceal a tax of 100 per cent. The Canadian tariff has been revised in the interest of the rich, and the extra burden is laid upon the shoulders of the poor consumer. The protective system is always unjust, but the revised Canadian version is particularly one sided.

CURED TO STAY.

Dr. E. A. Rose Disappoints the Doubters—He Once had Diabetes, but has it no More—Attending to his Big Practice.

PORTLAND, Ont., Aug. 20.—The account which appeared in many Canadian papers a few months ago of Dr. E. A. Rose having been cured of diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills, attracted widespread attention at the time. Many doubters, though, protested that the cure was not a permanent one. The best proof that these doubters were wrong is the fact that for a year back Dr. Rose has been attending to his practice which has always been a large one, in this village and the surrounding country, and has never had any return of the disease. His health is first-class and the doctor is not compelled to take any of the precautions as to diet or otherwise that are always ordered for people threatened or troubled with diabetes.

An Oil Train Burned.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Aug. 20.—A freight train on the New York Central broke in two in Cheektawaga, about a mile from the city line. It consisted of 68 cars, half of which contained oil. Twenty cars were totally destroyed. T. J. Snyder, brakeman, was badly burned. All four of Central's tracks are blocked. N. Y. Central's loss will be $75,000

DOWN IN A COAL MINE

THROUGH MILES OF HEWN STREETS FAR UNDERGROUND.

What a Mining Life Does for Men and Mules—Weird Impressions—A Curtain of Impenetrable Night—Wonders of Subterranean Avenues.

Around a huge central building clustered other and lower ones, sheds, engine-houses, machine shops, offices. Railroad tracks extended in web-like ways. Upon them stood piles of begrimmed coal cars. Other huge structures, similar to the one near us, upreared their uncouth heads upon the hills of the surrounding country. From each a mighty hill of culm extended. Upon these tremendous heaps of waste the miners' mules and cars appeared like toys. Down in the valley, upon the railroads, long trains crawled painfully southward, where a low hanging gray cloud with a few projecting spires and chimneys indicated a town.

Car after car came from a shed beneath which lay hidden the mouth of the shaft. They were dragged, creaking, up an inclined cable road to the top of the "breaker."

At the top of the "breaker" laborers were dumping coal into chutes. The huge lumps slid slowly on their journey down through the building from which they were to emerge in classified fragments. Great teeth of revolving cylinders caught them and chewed them. At places there were grates that bid each size go into its proper chute. The dust lay inches deep on every motionless thing, and clouds of it made the air dark as from a violent tempest. A mighty gnashing sound filled the ears. With terrible appetite this huge and hideous monster sat imperturbably munching coal, grinding its mammoth jaws with unearthly and monotonous uproar.

In a large room sat the little slate pickers. The floor slanted at an angle of 45 degrees, and the coal, having been masticated by the great teeth, was steaming sluggishly in long iron troughs. The boys sat straddling these troughs, and as the mass moved slowly they grabbed deftly at the pieces of slate therein. There were five or six of them, one above another, over each trough. The coal is expected to be fairly pure after it passes the final boy.

The slate pickers all through this region are yet at the spanking period. One continually wonders about their mothers, and if there are any schoolhouses. But as for them, they are not concerned. When they get time off they go out on the culm heap and play baseball or fight with boys from other "breakers" or among themselves, according to the opportunities. And before them always is the hope of one day getting to be door boys down in the mines, and, later, mule boys and yet later, laborers and helpers. Finally, when they have grown to be great big men, they may become miners, real miners, and go down and get "squeezed," or perhaps escape to a shattered old man's estate with a mere "miner's asthma." They are very ambitious.

Over in front of a little toolhouse a man smoking a pipe sat on a bench. "Yes," he said, "I'll take yeh down if yeh like." He led us by little cinder paths to the shed over the shaft of the mine. A gigantic fan wheel near by was twirling swiftly. It created cool air for the miners, who, on the lowest vein of this mine, were some 1,150 feet below the surface. As we stood silently waiting for the elevator, we had opportunity to gaze at the mouth of the shaft, the walls were of granite blocks, slimy, moss grown, dripping with water. Below was a curtain of ink-like blackness. It was like the opening of an old well, sinister from the tales of crime.

The black, greasy cables began to run swiftly. We stood staring at them and wondering. Then of a sudden the elevator appeared and stopped with a crash. It was a plain wooden platform. Upon two sides iron bars ran up to support a stout metal roof. The men upon it, as it came in view, were like apparations from the centre of the earth.

A moment later we marched aboard, armed with little lights, feeble and gasping in the daylight. There was an instant's creak of machinery, and then the landscape that had been framed for us by the door posts of the shed, disappeared in a flash. We were dropping with extraordinary swiftness straight into the earth. It was a plunge, a fall. The flames of the little lamps fluttered and flew and struggled, like tied birds, to release themselves from the wicks. "Hang on," bawled our guide above the tumult.

The dead black walls slid swiftly by. They were a swirling black chaos on which the mind tried vainly to locate some coherent thing, some intelligible spot. One could only hold fast to the iron bars and listen to the roar of this implacable descent. When the faculty of balance is lost the mind becomes a confusion. The will fought a great battle to comprehend something during this fall, but one might as well have been tumbling among the stars. The only thing was to await revelation.

It was a journey that held a threat of endlessness.

Then suddenly the dropping platform slackened its speed. It began to descend slowly and with caution. At last, with a crash and a jar, it stopped. Before us stretched an inscrutable darkness, a soundless place of tangible loneliness. Into the nostrils came a subtly strong odor of powder smoke, oil, wet earth. The alarmed lungs began to lengthen their respirations.

Our guide strode abruptly into the gloom. His lamp flared shades of yellow and orange upon the walls of a tunnel that led away from the foot of the shaft. Little points of coal caught in the light and shone like diamonds. Before us there was always the curtain of impenetrable night. We walked on with no sound save the crunch of our feet upon the coal dust of the floor. The sense of an abiding danger in the roof was always upon our foreheads. It expressed to us all the unmeasured, deadly tons above us. It was a superlative might that regarded with the supreme calmness of Almight power the little men at its mercy. Sometimes we were obliged to bend low to avoid it. Always our hands rebelled vaguely from touching it, refusing to affront this gigantic mass.

All at once, far ahead, shone a little flame, blurred and difficult of location. It was, a tiny, indefinite thing, like a wisp light. We seemed to be looking at it through a great fog. Presently there were two of them. They began to move to and fro and danced before us.

After a little time we came upon two men crouching where the roof of the passage came near to meeting the floor. If the picture could have been brought to where it would have had the opposition and the contrast of the glorious summer time earth, it would have been a grim and ghastly thing. The garments of the men were no more sable than their faces, and when they turned their heads to regard our tramping party, their eyeballs and teeth shone white as bleeched bones. It was like the grinning of two skulls there in the shadows. The tiny lamps in their hats made a trembling light that left weirdly shrouded the movements of their limbs and bodies. We might have been confronting terrible spectres.

But they said: "Hello Jim," to our conductor. Their mouths expanded in smiles—wide and startling smiles.

In a moment they turned again to their work. When the lights of our party re-enforced their two lamps we could see that one was busily drilling into the coal with a long, thin bar. The low roof ominously pressed his shoulders as he bent at his toil. The other knelt behind him on the loose lumps of coal.

He who worked at the drill engaged in conversation with our guide. He looked back over his shoulder, continuing to joke away. "When are yeh goin' t' measure this up, Jim?" he demanded. "Do yeh wants git me killed?"

"Well, I'd measure it up t'-day, o'ly I ain't got me tape," replied the other.

"Well, when will yeh? Yeh wants hurry up," said the miner. "I don't wanta git killed."

"Oh, I'll be down on Monday."

"Humph!"

They engaged in a sort of altercation in which they made jests.

"You'll be carried out o' there feet first before long."

"Will I?"

Yet one had to look closely to understand that they were not about to spring at each other's throats. The vague illumination created all the effects of the snarling of the two wolves.

We came upon other little low-roofed chambers, each containing two men, a "miner," who makes the blasts, and his "laborer," who loads the coal upon the cars and assists the miner generally. And at each place there was this same effect of strangely Satanic smiles, and eyeballs wild and glittering in the pale glow of the lamps.

Sometimes the scenes in their weird strength were absolutely infernal. Once when we were traversing a silent tunnel in another mine we came suddenly upon a wide space where some miners were lying down in a group. As they upreared to gaze at us it resembled a resurrection. They slowly uprose with ghoul-like movements, mysterious figures robed in enormous shadows. The swift flashes of the steel-gleaming eyes were upon our faces.

From this tunnel of our first mine we went with our guide to the foot of the main shaft. Here we were in the most important passage of a mine, the main gangway. The wonder of these avenues is the noise—the crash and clatter of machinery as the elevator speeds upward with the loaded cars and drops thunderingly with the empty ones. The place resounds with the shouts of mule-boys, and there can always be heard the noise of approaching cars, beginning in mild rumbles and then swelling down upon one in a tempest of sound. In the air is the slow painful throb of the pumps working at the water which collects in the depths. There is booming and banging and crashing until one wonders why the tremendous walls are not wrenched by the force of this uproar. And up and down the tunnel there is a riot of lights, little orange points flickering and flashing. Miners stride in swift and somber procession. But the meaning of it all is in the deep bass rattle of a blast in some hidden part of the mine. It is war. It is the most savage part of all in the endless battle between man and nature. These miners are grimly in the van. They have carried the war into places where nature has the strength of a million giants. Sometime their enemy becomes exasperated and snuffs out ten, twenty, thirty lives. Usually she remains calm, and takes one at a time with method and precision. She need not hurry. She possesses eternity. After a blast, the smoke, faintly luminous, silvery, floats silently through the adjacent tunnels.

In our first mine we speedily lost all ideas of time, direction, distance. The whole thing was an extraordinary, black puzzle. We were impelled to admire the guide because he knew all the tangled passages. He led us through little tunnels three and four feet wide and with roofs that sometimes made us crawl. At other times we were in avenues twenty feet wide where double rows of tracks extended. There were stretches of great darkness, majestic silences. The 300 miners were distributed into all sorts of crevices and corners of the labyrinth, toiling in this city of endless night.

We were made aware of distances later by our guide, who would occasionally stop to tell us our position by naming a point of the familiar geography of the surface. "Do you remember that rolling mill yeh passed coming up? Well, you're right under it." "You're under the depot now." The length of these distances struck us with amazement when we reached the surface. Near Scranton one can really proceed for miles, in the black streets of the mines.

It is a common affair for mules to be imprisoned for years in the limitless night of the mines. Usually when brought to the surface, these animals tremble at the earth, radiant in the sunshine. Later, they go almost mad with fantistic joy. After being long in the mines, the mules are apt to duck and dodge at the close glare of lamps, but some of them have been known to have piteous fears of being left in the dead darkness. They seem then, somehow, like children.

Great and mystically dreadful is the earth from a mine's depth. Man is in the implacable grasp of nature. It has only to tighten slightly and he is crushed like a bug. His loudest shriek of agony would be as impotent as his final moan to bring help from that fair land that lies, like heaven, over his head. There is an insidious enemy in the gas. If the huge fan-wheel on the top of the earth should stop for a brief period, there is certain death, and a panic more terrible than any occurring where the sun has shone ensues down under the tons of rock. If a man may escape the gas, the floods, the "squeezes" of falling rock, the cars shooting through the little tunnels, the precarious elevators, the hundred perils, there usually comes to him an attack of miner's asthma and slowly racks and snakes him into the grave. Meanwhile he gets $3 per day, and his laborer $1.25.—Stephen Crane, in St. Louis Republic.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Monday, Aug. 6th,—At this morning's observation, the self-registering thermometer indicated 52 degrees above zero. Some time before and on to break of day, there was a fine display of auronal lights and although generally followed by rain within forty eight hours, it is seldom they overlap as they did to-day, with fine little showers. A slight change of temperature with some rain.

Attractions on Lakefield's Civic.

Among the many special attractions, which have been procured for the celebration of Lakefield's civic holiday, will be a clever performance by the LaBelle Bros. and Will. Bowman, who are becoming favourites in these parts. The feats will consist of mid-air work and ground tumbling and contortions on a monster platform. Ragaldo, the slack wire artist, of New York, will also appear in some of his most effective and laugh producing surprises. Peterborough people should bear Lakefield's big event in mind and take it in on Thursday.

An Early Morning Fire.

Smoke was seen issuing from the premises of Mr. Adam Hall, George street, at five o'clock this morning. The alarm was given and the brigade was quickly on the scene. The door was smashed in and the Babcock and a stream from the hydrant were brought to play upon the blaze, which was soon extinguished. Upon examination it was found that the fire had broken out on the second floor, being evidently caused by a spark falling from a forge Saturday evening. The fire had worked its way through the floor to the ceiling of the first flat, burning a hole about four feet in length. The damage to the floor is trifling, but the stock on the main floor suffered considerably from water. There is an insurance on the stock in a company represented by Cox & Davis.

Death of a Hamilton Resident.

The following from the Hamilton Spectator refers to Mr. John Wallace, father of Mrs. Jno. Russel, Peterborough: After four weeks' illness, John Wallace, of the firm of J. Wallace & Son, plumbers, died this morning from heart disease. The deceased was born in Galston, Ayrshire, Scotland, in 1829, and came to Hamilton in 1854. He entered the employ of Young, Law & Co., where he remained until 1856, and was subsequently employed for nine years on the G. W. R. as timekeeper, and in the stores department, and for four years as bookkeeper for the late James Reid. In 1871 he went to Guelph to assume the management of the David Allan mills and distillery, of that place. In 1878 he entered into partnership with his son, H. S. Wallace, under the firm name of J. Wallace & Son, metal workers and plumbers, which business was carried on here to the time of his death. The deceased was well known and highly esteemed in Hamilton. He was a Reformer in politics, and a member of the Central Presbyterian church. He leaves a widow, four sons,—H. S. and George Wallace, of Hamilton; Allan S. Wallace, of Chicago, and John Wallace, of New York; and one daughter, Mrs. John Russell, of Peterborough. The funeral took place on Saturday.

A Good Catch of Slippery Eels.

The Dickson Company, in order to make some necessary repairs, shut off the water in the canal along their property near the Hunter street bridge. The result was that fully two hundred men and boys gathered on the shore in order to capture the eels, which could be seen by the dozen. At noon the bed of the canal was exposed and the youths waded into its muddy surface and with their limbs hidden in the mud, clubbed the slippery creatures to death. A large number of people lined the banks and enjoyed the sport immensely. The mud-covered youths would hunt the eels up in the weeds and with heavy clubs and spears put an end to their existence. About one hundred were captured in all, many of them measuring over four feet in length.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Park street Baptist mission junior B. Y. P. U., are making arrangements for the holding of an entertainment on the last Thursday in August.

Rev. R. J. Hunter, Ridgetown, conducted the services in St. Andrew's church yesterday, both morning and evening. His discourses at both services were earnest and convincing.

Mr. E. W. Russell, B. A., of Millbrook, student of McMaster University, conducted the services at the Murray street Baptist church, yesterday, preaching eloquent and forcible sermons.

The many friends of Rev. Mr. Trotter will be pleased to learn that word has been received that he is gradually improving in health, and will be able to resume his duties on the first of September.

Rev. R. E. Spence, of Manitoba, conducted the services at the Mark street Methodist church yesterday evening and preached a convincing sermon. He also took the afternoon service at Bethel.

Rev. W. C. Beer, of the Mark street church, conducted the evening service at the George street church yesterday. Miss Freeland, of Rochester, rendered the "Holy City," with excellent taste and expression and also a solo in an anthem at this service.

At St. Peter's cathedral yesterday the Feast of the Assumption, transferred from last Wednesday, was celebrated. The different masses were sung by Rev. Father O'Connell, Ven. Archdeacon Casey preaching two thoughtful discourses during the day. At the evening service Mr. Smith, of St. Patrick's church, Norwood, rendered a bass solo, Stearne's O Salutaris Hostia, in excellent voice.

CHARLOTTE STREET METHODIST CHURCH.

The pastor again occupied his own pulpit a large congregation was present. The opening prayer was a fervent inspiration to the worshippers. For the lesson, the preacher chose the 19th chapter of Exodus, and his text from the 4th verse, of the same chapter. The words of the text were, "How I bare you on eagle's wings." The preacher described how the eagle watched over and cared for her young, although soaring high up in the air, yet her ever watchful eyes were on the nest, where her loved ones were. Then he went on to describe how she trained her young to fly by taking them on her wings, then helping them to launch forth on their own powers until they were able to care for themselves. Reverting to the subject of the text, he described how the Lord had cared for his chosen people, in bringing them out of Egypt, through the Red Sea and finally to the promised land. The preacher drew the lessons from his subject by some fine quotations from Whitter and others, interspersed by examples of the lives of eminent Christians and the concluding exhortations were earnest, eloquent and helpful. The singing of the choir was excellent, and the piece sung by Miss Freelands was greatly appreciated. The congregation at the evening service was also large. The pastor chose his text from the 20th chapter of Exodus, 9th verse, "Six days shalt thou labour." The sermon was a scholarly effort, and dealt fully with the subject of labour, first from God's standpoint, then from man's standpoint, and the exposition and lessons drawn from the discourse must have comforted and helped many of his hearers, who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. The noble and manly sentiments expressed by the preacher will tend to bind closer the affection that the people have for their pastor.

STONY LAKE SURVEY.

To Discover Islands "as is" Islands.

Mr. Thos. Hewson, O.L.S., went up to Stony Lake Monday, to make a survey for the Department of Indian Affairs in connection with certain submerged islands. It seems that some doubt has existed for a year or two past as to the rightful ownership of a number of islands in the eastern portion of the lake—whether they actually were islands or only portions of the mainland previous to the rising of the waters in Stony Lake in 1896. Mr. Hewson has been instructed to make a reliable list of the islands which once formed a portion of the mainland, in order to set matters definately at rest. Mr. Hewson is the right man in the right place to supply the desired information, as he made the original survey of the lake and islands.

THE WATCH THIEF CAPTURED.

Chief Roussel Succeeds in Having Him Arrested in North Toronto — The Watch Found in his Possession.

On Friday morning Mr. Jas. Russell notified Chief Roussel that a watch had been stolen from his residence on Aylmer street, and that he suspected a tramp whom he had furnished with a meal that morning. The same day Chief Roussel visited Mr. Russell's residence and got a description of the tramp and watch. He immediately went down to the C. P. R. water tank and learned that a party of three tramps, one answering the description of the visitor at Mr. Russell's residence, had boarded a freight train about nine o'clock. The Chief immediately wired to Burketon to have the three arrested and to search them for the watch. He received word from Burketon that the trio were arrested, but would allow no one to search them. They were immediately put on the train as prisoners and word sent to North Toronto to have them arrested and searched, and to wire the result to Chief Roussel. To-day Chief Roussel received the following:—

To the Chief Constable, Peterborough, Ont.,

Re John Sheehan, James O'Rourke, and Fred Grand. The three prisoners named above are in custody here charged with trespassing on a C. P. R. train yesterday at Pontypool—in fact was stealing a ride from Peterborough to Toronto. On searching O'Rourke we found hidden away in his clothing an open-face, silver, stem-winding watch, P. S. Bartlett movement, Appleton, Tracey & Co. in small letters on dial. The watch is an old fashioned one, rather small in size. Number on case, 6,207, on works, 18,337 (which tallies with numbers placed on at Calder's and at Clarke & Gibson's, as learned by Chief Roussel.) We have reason to suspect it was stolen by O'Rourke at Peterborough. He is remanded till Wednesday and I would like to hear from you in reference to the matter before that date.

Your obedient servant,
H. J. GRASSETT,
Chief Constable.

The chief wired in reply to hold O'Rourke and that an officer would be up on Wednesday morning.

CHRISTIANITY AND BUDDHISM.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 20.—The following advices have been received per steamer Empress of Japan: The distinguished Buddhist priest Deki-Horyu-Shi, who represented Japanese Buddhists last year at the world's conference of religions in Chicago, returned recently to Japan. On August 1, 200 Buddhist priests and adherents held a meeting in Tokio to welcome him home. At this meeting Deki-Horyu-Shi made a speech in which he said that the Chicago meeting was held to extend the influence of Christianity, but the result was contrary to that expected by the promoters and only served the purpose of displaying the glory of Buddhism over Christianity. The result is, he says, that the American people are strongly inclining toward Buddhism and building Buddhist temples and images in many places, especially on the Pacific Coast.

Another result is that anti-Christian societies have become prevalent in America since the Chicago convention. Mr. Deki says that Mr. Joseph Cook told him that Buddhists in the vicinity of Boston are 20,000 in number. This dinguished priest says further that Christianity is also declining in Europe and that philosophers there now regard Christ as an imaginary personage, and that the people of Europe are eager indeed for the coming of Buddhist priests from Japan. He spoke with severity of the apathy of Buddhist priests and people in the east.

The Japan Mail, commenting upon the foregoing, says the venerable gentleman seems to mistake an interest that is purely philosophical for one that is religious.

MR. AND MRS. BOWSER.

HOW THEY CELEBRATED THEIR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

The Occasion, or Rather the Event in Anticipation, Makes Some Interesting Reading Owing to the Methods of the Well-Known Couple.

"Do you know," said Mr. Bowser the other evening as he looked over to Mrs. Bowser, "that the anniversary of our wedding comes around pretty soon?"

"Yes, dear," was the reply.

"Next week Wednesday we shall have been married twelve years."

"Yes, twelve years."

"Some men forget those things," continued Mr. Bowser as he melted a little more, "but I never do. I want to buy you a gift of some sort, but as I couldn't think of just the thing I thought I'd ask you about it. What shall it be?"

"Oh, out you are so kind, Mr. Bowser. As to the gift, I'm sure you will get something to please me."

"I want to, of course, but I've been wondering if you wouldn't as soon accept $50 in cash. You can then buy what pleases you best."

"You dear, good man!"

"Well, I want to do what is right, and I want to make you happy. There's too much neglect on the part of husbands. I know men who never seem to think of their wives."

"Yes, there are plenty such."

"Ah, but that was a happy day when we stood at the altar!" exclaimed Mr. Bowser after a moment's reflection. "You looked like an angel that day, but no handsomer than you have every day since."

"Thank you, dear. You are so good," replied the blushing Mrs. Bowser.

"I think we have had as much happiness as most of them, don't you?"

"Indeed I do."

"There was nothing mercenary about our marriage. It was love at first sight and love all the way through. I don't remember that we ever had a lovers' quarrel."

"Just a little one, I believe," she replied, though she regretted her blunder an instant later.

"What was that about?"

"Why—why—about Tom—Tom——"

"Oh, yes! That fool of a Tom Brown was hanging around you, and I of course objected. I remember now. The night we made up I asked you to be my wife. Do you remember where we were?"

"Yes, dear. We sat on the veranda in the moonlight. Not a word had been said for a long time when you suddenly knelt at my feet and poured forth your impassioned declaration of love."

"What? What's that?" exclaimed Mr. Bowser as he rose up. "I knelt at your feet!"

"Yes, dear, just as the chevaliers of old knelt"——

"Never, Mrs. Bowser! The chevaliers of old be hanged. I remember how it was as plain as day. There were fifteen mighty good-looking girls camped on my trail and only that noodlehead of a Tom Brown spooning around you. I had hurt your feelings, and in making up with you I said something about marriage. You jumped at it like a wolf for a bone."

"Why, Mr. Bowser!"

"Yes, had me fast before I realized it. The idea of my getting down on my knees and acting like a fool!"

"But don't you remember that you said you'd commit suicide if I didn't marry you?"

"What? Are you talking to me, Mrs. Bowser? I get down on my knees and pour forth and so forth and talk about suicide! Woman, are you crazy?"

Mrs. Bowser ought to have been politic enough to remember that it was Tom Brown who did the kneeling and the pouring, but she felt nettled and replied:

"Yes, you threatened to take poison that very night, and father found one of your boot heels on the verandah next morning!"

"One of my boot heels! I kicked off one of my boot heels as I poured forth, did I?"

"Well, dear, we loved each other, and of course we had a little quarrel, and of course I was proud to have you kneel to me. Mother heard your impassioned appeal from her window, and she—"

"My impassioned bosh! I threaten to commit suicide! Mrs. Bowser, next Wednesday we shall have been married twelve years!"

"Yes, dear."

"And they have been years of misery to me!"

"But you said—"

"And you get no present!"

"But you—"

"And I see now why it doesn't do for a husband to be kind and loving to his wife!"

"My dear, will you let me speak?"

"And it wasn't a happy day when we stood at the altar!" he shouted.

"But, dear—"

"There was no love at first sight, and you never looked like an angel!"

This time Mrs. Bowser held her peace, but after he had tramped around for a moment he continued:

"Impassioned appeal! Pouring forth my love! Kicking off the heel of my boot as I threatened to commit suicide!"

Mrs. Bowser was still silent.

"I may be engaged in the library all night getting the papers ready for our respective lawyers to look over, but I shall see our child in the morning. Woman, good night!"

Mrs. Bowser went to bed and to sleep. At midnight the clang of the fire bells awoke her, and she found Mr. Bowser snoring contentedly in his accustomed place.—M. Quad in St. Louis Republic.

LAKEFIELD.

Impressions by a Visitor—Characteristics of the Village and the People.

What a pretty, little village, with its long, clean front street, half of which is a natural avenue, fringed with shade trees, and lined with neatly built residences and well kept lawns! All the side streets are well kept and in unusually good repair for village thoroughfares. Throughout the entire village may be seen frequent evidences of the taste well as the thrift of its citizens. I have never been in a village of the same size in Ontario with so large a number of comfortable and well built residences—built after good sensible architectural designs and surrounded by so many pretty lawns and well kept fences. The people are peaceful, intelligent and industrious, and the business men are ranked as more financially sound and prosperous than the average village gets credit for. There is ample hotel accommodation and the houses would do credit to a good, live town. The one I am stopping at is a large brick building, three stories high, well furnished and kept by Mr. W. Bowman. It was so convenient to the boats and wharf on my way up to the lakes that I thought that I was fortunate in getting a room in this house, because the travel through here at present is at its height, and the "Tremont" being so situated as to catch most of the tourists, hasn't an empty room in the house. Mr. Robt. Munro keeps an excellent hotel just as you enter the village. Commercial men nearly all put up at the Munro House, being of nearest access to the stores and as a consequence the hotel has a good name on the road, especially for its table and other luxuries. There are two other hotels that do a local trade—the Leahy House and Petit's. Mr. W. Leahy is a popular hotelman and his house is largely patronised by lumbermen and the general public. Of course there are numerous mills, factories, and shops where the various industries of the village are carried on, a good supply of churches, schools, etc.

One does not need to be a first-class angler to catch fish in the waters around Lakefield just now. They are biting well and often and amateur fishermen are pulling out good sized bass and maskinonge without having to wait all day for a bite. The fish stories told here have, I have found, one peculiarity over those told round the hotels in other fishing resorts, viz: they're all true.

Dr. Yelland and a party of ladies and gentlemen from Georgia went up a short distance from the hotel the other day and in half an hour hooked all the bass and maskinonge they could carry.

Miss Carrie Bowman, daughter of the hotelkeeper, has been the heroine all week in an incident which occurred here a few days ago and in which she exhibited great presence of mind and bravery. It appears that Miss Morin, a table waiter in the Tremont House, had gone out on the lake with Miss Bowman in a skiff, and landed at one of the points of land in the vicinity. In some way Miss Morin fell into the deep water, which runs past this point, and in a moment had sunk to the bottom. Miss Bowman, instead of being terrified at the accident, kept her wits about her, and watching for the girl to come up, sprang into the water, caught her companion by the hair with one hand, and landed her safely on shore. Great praise has been bestowed on her for the presence of mind and courageous conduct which she displayed, as nothing would have averted a drowning accident, had she failed to have acted as promptly as she did.

THE MURDER OF KINGS.

"THE FATAL LINE" AS IT RUNS THROUGH HISTORY AND LEGEND.

The House of Stuart in Scottish and English Annals—Some Very Remarkable Facts Catalogued by a Careful Student—Curious Reminiscences.

In The Free Press recently, under the head "The Murder of Kings," is a resume of some of the notable murders of civil rulers in the world's history. In speaking of the rulers of Scotland, reference is made to the murder of Duncan by Macbeth, of the killing of the Red Comyn by Bruce, and of the fate of the first and the third of the Jameses in the Stuart line, which has won the title of "The Fatal Line." The catalogue is susceptible of an almost unlimited extension.

Robert Stuart, duke of Rothesay, eldest son of Robert III, and heir apparent to the Scottish crown, was starved to death by his uncle, the Duke of Albany, who sought to cut off the direct succession so that he might succeed to the crown of his brother.

Robert III., a mild prince, instead of cutting his brother's (the duke of Albany's) head off for his infamous crime, adopted the milder course of sending his second son, James, to France, to shield him from Albany's power of harm. James was intercepted en route by the English and held in captivity for eighteen years, but was well treated, was educated in the learning and accomplishments of the English court, won an English wife, and was finally restored to his kingdom for a moderate ransom. His education developed intellectual qualities that manifested themselves in literature, for which the Stuarts were all more or less distinguished, but none more than Mary, Queen of Scots. James gave a vigorous administration to Scotland and was murdered because of his vigor in punishing those who had been guilty of disorders during his captivity.

James II. unwisely took part in the English "War of Roses," and was killed by the bursting of a cannon during an engagement between English factions.

Some of the Scottish nobles who had possession of the young son of James III., raised a rebellion in his name against the father, who was defeated in battle, fled, took refuge in a mill, and was slain by his pursuers. The young king, James IV., upon reaching maturity, became smitten with contrition because of the part which he had been made to play toward his father, and wore habitually the "penitential shirt."

James IV. himself fell at the fatal battle of Flodden.

James V. died of a broken heart because of the treachery for want (or want of proper support) on the part of his nobles at the battle of Pinkie. Though a spirited and courageous man, his spirit seemed to have deserted him, and retiring to his palace of Falkland, he took to his bed. The intelligence was then brought him that his queen at Linlithgow had born him an heir. He inquired if it were a man-child, and being told that it was a fair daughter, he exclaimed, "Adieu! farewell; it cam wi a lass and it will gang wi a lass"—meaning that as the crown came to his family through the female line it would in like manner pass from his house; upon saying which he turned his face to the wall and never rallied.

Of Mary, the daughter thus orphaned, her misfortunes and her tragic end at the order of Elizabeth of England are well known. Even those who persist in accusing her of complicity in the murder of her husband may find santification for the act in the fact that royal homicides were the rule, and that king murder had become a virtue in Scotland. But Mary's defenders will not fall back upon this questionable plea.

James VI. (James I. of England), son of Mary, though he died in peace in mature life, was yet the victim of various plots aimed against his life or liberty, notably the Gowrie plot in his own country, and the Guy Fawkes gunpowder plot in England.

The head of Charles I. fell under the ax of the commonwealth. His immediate heir, Charles II. after the restoration, was too careless and volatile a prince to incur enmity, and was wont to say to his brother James, who was next in the order of succession, that they "are not going to kill me to make you king." Upon the death of Charles, James became king, and he was dethroned and driven into exile by his son-in-law, William of Orange. James' descendants for one or two generations made efforts to recover the crown, but the last of the house took orders in the Roman Catholic church, leaving no heirs, thus closing the chapter of "The Fatal Line," although collaterally the heirs of the Stuart line still reign in England, through Elizabeth, a granddaughter of James I., who was allied in marriage with the house of Hanover, on whom the succession was settled by act of parliament. It is further worthy of remark that the usurping daughters of James, Mary and Anne, both died childless.

Of those incidentally connected with the Scottish monarchy, the fatality is no less striking. Henry Stuart (Lord Darnly), the husband of Mary, and king by the courtesy, was murdered by the explosion of a gunpowder mine, contrived by James Hepburn, Earl of Bothwell. Bothwell himself succeeded to Mary's band and to the title of king; was driven from the realm, and is said to have died a maniac in a Danish prison, where he was confined for piracies committed in the German ocean.

James Stuart, Earl of Murray, Mary's half brother by a morganatic marriage, and regent of Scotland after Mary's dethronement, was shot by one of the Hamiltons in vengeance for the act of Murray in causing his wife to be driven from their abode into the open fields naked on a cold night, "where," the chronicler says, "before next morning she became furiously mad." Lennox, who succeeded Murray as regent, met a fate similar to that of Murray himself. A close study of Scottish history would not unlikely reveal other cases similar to those cited.

Arabella Stuart was a granddaughter of Margaret Tudor, daughter of Henry VII. of England, by the Earl of Douglass, to whom she was married after the death of her first husband, James IV. of Scotland. As such she had a contingent claim to the English crown. Her marriage with William Seymour, who was of an English family also having a remote claim to the crown, excited the jealous fears of James I., who caused the arrest of Arabella and her husband as dangerous pretenders. The husband escaped to the continent, but Arabella was confined in the Tower, and died there insane. And thus we close the chapter on "The Fatal Line."—S. B. McCracken in Detroit Free Press.

The Prince expected to get his lieutenant's commission soon after meeting the Emperor. No reason for his arrest has been given.

Another Negro Lynched.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18.—Jim F. Lunder, a negro, was found hanging to a tree about three-quarters of a mile from the town of Ouachita City, Union parish. Dangling from his legs was this placard: "Fair warning to parties going into people's houses after night and to those breaking into white ladies' rooms."

FAIR FAMOUS GAMBLERS

QUEENS AND COURT BEAUTIES WHO HAVE "GONE BROKE" THRO' PLAY.

A Curious Trait of Female Character, Which, if Indulged, Becomes a Mania—Mme. De Montespan, the Plunger—Marie Antoinette's Passion for Gaming.

Gambling by women at the horse races is the more modern form in which the gambling instinct of the sex finds expression. Every now and then a little whiff of scandal at gaming and of play for high stakes in high life is blown to us across the ocean. In these cases the women are as much concerned as the men. Indeed, the love of play is as strong in women as in men. It was only the other day that a woman who had lost heavily at the races tried to commit suicide by jumping into the river.

In Monte Carlo the feminine clients frequent the Casino with an avidity quite equal to that of the men, and linger at the spot of fascination till they lose sums that astonish even the millionaire from the West. Here may be seen in most democratic relation aristocratic old dowagers from England, answering to the description of Thackeray's Lady Kew; German Countesses, French Marquises, Russian Princesses, Italian ladies of quality and gayly-dressed women that one sees on the Boulevards of Paris, each eagerly staking gold on the red or black, anxiously watching the croupier, and sometimes appropriating in their voracious excitement another player's chips.

Besides the women gamblers there are professional women bookmakers and pool-room keepers. Their customers are exclusively women. In society there are scores of women who play poker for money, and many other women who would like to play but lack the courage. Another favorite form of gambling by women is stock speculation.

The most noted woman gambler among the royal set is ex-Queen Isabella of Spain, who has often lost and won large sums. History proves that she is not the only notable personage who has taken pleasure in this pursuit.

An ancient English allegory portraying the imaginary origin of gaming depicts the character as a woman, the daughter of the Goddess of Fortune and the God of War. She was represented as misfeatured and wayward, though not without fascinations, for she was sought and courted by all gay and extravagant men and women. From childhood she could only find pleasure in cards, dice, counters and games of chance and lotteries. Her mother, Fortune, endowed her with residences near the palaces of kings, where every pleasure ministered to the delighted senses. The visitors departed, some happy with precious spoils, others miserable, disappointed and despairing, and escorted by the demon Suicide.

In Greece cards were not known, but the fashionable Athenian ladies got rid of their husbands' money betting on cock and quail fighting and backing their favorites at the Olympian and other games. Above all there was the dice-box, which had an irresistible fascination for Greek men and women.

In Rome also dice were in great favor, and so much evil was wrought by their means that prohibitory laws were enacted by the very emperors who were the greatest gamblers. Some of the emperors established lotteries and carried favor with the women by giving them tickets that entitled them to prizes.

Among the flourishing Italian Republics the vice lasted through the Middle Ages, and the Florentine and Milanese ladies gave their liege lords no end of trouble. In 1340 a chronicler writes: "The ladies are shamefully decolletees, in robes of silk and gold. The hair is frizzled like barbarians; they wear golden belts, like Amazons; walk the street with their shoes turned up at the point, and spend all their time at games of dice."

Evelyn mentions the game of basset, which was invented in Venice, and became so popular in England that every lady of pretention had a basset table in her bourdoir or dressing-room. In England and France it was not until the sixteenth century that the gambling mania attacked the women with any severity. Henry IV. would play with anyone he happened to meet with, and, as the King and his courtiers played every day, the ladies, whom he could never bear out of his sight, took part in these games likewise, and the Queen herself, during her various illnesses, used to invite the Marshal de Bassompierre into her apartments to play at hazard for money to pass away the tedious hours of convalescence.

Marie de Medici was an encourager of gaming, and during her regency after the death of Henry IV., the rage for gambling became more violent, and ladies of high rank were not ashamed to open gambling-houses, and even to cheat when they could not win otherwise. One French Countess was discovered by her friend cheating her tradesmen and women whom she had invited to play with her. She replied, on being questioned: "Why, I only cheat them of what they are always cheating me."

In the first years of Louis XIV. wives robbed their husbands and daughters plundered the pockets of their parents to gratify the propensity of the game of "hoca," a game many families were ruined by the king forbade the game in Paris on pain of death. It was allowed at Versailles, however, and one morning the Queen lost 20,000 crowns.

The frenzied play of Mme. de Montespan has become proverbial in France as "La jeu de la Montespan." At basset she was known to risk a million francs (200,000) on one hand alone. When no one dared to cover her high stakes she grumbled, and the king shared her annoyance. One Christmas evening she lost 700,000 crowns, and on three cards won back 150,000 pistoles (600,000). One night three months later she lost 400,000 pistoles (300,000), and then luckily won them back again.

Louis was cooling in his affections for her about this time and abolished basset, the favorite game of the famous Montespan, but she found other ways of depleting his purse, and her high play continued until 1683, when she lost sums amounting to more than a million dollars at "hoca."

Louis XV. indulged his favorites as his predecessor had done. On June 25, 1765, the Duc de Richlieu undertook to teach the famous and infamous Mme. Du Barry lansquenet in her boudoir, and in a few minutes the fair one had eased the Duke's pocket of 25,000 louis d'or (125,000), much to the King's amusement and delight, for he was watching the game and was pleased at his favorite's success. The beautiful Mme. de Pompadour, another favorite, also won and lost enormous sums.

In the next reign female gamblers, though perhaps not more extravagant than before, yet caused more scandal. The ocean of state was going down hill to the revolution, and seemed to increase in velocity as it neared the bottom of the decline. The princes of the blood and courtiers who instilled into the Queen Marie Antoinette the unfeminine and unroyal passion for horses and horse racing induced her also to engage in high play and prohibited games of chance.

Faro was played in the Queen's apartments at very high stakes. Both she and the Comte d'Artois lost enormous sums, and many of the courtiers were entirely ruined. Public rumor exaggerated these losses and they excited the greatest indignation, as the losers did not pay their lawful debts. The scandal was the greater as faro was strictly forbidden, even to princes and princesses of the blood. It was, nevertheless, played at the houses of Mme. de Guemenee, the Princess de Lamballe and in the Queen's rooms.

At last no one would play at court for fear of being ruined, and to find partners and opponents the Queen was soon led to admit the worst society. Her card parties consequently became tumultuous and scandalous. Marie Antoinette's salon was open to all; blackguards were introduced, and one was arrested who gave one of the bankers a roulean of chips instead of louis. Some of the Queen's gambling companions picked Count Dillon's pocket and got 500 louis d'or (2,500.)

In England things had been nearly as bad. Elizabeth was no gambler, but when the Stuarts ascended the throne play ran high. Henrietta Maria, the wife of Charles the First, inherited the gambling tastes of her father, the amorous and pleasure-loving Henri IV., and when Bassompierre, also an arrant "sport," was in England on an embassy, in 1626, he and the Queen and Buckingham sat at a window in Cheapside playing primero for stakes while waiting for a procession to pass.

When Charles the Second was restored the pleasures and manners of his court were practically identical with the French court, and his beautiful favorites, the Duchess of Mazarin, the Duchess of Cleveland, the Duchess of Portsmouth, Nell Gwynne, and their associates carried gambling to lengths before unknown in England. The Duchess of Mazarin, a niece of the Cardinal, lost more than a million louis d'or ($5,000,000), and ended her life in beggary. Nell Gwynne lost £5,000 to her rival, the Duchess of Cleveland, at one sitting, and the immense fortune of the latter was squandered at the basset table.

In 1796 Chief Justice Kenyon delivered a charge in which he dealt on this scandal and threatened to send even the first ladies of the land to the pillory if they were convicted of play at faro before him. Gilray, the famous caricaturist, made an imaginary picture of the most conspicuous offenders standing in the pillory, calling them "Pharaoh's, or Faro's Daughters."

In 1797 Lady Buckinghamshire, a very notorious gambler, got into trouble with the city authorities, being convicted with Lady Lutterell and Mrs. Sturt at the police court and fined £50 ($250) for playing at faro. Henry Martindale was also fined £200 ($1,000) for keeping the faro table at Lady Buckinghamshire's, and the same lady slept with a blunderbuss and a pair of pistols at her side every night in order to protect her faro bank. Enough has been said to show that when a woman once acquires a fondness for gaming it soon amounts to a mania, and while few will follow the example of the old lady in Goldsmith's story, who, being given up by her physician, called in her chosen undertaker and played cards with him for the expenses of her funeral, nearly every female adept will have sympathy with the lady who went to her priest to confess her fondness for play. The worthy father lamented the waste of time in such a pursuit. "Yes," she replied, "that is exactly what vexes me—so much time is lost in shuffling the cards!"

Vagabondia.

It is a country of the sun.
Full of forgotten yesterdays,
When time takes summer in his care,
And fills the distance of her gaze.

It stretches from the open sea
To the blue mountains and beyond;
The world is Vagabondia
To him who is a vagabond.

In the beginning God made man
Out of the wandering dust men say;
And in the end his life shall be
A wandering wind and blown away.

There is a tavern, I have heard,
Not far, and frugal kept by One
Who knows the children of the Word,
And welcomes each when day is done.

Some say the house is lonely set
In Northern night, and snowdrifts keep
The silent door; the hearth is cold,
And all my fellows gone to sleep.

Had I my will I hear the sea
Thunder a welcome on the shore;
I know where lies the hostelry
And who should open me the door.

—BLISS CARMAN.

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

If you are suffering from La Grippe, Templeton's "Pink Powder" will give you immediate relief. For sale by all druggists.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

Nature Has Provided

A remedy for every ache and pain, and science through ceaseless activity and experiment is constantly wresting the secrets of her domain. A new and wonderful discovery has recently been made by means of which tens of thousands will be freed from pain. Nerviline, or nerve pain cure, represents in very concentrated form the most potent pain relieving substitutes known to medical science, and strange to say, it is composed of substances solely vegetable in origin. Polson's Nerviline is the most prompt, certain, and pleasant pain remedy in the world. Try Nerviline for toothache, neuralgia, cramps, &c., always safe and efficient.

My feet were so badly swollen that I could not wear my shoes. I got Yellow Oil, and to my astonishment it gave instant relief, and two bottles completely cured me. Mrs. W. G. McKay, Berwick Ont.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

The New French Paper—Two Companies Apply for Charter and Incorporation.

OTTAWA, Aug. 20.—Le Temps is to be the name of a French paper which will be published in Ottawa shortly. It is understood that the company has already been formed, and application will be made very soon for letters patent of incorporation. Oscar MacDonpell, for many years editor of Le Canada, will be the editor of the new paper. It will take a broad Liberal view of all public questions and will give a general support to Mr. Laurier in Dominion politics.

Hon. John Costigan has returned to the city.

Specifications are being prepared by the Public Works Department for the new heating apparatus with which it is intended to replace the 75 or 80 old fashioned stoves and fireplaces with which Rideau Hall is at present warmed, and for which purpose the sum of $13,000 was voted last session.

R. R. McLennan, M. P., Glengarry, who was in the city for the past two days, left for home on Saturday. The arrangements for the banquet to be given Mr. McLennan at Alexandria to-morrow are complete. The executive committee are composed of members of both political parties.

The Union Card and Paper Co. has given notice of application for a charter giving them power to manufacture playing cards at Montreal, stock $40,000. Mr. Henry H. Ami, geologist, of this city, is a shareholder.

The Canada Engraving and Lithographic Company, of Montreal, has applied for incorporation. The capital is named as $50,000.

UNITED STATES CONGRESS.

This Week Will Probably See the Close of the Session.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—There is good reason to believe that this week will see the close of the session of Congress. The work of the Senate is practically finished. After to-day it is likely that the Senate will meet for a short time daily and then adjourn pending the reception of the tariff bill. Until it is known just when to expect this measure from the President it is not likely that a joint resolution fixing a day for adjournment will be introduced. In the meantime there will be an effort to pass the House bill to repeal all laws authorizing a rebate of the internal revenue tax on alcohol used in the arts.

There is nothing for the House to do apparently but to wait for the action of the President upon the tariff and sundry civil appropriation bills and then adjourn.

The committee on rules has notified chairmen of committees applying for a day on which to consider business reported from them that no more allotments of time will be made.

The bill reported by a conference committee and agreed to by the Senate prohibiting the immigration of anarchists will probably go over until next session.

Killed by an Ex-Convict.

ORLONG, Ill., Aug. 20.—A successful three-days' soldiers' re-union was brought to a sudden end here by David Eaton, an ex-convict, appearing and attempting to drive through the crowd. He was stopped by David Mock, on whom Eaton drew his revolver. Before he could fire the weapon he was knocked down. George Gold, a veteran, then stepped up and ordered Eaton away. Eaton aimed the revolver at Gold's breast and fired, killing him almost instantly. Eaton put the whip to his horse and started away. A crowd gave chase, foremost of whom was Special Policeman John James. Eaton fired at him, the ball grazing the left hip. Charles Huston, a deputy sheriff of Crawford county, arrested Eaton after a chase of over a mile. It was with difficulty that the officers prevented a lynching.

DEED DONE IN DELIRIUM

TYPHOID DROVE HIM INSANE

The Unfortunate Man Jumps Through a Window and is Killed by the Fall —His Three Victims Badly Wounded and in a Precarious Condition.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 20.—Thos. Hewitt 28 years old, who lived on Davis Avenue, Kearney, in a fit of typhoid fever delirium yesterday, stabbed his wife and her brother Fred. Purcell, inflicting serious injuries upon his seven year old daughter Adele and then threw himself headlong from a window, receiving a fracture of the skull which caused his death a few hours later. His wife and brother-in-law are in a very precarious position.

Three weeks ago Hewitt, who was a moulder, was compelled to quit work on account of illness. Dr. Allen, the family physician, diagnosed the case as typhoid fever, and one week ago Hewitt was compelled to take his bed. The family was poor and could not have a doctor in daily attendance but he left word to be sent for if any change occurred in the patient's condition. On Saturday night at 11 o'clock Hewitt dropped into a heavy slumber. His wife grasped the opportunity of taking a few hours sleep. Two hours later she was startled by a noise in her husband's room. Before she could move he rushed into the kitchen with a large carving knife in his hands.

Fright rendered the terrified woman speechless and unable to move, and the next instant he plunged the blade into her shoulder, inflicting an ugly wound four inches long. As he raised the knife for another blow Mrs. Hewitt grasped the blade with her left hand, and he drew it away almost severing the hand in two.

Mrs. Hewitt's brother was aroused and rushed to save his sister from her maniac husband. The latter threw Purcell to the floor, and, pouncing upon him, drove the knife through the prostrate man's shoulder into his left breast. Again Hewitt raised the knife and Purcell, like his sister, attempted to ward the blow off with his right hand, with the result that his fingers were almost severed from the hand.

Turning from Purcell, Hewitt rushed to the bed where his children were sleeping and attempted to cut off the head of Adele, the oldest child. His aim was unsteady and he only succeeded in cutting a frightful gash on the child's neck and shoulder. She awoke with a shriek and her father rushed into the front room and plunged head first through a wire screen to the ground below where he was picked up a few minutes later unconscious and bleeding from a hole on the top of his head. He died at 7 o'clock in the morning.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—William H. Vogel, thirty-two years old, a son of the big Harlem clothier of that name at One Hundred and Twenty-third street and Third avenue, shot his mistress and then killed himself yesterday afternoon in the house at 133 One Hundred and Twenty-third street. Three shots were fired at the woman, one of which took effect just above the left hip and entered the abdomen, causing a wound which will probably prove fatal. The name of the woman is Louise B. Bartlett, and her home is said to be in Boston. She is a handsome young woman about thirty-two years old and a blonde. After shooting his mistress young Vogel turned the revolver toward himself and fired a shot into his right side. Then changing the revolver from his right hand to his left he sent a ball crashing through his left side in the neighborhood of the heart.

He was standing near the bed at the time. As he fired the shot he said: "See, Louise, I'm dead." His body swayed from side to side and then young Vogel fell upon the body dead. Just why young Vogel attempted to kill his mistress is not known. It is known, however, that this is the third or fourth attempt he has made upon her life. He threatened to shoot her Saturday in the same room and once before at least while they were stopping at a hotel in Chicago. It is presumed that jealousy was the cause of the tragedy. Vogel was a married man, but it is said that his wife recently obtained a divorce from him.

AZIZ'S TROOPS DEFEATED.

The Rebellious Kabyles Repulse the Sultan's Forces With Great Loss.

TANGIER, Aug. 20.—Europeans who arrived here from Mazagan say that the troops of the young Sultan have been defeated by the rebellious Kabyles. They tried to take the rebel position by storm and were repulsed after a hard fight. Their loss was heavy. After the battle the Sultan's troops fled in disorder and those who escaped the pursuing tribesmen sought refuge at Mazagan. It is reported that all the southern towns have revolted against the Sultan. The Spanish force at Melilla is expecting trouble.

Not Guilty of Disobedience.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 20.—William F. Worth, major Second Infantry who was court martialed at Fort Omaha for alleged disobedience of President Lincoln's order of Nov. 15, 1862, ordering that only work of strict necessity should be done in the army on Sunday, was acquitted, the court returning the verdict of Saturday. Major Worth's offense was ordering Private Cedarquest to rifle practice on Sunday. He refused to obey and was court martialed and found guilty. The court held that the order was no longer in effect, and therefore Major Worth could not be found guilty.

Fighting in the Congo State.

LISBON, Aug. 20.—Newspapers here say that the Congo state officials recently impressed into their service natives of the Portugese Congo. A large body of natives then attacked the Congo state post at Loba, killing two members of the Congo state force and capturing three others.

ALL ROADS HAD GRIEVANCES

But the Treatment of the Pullman Employes Was the Main Incentive to Strike—He Complains of Unfair Treatment by the Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—By far the largest audience which has yet been in attendance upon the Strike Commission Session was present yesterday, attracted by the appearance as a witness of President Debs, of the American Railway Union.

Debs told of having received word that a strike in Pullman was imminent, and of his coming to Chicago to investigate.

"I found," he said, "that the men were working for the Pullman Company at wages upon which they could not live. I found that salaries had been cut time and again, until skilled mechanics were working their lives away for wages not sufficient for a common laborer, that the town of Pullman, with its shops, its houses and its stores was so schemed that every penny the workingman made found its way back into the company's coffers.

"No matter how offensive the conditions were there the men were obliged to submit to them. When I found out all these things I immediately determined that the American Railway Union should go to the assistance of these unfortunate people. We believed that any fair board of arbitration would have declared in favor of the employes, and all we asked was arbitration. This the Pullman people arbitrarily refused. Not only this, but when we asked them to examine into the question to see whether or not there was anything to arbitrate they also refused this."

Debs then told of the several failures of the A. R. U. to secure arbitration from the Pullman company and the subsequent inauguration of the strike.

"Not only did the employes of the various railroads strike because of the injustice being done to the Pullman employes but because the various roads had grievances of their own. We used our influence to prevent strikes during the world's fair as we did not believe it just to the public to inaugurate a strike at such a time. It was all that could be done by the leaders of the labor unions to prevent a strike. In view of the men working throughout the fair the railway managers on many of the roads promised an increase of wages after the fair was over. Instead of doing this, immediately after the fair closed, they began a systematic reduction of wages throughout the country. When the A. R. U. met in convention in Chicago on June 21 it was confronted by these conditions as well as the state of affairs at Pullman."

"Was this convention called to consider the reduction of wages or the Pullman matter?" asked Commissioner Wright.

"The convention was called for no specific purpose. It was the regular triennial convention provided for by the constitution."

When asked what the outcome of the convention which declared the boycott against Pullman cars would have been had it not been for the grievances of Pullman employes, Mr. Debs said there would have been no strike as the A. R. U. owing to the depressed condition of the country deemed it inauspicious time to strike. He said the railroad companies had never raised wages of their own accord. Every increase of wages has been wrung from them by organized labor.

"I had no voice in ordering this strike myself, said the witness, "but if I had had a vote in it I would have ordered it. The telegram attributed to me which read 'Save your money and buy a gun,' though sent over my signature, I never saw. It was sent by our stenographer to his superior in Montana and was not intended literally. It was merely a playful expression current in Montana."

Debs charged Gen. Miles with being in league with the railroad managers to suppress the strike, and related instances where, as he alleged, men were made to work at the point of the bayonet.

Debs asserted that from the beginning the A. R. U. and the strike leaders had been badly treated by the Chicago press. Many lies had been told. He said if there had been a revolution it would have been directly chargeable to the press of Chicago rather than to the American Railway Union. Editorials had been written all over the country, he asserted based on matter sent out by the Western Associated Press, the editorials in every case attacking the A. R. U. on information which was absolutely false.

"Do you charge the general managers with being responsible for the strike," asked Commissioner Wright.

"Well, I could hardly go as far as that. I believe, however, they had much to do with keeping it up."

"How would you gain the demands of laborers on quasi public corporations?" asked Judge Worthington.

"There are two ways. One is the way adopted by the old Brotherhoods. That is getting a schedule of wages gradually from the companies. There has been little good in this mode of procedure. It takes a strike to win sometimes but I don't believe the railroad employes of this country could win a strike to day if they were all organized in one brotherhood because the courts are against labor. I believe the Government ownership of railroads would be far better than the railroad ownership of Government. I do not believe any lasting good can come from arbitration and I do not think the Government supervision of railroads would answer the purpose. In such a case as that of the Pullman Company I believe compulsory arbitration would be of benefit. I am in favor of some system, however, that will result in mutual good feeling and neither strike nor compulsory arbitration can result in anything but ill feeling. I am in favor of licensing railroad employes. I believe in abolishing the wage system. I believe in a co-operative commonwealth.

"In other words, you believe in state socialism" said Chairman Wright.

"Well, in the essential points of state socialism. The wage system is nothing more than slavery."

George M. Pullman has been asked to appear before the labor commission to give testimony as to the difficulty between himself and his employes.

Pullman's Workmen Attacked.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Yesterday a mob of 150 Italians, Poles and Bohemians attacked a party of men who were on their way to work in the brick yards at Pullman. The workmen repulsed their assailants before the police arrived. Nobody was seriously injured.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Death of a Civil Servant—Sir Hibbert Tupper at Washington.

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—Paul M. Robbins, of the Inland Revenue Department, who died on Saturday, was a native of Cornwall, England, and was born in 1842. He came to this country when very young and lived for a long time in Toronto, where he was employed as a bookkeeper. When the excitement over the threatened Fenian invasion broke out in 1866 Mr. Robbins joined the Queen's Own Rifles and soon rose to the rank of a sergeant. When the invasion did take place he went to the front, and was a participator in the fight at Limestone Ridge, where he lost a leg. In 1868 he was appointed to a position in the Inland Revenue Department, and in 1873 was appointed accountant and later chief clerk. Mr. Robbins was a prominent member of the Dominion Methodist Church. He was a very painstaking official, and as a citizen was most affable and kind. The deep sympathy of the community goes out to Mrs. Robbins and the children. The body was taken last night to Toronto, where it will be interred in the family plot.

Sir Charles H. Tupper is at present in Washington. His mission is said to be in connection with the claims of Canadian sealers for damages for arbitrary seizure during the time the modus vivendi was in force, and for which the Paris arbitration decided the United States were liable.

A cable received here announces the death of Robert Blackburn, lumberman, Ottawa, at Liverpool, England. Deceased was 66 years of age. He leaves a family of sons and daughters to mourn his loss. He represented Russell county for 1874 to 1878 and was a Liberal in politics. His death caused a great shock here where he was popular and widely known.

DROWNED WHILE FISHING.

Two Men Lose Their Lives in a Gale in the Niagara River.

NIAGARA, Ont., Aug. 21.—A terrible drowning accident occurred at the mouth of the Niagara River, in which two men lost their lives.

Edward Welsh and the two Phillips brothers, of Youngstown, N. Y., while setting their nets were capsized during a heavy northeast gale. It seems the seat holding the mast broke, overturning the boat and throwing its occupants into the water. One of the Phillips, who could not swim, was found on the Canadian shore near the Chautauqua grounds, apparently dead, but was found to be still alive. The other, with Welsh, after clinging to the overturned boat, dropped off exhausted and were drowned.

The life saving station at Fort Niagara went to the rescue and made an effort to get to the drowning men, but owing to the darkness and heavy sea could find no trace of them. The oars and mast were picked up on the beach, but the bodies have not yet been recovered.

Death Caused by Dynamite Explosion.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Aug. 21.—Yesterday forenoon an Italian workman employed by Garson, Purcer & Co. on the Bartholomew street sewer, met with a quick and horrible death from the explosion of a charge of dynamite. He was working in the trench at the end of the sewer which is about ten feet deep at that point, when the blast exploded, and though other workmen were near at hand, some on the bank above, no one seems to have been injured except the victim. He was bending slightly over at the time and received the greater part of the charge above the shoulders. One half his head was cut off as clean as if done with an axe and death must have been instantaneous. The noise caused by the explosion at once attracted a crowd and the poor victim was lifted from the trench and his body covered over. Dr. Vaux will hold an inquest.

Plumbing Establishment Burned.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—Last night fire broke out in the paper flats of the premises of John Date and Co., plumbers on Craig St. The fires had made considerable headway before it was discovered and when the firemen arrived the whole of the upper flats were ablaze. The burning building was situated in the centre of a row of large brick buildings but fortunately the fire wall protected the adjoining buildings and the firemen succeeded in confining the blaze to the Date establishment. The building was badly damaged. The upper storey's which was occupied by the Key Indemnity Company, and the St. Lawrence Brass Works was burned out and a lot of valuable machinery badly damaged. The lower flats were gutted with water. The total loss is estimated at about $10,000.

Inquests in Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Aug. 21. — Two inquests were opened yesterday on the bodies of Thomas Harper Elliott, killed by a Grand Trunk train on Saturday afternoon while walking on the track near Stony Creek, and of J. Lockhead, found dead on the street near the corner of Burlington and Bay. After viewing the bodies in each case, the inquests were adjourned until to-morrow and Thursday evenings. Nothing is known of Elliott beyond his name.

THIS CASE A QUEER ONE

DETECTIVES LOOKED FOR HIM

He is Afterwards Killed in a Railway Accident and the Original Owner of the Clothes is Arrested—The Latter Will Sue for Damages.

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 21.—A [illegible] story is recounted here from Dr. [illegible] member of the Royal College of Surgeons England. Dr. Spurr accompanied a certain Mr. Annandale who appeared to have been the victim of a clever trick, if the story is true.

In December last a man named Arnott, of New Castle, England, an employe of a bank in that city, made off with a considerable sum of money. His destination was Baltimore, Ind., which he reached from New York, but on arriving at Baltimore Arnott fell from a carriage and broke his arm. The ambulance carried him to one of the hospitals of that city. His bed neighbor was Annandale. Arnott suddenly left the hospital when he felt sufficiently better, changing his clothes for that of Annandale. The latter was then suffering from a lung disease which was thought incurable. Under his false name Arnott was able to travel about in disguise yet his description could not be escaped by the sharp detectives from Scotland Yard but that the man's real name was Annandale. The false Annandale succeeded, however, in dodging the authorities.

One night in a railway accident Arnott was killed. The coroner of the place proceeded in the usual manner about the inquest, and he, not knowing what had happened in England as to Arnott's crime, sent a cablegram to Arnott's wife announcing his death. After having examined his papers which were all in Annandale's name, the New York police still continued to hunt for Arnott under the name of Annandale. But Annandale having recovered his health went out of the hospital and was immediately arrested, the detectives believing him to be Arnott. In February Annandale was extradited to England. Mrs. Arnott upon seeing the prisoner declared that the man was not her husband. The prisoner went from Liverpool to London and from the latter place to Newcastle where no one could identify him, the widow having meanwhile declared that she had learned the death of her husband in Baltimore. The coroner of Baltimore testified to having held an inquest upon the body of a man corresponding with the description of a man named Arnott. Papers were found on the corpse showing that deceased was presumably named Arnott, and that he imagined the man was a robber. Annandale was then given his liberty and sought help from the American consul in London. While sick and almost dying in London Dr. Spurr, who attended Annandale, proposed to him to bring him to Canada, his native place, and thence to the United States. Annandale declares he is going to sue the English authorities for an amount of $50,000.

IN REPLY TO HUDDART.

The Allans Continue the Controversy With Regard to Fast Steamships.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Allans, of the Allan Steamship line, publish in the Times this morning a column letter in reply to Contractor Huddart's attack upon them last week.

They dispute his account of his interview with their representative. They declare that he showed them plans of the crudest kind and that he did not have the knowledge necessary to understand the execution of his projects.

The Allans say in conclusion: "If Mr. Huddart succeeds in gaining the confidence of the moneyed public and establishes a successful service where none of the Atlantic companies have been willing to embark their own or their friends' fortunes he will deserve and receive a high place in the public estimation."

Three Children Lost at Sea.

NORTH SYDNEY, N. S., Aug. 21.—The tugs Merrimac and Douglas H. Thomas, which were despatched in search of the children of Doctor John Weeks, of Rose Blanche, Nfld., has arrived here with no tidings of the missing boat. The boat contained two children of Dr. Weeks, a boy of 13 and a girl of 15, and a son of James Cook, light-house keeper, about 17 years of age. It is supposed while sailing in a small boat Friday afternoon they were lost in a dense fog. On receipt of telegrams here the tugs immediately went out but returned with above result, reporting a great deal of fog on Newfoundland coast. It is thought if they have not been picked up by a passing vessel that the boat has been capsized.

A Farmer Killed by a Bull.

KINGSTON, Aug. 21.—John Jones, an old and respected farmer, who lived in the vicinity of Crow Lake, township of Oso, was killed by an infuriated bull on Sunday in his pasture field while he was going after his horse, intending to hitch up and drive milk to a cheese factory close by. The battle took place about five o'clock in the morning. The bull, four years old, saw the old farmer trudging along and started for him. Being feeble Mr. Jones could not get out of the animal's way and it plunged a horn through the jugular vein in the neck and death must have been instantaneous.

His Hand Mangled by a Saw.

BOTHWELL, Ont., Aug. 21.—While Mr. Desand, one of the laborers at Atkinson's stave mill, Cashmere, was engaged sawing bolts there yesterday he had his left hand badly mangled. He was reaching for a bolt when in some way his hand was thrown against the saw. A doctor was called and found it necessary to amputate the first two fingers but has hopes of saving the others.

Politics in Newfoundland.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Aug. 21.—The Government holds the first bye-elections in Burgeo on September 11. The former member, Murray (Whitewayite), was disqualified. Watson, the unseated but not disqualified Whiteway member for Trinity, takes the position of inspector of customs under the Government, and abandons politics and the Whiteway party.

THE POOR MAN'S TARIFF.

The Globe.

Among the many promises of the Canadian tariff revision was the total or partial abolition of specific duties. These duties, levied on the pound, the yard, the bushel, or the dozen, are unfairly heavy on consumers of cheaper grades of goods. To tax a yard of cheap cloth the same amount as a yard of cloth of superior quality, is a manifest injustice to consumers of coarser lines. This injustice pertains to all specific duties, and as in other objectionable features of the Canadian tariff the revision has left matters little or no better than before. The injustice is in proportion to the fluctation and range of prices. As an instance, the tax of two cents per pound on raspberries, cherries, strawberries, etc., is trifling when such small fruit are expensive luxuries. But when the price falls and they become articles of common use, it may be as high as 50 per cent. The Government has a two-fold object in retaining this class of duties. They lessen the burden on wealthy consumers, who are able most effectually to oppose the protective system, and they keep the public in ignorance of the extent to which they are taxed. An innocent-looking tax of a few cents per pound or per yard may, and does, conceal duties of more than 100 per cent. The following list shows some of the unjust discriminations effected by specific duties in the new Canadian tariff. It does not contain all the discriminations, and the widest variations have not been presented:

OLD ST. ANDREWS.

A Presbyterian Church Centenary at Niagara.

An interesting centennial was finely celebrated at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., being the 100th anniversary of the organization of the Presbyterian congregation of St. Andrew's church. The services were varied and extended over Saturday, Sunday and Monday, August 18th, 19th and 20th, and were shared in by several prominent Presbyterians, including Rev. Prof. Mowat, Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. John Beverly Robinson (Anglican) and others.

St. Andrew's is the second oldest Presbyterian church in Ontario. The congregation was organized in 1794, while the oldest Presbyterian church in the province is said to be that at Williamstown, established in 1786. St. Andrew's is a square, unpicturesque structure of brick and stone, rebuilt 60 years ago. Unlike its Anglican neighbour, St. Mark's, which had a settled clergyman, with a salary of £200 per annum from the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, St. Andrew's struggled under a load of debt for many years. The Rev. John Dun was its pastor. He received a stipend of £300 for three years, $100 a year and "house room." From 1812 to 1816 there are no records. War scattered the people, broke up the congregation and burned the church. In 1830, 17 years after the town was burned, subscriptions were taken up and a new church erected. The name St. Andrew's was used for the first time in the dedication of the new edifice.

The Rev. Robert McGill, afterwards founder of McGill College, Montreal, ministered to the congregation from 1828 until his removal to the chief commercial city of Canada in 1845. The present manse, nearly opposite St. Andrews, was built by Dr. McGill. The Rev. J. B. Mowat, now professor of Hebrew in Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., (who is by the way Dr. McGill's son-in-law), succeeded Dr. McGill and remained until 1858. The present incumbent is the Rev. Nathaniel Smith.

The interior of the old church is a relic of the dead past with its stiff-backed pews and high pulpit. A compromise has been effected between the Scotch precentor and the unholy "kist o' whustles," by the introduction of a reed organ. The only tablet in St. Andrews up to the present time, is in the southern vestibule. It is in memory of a liberal friend to the church, Mr. John Young, who was drowned in Lake Ontario. An anniversary tablet will be unveiled during the present exercises.

TWO CHILDREN BROUGHT UP ON LACTATED FOOD.

The Use of This Great Food Means Solid Comfort for the Family, Health and Strength for the Babies.

JOHNSTON BABIES.

Mr. R. L. Johnston, Burlington, Ont., writes as follows about Lactated Food:

"I send you a cabinet photo of our two children who were both fed on Lactated Food; they are still using it every day. We prefer it to any other kind of food. When our druggist was out of it, we bought a can of another food, but it was no good, and baby refused to take it, and we had to throw it out.

"Nearly everyone who saw our second baby, said that we would not be able to raise him, as he was so puny; but now, through the use of Lactated Food, he is fine and healthy. We recommend Lactated Food to all who need the article in our vicinity."

The explanation of the great success of Lactated Food in keeping babies well and strong, is, that in its composition nature's food for babies has been the model. It is pleasant to the taste and is taken by infants with relish, and is easily digested and assimilated.

Mothers and fathers may stop worrying about their babies after they have once been put on a diet of life-giving Lactated Food.

Taxes and Taxations.

The soap duty in Holland brings $750,-000 a year to the government.

Charles II. farmed all the customs for an annual payment of £390,000.

The rate of taxation has nearly quadrupled in France since 1830.

Male servants are taxed in Great Britain and several other countries.

The French people pay over $10,000,000 a year taxes on their windows.

Germany pays $10,000,000 a year taxes on salt and $13,000,000 on sugar.

"Team" and "Dock."

A Bostonian writes to the Listener from Lincoln, Neb., that the misuse of the word "team," which applies it to the wagon instead of the horses, has not crossed the country. He says: "I was much humiliated one day, on commenting on a 'team' that had been left in the middle of the street, to be told, by a sort of cowboy in a slouch hat, that I meant 'wagon.' And he was right. I fear it is a local, perhaps merely a Bostonian mistake. And I, as an exiled Bostonian, feel grieved at it. Will the people here come to use it wrongly, too, or shall we reform? I am trying to reform—in conversation. Most of us use it correctly in writing." It is not a local vice merely, but it is eastern rather than western. To offset this bad easternism, they have a curious mixture of terms in New York and further westward which we, in Boston, have been spared. When they speak of a "dock" they mean a wharf and not, as the word really means, the water between the wharves. And nothing is more astonishing to a New Yorker than to come to Boston and hear of a man falling into the "dock."—Boston Transcript.

"All run down" from weakening effects of warm weather, you need a good tonic and blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla. Try it.

Odd Effect of a Strike.

Among the greatest sufferers by the cab strike are the parliamentary pigeons in New Palace Yard, which always found an abundant supply of corn from the nosebags of the horses on the cab-rank at the entrance of the House of Commons. For years the spot has been, during the parliamentary season, a happy hunting ground for hundreds of these birds. They never hang around the doors of the House of Lords. Peers generally walk to parliament, or if they drive it is invariably in their own carriages, the horses of which would disdain to eat in public.

No corn is ever to be found at the Peers' entrance; therefore it is that the pigeons all flock to the House of Commons. But since the commencement of the strike the birds have become quite demoralized. They know it is not the recess, because the light on the clock tower is there at night, and they cannot make out what has become of their friends the cabmen, the horses and the corn.

For some days their lamentable "cooing" from the pangs of hunger was distressing to hear, until the happy idea came to Superintendent Horsley to institute a kind of pigeons' soup-kitchen, or free breakfast table, every morning. A plentiful supply of crumbs and corn is scattered on the ground, and the pigeons show their gratitude by flapping their wings and cooing in the major key. The superintendent's charitable exertions are admirably supported by the members of the police force on duty at the House of Commons.—London Telegraph.

Elections in Greece.

"In Greece elections are held in churches on Sunday. In the church to which I succeeded in gaining access on one election day there were ranged around the walls forty-two boxes, that being the number of candidates to be voted for. These boxes were about the size and shape of a cracker box, one-half painted white, with 'Yes' on them, and the other half black, with 'No' on them. Beside each box stood a representative of the candidate, and over the box was hung the candidate's picture. Each voter, as he entered the church, had his name registered and a check given him. In passing around the church the voter is given a bullet, or vote, by the representative standing beside the box of each candidate. Negative votes, as well as affirmative, must be cast, that is, if a voter objects to a candidate he must cast a negative bullet. Great care is exercised by the representatives of the candidates that there is no stuffing of the ballot boxes.—New York Tribune.

How They Come Upon Us.

During the green apple season, cramps come upon us like a thief in the night, and remain with us until the nearest physician is called in, or the pain is driven away by a dose or two of Perry Davis' PAIN-KILLER, the celebrated cure for all summer complaints, from simple cramps to the most aggravated forms of cholera morbus or dysentery. No household should be without the Pain Killer, unless there is a drug store next door. Every reputable druggist sell the medicine. Only 25c. New large size.

NEW CURE FOR DIPHTHERIA.

European Hospitals Practicing a Method of Blood Inoculation.

So many thousands of children are annually carried off by diphtheria, the sufferings caused by the disease are so agonizing and the remedies hitherto at the disposal of the medical profession so inadequate that the news of the introduction into the Berlin and London hospitals of a new and efficacious cure for this fell malady cannot be regarded otherwise than as a matter of public interest. Very little has been heard about this remedy until now, says a writer in the New York Tribune, owing to the fact that the distinguished bacteriologists engaged in its discovery have been unwilling to subject themselves to the same disadvantage as Dr. Koch, whose cure for consumption has been unjustly proclaimed a failure, merely because it was published to the world prematurely and before it was ready for medical application. The new cure, briefly speaking, is one of inoculation, with this difference that, instead of injecting the poison into the system of the patient, one injects the blood of an animal which has been inoculated with a weak culture of the diphtheria bacteria—the virus of the latter being, however, of so weak a character that it does not affect the animal with the malady, but merely renders it immune thereto. Repeated experiments made of late have shown that a few drops of blood from a horse or any other animal thus rendered immune injected into a human being suffering from diphtheria are sufficient to arrest and cure the disease. Of course it is too soon as yet to quote the statistics of the few hundreds of cures which have been effected in Berlin and London by this treatment, but whatever the ultimate result of its application, it has at least one advantage over all other forms of inoculation hitherto discovered, namely, that the matter injected into the system of the patient is free from poison and consequently harmless.

Malarial and other atmospheric influences are best counteracted by keeping the blood pure and vigorous with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A little caution in this respect may prevent serious illness at this season. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is best all-the-year-round medicine in existence.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry cures Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Cramps, Colic, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, and all looseness of the bowels. Never travel without it. Price 35c.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Y. P. S. C. E. NOTES.

THE LATE MISS JENNIE MERCER.

The following article, accompanied by an excellent and life like wood cut portrait of Miss Jennie Mercer, appeared in the last number of the Endeavour Herald:—

"On the twenty-fourth of May last Peterborough Endeavourers lost by death one of their foremost workers—Miss Jennie Mercer. She was born in Peterborough and was but twenty-three years of age when taken away. She has been an active worker ever since the organization of St. Andrew's church Y.P.S.C.E. and was one of the principal movers in forming a junior society in the same church. Here she developed talents which at once placed her in the front rank of junior workers, and in this department Peterborough county will greatly miss her.

"Miss Mercer's great executive ability led to her appointment as County Secretary at the formation of the county union, a position held worthily by her for two years, until compelled through ill health to resign. Her last official acts were the securing of Rev. Dr. Clark for the county convention, and the preparation of the annual report. This last was done while battling with disease. At the time of her death, she was secretary of the Junior Union. She was also a faithful and successful Sabbath school teacher.

About four years ago, Miss Mercer united with St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Her Christian life, though short, was well spent. It may be truly said of her that though "dead she yet speaketh," encouraging her co-workers to press on and be more faithful in the Master's service.

MEETING OF THE LOCAL UNION.

The local union of the C. E. had a very successful meeting in St. Paul's S. S. room on Monday evening. The room was crowded with an audience gathered to hear the reports from the county delegates of the Cleveland convention. The president of the Local Union, Mr. A. J. Johnston, occupied the chair. The platform was tastefully decorated with white and yellow flowers—these being the Cleveland colours. The meeting opened by all singing "Praise Him," reading in concert the 23rd Psalm, and prayer by Rev. Mr. Torrance. After singing "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot me," Miss Shearer of Lakefield, reported the first two days of the Convention in a very clear and concise style. It is quite impossible to give this excellent report the space it deserves, her manner was pleasing, her matter well selected.

The chairman introduced a former very active worker in our Union, Miss Kennedy, of Otonabee, who has been in the U. S. for over a year. Miss Kennedy spoke on "Impressions of the Convention from a junior standpoint." She at once made plain her deep interest in the junior work, and gave a beautiful description of that department of the convention.

Mr. Ovens, of Coldsprings, reported Saturday afternoon and Sunday of the convention. He did it hurriedly to save time, but did not overlook the prominent features of these two days. He fittingly and feelingly described the great farewell and consecration meeting on Sunday evening.

The chairman, on behalf of the local union, thanked the delegates for their very able reports.

A collection was then taken up, and a trio sung by Mrs. Jones, Miss Fowler and Mr. W. Squires, after which a verse was sung of "God be with you," the meeting closing by all prouncing the Mizpah benediction.

CURED TO STAY.

Dr. E. A. Rose Disappoints the Doubters—He Once had Diabetes, but has it no More—Attending to his Big Practice.

PORTLAND, Ont., Aug. 20.—The account which appeared in many Canadian papers a few months ago of Dr. E. A. Rose having been cured of diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills, attracted widespread attention at the time. Many doubters, though, protested that the cure was not a permanent one. The best proof that these doubters were wrong is the fact that for a year back Dr. Rose has been attending to his practice which has always been a large one, in this village and the surrounding country, and has never had any return of the disease. His health is first-class and the doctor is not compelled to take any of the precautions as to diet or otherwise that are always ordered for people threatened or troubled with diabetes.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Harvest pretty well saved. Yields and sample continue very good.

The country schools have begun and the town schools preparing for the 27th.

Excursionists to and from Peterborough during last week's celebration enjoyed themselves exceedingly well and said Peterborough assumed quite a city appearance.

No. 41, L. O. L., Emily, say they were composed entirely of their own members and when entering another contest in Peterborough hope to see competing regulations more systematically carried out without amalgamation of "lodges" to increase numbers.

The Presbyterian excursion on Monday, the 27th, promises to be a grand affair, the tickets for the round trip being only 70c. from Best's, 6 miles west of Peterborough, affording a good opportunity for any from Peterborough who wish to visit Bobcaygeon, Lindsay and Fenelon Falls, having one hour at each place.

The funeral of the late H. Best on Friday last was largely attended. Deceased had reached the advanced age of 82, being one of the first residents of the neighborhood in which he lived. He was very highly respected and a devoted member of the Presbyterian church.

Health always brings wealth of beauty. A healthy state of the system comes with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It's a medicine prepared for woman's ailments—it cures those derangements and weaknesses which make woman's life miserable.

A woman who neglects to take proper exercise is particularly prone to excessive congestion, debility and a sluggish circulation. This is the time we advise the "Prescription." In all derangements and displacements of the special organs which result in "signs of inflammation," in catarrhal discharges from the lining membranes, and in distressing irregularities—this medicine is guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money is returned.

THE WAYS OF JACK TAR.

SUPERSTITIONS OF THOSE WHO GO DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS.

They Had Stranger Forms in Early Days Than Are Now Manifested—Stolen Wood Mortised Into the Keel to Make the Vessel Sail Faster.

Lieut. J. D. Jerrold Kelley gives an interesting chapter of "Superstitions of the Sea" in the July number of the Century. After studying them fairly well, he doubts if modern sailors are more superstitious than any other class with equal training and opportunities. I believe that everybody is leavened with superstition, he says, notably the noisiest scoffers, and those mountebanks, the Thirteen Clubs, for these gentry protest too much. It seems to be a human instinct modified by racial inheritances and developments. In the youth of the world its manifestations were the earliest recorded utterances of men concerning the visible phenomena of the universe, and its grip on simple words was an outgrowth of the fear of the unknown. Of all people, sailors must deal at first hand, and helplessly to some degree, with the most unknowable, uncontrollable of material problems, the sea, and it is only natural that their folk-lore should be, in part, land stories fitted with sea meanings, and in part blind explanations of sea phenomena,—both being maintained valorously by the gruesome conservatism of the seaman, even after rational causes come to the rescue.

In earlier days superstition was as much a part of every ship as the water she was to float in; for it entered with the wood scarfed into her keel, and climbed to the flags and garlands waving at her mastheads; it ran riotously at her launching, controlled her name, her crew, and cargoes; it timed her days and hours of sailing, and conveyed her voyages. It summoned apparitions for her ill-fortune, and evoked portents and signs for her prosperity; it made winds blow foul or fair, governed her successful ventures and arrivals, and, when her work was done, promised a port of rest somewhere off the shores of Fiddler's Green, where all good sailors rest eternally, or threatened foul moorings deep in the uncanny locker of Davy Jones of ballad memory.

In many countries stolen wood was mortised into the keel, as it made the ship sail faster at night; though if the first blow struck in fashioning this keel drew fire, the ship was doomed to wreck upon her maiden voyage. Silver (usually a coin) placed in the mainmaststep went for lucky ventures, and misguided indeed was the owner who permitted any of the unlucky timbers to enter into the construction. Something of the ceremonious character given to launchings survives to this day; whereas old ships were decked with flowers and crowns of leaves, flags now flutter; the libation poured on the deck, the purification by the priest, the anointing with egg and sulphur, find their exemplars in the well-aimed and wasted magnums which are shattered on the receding out-water as the craft, released from the ways, slips, well-greased, into the sea; the jar of wine put to his lips by the captain, and then emptied on deck, the cakes and ale set before the crew, the stoup of wine offered to passers-by on the quay, and the refusal of which was an evil omen—all are realized in these sadder lustrums by the builder's feast in the mold-loft.

Lawyers, clergymen and women are ever looked at with disfavor on sailing-ships as sure to bring ill-luck—lawyers, undoubtedly, from the antipathy of sailors to the class, a dislike so pronounced that "sea-lawyer" is a very bitter term of reproach, and "land-shark" is a synonym. Clergymen—priests and parsons—are unlucky, probably because of their black gowns and their principal duty on shipboard—that of consoling the dying and burying the dead, —though possibly because the devil, the great storm-raiser, is their special enemy, and sends tempests to destroy them. Women—who may reason out their unpopularity?—save that a ship is the last place for them, or perhaps because of the dread of witches; for of all spell workers in human form none is so dreaded as the female brewers of hell-broth. Like the priests of the middle ages, they can raise a prime quality of storm by tossing sand or stones in the air, and, like Congreve's Lapland sorceress, are supposed to live by selling contrary winds and wrecked vessels.

Certain families could never get sea employment under their own surnames, not even such members as were born with cauls, for they were tabooed, barred; and many animals—hares, pigs and black cats for example—could neither be carried nor mentioned on shipboard, save under very stringent conditions. Scarborough wives kept a black cat in the house to assure their husbands' lives at sea; but on voyages every black cat carried a gale in her tail, and if she became unusually frolicsome a storm was sure to follow. Years ago, on board the flagship Franklin, up the Mediterranean, we had a yarn that illustrated a survival of this antipathy to certain forms of animal life. Two old quartermasters were heard during the morning watch exchanging in the cockpit dismal experiences of their dreams the night before. One was particularly harrowing, for the narrator wound up with, "And I say, Bill, I was never so afeared in my life; when I woke up it seemed as true as day, and I was all of a tremble like an asp on a leaf."

"What's that?" said the other. "Pipe down; don't mention that reptile; he's a hoodoo on shipboard."

Figureheads were at first images of gods, and later of saints and sea heroes, and were held in high reverence, and the eyes glaring from each bow of a Chinese junk enable the boat to voyage intelligently—for "no have two eyes, how can see? No can see, how can do?" is the shibboleth of their sailors. Ships' bells were blessed, and to-day if a mistake in their striking is made by a stupid messenger boy, they are struck backward to break the spell. In one ship to which I was attached the bell had come down to us from the Ticonderoga, through the Thetis, I think, and was supposed to be under the special control of a blue spirit of mischief. Why the blue spirit should indulge in such vagaries is hidden, but in the middle of deep sea nights, when the mood rode in an auspicious quarter, and the wind blew with the force, and from the direction, necessary for the spell, the blue bell was bound to make a complete circle, and ring out nine bells stridently. Of course, no one ever heard or ought to hear, nine bells at sea, for eight bells are fixed in limit as the decalogue; but this was promised. Whether the conditions failed to co-ordinate, I cannot say, but though the bell was watched by all sorts and conditions of men, the occult ceremony was never performed for our benefit. Is it necessary to add that by report it was a common event in the other ships mentioned?

The proverbial desertion of sinking ships by rats is founded upon reason, and undoubtedly occurs, for as rats like to prowl about dry-footed, and will stick to one place so long as food is plenty, it is probable that the ship they leave is so leaky and unseaworthy that their under-deck work is too wet to suit them.

A Team of Horses Killed.

TORONTO, Aug. 20.—John Ley, a blacksmith, of Ellesmere, a village about twelve miles east of the city, was driving a team of horses to the city on Saturday when he was struck by a Canadian Pacific train shortly after leaving his home. Both horses were killed outright and the waggon was smashed to kindling wood. Ley escaped with some severe scalp wounds and a general shaking up. He was picked up by the train crew and taken to the Union station in the city. From there he was transferred to the General Hospital by ambulance. Ley is about 45 years old. He has been in a dazed condition since the accident, but no serious consequences are feared.

THE MAN IN THE IRON MASK.

The Most Recent "Discovery" of This Mysterious Personage.

There are some historic mysteries that excite increasing interest the more the attempts to solve them are baffled. The last word has not yet been spoken in regard to the authorship of the celebrated letters of Junius. Notwithstanding the concurrence of Macaulay, Sir James Mackintosh, De Quincey and other eminent critics in fixing "Junius" upon Sir Philip Francis, the claim of France has been well nigh abandoned in recent years. Aside from certain facts and dates that go to overthrow the claim of Francis, his identity with "Junius" can be maintained only at the complete sacrifice of his character; and Francis was by no means a bad man.

Another historic riddle which for nearly two hundred years has defeated the guesses of the curious is the Man in the Iron Mask, who was imprisoned for so many years in the Bastile. The Duke of Monmouth; Fouquet, ex-Minister of Louis XIV; and Count Ercole Antonio Matthioli, the Italian traitor and spy; Oldenburg, the poison mixer, and several other personages, have in turn worn the mask of iron in various accounts and traditions. But the latest and apparently a successful attempt to discover the secret has been made by Emile Bargaud and Baziores in a work entitled "Le Masque de Fer, a Revelation of the Cipher Correspondence of Louis XIV." The authors fell upon their discovery in a curious way when editing the correspondence of the famous Marshal Catinat. The Marshal had preserved only his papers relating to the campaign of 1696, but among these were accidentally saved two letters in cipher, dated July 8 and 9, 1691. Baziores found the key to the cipher, and found also, to his great surprise, that it solved the mystery of the Iron Mask.

Louis XIV at the period in question was at war with half of Europe, and Marshal Catinat, in command of the French, confronted Prince Eugene in Northern Italy. After several successes of Catinat, Louis set his heart on the capture of Cuneo, in Savoy, and gave orders for its immediate investment. The siege operations were intrusted to a veteran campaigner, Lieutenant General Vivien Labbe, Seigneur de Bulonde. Instead of taking the fortress, Bulonde was completely routed by Eugene, and retreated with the loss of his artillery and munitions of war. This disaster in the midst of a career of victory deeply incensed Louis, who attributed it to the cowardly conduct of his General. In the cipher letters Louvois, the Minister of War, tells Marshal Catinat that the King is greatly offended at the behavior of Bulonde in abandoning the siege of Cuneo, and orders that he be arrested and conveyed to the neighboring citadel of Pignerol. Minute orders were given at the same time concerning the treatment of the distinguished prisoner. He was to be locked in a cell of the citadel at night, but to be permitted to promenade the walls by day.

Should this be the true solution of the mystery it explains the command of Louis XIV. to provide a prisoner by day with a mask. The correctness of the key to the cipher of the year 1691 is established by the later discovery of a letter (not in cipher) of Louvois to Catinat on the same subject and corresponding with the cipher dispatch. Whether these revelations agree with the subsequent career of Bulonde remains to be determined. The Mask, whoever he may have been, was removed to the Bastile in 1698. The authors describe him from the accounts of contemporary observers as a man of fine presence, with white hair. Although closely guarded, he was treated with great respect, and sat at the table with the governor of the prison. All this better fits Bulonde than little Matthioli, who has been regarded by some investigators as the wearer of the Iron Mask. For the rest, the mask was not of iron, but of black velvet, and was designed merely to prevent his recognition. Voltaire, who first spoke of the Man in the Iron Mask, says he was an eminent personage. Was that personage Count Vivien Labbe Bulonde? The evidence points strongly in his direction.—Philadelphia Record.

An Anecdote of the Empress Eugenie.

M. Schneider has just published a book in Paris giving several anecdotes of the Emperor Napoleon III. Referring to the Empress, M. Schneider relates what he considers to be an original anecdote about her courage and presence of mind. While the Imperial couple were walking near a field one day their dog Nero barked at some cattle. A furious bull immediately charged the dog, which took refuge between the Emperor's legs. On came the bull, but the Empress, throwing herself before her husband, kept the animal at bay with a long bamboo cane until the herdsman came to the rescue. M. Schneider describes the Empress as acting on the occasion with all the dexterity of a Spanish toreador.

Inventor of the Modern Plow.

An exchange with an antiquarian turn of mind declares that Thomas Jefferson invented the modern plow. There were plows, of course, thousands of years before the time of the sage of Monticello, but he first laid down the mathematical principles that underlie the construction of the plow, and so enabled any blacksmith to make one. A plow consists of two wedges, a cutting and a lifting wedge, and Jefferson discovered and enunciated the proportions of each and the relations each bore to the other. Before his day no two smiths made plows alike; now they are all made in accordance with a mathematical formula.—Hardware.

THE NEZ PERCE HORSE.

TWO STORIES THAT ILLUSTRATE HIS INDOMITABLE COURAGE.

How He Detected Robbers and How He Baffled Them Tho' He Died—A Brave Boy, A Noble Horse and His 5,000 Followers.

The hardy little Nez Perce horse, sometimes pied or "calico" in color, sometimes blue and sometimes black as coal, and always beautiful, is quite well known in a way; but few people, I fancy, know what remarkable courage and sagacity he has.

In 1862 and 1863 I was engaged in carrying gold-dust out of the Idaho mountains. One day when descending a steep trail on a densely-wooded mountain side, I found the trail blocked by a tree that seemed to have been suddenly blown down by the wind and a newly-opened trail leading off to the left. My Nez Perce pony stopped, threw back his ears and almost sat down on his haunches as I mercilessly drove my spurs into his flanks. We were often cruel in these hard, swift rides, for time was precious and peril waited on every moment spent between stations. We always dashed on at a hard gallop, the load of gold-dust in the "catenas" hanging down on either side of the saddle-bow, the reins in the right hand and a cocked pistol in the left.

I spurred until the great Spanish spurs were streaming with blood from the pony's flanks, but still he would not budge an inch in the newly-cleared trail. At last gathering up all his strength, he poised in the air and then plunged headlong on down the hill over the fallen tree. In the leap my pistol was shaken from my hand, and while I was drawing another from my "catenas" there came a raid of lead from a company of robbers lying in ambush. But the poor pony kept me in my seat, faced about for a second, as if to give me a chance to defend myself, and then plunged on down the mountain two miles to the ferry. There, on the edge of the river, he fell dead from a bullet-wound that must have meant death from the first, for his nostrils were streaming with blood all the way down the mountain.

When the Indian war swept the Nez Perce country the Indians gathered about 5,000 horses into a valley that fronted on the steep bluffs of the Columbia River; and there, with the great white mountains at their back, prepared to make their last desperate stand. In the battle that followed they were defeated and the small fraction of them that remained unkilled put to flight. The horses, shut in by the steep mountains on one side and the steep river bluffs on the other, had to be left behind.

When the battle had closed the soldiers or the volunteers (for only a part were regulars) made a rush for the horses. But they could not lay hands on one of them or approach them. Their splendid heads, with great manes, tossed and tumbled, were in the air, and they went round and round in a circle in the pretty, pent-in little valley, and along the edge of the sheer bluff of the river.

And now for the first time it was noticed that they were under a boy herder. The boy was unarmed, entirely naked and as red as copper. He rode a black stallion with a neck like a bull's and literally mantled and clothed with mane. The boy had no bridle, but wove his hands into the mane, and thus guided the horse at will, at the head of the herd. Sometimes he laid his face down on the proud neck and buried it in the mass of hair, which matched his own in its glossy blackness. Hundreds of men tried to stop or stay the herd in its wild flight, but tried in vain. The green grass disappeared beneath the strokes of spurning feet and dust began to rise in clouds.

The volunteers dropped on their knees here and there around the edge of the circle and began to fire at the boy. They were deadly marksmen and they had no care to spare either horse or rider. But the boy did not seem to want to be spared any more than did the horse. At last a bullet struck him in the face. His body flew high into the air, then fell and rolled in the dust.

The horses now divided as they came by. Their nostrils were distended at the smell of blood and their eyes ablaze at the sight of their young keeper in the dust. It seemed as if they truly knew and understood all the fearful tragedy of that day and hour. On the second round after the boy fell the black leader seemed to run sidewise, his eyes fastened to his little dead master until they looked frightful from under the black mane. He plunged on around and came to the very edge of the beetling basalt bluff. Then there was the sight as of a sculptured image of a horse poised in mid-air; and a mad, wild cry such as a horse makes but once, a cry indescribable, that filled the valley. Men looked away, and when they looked back the black statue was gone. Then, faithful to the leader, over the bluff into the foaming white river went another horse. And then 10, 20, 50, 500, the whole 5,000! Not one of all the herd was left to the invading victors; and the stream was literally choked with the dead.—Joaquin Miller.

Horse vs. Lion.

Chambers' Journal gives the following to illustrate the difference in the power of the lion and the horse. "If a lion and a strong horse were to pull in opposite directions the horse would pull the lion backwards with comparative ease, but if the lion were hitched behind the horse and facing in the same direction, and were allowed to exert his strength in backing, he could easily pull the horse down upon his haunches or drag him across the ring, so much greater is his strength when exerted from the hind legs than in forward pulling."

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

If you are suffering from La Grippe, Templeton's "Pink Powder" will give you immediate relief. For sale by all druggists.

FROM THE SEAT OF WAR.

Japad's War Loan fully Subscribed—China Arranges for Supplies.

LONDON, Aug 21.—The Yokohama correspondent of the Central News says that Japan's four per-centage war loan has been fully subscribed.

The Central News correspondent in Tien-Tsin denies the report that China will arrange to place a loan in England.

The Central News correspondent in Shanghai learns that China has completed arrangements with an agent in England for large supplies of fire arms and ammunitions.

A Battle Imminent.

A despatch to the Central News from Shanghai says: Chinese gunboats and warships are cruising the Gulf of Pe-Chi-Li, with the object of preventing the Japanese from landing troops in China. The Chinese vessels have hiding places in the numerous bays and arms of the gulf whence they can observe the movements of the enemy without being seen. A number of Japanese war vessels are conveying troopships in the Yellow Sea, but their destination is not known. Li Hung Chang's army, 50,000 strong, and a large force of Japanese troops, are nearing each other and a battle is imminent. The Japanese have agreed to refrain from molesting Chinese merchant vessels carrying articles contraband of war.

Yale Men Return Home.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Mr. W. D. Hickok, the captain of the Yale athletic team, arrived from Southampton per steamer Berlin yesterday. He stated that there was a little hard luck on the American side in their Oxford contest. The weather was distinctly against them. He stated that in the opinion of the English experts the sons of Eli would have made an entirely different showing in fine weather as they were not used to the English fog. Mr. Hickok said that the reception accorded the Yale men was enthusiastic in extreme and the proverbial hospitality of Oxford was in no wise belittled. He was sorry his team did not win.

Rioting in Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—The dedication of the little Polish church on Fremont street by the new American Catholic church, which was attended with great pomp, was also the occasion of rioting and bloodshed. It was during the afternoon that the procession of the followers of Father T. Kolasquewski started from the church to the new cemetery which was to be consecrated. While passing through the precincts of a rival parish a crowd of men and women jeered the people in line, and threw stones at them. A general melee resulted. One man was shot, but his wound is not serious.

Cotton Strike in Massachusetts.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 21.—Yesterday the cotton operatives inaugurated their general strike, and nearly 11,000 are idle. The machinery of but five of the twenty-seven mills in the city is in motion, and it is thought that these mills will soon be shut down with the others. The manufacturers have little or nothing to say; but the notices of a reduction, against which the help rebel, are still posted. Secretary Rose, of the Spinners' union, stated this morning that the members of his union have been lined up for a long and confidently expect that it will be of six months' duration.

The Veto Power of the Lords.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—In the House of Commons yesterday Henry Preyton Cobb asked if before the close of the session the Government would announce its intention in regard to the veto power of the House of Lords. Sir William Harcourt said the gravity of the question would prevent an answer at the present time. Thomas Sexton suggested that a measure be inserted in the next Queen's speech which would prevent the House of Lords from making the House of Commons impotent in regard to Ireland.

THE BRITISH COMMONS

Irish Nationalists Charge the Government With Infidelity.

SEXTON BECOMES EXCITED

He Accuses the Government of Entering Into a Compact With the Tories to Postpone Certain Orders—Sir William Harcourt Denies the Charges.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—The Irish Nationalists in the House of Commons lost their patience early this morning and showed plainly their disgust at the failure of all Irish legislation. Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, had proposed the postponement of taking the report of supply including the vote for the Lords and officials.

Thomas Sexton, anti-Parnellite for North Kerry, had protested heatedly amidst the cheers of the Nationalists and Radicals. The House then went into committee of Ways and Means. Mr. Sexton moved to rise and report progress to the House.

Sir William Harcourt replied: "I hope such a method of hindering the Government business will not be persisted in."

Mr. Sexton excitedly exclaimed that he and his colleagues had had their patience so strained by repeated delays that they could not endure much more. While Parliament temporized or declined to act the sufferings of Ireland increased. The Government had agreed with the Tories in the present case to postpone certain orders. He would not be a party to this agreement; he would press his motion. On division the motion was defeated by a vote of 54 to 31.

James Henry Dalziel, Liberal for Kirkcaldy, moved that the chairman vacate the chair. Sir William Harcourt again protested against such tactics. Mr. Sexton repeated his accusation that the Government was making common cause with the Tories in certain matters. The object of postponement proposed by Sir William, he said, was to give the Tories an opportunity to drum up their party support for the Lords vote.

Mr. Dalziel's motion and two other motions of similar intent were then rejected.

Justin McCarthy, leader of the anti-Parnellites, moved that the chairman vacate the chair. He charged the Government with lack of earnestness in expressing the feeling of the Commons and the nation towards the House of Lords.

John Dillon supported Mr. McCarthy and repeated his charges against the Government.

Sir William Harcourt made a comprehensive disavowal for the Government. No member of the Government, he said, had willingly acted against the sentiment of the House and the electors. He himself felt keen appreciation of the loyal support given by the Irish members. Mr. McCarthy's motion was rejected by a vote of 53 to 32.

Vesey Knox, anti-Parnellite for West Cavan, participated in the debate with a short sharp speech beginning with the assertion that "Fine words butter no parsnips" and ending with the inquiry: "When did the Government conclude their compact with the Tories?"

Sir William denied that there was any compact.

Later the Radicals tried to draw from him a statement of policy as to the House of Lords, but he turned them off with the remark that neither the time nor the place was suitable for the statement requested. The House adjourned at 4 o'clock.

John Sweetman, anti-Parnellite for the East Division of Wicklow, has expressed in a letter to the Freemans Journal the discontent felt by himself and many of his colleagues since the defeat of the evicted tenants bill. His final words are: "It is evident that this parliament can not legislate for Ireland and ought to be dissolved to make way for one that can."

Satanita Beats the Britannia.

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 21.—The Satanita defeated the Britannia yesterday in the race for the Albert cup at the regatta of the Royal Albert Yacht Club. The course was about forty-six miles long. The Albert cup is valued at $500, and last year was won by Satanita after defeating the Navahoe, the Britannia and the Calluna.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 21, 1894.

At St. Louis sheep receipts were 204, on account of light supply the market was dull. The only sale reported was 100 southwest mixed averaging 78 lbs. which sold at $3.15.

At East Liberty, Pa., the sheep supply was liberal, 35 cars on sale; consisting mostly of common and fair grades. Market dull on that kind. Good sheep steady. Lambs 05 cents higher than last week.

The tone of the Chicago wheat market was dictated by New York where the strength was due to higher cables. Wheat opened weak but quickly recovered and advanced 1 a 1 1-2c on the day. Corn advanced on heavy buying orders closing 1 1-8 a 1 1-4c higher. Oats followed the larger markets showing a net gain of 3-8c for the day.

The London stock markets were dull. The absence of a speculative public induced free realizations of the professional bulls. Americans closed virtually at the lowest point. South American stocks were the best market on a further fall of five points in the Argentine gold premium.

Business was well distributed on the N.Y. stock exchange indicating a broadening market. The bull movement continued up to the noon hour in the general list when a slight tendency towards realization in Louisville and Nashville, Burlington, St. Paul and a few other railroads which have had a pronounced advance became manifest. Sugar, Chicago gas and distillers were features. Those who take a broad view of the situation look for a slow steady appreciation in values accompanied by healthy reactions. The news affecting the market was in the main bullish. Railroad earnings show that the turn has come. Sterling exchange continues weak and money is becoming more active. The continued advance in silver is bullish in its effect. The bond market showed pronounced strength and is beginning to attract the attention of idle capital. London was a moderate seller.

JAP TROOPS REPULSED

Chinese Force the Fighting and Drive Them Out of Chungho.

TWO BATTLES WERE FOUGHT

Japan's Loss is Heavy in Both Engagements—Another Big Battle Imminent — Result of the Kow Shing Enquiry is Favorable to Japan.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—A despatch from Shanghai says the report that the Chinese General Yeh was killed in battle with the Japanese is untrue. General Yeh is at the head of the Yashan army, which was not shattered as was reported, but was merely outflanked by the Japanese. The latter have marched to Ping Yang in strong force and a decisive battle at or near that place is imminent.

The Shanghai correspondent of the Times telegraphs: "General Tio, commander of the Feng Tien division, telegraphs that on Friday the Chinese attacked the Japanese at Ping-Yang, and drove them with heavy loss to Chungho, a distance of eleven miles. The Chinese reattacked on Saturday and drove them out of Chungho. The Japanese losses were again heavy. Chungho is now in the hands of the Chinese. It is expected that another great battle will be fought to-day. The Chinese had previously evacuated Asan under Gen. Yeh, who was falsely reported killed, and, obtaining reinforcements from the Coreans, marched east of Seoul in the direction of the Chinese forces converging at Ping-Yang. Nine thousand Japanese marched from Seoul towards Ping-Yang. The telegraph at the latter point remains in the possession of the Chinese. The Chinese fleet is in full possession of the Gulf of Pe-Chi-Li. The Japanese are re-embarking a large number of troops at Fusan. Their destination is unknown.

Result of the Kow Shing Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The Japanese legation has received a telegram stating that it has been reported in Tokio on reliable authority that the finding of the British naval court of inquiry, which was held at Shanghai to investigate the facts of the sinking of the British steamer Kow Shing, when acting as a transport for Chinese troops to Corea, by the Japanese cruiser Nanina Kan, is favorable to Japan. It is also reported that the British admiral has officially stated to his government that he considers the sinking of the Kow Shing under the circumstances as equivalent to the sinking of a Chinese vessel and that he has consequently advised the British government to make no claim.

STABBED BY AN ANARCHIST.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Albert Daudey a militant anarchist stabbed Police Sergeant Babestian in the Rue de la Cite last night. He was overpowered by two policemen and taken to the station after a brief struggle. The sergeant was removed to the hospital where an examination showed that the wound was not a mortal one. He is making fair progress towards recovery.

When confronted by a commissary of the police soon after the stabbing, Daudey boasted that he was an anarchist and said he was sorry that the wound was not a mortal one. Daudey's friends and relatives say they did not know before that he was an anarchist.

A Lake Breaks Loose.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 22.—Lake North, a considerable body of water in North Mississippi, twenty miles south of here, and situated half a mile from the Mississippi, has found a channel to the river, and is now rushing across the country at a furious rate, carrying everything before it. Lake North is situated but a few hundred yards from Horn Lake, and it is expected the latter body of water will follow the example of Lake North. The bed of the Mississippi river a few years ago lay through the present location of these lakes and river men expect this last freak of the waters will cause another change in the course of the river below Memphis. The immense body of water pouring out of the lake has swept away the bridges, fences and crops.

Big Four Depot Destroyed.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 22.—The Big Four freight depot at Third and Wood streets was burned yesterday. The building was two squares long and was valued, with contents and adjoining Wagner sleepers and coaches, at $285,000. A row of frame buildings opposite the depot caught fire several times, but the incipient blaze was extinguished in every case. About twenty of the Wagner sleepers and chair cars were destroyed. Rudolph Brodt, fireman, was injured by a falling wall. The fire is supposed to have started from a freight handler's pipe.

Sioux City's Bid For the Fight.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Aug. 22.—Sioux City's offer for the Jackson-Corbett fight is still somewhat of a mystery to everybody in the city who is not on the inside of the scheme to bring the fight here. The men who appeared on the surface say they are backed by the best people in the town and hint at who some of them are; and when the best people are asked about it they refuse to give any information and deny interest in it.

CAUGHT IN THE STORM

A Yacht Founders During a Race Off St. John Harbor.

ST. JOHNS, N. B., Aug. 22.—This city is in mourning over a shocking yachting accident which happened off the harbor yesterday during the progress of the second race in the series for the corporation cup, and by which eight persons lost their lives.

The five boats entered went out of the harbor with a good stiff breeze, followed by the tug Lillie, with the judges and other officials. The boats had a good run to the buoys, but while in the run home just off Mahogany Island the boats became becalm. The Primrose stood into shore with all sails set, while the Maple Leaf and others were some distance off. The tug Lillie came to anchor. Soon the people on the judges' boat could observe a storm approaching and were surprised to see that the yachts were not preparing to meet it by taking in some of their sails. This was especially the case with the Primrose which was not considered a very safe boat in a storm.

In a few minutes a stiff breeze sprung up and rain commenced to fall. The yachts started. Then a heavy hail storm set in. The Primrose remained for a time. Samuel Button, its owner, gave orders to take in sail, but before this order could be obeyed the yacht went on her beam ends and the next moment plunged bow first, filled with water and sank. Button was last seen at the helm and the last words the survivors heard him utter were "Boys, look out for yourselves." He could not swim very well and it is believed he went down with his boat, although one of the rescued men thinks he saw Hutton in the water trying to swim.

After the storm had abated somewhat it was noticed from the tug Lillie that one of the yachts was not seen and it was surmised an accident had befallen it. The tug immediately steamed around and after going about a quarter of a mile four men were found swimming about in the water close together. They were hailed and thrown life buoys. They cried out "Never mind us; look out after the others."

But the tug people soon realized that it was no use looking after the others They had all succumbed to the high sea that was running and had gone to the bottom. Then the tug returned and picked up the four men, they having been in the water fully half an hour.

The following is a list of the lost:

Sad Drowning Accident.

MEAT COVE, N.S., Aug. 22.—A sad drowning accident occurred on Magdalene Islands by which five men were drowned from three boats. Valentine Petipos and his son, aged 10 years, and Chas. Vigneau, aged 18 years, were drowned from one boat. Simon Cyr, aged 12, and Nelson Cumming, aged 20, were drowned from other two boats. It was calm when they went fishing, but the wind sprang up suddenly, the sea rose quickly, and when they got near the shore the sea was so heavy that they could not retreat nor advance. They tried to land with the above result. About a hundred people on shore were looking on and powerless to give aid.

Drowned in Halifax Harbor.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 22.—Ralph B. Bennett, aged eight, son of Joseph Bennett, the well-known shipping man, was drowned in the harbor last night. He was going away on a steamer and was playing about the dock and must have fallen overboard as shortly after an officer happened to be looking over the side and saw the body floating in the dock.

Drowning at Three Rivers.

THREE RIVERS, Que., Aug. 22.—A young son of Mr. Dorais, mail clerk, was accidentally drowned here last evening by falling between the ferry boat "Glacial" and the wharf.

Made His Escape From the Constable.

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 23.—A young man named Grant, arrested a couple of days ago on a charge of arson, while on his way to the city yesterday from Strathroy in charge of a constable, requested permission to go to the closet at the end of the car. His prolonged absence aroused suspicion and an investigation showed that Grant had jumped from the train. The train was stopped and the constable hurried back along the track. As yet no word has been received as to the outcome.

Quebec Provincial Exhibition.

QUEBEC, Aug. 22.—Ontario farmers will have special favors for their fine cattle at the Quebec provincial exhibition. The parties who have secured spaces for different kinds of exhibits are away up in the thousands. The Government will exhibit the rarest collection of wood ever given in this country. Hon. Mr. Joly de Lotbiniere will have charge of it. Excursions are being organized all over for exhibition week.

THE BRITISH COMMONS

How Preferential Trade is Affected by Foreign Treaties.

VETO POWER OF THE LORDS

Radicals Seek for An Expression of the Government's Attitude on This Question—John Morley Replies in the Absence of Sir William.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—In the House of Commons yesterday Charles E. H. Vincent asked the Government whether the opinion of the law officers of the Crown had been taken upon the question whether preferential trading relations between Great Britain and her colonies were prevented by the terms of the treaties of Great Britain with Germany and Belgium and of the tariff union. Mr. Vincent reminded the Government that the Earl of Jersey, the British representative in the recent Intercolonial conference in Ottawa, had promised that such legal opinion would be taken.

Sydney Buxton, Under Colonial Secretary, said that the opinion of the Crown law officers had been taken and their decision was that the treaties did not prevent preferential treatment by Great Britain in favor of her colonies nor between the colonies themselves. It was held, however, that the treaties did prevent the preferential treatment by the colonies in favor of Great Britain.

James Henry Dalziel, Radical, moved in the evening that the House of Lords appropriation be reduced. He complained that the Government had not stated their attitude towards the proposal to withdraw the power of veto from the Upper House. He was called to order by the Speaker who admonished him that he must adhere to the subject of the appropriation.

After several Radicals had spoken in support of the motion, John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, undertook, in Sir William Harcourt's absence, to reply for the Government. The Ministers were so fully sensible of the gravity and magnitude of the movement against the Lords, he said, that they refused to raise the issue on a trumpery question of officials and salaries. During the recess they would consider the problem carefully.

Thomas Sexton, anti-Parnellite for North Kerry, said that the Government had not risen to the emergency and did not seem disposed to treat earnestly the demands of the people and their representatives for a change in the House of Lords.

Mr. Dalziel's motion was rejected by a vote of 76 to 45.

A Liberal Member Resigns.

James Allanson Picton, M.P. for Leicester, has resigned his seat in the House of Commons on account of ill health. He has sat for Leicester since 1884 and has been a valued member of the Liberal party, and an earnest supporter of home rule for Ireland.

THEY DIED FOR LOVE.

Sensational Double Suicide in Central Park, New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Julius de Marcus, aged 30, of this city, and Juliette Fournier, aged 26, of Brooklyn, committed suicide by agreement in Central Park. Marcus had a bullet wound through the centre of his forehead. He was lying prostrate across the woman, who was shot directly in the centre of the breast. Marcus held a revolver in his hand. Two of the chambers were empty and three were loaded. The blood from the man's head had run down and stained the face and clothes of the woman.

Two newspaper clippings were found on the dead man's person. They were dated April 14, 1894, and related to a proposed attempt of Julius Marcus to travel around the globe. He was to undertake the trip for a wager, starting from New York penniless and returning with $500 in his pocket. Robert Ingersoll's lecture on "Suicide Not a Sin" was found in a pocket.

De Marcus was the son of Samuel De Marcus, a Jewish peddler, who lives with his family at 52 East Broadway. The young man was of a roving disposition.

Father and Son Killed.

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., Aug. 22.—A boiler explosion occurred four miles from here on the Smith farm. Levi Boiler and his son Harry, of Fambel, Mercer County, were both instantly killed and Louis McElvaine, Wurtemberg, is fatally injured.

Missouri Pacific Depot Burned.

PITTSBURG, Kas., Aug. 22.—A heavy electric storm accompanied by a pelting rain visited here yesterday. This is the first rain which has fallen here for several days. The Missouri Pacific depot was struck by lightning and burned.

Grist Mills and Dwellings Burned.

BATH, Aug. 22.—Fire in Hammondsport destroyed Champlin's grist mill, together with five dwellings, four barns and other small buildings. Loss about $12,000; partially insured.

West Middlesex Liberals.

GLENCOE, Ont., Aug. 22.—The Liberal Association of West Middlesex met in convention at Glencoe for the purpose of organization and the nomination of a candidate. The candidates nominated were: W. S. Salvert, Alex. Stuart, A. P. McDougall, George Elliott and others. They all retired in favor of Mr. W. S. Calvert, warden of the county of Middlesex, who was declared the unanimous choice of the convention.

Cross Protest in West York.

TORONTO, Aug. 22.—A cross protest was filed at Osgoode Hall yesterday against W. J. Hill, the defeated Liberal candidate for West York. The petitioner is George Lloyd, a carpenter of Toronto Junction, and his solicitors are Bruce, Fair and Godfrey. Money for dishonest purposes, it is said, was furnished by Mr. Hill and his agents, to lodges and societies. Mr. Lloyd requests that Mr. Hill be disqualified.

A Quebec Village Swept by Fire.

PIERREVILLE, Que., Aug. 22.—A fire destroyed the Tourville Sawmill Company's stables at Pierreville Mills and thirty dwellings. The absence of fire protection forced the people to allow the fire to burn itself out. The total loss is $80,000, of which $15,000 falls on the Tourville Company. The greater part of the village is in ashes.

Daily Examiner.

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 22, 1894.

THE Grand President of the Patrons of Industry in obedience to a resolution adopted by the Grand Association of the order in 1893, has warned the Patrons that a general election is at hand. He bases on the following facts his conclusions that a general election is now approaching and may take place before another session: "The Federal voters' lists are being prepared. The tariff, whether satisfactory or otherwise, has been finally revised. Larger subsidies and grants of money have been made to railways and other corporations than are usual except at times just previous to a general election. Speeches and other campaign literature are being industriously circulated throughout the constituencies. These and other indications point to the fact that a general election may be expected in the near future." He calls on the county associations to hold conventions for the discussion of the situation, the nomination of candidates and the revision of the voters' lists.

THE Toronto Industrial Exhibition Association have put out a lithograph poster elegantly framed, about the intent of which some doubts have been expressed. The Collingwood Bulletin says it is a young girl carrying a lapful of medals and making a disgusting display of her nether limbs which impels the Toronto Star to explain that the picture in question does not represent a female at all, but is the picture of a page dressed in the picturesque and artistic garb of a few centuries back. If Toronto artists can't make clearer the distinction between a page and a ballet girl, they should shut up shop and take, not a leaf, but a whole page from the book of somebody that knows something about costumes.

PART of the U. S. revenue bill just passed is the income tax of 2 per cent. on salaries over $4,000. William Waldorf Astor out of his annual income of $8,900,000, derived from his estate of $120,000,000, will have to hand over $178,000 a year to Uncle Sam. John D. Rockefeller will chip in $152,225 a year, Russel Sage $90,000, the Jay Gould estate $80,000, several of the Vanderbilts sums ranging from $35,000 to $80,000 a year each, John Jacob Astor $50,000 and so on down a long list. Are not these moneys well appropriated for the public use, for the maintenance of the legal and social regulations which alone render great fortunes possible?

THE New York Herald has discovered that at the State dinners given by the Queen it is customary to announce in a loud voice the name of the cook who prepared the various courses. The custom might, remarks the Ottawa Free Press, well be introduced into politics. How pleasing it would have been to have had the authors of each change made by Mr. Foster in the tariff scheme announced by the clerk. "Clerical error—pointed out by Mr. Jones, sugar refiner." "This change cooked by Messrs. Grabb & Co., manufacturers and so on. The public would be enlightened and the right people get the credit due them.

PRESIDENT, the Rev. J. C. Madill, of the P. P. A., says that his association having got after Sir Oliver in the Ontario elections is going for Sir John Thompson now in the Dominion elections. If, says the Ottawa Journal, the reverend president cannot do Sir John more harm than he did Sir Oliver, the Dominion premier can safely stay holidaying in Muskoka for a year to come.

YOUNG'S POINT.

From our own Correspondent.

One day last week a nine representing the campers of Stony Lake came down and played the Young's Point baseball team a game in which our boys got the short end of the score. The visitors outplayed the home team in every point in the field, but at the bat the home boys took very kindly to Mr. Piper's curves and capped out some pretty hits. Young's Point was particularly weak behind the bat and missed the old time back stop worker, "Jimmy" Johnston.

On Thursday a whirlwind passed through our village and picked up a boat, a large skiff, lying beside Mr. J. E. Kearney's boat house and dropped it down on the corner of the float. The boat was considerably damaged by having a hole broken in the bottom.

THE WORK OF REGISTRARS.

Superiority of Ontario Over United States Methods.

The following communication appears in the Globe of Monday:

SIR,—During the late election contest, the Registry Office played a prominent part in some constituencies, and now that the excitement is over I think it would not be out of place to discuss the subject quietly and inquire how the registry service may be improved.

In the first place, the public generally have no knowledge of the work done in the registry office. In Michigan and in other states the registrar is simply a recorder of deeds, etc.; he copies the instruments in books and makes an alphabetical index of names, nothing more. And if one wants to know the title to any particular lot, he must go to a lawyer or to an abstract office. These abstract offices are private institutions (not government offices) and are kept by people who make a business of going to the registry office every day, taking a list of all instruments recorded, and entering them up in abstract indices. These abstract clerks give no bonds and if they make a mistake your only remedy is to sue the clerk for damages if he is worth anything. In Ontario the registrars, besides doing all the work done by the registrars in the States, keep the abstract indices and do all the work done by the abstract offices and are under heavy bonds to secure from loss all persons who have dealings with the office or get abstracts of title.

The making of abstracts and keeping abstract indices is expert work, requiring a knowledge both of law, so far as it relates to real estate, and also of surveying. Sec. 27 of the registry act, defining the duties of Registrars, provides among other duties:—"That the Registrar shall make abstracts of and concerning all instruments or memorials registered, mentioning any lot of land, etc., or any part of a lot, when the same is clearly described and can be identified in connection with the chain of title." This means that if I require an abstract of a small parcel, part of a farm lot not subdivided into sublots by a surveyor (say, for example, the south east part of lot 22 in the 3rd concession of the township of Ancaster, containing one acre, and described as commencing at the southeast angle of the lot, thence west two chains, thence north five chains, thence east two chains, thence south five chains to the place of beginning), the Registrar would be required to examine every instrument recorded on the lot, to see which conveyed or related to the parcel in question. It is not necessary that the parcel, of which an abstract is required, must be described in each or any instrument, for a deed conveying the whole lot or the south half or southeast quarter, etc., of the lot would include the parcel required, and would have to be included in the abstract.

I was shown the other day an abstract of a small parcel of about three acres, one of 20 parcels, into which a 200-acre farm was cut up. The abstract contained about twelve extracts, but to find these twelve the Registrar had to search 234 entries, that being the number of instruments which were indexed against the original farm lot, and great care had to be exercised, both to see that no instrument was omitted that ought to have been shown, and that no instrument was put on that ought not to have been there. No one who has not looked into the matter has any idea of the work and responsibility required in making and keeping the abstract indices, and, in order to give some idea, I quote a few extracts from the inspector's last report:—"I might say in all counties great confusion exists, by reason of improper plans, and dealings with small portions of land by metes and bounds when no plans are filed. The instruments affecting the latter are necessarily entered in the abstract index under the whole or township lot, and I find in a number of cases that many pages of the book are filled with entries dealing with small parcels, not designated nor numbered. This means to the searcher of titles an investigation of every instrument on the whole lot, in order to see those which affect his particular portion in question; and the Registrar, in making out abstracts, is compelled to go through the same process." . . . "This cannot be avoided, so long as land is permitted to be cut up into smaller portions without a plan." . . . "I found the condition of the titles in many localities to be so complicated and obscure as to be wholly unintelligible. Even professional men, skilled in searching titles, would not undertake to give certificates of title to many valuable properties, without restrictions and saving clauses. Indeed, the statement of the Registrar or his deputy had, generally, to be accepted, as he, from his local knowledge and long intimacy with the books and records, was the only person who could possibly understand the way the land had been dealt with." . . . "The descriptions are frequently not exact, and, as the parcels into which the land is divided are described by metes and bounds, which are sometimes very imperfect, it is no wonder that these titles become obscure." (Inspector of Registry Offices' report for 1893.)

Although Registrars in the State are changed every few years, the abstract offices and abstract clerks continue under permanent individuals, and are not affected by politics; and, I, as a landowner, would advocate, and I think that every landowner and Patron should agitate, in order to give the greatest security to our land titles, that the registry offices should be taken out of politics and put on a purely business footing and that any vacancy should be filled either by transferring a Registrar from a small office to the larger one, or by promoting a deputy, who had at least ten years' experience.

CURED TO STAY.

Dr. E. A. Rose Disappoints the Doubters—He Once had Diabetes, but has it no More—Attending to his Big Practice.

PORTLAND, Ont., Aug. 20.—The account which appeared in many Canadian papers a few months ago of Dr. E. A. Rose having been cured of diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills, attracted widespread attention at the time. Many doubters, though, protested that the cure was not a permanent one. The best proof that these doubters were wrong is the fact that for a year back Dr. Rose has been attending to his practice which has always been a large one, in this village and the surrounding country, and has never had any return of the disease. His health is first-class and the doctor is not compelled to take any of the precautions as to diet or otherwise that are always ordered for people threatened or troubled with diabetes.

ALTGELD APPEALS FOR AID.

He Asks Assistance for the Starving Citizens of the Town of Pullman.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—Gov. Altgeld has issued an appeal to the people of this city and the state in behalf of the starving citizens of Pullman. The correspondence between the Governor and George M. Pullman was made public at the same time. In reply to the Governor's first letter Mr. Pullman made a long statement in justification of the position of the company. Gov. Altgeld made a caustic reply refusing to enter into a discussion of the merits of the controversy, and asserting that if Mr. Pullman had seen what the Governor had seen in Pullman he would be convinced that none of the sufferers had drawn money from the bank a few weeks ago as alleged by Mr. Pullman in his letter. He concludes with the statement that as Mr. Pullman had refused to do anything to save his old employes from perishing from hunger, the Governor would be compelled to appeal to the humanity of the people of Illinois to do so.

Want the Revival Stopped.

STUBENVILLE, Ohio, Aug. 22.—A queer state of affairs as the result of a religious revival is reported from Hammondville, this county, where "holiness meetings" have been conducted for some time. The people are worked up to a high pitch of excitement and seven women have left their husbands because they would not join the church. The husband of one of these women waylaid the evangelist and would have thrashed him had not others interfered. One young woman who had become mentally unbalanced persists in singing and praying on the streets until stopped. There is talk of calling a public meeting to have the revival stopped.

A Princely Engagement Denied.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 23.—A relative of George M. Pullman stopping at his residence was the only representative of the family who could be seen regarding the possible matrimonial connection of a member of the family with Prince Isenburg-Birstein. This relative denies emphatically that Miss Florence Pullman is engaged to the prince.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

An Interesting Address.

On Monday evening at the close of the business at the regular meeting of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, Rev. Mr. Symonds, rector of St. Luke's, who has recently returned from the Northwest, gave a very interesting and learned address on "My Impressions of the Northwest." The reverend gentleman in order to give his audience a complete and thorough description of the West used a map of the country. He referred to the climate and scenery and general appearance of the country, his address being listened to with great interest by those present. At the conclusion of Rev. Mr. Symond's scholarly address, refreshments were served by members of the lodge.

The 'Prentice Boys Honour Him.

Last evening, the members of Jubilee Lodge, No. 7, 'Prentice Boys, surprised Mr. John Fulton by presenting him with the following address and a handsome and valuable gold ring, as a token of brotherly good-will on the occasion of his removal to Medford, Wis., for which place he leaves in a few days:—

To Bro. John Fulton:

We, the members of 'Prentice Boys' Lodge No. 7, hearing with the deepest regret that you are about taking your departure from among us, cannot let this opportunity pass without, in some manner, showing the esteem with which you are held among us. You will please accept this ring, not for its intrinsic value, but in the spirit in which it is given, and as you look upon it from day to day, may it bring to your remembrance the many pleasant hours we have spent here together.

Signed on behalf of the lodge,
J. C. STINSON, W. M.
JNO. POLLOCK, Sec.

Mr. Fulton, in reply, made a very neat and happy reply, assuring the members that he should always remember the many pleasant hours he had spent among the members, and hoped at some future time to have the pleasure of meeting them all again.

"Jack's" host of friends in town will join with the 'Prentice Boys in wishing him all success in the wild and wooly West.

A Buyer's Opportunity.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Messrs. Jos. Armstrong & Co., the well known dry goods firm, are announcing a special reduction sale during the next thirty days. It is not the usual thing in the drygoods trade to start in on the fall trade with a reduction in prices, but rather to do a trade at usual rates, while the cream of the autumn buying is done. The object of this sale is to reduce stock previous to admitting a new partner in the person of Mr. W. W. Armstrong, late of Montreal, brother of Mr. Jos. Armstrong. Mr. Armstrong has been in Montreal for the last seven years, carrying on a gents' furnishing business, but having determined to settle in Peterborough, disposed of his interest to his partner in the city, and the opening has been made for him here. This sale with the object in view of making a substantial reduction in quantity of stock, covers all our new autumn goods as well as all staples. The firm is known as a firm that strictly carry out all promises. Thousands of buyers who have bought goods at the firm's counters tell of the value received. Every statement made in the papers as to prices and values has been verified when the buyer has gone to purchase. It is such a reputation for reliability that stands a firm in good stead and makes a reduction sale a positive bonanza for buyers. The store will be closed on Friday afternoon to allow of all goods being marked down, and on Saturday morning the sale will commence. Thirty days has often been time enough to upset kingdoms, and in this case will at the inducements offered, clean the shelves and deplete the counters.

BAILLIEBORO.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Address and Presentation.

On Friday evening last a large company of old and young assembled in the Methodist church here, to bid Mr. Alfred Dawson and wife a formal adieu on the eve of their departure to reside in Peterborough. A well rendered programme and an abundance of refreshments helped to pass a very pleasant hour, but in all the good cheer of the evening there was a vein of sadness. Mr. Dawson has been president of our league and Sunday school superintendent, and foremost in all our church work. In the midst of the programme the following address was read, and Mr. Dawson presented with it a beautiful upholstered rocking chair and teacher's Bible. With difficulty he restrained his feelings but made a very suitable reply thanking them most heartily for their expressions of affection.

Mr. Alfred Dawson:

DEAR FRIEND,—We, the members of Bailieboro church, Sunday school and league, before your departure from among us, take this opportunity to express our gratitude to you for the way in which you have cheerfully laboured among us for the good of our church and Sunday school.

We wish you to know that we highly appreciate your efforts to advance the Master's cause and in so doing help us "upward and onward." Not only by your work in the Sunday school and church, but by the example of a consistent Christian life.

We are sorry that you are to be no longer among us, but know that when you leave this sphere of Christian work it will be to enter another, and that our loss will be a gain to somewhere else, and we hope and pray that the work which you are undertaking may in every way be attended with success and happiness.

As a slight token of our love and esteem, we ask you to accept this chair and Bible and hope that while using them they may recall pleasant memories of the years spent in Bailieboro, and when all partings on this earth are o'er, may we all meet around that heavenly throne.

Signed on behalf of the church and Sunday school.

Mrs. T. G. Hutchinson, Geo. Dawson,
Mrs. T. Skitch, Walker Barnard,
Miss Hattie E. Soden, Bert Maycock.

At the last meeting of the official board of this circuit it was unanimously resolved that the following resolution be passed and published in the Peterborough papers:

"That we tender to Mr. Alfred Dawson, our esteemed recording steward, a vote of thanks for the faithful and efficient manner in which he has discharged his duties, as a member of this Board, and while we deeply regret his departure from among us, and fully realize that, as a board and circuit, we are suffering a great loss, yet we heartily wish him God speed, with the hope that in his new home he may find even larger opportunities for usefulness."

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

FOOTBALL.

Lovers of Rugby football are reminded of the meeting in Mr. R. B. Rogers' office this evening for the purpose of organizing a Rugby football club. All lovers of the game turn out and let the result be the organization of a first-class Rugby team.

SPRINTING.

Mr. N. Sanford, the Belleville sprinter, is in town to-day, and will remain here until Friday, when he will meet L. LeBar on the Driving Park. It is said a large number of Belleville sports will come up for the race.

Mr. M. Bird, town, called on the Whitby sprinter last night and they endeavoured to arrange a race. It is understood that a race could not be arranged between the two sprinters. Mr. Bird is not in good running condition at present, and is in communication with the gentleman who ran the half mile exhibition race at the Driving Park last Labour Day, for a race the latter part of next month.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Mr. Hayden, G. T. agent, is in Toronto to-day on business.

Mr. B. Wallace is relieving Mr. Hayden at the G.T.R.

Mrs. Higgins, charwoman, is giving the G.T.R. office a thorough cleaning to-day.

Mr. Varnes, head foreman, was in Orillia yesterday and reports everything prospering in that progressive town.

Yardmaster Foster is again talking of taking his famous annual fishing tour.

No Rule Against That.

Richard is a rather clever colored boy in the billiard room of a certain noted club in New York. Like many others of his race, he is possessed of a readiness of repartee which some of the club members find not entirely unenviable. A few days since, at the pool table, one of the players, having made an execrable shot, exciting the derision of the spectators, turned to the boy and said:

"Well, Richard, you'll stand by me, anyhow. It wasn't so bad, was it?"

"It was awful, suh," said Richard.

"What?" cried the player. "You crititise too, do you? I shall report you to the House Committee."

"Yes, suh," said Richard; "but 'twon' do no good, suh. De House Committe has rules prohibitin' eve'yt'ing but tellin' de truth. Dat's all I's done."

He was not reported.

A Bushel Box.

A bushel box is coming into use with market men, and by reason of being square, it is very economical in the way of packing. It is made in three styles, one all slatted, another with a slatted bottom and sides with solid ends, and the third with solid ends and close bottom and sides bound with galvanized iron; in fact, it is a galvanized bound box. These boxes are very convenient for handling potatoes, the vegetables being picked up into the boxes in the field and left in them until sold. Of course, other crops can be handled in this way, such as cucumbers, tomatoes and apples. The measure of these boxes is 14¼ 16½x12¼, that being a bushel without piling.

CHEMONG PARK ITEMS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Since my letter, of Saturday, in which I told you I would have some fish stories and true ones, I called around at the hotel, at 10.47 p. m., and found Mr. Ben. Ostrom, of Louisville, Ky., and Mr. Aug. Brian standing on the lower verandah, with a big string of fish, consisting of five maskinonge, weighing from 5¼ lbs. to 18¾ lbs., and nine black bass, all a good size. They say they had immense sport, and those who saw the fish, could very easily verify the story; but the best sport of all was, when one, and which one it was, it is hard to say, after pretty near three-quarters of an hour's hard pulling, as they thought to be a 30 lb. maskinonge, landed an immense turtle.

The camp Quinque, which has been here for three weeks, and which was composed Toronto's favourite boys, and who have been favourites with all the guests at this park, during their stay here, left for home Monday, with the best wishes of all here, as they had done everything to add to the pleasure of all. On two nights, last week, they invited all the guests of the hotel and the park to visit their camp, which was beautifully lighted up with magic lanterns, and on the lake they had a big raft fire. They made themselves thorough favourites by their gentlemanly behaviour and kind attention to all, especially the ladies. The Hotel regrets the following guests leaving for home today:—Mrs. and Miss Jessie Fairweather, Peterborough; Mr. James and family, Syracuse, N. Y., all of whom were special favourites with the guests; but on tonight's register the following fresh auto graphs are to be found: Miss J. Kane, Rochester; T. H. Whiteside and wife, Youngstown, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Craig, New York; Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Osborn, Miss Osborn, Miss B. Osborn, Miss K. Osborn, Rochester; Mrs. M. Silver, Sutton West; W. O. McGregor, North Bay; G. McDonald, North Bay; Jas. Sylvester and wife, Staten Island, N. Y.; J. Brimston and wife, Chas. Porter and daughter, Misses Clara and Mabel Russell, Jas. H. Russell, Toronto; S. Way, M. D., and wife, P. Kleinburg and wife, Miss Kleinburg, Boston.

I find every guest welcomes the EXAMINER and looks as anxiously for it as they would a letter from an old friend.

Mr. Fobert, as well he may be, is in special good spirits, as his well conducted hotel is filled, not a single bed or cot being unoccupied, as well as the cottages being filled and it is doubtful if any hotel in Canada can show as big and profitable a season as "Chemong Park Hotel," the popular resort, can do for the season of 1894.

ENNISMORE.

Reminiscences of the Robinson Emmigration.

The EXAMINER has received the following reminiscences of the emigration conducted by Hon. Peter Robinson in 1825, written by Mr. Patrick Galvin, of Ennismore. The letter is remarkable as being written by a gentleman who will be 94 years of age next January. The writer says:

I will write you these few lines to let you know how Mr. Peter Robinson, brother to Chief Justice Robinson, went to Lord Ennismore, County Cork, Ireland, in the year 1824. He advertised that he would bring 2,000 to Canada in the month of May, of the year 1825, who were to give their names to Lord Ennismore and he would bring them to Canada. They would be used well. He went to Ireland in 1821 to Lord Ennismore and had a long list of 3,000 names, but half of them could not be brought. The emigrants should have good recommends and understand farming. There were nine ships came out with us and in every ship there was a doctor. We were seven weeks and three days at sea. We came to Quebec and from there to Montreal and afterwards to Lachine where we were placed in a shed. Next day came Frenchmen with long boats. They had long poles shoving us against the rapids. We came to Bytown, now Ottawa, and then on to Kingston. We camped on a plain across from Kingston. We remained there six weeks, then we were removed to Cobourg. From there 20 young men were sent on to Peterborough up the Otonabee. I saw but one house in the cross road. Coming to Peterborough there was one cottage and saw mill, scrubby and plenty of black flies and mosquities. Here Mr. Robinson was building boats to bring the emigrants to the Scotch Plains. He sent pilots with some men to show them the land. They were no judges of land. It was getting late in the season. Mr. Robinson numbered the lots and put the piece of paper with the number on it into a hat and what each head of a family drew he was to take. With his lot every head of a family got twelve months' provisions, a cow and five bushels of potatoes, corn, saw, hammer, axe, frying pan and kettle. He scattered us all over, some of us to Otonabee, some to Douro, some to Ashphodel, some to Emily, some to Gore of Emily, and some to north Smith town. He built a shanty for each head of family.

Mr. Galvin then gives, what appears to be a list of the chief public officials successfully. First judge, McCoy; 2nd, Judge Hall; 3rd, Judge Boucher; 4th, Judge Dennistoun; 5th, Judge Weller. First Sheriff, Conger; 2nd, Sheriff Hall. First Registrar, Mr. Rubidge; 2nd, Col. Haulton, 3rd, Mr. Morrow. First Postmaster, Sandford; 2nd postmaster, Mr. Carver; 3rd postmaster, Mr. Rogers.

In conclusion, Mr. Galvin writes:—Excuse my writing. I am getting old and I could not see the ruling. No more a present. Next January, I will be 94 years

Yours truly,
PATRICK GALVIN.

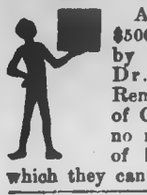
They're Completely Disguised—all of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets—with a sugar-coating which surrounds their concentrated vegetable extracts. You do not get the taste. This means more than comfort. The offensive taste of oils, or of bitter pills is apt to upset digestion. They're tiny, hence easily swallowed. They're easy in action, and after using them you feel well instead of Bilious and Constipated; your Sick Headache, Dizziness, and Indigestion are gone.

Good nature belongs to an active liver; irritability to a morbid liver. Take Pleasant Pellets that you may cultivate good nature, happiness, and health.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.



A SQUARE offer of $500 in gold is made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for any case of Catarrh in the Head, no matter how bad or of how long standing, which they cannot cure.

LITERARY COMMUNISM.

PRESENT DAY SCHEMES FOR BUILDING IDEAL SOCIETIES.

England, Germany, Russia and Now America Has Several Utopian Theorists—They Have Had Distinguished Predecessors, Running Back to Plato.

Travelers from Altruria and "News from Nowhere" reach us periodically now-a-days. The description of ideal communities and the arraignment of the existing social order are favorite themes with the present generation of literary men. Howells, who is something of a veteran, and Hamlin Garland, a more recent literary celebrity, are deeply interested in social problems. In England William Morris is pronounced in his advocacy of socialistic ideas, and the German romance "Freeland," by Theodore Hertzka, aims to convince the reader that communism is the resource of enlightened self-interest.

The modern epidemic of literature on social science is unexampled, but the fancy for describing ideal communities is by no means a modern one. The dream of communism has haunted literature ever since the time of Plato who described an ideal "Republic." Cicero, St. Augustine, Dante, Bacon and Sir Thomas More adopted the same device for expressing their sense of the inadequacy of social methods.

Plato gave definite expression to the communistic idea and he defended his propositions elaborately after his peculiar system of argument; but it is not to be supposed that this prince of idealists ever contemplated the possibility of organizing an actual community on the lines of the "Republic." He was scornful of details and was content to indicate principles. The "Republic" was a "Platonic Idea," and its actual realization was a matter of secondary concern to the Greek philosopher. His main care was that he himself should obey the laws of that city, the pattern of which was "laid up in heaven."

There is a subtle suggestion in "Altruria," the name of the latest ideal country of literature. Plato's attitude may be called "egotistical" in the noblest sense of the word. The aim of life and of philosophy, according to him, was that the soul might "rise out of the sea of change and lay hold of true being." The condition of the external world was antagonistic to this result, but it could not bar the true seeker from the path of wisdom and therefore it need not trouble him overmuch. He need not go in search of martyrdom, nor expose himself inconsiderately to the "madness of the multitude." If he does, he may throw away his life before he has done any good to himself or others. The philosopher, says Plato, "reflects upon all this, and holds his peace, and does his own business. He is content if only he can live his own life and be pure from evil or unrighteousness, and depart in peace and good will, with bright hopes."

Plato's reflection gains point when it is remembered that Socrates drank the cup of hemlock, and that we are much indebted to Plato for our knowledge of him.

There is a change of emphasis, if not of essence, in the creed of the just man since Plato's time. The word altruistic defines, perhaps, as well as any word can, the modern feeling for justice. Carlyle calls it a tragedy that "a man should die ignorant who had capacity for knowledge;" and Emerson records the conviction of the Transcendentalists that "a man is entitled to pure air and the air of good conversation in his bringing up." The altruistic spirit desires that every human being shall have freedom and help to attain the best development which nature will allow him. In the pursuit of justice of this sort, the individual soul will take care of itself.

The main features of the communistic dream have been the same in all the time since Plato. The abolition of property rights, of money, and of the technicalities of the law, and the equality of the sexes are the main ideas around which the lesser ones are grouped. The idea that the burden of physical labor should be divided among all the people finds distinct expression of the "Utopia" of Sir Thomas More. The Utopians worked only six hours a day and sometimes less. The remainder of the time was spent in learning and recreation. They used no money among themselves, believing that it acted as a barrier between the people and the necessaries of life. Emerson tells of a young man who went about during the transcendental movement, preaching from door to door his doctrine, which was that no man should give or take money. The young man made no converts, but Emerson devotes a page to commemorate his efforts.

Sir Thomas More was an eminent lawyer and at one time lord-chancellor of England, but the Utopians had no use for men of his profession. They "utterly excluded and banished" them all, believing that "every man should plead his own matter and tell the same tale before the judge that he would to his man of law." They thought it better that there should be no laws at all than that they should be so intricate that a lifetime would not suffice for the understanding of them.

Within the last century two famous groups of literary men have been bitten with the desire to found communities, the customs of which should accord as nearly as possible with their ideas of justice. Southey, Coleridge, and their associates were unable to put their scheme into execution from lack of funds; but the experiment of Brook Farm is a singular landmark in American literary annals.

Brook Farm consisted of about two hundred acres in West Roxbury, Mass. The experiment was begun in 1842 and lasted for six or seven years. The people who engaged in it were many of them eminent for learning and genius and references to it are numerous in the literature of the time. Nathaniel Hawthorne joined the community early in its career, but he soon tired of his self-imposed labors. In April he wrote: "It is an endless surprise to me how much work there is to be done in the world; but thank God I am able to do my share of it, and my ability increases daily." In August of the same year he wrote: "O, labor is the curse of the world, and nobody can meddle with it, without becoming proportionately brutified." In September he was safe back in Salem, and had concluded that, "The real Me was never an associate of the community; there had been a spectral appearance there, sounding the horn at daybreak, and milking the cows, and hoeing the potatoes, and raking hay, toiling in the sun, and doing me the honor to assume my name. But this specter was not myself.

Among contemporary literary men of communistic ideas, the Titanic figure of Tolstoi is pre-eminent. No one has gone further than he in word and deed from the commonly accepted ideas and usages of the time.

Tolstoi's method is significant because organization does not enter into it. A community acting according to one set of ideas within itself, and, in a collective capacity, dealing with the world outside of itself on worldly principles, would be the last thing which he would tolerate. He aims to order his own life and he finds even that task too heavy for him, according to his own confession.

The ideas which were confined to the philosophers in the old days are now part of the mental furniture of many people. In the continual attempts to reduce the discrepancy between ideals and practice all sorts of methods and madness combine to produce commotion. No one can predict exact results, but there is a guiding quality in the reflection that evolution is the law and revolution the incident.—Clara Campbell, in Detroit Free Press.

There's Wisdom Here.

It is often actually true that the dairyman can better afford to pay the top price for a prime milker than to take an ordinary cow for nothing. Reckon it up for yourself where the average difference in daily yield would be, say, five quarts, reckoning for the productive life of the cows.

NOTES FOR THE SUPERSTITIOUS.

In many places it is believed that the person who hears the whippoorwill in the daytime will die before the end of the year.

Many persons will not allow the rocking of an empty chair, because they say it is a forerunner of death in the family.

An old way of interrogating fate in love affairs is to slice an apple in two with a sharp knife. If this can be done without cutting a seed the wish of the heart will be fulfilled.

Among the uneducated whites in Alabama there is a popular superstition that if a colored person kisses a baby twice on the month the teething period will be easy to the child.

In Michigan a double cedar knot is carried in the pocket to cure rheumatism, and in New Hampshire men carry a gall from the stems of the golden rod for the same disease.

The Scandinavian races think that spirits can be driven away and witches kept at bay by a knife stuck in the house or nails driven up. These races have held from time immemorial the idea that it was lucky to find a piece of iron.

TALKS ABOUT AUTHORS.

Walter Besant, the English novelist, was intended by his parents for a career in the church, but he drifted naturally into literary work.

William Black, the novelist, does his literary work in a room at the top of his house above the noise of the street and away from all unnecessary interruptions.

Rose Terry Cooke, with all her power and reputation as a writer, was not able, it is said, to make much more than mere pin money out of her literary labors.

Dr. Edward Eggleston, the novelist, has just been appointed an associate professor at Cambridge college and will begin next fall a series of lectures upon colonial life and literature.

Mrs. Cruger's pen name of "Julien Gordon" finds a contrast in Mrs. Craige's "John Oliver Hobbes." Still there are no hobnails in the style of either of these gifted Americans.

SUMMER BREEZES.

"I'm going to write a book on 'How to live on nothing a year.'" "It can't be done." "It can. I have a recipe." "What is it?" "Marry a rich girl."—Dramatic Life.

"Buy why don't you send for Dr. Masher, Aunt Jane? He's the cleverest doctor in the whole country!" "Oh, no, dear, I couldn't. He dresses so irreligiously."—London Punch.

So It Was.—"This is a crazy sort of a safe," said one of the burglars, after they had blown it open. "Yes," replied the other, "I'll admit it's a little cracked."—Detroit Free Press.

Cholly (recounting his experience)—"Weally, that girl is awfully clevah, y' know. Why—aw—before I could—aw—get my mind made up to propose, y' know, she had aw—alweady declined me."—N. Y. Herald.

IN ROYAL CIRCLES.

Queen Victoria has mastered the Hindustanee language, in learning which she has shown a great deal of interest and spent considerable time.

The queen of Greece is president of a sisterhood devoted to the reformation of criminals, and visits personally the condemned prisoners in Athenian prisons.

The Austrian emperor, in order to acknowle a singular display of loyalty, accepted the sum of five florins, equal to about two dollars, which had been bequeathed to his majesty by a poor peasant recently deceased in the Austrian province of Carniola.

SAID BY THE SCIENTISTS.

A German scientist holds that all diamonds come from meteors.

A German biologist says that the two sides of the face are never alike.

A Roman scientist, Dr. Fornesari, has demonstrated that tobacco smoke kills nearly all kinds of germs.

A German geologist estimates that the Dead sea will be one mass of solid salt within less than five hundred years.

In speaking of the solidification of a body by cooling, Prof. Dewar says that water can be made to become solid by the evaporation of a quarter of its weight.

Few are aware that the human body falls asleep by degrees. A French physiologist conceives that the sense of sight sleeps first, then the sense of taste, next the sense of smell, next that of hearing and lastly that of touch.

BITS OF INFORMATION.

The flesh of the upper portion of a beaver's body is said to taste like beef; that of the lower portions is said to resemble fish.

The smaller the seeds of plants the more numerous they are. A single plant of spleen wort will produce over 1,000,000 seeds.

Nature Has Provided

A remedy for every ache and pain, and science through ceaseless activity and experiment is constantly wresting the secrets of her domain. A new and wonderful discovery has recently been made by means of which tens of thousands will be freed from pain. Nerviline, or nerve pain cure, represents in very concentrated form the most potent pain relieving substitutes known to medical science, and strange to say, it is composed of substances solely vegetable in origin. Polson's Nerviline is the most prompt, certain, and pleasant pain remedy in the world. Try Nerviline for toothache, neuralgia, cramps, &c., always safe and efficient.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—sloughs and ulcers form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are especially afflicted from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation, characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

THE EVERLASTING WOMEN.

They Are and Do Everything and the World Couldn't Do Without Them.

Lady Marie Forester, who recently died in England, selected Florence Nightingale for hospital work in the Crimea.

Mrs. Humphry Ward is said to have made $80,000 from "David Grieve," $20,000 from "Marcella," and $40,000 from "Robert Elsmere."

The Princess of Wales has sent a birthday gift in the form of a shilling for every past birthday to Mrs. Sarah Thompson, aged 106 years, the oldest woman in Wales.

Mrs. Balch of Bar Harbor, Me., is 83 years old, but the other day she climbed Beach Hill, 700 feet above the surface of the lake, and wasn't even tired out by her exertion.

Mrs. Gray of Bowerswell, Perthshire, Scotland, the mother of Lady Millais, has just died at the age of 84 years. It was from Mrs. Gray's garden that Sir John Millais painted "The Vale of Rest."

Mrs. Henry Irving is an Irishwoman, as her maiden name, O'Callahan, effectually proves. She lives very quietly in London with her two sons on the $5,000 a year which her distinguished actor-husband allows her.

The Empress of Austria will erect a monument in memory of her unhappy son, the late Prince Rudolph, in the grounds of the Achilleion, her villa in Corfu. The work has been intrusted to a sculptor of Lugano, and will be begun at once.

Mrs. William Waldorf Astor wore at a recent drawing-room the historic diamond coronet comb, of which she has lately become possessed. It is the one that Louis XIV. gave to Mme. de Montespan, and Mrs. Astor, it is said, paid $100,000 for it.

At a recent smart ball in London the bride, Mrs. Margot Tennant Asquith, wore a gown of white satin, with lilies of pale pink roses on the seams of the skirt, cleverly arranged, graduating from big flowers near her feet to tiniest buds at the waist. The bodice worn with this was an idealized "bow bodice," the entire front a large spreading bow of chiffon.

Joan of Arc was a woman as well as a warrior. A new side to her character is brought out by M. Bateau in the Novelle Revue. "She took pleasure," says he, "in beautiful stuffs and rare silks, and when she was taken prisoner at Compiegne she wore over her red armor a large mantle of cloth of gold. The grandest coquetry, however, was seen in her standard.

The number of French women who have been honored by statues is increasing. Joan of Arc had almost a monopoly of this distinction formerly, but this is changing. A statue to Mme. de Sevigne is being raised at Vitres, and Valenciennes will erect one to Mlle. Duchenois. Apropos of these two statues a French writer observes: "Women being, even in marble, so much more decorative than ourselves, one can only rejoice over the advent of feminine statues."

NEW RULES OF THE ROAD.

What Pedestrians May Expect If the Cycling Craze Continues.

We are informed that a general meeting of all the French cycling clubs is to be held shortly for the purpose of drawing up a code of rules for foot passengers, which is afterward to be submitted for approval to the public authorities. We have been permitted to examine the first draft of this remarkable scheme, which is worded as follows:

"Whereas, The number of cyclists is on the increase, and as a natural consequence the number of pedestrians is constantly diminishing;

"Whereas, The cyclists will shortly be in the majority; and

"Whereas, That minority ought to submit, it is hereby enacted that:

"Article 1.—Every pedestrian is to be supplied with a bell and a signal horn, which he shall sound on crossing a street whenever he spies a cycle on the horizon.

"Article 3.—Any foot passenger who, by his awkwarkness and want of attention, shall occasion the fall of a cyclist by stupidly allowing himself to be run over, shall be liable to a fine of 50 to 100 francs; after a repetition of the offense he shall be transported to a mountainous region.

"Article 4.—France shall be entirely leveled in order to save cyclists the annoyance of hill climbing.

"Article 5.—The horse races at Longchamps to be abolished and the site transformed into a summer cycling course."—Paris Figaro.

Origin of "Strike."

An early use of the word "strike" occurs in the London Chronicle for 1765. In the September of that year are numerous references to a great suspension of labor in the northern coalfield, and the colliers are stated to have "struck out" for a higher bounty before entering into their usual yearly "bond." In confirmation of Mr. Leaton-Blenkinsopp's statement at the last reference, it may be added that the strike is twice called a "stick." (London Chronicle, October 8, 10).

One of Harriet Martineau's earliest pamphlets was a tract entitled "The Tendency of Strikes and Sticks to Produce Low Wages," published at Durham in 1834. The time-honored illustration of profitless labor, "carrying coals to Newcastle," probably received its first slap in the face during the strike of 1765. A paragraph dated Newcastle, September 28, in the London Chronicle, says: "'Tis very remarkable that on Wednesday several pokes of coals were brought from Durham to this town by one of the commoncarriers, and sold on the sandhill for 9d a poke, by which he cleared 6d a poke."

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

If you are suffering from La Grippe, Templeton's "Pink Powder" will give you immediate relief. For sale by all druggists.

ROYAL ARCH MASONS.

Officers Elected for the Grand Chapter of Michigan State and Ontario.

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 22.—The thirteenth annual session of the Grand Chapter of the Royal Arch Masons for the State of Michigan and the Province of Ontario, met in the tabernacle of Eureka Chapter No. 2, here, yesterday.

Cooper, Chatham, M. 3rd Veil; J. H. Cole, Detroit, M. 2nd Veil; T. Jones, Jackson, Mich., M. 1st Veil.

After the election of officers was concluded an address was delivered by Companion T. W. Walker of Cleveland, Ohio, replete with instruction for the benefit of the craft, and congratulating the officers of last year upon the able and efficient manner in which they had conducted the business of the past session. The Grand Commandery of the Knights Templar for the State of Michigan and Province of Ontario convened last evening in the same place.

Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias.

WINDSOR, Aug. 22.—The Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Ontario met yesterday in the Collegiate Institute in this city. Two past grand chancellors, A. J. Rattray, of Toronto, and J. Chapman, of Hamilton, were present as delegates. There were also about 60 delegates, representing lodges from Smith's Falls in the east to Fort William in the west. Col. Beattie, Mayor of Windsor, on behalf of the city, gave the grand lodge a hearty welcome, which was acknowledged by Grand Chancellor Rispin. The morning session was occupied in conferring grand lodge rank of past chancellor on nineteen delegates, following which the grand officer reports were presented and referred to the various standing committees. Notwithstanding the dull times the membership in Ontario has increased and the grand lodge balance of cash on hand has increased about $900. The balance of the day was taken up with consideration of reports.

TWO MEN BURNED TO DEATH.

Shocking Fatality at a Threshing in Plympton Township.

FOREST, Ont., Aug. 22.—One of the most horrible tragedies in the history of Lambton took place yesterday on the farm of Wm. Wayward, in Plympton township, eight miles from Forest.

Threshing was in progress and shortly after starting, the cylinder shaft broke and caused a friction which set fire to the straw. In an instant the interior of the barn was a mass of flames. In the mow above three men were at work, Neil McPhedran, Stephen Searle and Wm. Greer, and their escape was cut off by the roaring flames which filled the manhole to the mow.

McPhedran jumped through the fire and escaped alive, having his hair, whiskers and shirt burned off but neither Searle nor Greer were ever alive seen again.

In a short time the barn was a smouldering ruin and soon after the charred trunks of the victims were dug out of the still blazing remnants. Heads, arms and legs were completely burned off and the only means of identification was Greer's brace buckle.

Searle leaves a wife and seven children and Greer a wife and three children. Both were highly respectable farmers. The double funeral takes place to-day.

Hayward's loss on barn and contents is over $1,000 on which there is $300 insurance.

The sad affair has cast a gloom over the entire neighborhood.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Executive Clemency Sought for a British Columbia Murderer.

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—Hugh Lynn was convicted by a British Columbia jury last spring of the wilful murder of John Green at Savory Island. The judge sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on August 24, although the jury put in a recommendation to mercy, and Lynn's counsel brought the case to the notice of the Minister of Justice asking for executive clemency. The case is a peculiar one, and savors of the wild and woolly west. In October, 1893, Lynn, accompanied by a squaw or "Klootchman," visited the man Green on Savory Island and another man was present. The crowd freely imbibed firewater until, as the prisoner said in his evidence, they were "pretty well pinned up." An altercation as to some cooking then arose and Green took a gun and killed the other man. Lynn claims that he then got scared for his own safety, and took the gun away from Green, who, however, secured another, so that he (Lynn) shot him, lest he should be shot himself. He then decamped with $110 and some valuables belonging to the dead man and was not found until the following May, when he was arrested away up in Juan county. On May 11 the case was considered here in council and forwarded to His Excellency in the east, whose decision is awaited by telegraph, as the sentence, unless interfered with, goes into effect on Friday.

Sir John Thompson, accompanied by his private secretary, Mr. Douglas Stewart, arrived in the city yesterday. The Premier intends returning to Muskoka as soon as he gets through with certain business that is before the Council. Sir John looks exceedingly well and says he is very much enjoying his holidays in the Muskoka region. He was busy in his office all the forenoon receiving interviewers and disposing of correspondence between times. Along with the Premier from the west came Controller Clarke Wallace.

The meeting of the Council for which the Ministers were summoned to the city took place yesterday. There were present: Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. John Costigan, Hon. John Haggart, Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Hon. J. C. Patterson, Hon. A. R. Angers and Sir John Carl A. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper is expected to-day from Washington. Hon. George Foster is in the Maritime Provinces and Hon. T. M. Daly is in Manitoba. Sir A. Caron and Hon. W. B. Ives are in the Old Country. Sir Frank Smith is in Toronto. This is the whole Cabinet. There are all kinds of rumors as to what the meeting of the Cabinet has been called for. As a matter of fact business of a general character has been accumulating for some time past. But besides this there is every reason to believe that before the end of the week there will be announcements of some political importance as a result of the meetings which will be held between now and then.

The Labor Day parade, which takes place on September 3, will be the largest and best ever seen in Ottawa. It is expected that 3,500 people will be in the parade. The Hull division will itself be 1,000 strong. Several new and interesting features will be introduced this year. The Minister of Agriculture has given instructions to the manager of the Central Experimental farm to prepare an elaborate car decorated with the products of the farm, to join the labor parade as on former occasions. The employes of the farm will be given a holiday on that day. It is understood that the Perth band will be in the parade, together with all the bands of this city and Hull. The Governor-General will review the parade from Parliament Hill as it passes along Wellington street.

A Child's Miraculous Escape.

LONDON, Ont. Aug. 22.—A little child belonging to Arthur Linders, Tecumseh Park, London West, was struck and run over by a trolley car but strange to say escaped serious injury. The motorman was watching a bicyclist who was running dangerously near the car at the time, and did not observe the child.

Arrested for Kissing.

PORT HURON, Mich., Aug. 22.—Clarence O. Trusler, aged 27, of Toronto, was arrested here on the charge of kissing the wife of a Butler street merchant.

Barn and Contents Burned.

PRESQUE ISLE, Ont., Aug. 22.—While McDonald brothers were threshing at Marshall Beckett's, near Kemble, the barn took fire and burned barn and contents, including a separator and three horses. The loss will be heavy as it was a large barn and all the crop of the farm was lost.

Drowned in a Tub.

STIRLING, Ont., Aug. 22.—Yesterday the youngest child of John Shaw, of this place, aged two years, while playing met with its death by falling into a tub of water.

Cholera Raging in Galicia.

VIENNA, Aug. 22.—About 200 fresh cases of cholera are reported daily in Galicia. The mortality exceeds 50 per cent.

Grand Trunk returns of traffic for week ending August 18, show a total decrease of $25,225, under the same week last year.

New York stocks were again strong yesterday. Sugar was somewhat erratic and nervous but on a whole the bulls seemed to have things their own way.

At the Belleville cheese board 28 factories offered 1,245 boxes white and 310 colored. Total, 1,555 boxes. Sales, J. T. Warrington, 195 white at 10c.

At East Liberty, Pa., the sheep supply was heavy; nothing doing on sheep; lambs slow. Extra, $5.00 to $5.20; good, $3.90 to $4.60; fair, $1.50 to $1.90; common, 50 cents to $1; yearlings, $1.25 to $3.25; lambs, $3.00 to $3.50.

Wheat was irregular in Chicago, closing at a gain of 1-4c to 1c. Corn was firm and closed 1-2c to 1c higher on the day's tradings. Oats were strong on heavy withdrawals from store, showing a net gain for the day of 1-4c to 3-4c.

A further rise in silver and the rupee was the only feature of the London market. Americans and other speculative securities were lower on continued realizations. Canadian Grand Trunks were better, because the traffic reports were better than expected.

Mr. Wm. Madill, druggist says: I have particularly noticed the effects of Phenyo-Caffain in cases of nervous headache and find results from the use of the pills highly satisfactory.

The Spinners Strike.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Aug. 22.—Everything is quiet as the mills here and week is wholly suspended. It is generally conceded that the yarn mills will resume work in a day or so, but there is a difference of opinion as to whether these concessions will extend to the cloth mills. Many will anticipate a long fight.

Explosion of a Threshing Engine.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 22.—A threshing engine on Hiram Berksmith's farm, three miles south of Byron, Ill., exploded yesterday. Hiram Berksmith was blown to pieces, and Roose, a boy named Ehmen and three farm hands were fatally injured. Three others were badly wounded.

Rolling Mills Start Up.

LEBANON, Pa., Aug. 22.—The East Lebanon Rolling Mills has started up, double turn, with orders sufficent to keep the works running for some time. Nearly all the industries in this city are running full time and the prospects are decidedly bright.

The Trouble in Brazil.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—A Valparaiso special says: Word comes from Rio Janeiro that President-elect Morais is greatly incensed against President Peixoto, and the latter's friends are urging him to assume the dictatorship. The Rio Grande Rebel Committee, which has headquarters at Montevideo, denies the report that Gen. Saraiva is dead.

A Negro Killed by a Constable.

CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 22.—B. H. Day, a constable at Lansdownborough, yesterday shot and killed a colored man named Edward Saxon, whom he was endeavoring to arrest. The negro pulled a razor and slashed the constable in the face, neck and stomach, injuring him severely. The officer in self-defence drew his revolver and shot the man through the heart.

Alexander of Servia to Abdicate.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The Daily Chronicle's Vienna correspondent says that King Alexander of Servia is about to abdicate the throne in favor of his father Milan. The Radicals, he says, advocate the change and the Ministers oppose it.

Balfour's Appeal Rejected.

BUENOS AYRES, Aug 23.—Jabez Spencer Balfour's appeal against extradition has been rejected by the higher court.

Building and Loan Societies.

In the early history of building societies they were organized and almost wholly managed by mechanics and laboring men; managed honestly, conservatively and successfully, and to this "class" belongs the honor of originating, conducting and carrying to a point of magnitude and usefulness a scheme that commands the admiration of financiers the world over. The honest, thrifty homeseeker has proved himself to be the best citizen as far as managing a building society is concerned. When failures have occurred in building societies one of the main causes has been the introduction into the management of financial ideas emanating from the brains of theoretical bankers. Nearly all, if not every error introduced into the scheme, are scholarly errors, always accepted under protest by the mechanic or small storekeeper.—Philadelphia Press.

POLITICS IN QUEBEC

DISAGREED WITH COLLEAGUES

Rumors That He Will be Elevated to the Bench—The Star Accuses the Government of Pursuing a Policy of Partiality to Quebec.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—Hon. John S. Hall has resigned his portfolio, and his resignation has been accepted by the Premier. Mr. Hall went to Quebec last night and the official announcement of his resignation will probably be made to-day. The provincial treasurership has been offered to Mr. Wm. White of Sherbrooke. The resignation is the final outcome of strained relations that have existed between Mr. Hall and his colleagues for a long time.

The Star has the following on the retirement of Mr. Hall:

"Contrary to the rumors that have been freely circulated upon the subject, Mr. Hall has not been elevated to the bench and there is no immediate prospect of this happening. People who ought to know say that it would have been more to Mr. Hall's credit and more to the interests of his constituents had he resigned long ago. Had he thrown up his portfolio when an unfair scheme of taxation was forced upon him by his colleagues he might have gone out of the Ministry with flying colors. The provincial finances are now said to be in a wretched condition. The deficit this year will be considerably larger than last year, and the Treasurer who has to arrange for the consolidation of the provincial debt in 1895 will have his hands full (not of money, though) in the meanwhile.

"While it is not pretended that the present administration has been guilty of anything like the prodigality of the Mercier regime, they seem to be growing reckless in the matter of expenditure and indifferent as to the means of raising the revenue, providing only that it comes from Montreal. The city of Quebec owes the Government over $200,000, and legal proceedings were initiated to recover the amount, but for some mysterious reason they appear to have been abandoned. There is an unmistakable tendency to discriminate in favor of Quebec and against Montreal, not only in the raising of revenue but in the expenditure, and this is attributed to the preponderance of Quebec influence in the Cabinet. At present Montreal, which has the privilege of contributing most of the taxation, is only represented in the Cabinet by Mr. Nantel and Mr. Beaubien.

"The French Canadian influence in favor of Mr. White's appointment to the treasurership is said to have been secured by friends of Mr. Panneton, of Sherbrooke, who are trying to secure the next judgeship for him. The retirement of Judge Brooke, who has had a long leave absence through sickness, is looked for at an early date. In the ordinary course of things Mr. White would get the judgeship. But having got Mr. White out of the way by appointing him caretaker of the province's empty box, it is proposed to get Sir John Thompson to extend Judge Brooke's leave of absence and appoint Mr. Panneton assistant judge. It is well known that Sir John is averse to repeated extensions of leave of absence and Mr. Panneton's succession to the judgeship would not be long deferred. About this time it is thought Mr. White would be about ready to return to his practice in Sherbrooke. It is declared by politicians, generally good authority on wire-pulling schemes, that the transfer of the treasurership to Mr. White is part of a nefarious scheme to steal from the province an immense amount of money for the Drummond county railway. Mr. White has certainly been placed in the position by a clique of unscrupulous politicians in Montreal and Sherbrooke. Mr. White's well known respectability is to be drawn upon to off-set public reprobation of the schemers of the Government party."

Angers to Get a Judgeship.

Hon. A. R. Angers, ex-governor of Quebec, is reported on good authority to have been named a judge of the Supreme court in place of Justice Fournier, who will resign shortly.

PAUL WERNBERG RETURNS.

The Young Watchmaker With a Romance Brought to Canada for Trial.

TORONTO, Aug. 23.—Paul Wernberg, who is accused of having stolen two watches, besides other jewellery, from Rosie Stern, with whom he boarded in this city, has been brought back from New York.

Wernberg is a watchmaker and he got the watches to repair but failed to return them. He says that a girl, whom he refused to marry, is at the bottom of the plot to get him brought back to Canada, where she hopes to get him to marry her.

American Seining Schooner Seized.

ARICHAT, N.S., Aug. 23.—The American seining schooner Charlotte, of Cohassett, was seized here yesterday by Collector Bourinot, of Hawkesbury, for fishing within the three mile limit. The violation took place at the Magdalene Islands. She has been out over two months and has only succeeded in taking six barrels of mackeral. They have had instructions from Ottawa to strip the vessel and secure her.

LIQUOR, NOT PULLMAN

PULLMAN'S SIDE OF THE CASE

Evidence for Pullman and the Railroads Heard Before the Strike Commissioners—A Witness Testifies to the Sobriety of the Employes.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—At yesterday's session of the National Labor Commission Chairman Wright announced that the majority of witnesses had been heard and that the railroads and the Pullman Co. would now be allowed to present their side of the case.

The first witness was Frank T. Glover, a Chicago real estate agent. Mr. Glover deals in property in Kensington. He said from an outside inspection of the Pullman houses they were much more inviting than the ones rented by him at Kensington for $12 a month.

Paul Hermes, an ex-employe of the Pullman Company, now a news agent there, said that he thought his residence of nine rooms in Pullman was cheap at $35 a month. He thought that if the Pullman employes had left whiskey and beer alone they would not have had nearly so much distress.

L. H. Johnson testified as to the comparative value of property in Pullman, Kensington and Roseland. The Pullman employes were temperate for the most part, and of economical habits. He testified that rents had remained stationary in the suburbs of Pullman and that a house which rented for $17 in Pullman would cost $12 outside.

William F. McKay, a reporter, testified he had been present at many labor meetings and had never heard the strike leaders counsel violence.

Benjamin Atwell, another reporter, followed. He had seen no real violence done by railroad employes. He had heard, he said, strikers counsel their companions during the trouble at B.. Island not to commit overt acts.

Axel Lunggruens, Pullman employe, thought he had been fairly treated by the Pullman Company. Employes, he said, were not afforded an opportunity to tell their grievances; that was the main difficulty. He returned to work at Pullman after the strike and was obliged to sign an agreement to have nothing further to do with the American Railway Union in order to get his position back. He testified that after he went back to work at Pullman a man told his mother that if the strikers ever caught him out after dark they would kill him.

John Fitzgerald, assistant fire marshal of Chicago, read a list of cars, towers and other railroad property burned, showing great loss to the railroads. The oldest person he ever saw setting fire to cars was 19 years of age. All the rest were mere boys. He had seen no railroad employes doing incendiary work. Once railroad man helped him to extinguish a blaze.

John McLean, of Pullman, told the attitude of the company towards the men injured while at work. His duty was to care for all such men until they recovered. He did not think a hospital necessary at Pullman. He said the company paid the expenses at a hospital down town of all men hurt while in its employ.

Dr. McLean asserted that the trouble at Pullman was in a measure due to the use of liquor by the employes. In 4,000 cases of injury the witness had never seen the company refuse to pay all the expenses connected therewith, besides drug store bills amounting to $1,700 annually.

The commission will hear Superintendent of Police Brennan to-day.

Altgeld's Scheme of Relief.

Governor Altgeld and Mayor Hopkins have decided on a plan of relief for the starving Pullman strikers. The scheme is to secure the aid of the railroads by their furnishing free transportation to all those who desire to seek work in other parts of the country.

Hon. Mr. Laurier at Brampton.

BRAMPTON, Aug. 23.—Hon. Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues arrived here yesterday and were received by a large crowd. At one o'clock a procession formed, headed by the Brampton band, and proceeded to the depot to meet the distinguished gentleman. Promptly on time the train drew into the depot amid the cheering of the enthusiastic Liberals present. A short address was presented to Mr. Laurier and introductions to a few of the leading Liberals made, when the procession formed and marched through the town to the grounds, where the speeches of the day were made.

The Annandale-Arnott Affair.

QUEBEC, Aug. 23.—Mr. Annandale, who has a claim against the American government for illegal extradition in the Arnott affair, as related on Tuesday, is going to Montreal by instructions received by the American counsel. He is going to see the Consul-General in Montreal, from thence he will proceed to New York and Baltimore, when he will enter his case against the American government.

Norman Murray Fined.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—Sentence was rendered yesterday in the case of Norman Murray, charged with disturbing a religious procession and of creating a disturbance on the street. This was the well-known St. Jean Baptiste case. Mr. Murray was acquitted of the charge of disturbing the procession, but was fined $5 for creating a disturbance, with the alternative of spending a month in jail.

Lost Children Found.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 23.—The three children of Dr. Weeks, Roseblanche, Newfoundland, who were carried off in an open boat by an adverse wind were brought into the harbor at North Sydney yesterday, it having picked the youngsters up on the open sea. They were all well and none the worse for their adventure. The boat in which they were was a small one.

CANADA AND THE CABLE

The London Times Comments on the Proposed Intercolonial Schemes.

JERSEY TO REPORT FAVORABLY

It is Expected That He Will Recommend the Government to Grant the Required Subsidies — Australia's Apathy in the Matter of Fast Steamships.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—In reviewing [illegible] articles on the Ottawa Intercolonial Conference, the Times says:

"Canada's keenness for the Pacific cable is remarkable, because she already has direct and virtually unassailable communication with Great Britain. The Canadians in this are working for one of the noblest ideas they could entertain, namely, the unity of the empire, its security and prosperity. As regards the steamship scheme, the trouble is with the Australian colonies which do not yet display such devotion to the idea as is shown by Canada. For the cable scheme, nevertheless, there is abundant sympathy, which doubtless will develop into active concurrence.

"It is expected that the Earl of Jersey's report will be in favor of the subsidies for Atlantic and Pacific steamers. The idea of an imperial service, entirely independent of the outside world, promises such solid advantages that no minor objection ought to be listened to for a moment.

"On the contrary it would be sound policy and good finance to incur some expense in order to establish it, even though the prospects of its becoming fully self-supporting were somewhat remote. The stimulus to imperial commerce would be immense and would indirectly bring imperial advantages far more valuable than anything that can be appraised in a statistical abstract."

MURDER NEAR MONTREAL.

A Quebec Farmer Found Horribly Mutilated in His Barn Yard.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 23.—The foul murder of a farmer named Myre, of St. Barbe, Huntingdon County, has caused great excitement in that district, about 30 miles from this city. Myre started for Dundee, near the New York border, to pay for some land, but he did not reach his destination.

Yesterday his family found him in the barn-yard in his cart, dead. His head was gashed and bruised, and there were two knife-cuts in his neck, one of which cut clear into the mouth. His boots were rolled up in his overcoat in the bottom of the rig and his coat was thrown over his shoulders, but his arms were not in the sleeves, while his shirt sleeves were rolled up. There was every evidence of a deadly struggle, and it is believed his dead body was placed in the cart and the horse started on the road home. None of his money was taken.

Disastrous Fire in Newcastle.

NEWCASTLE, Ont., Aug. 23.—A disastrous fire occurred about one mile west of this place yesterday when the barn, stable, outbuildings, and large brick mansion of the late Col. Allan Wilmot, now occupied by his son Mr. Asa Wilmot, fishery manager here who a short time ago came here from Halifax, N. S., were burned to the ground. The fire was first noticed in the roof of the barn and speedily spread to the stable and house. The house might have been saved had there been any quantity of water on the premises but owing to the long drought the wells were almost dry. Most of the furniture was saved. The house was insured. Cause of fire unknown.

D'Alton McCarthy at St. John, N.B.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 23.—D'Alton McCarthy and wife are in the city. Talking to a correspondent last night he said he would leave for Halifax to-day and might address a meeting here on his return. He had been strongly urged to do so. He belonged to neither of the political parties and said he had been kicked out of one, and would not be allowed in the other, and was now driving a horse of his own. He had spent some days in St. Andrews, he said, and so far was very much impressed with the importance of the maritime provinces.

A New Steamer for the Lakes.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Aug. 23.—The Great Northern Transit Company has decided to build immediately a first-class steamer to be superior to any on the lakes in every respect and to have a speed of sixteen miles an hour without forcing and capable of being increased to eighteen or nineteen miles an hour. The new steamer will have the latest improvements throughout, both in machinery and accommodation to passengers. The new steamer will be ready for business at the opening of navigation in the spring of 1895.

British Columbia Asks Aid.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 23.—The mayor received a letter from the board of trade of Vancouver, B. C., representing that the Fraser valley floods necessitated immediate demands for relief to the extent of $10,000; also that the harvest was a failure and that the demands would greatly increase toward winter, and probably $25,000 to $30,000 would be required to afford relief. An appeal is therefore made to the Dominion generally. The Mayor will place the document before the council.

Flour Mill Destroyed.

PLATTSVILLE, Ont., Aug. 23.—The large flour mill of Tew & Marshall, one half mile south of here, was burned to the ground yesterday. Four hundred barrels of flour and 1,000 bushels of wheat were burned. The loss is estimated at about 115,000. Insurance, $6,000.

Canadian Medical Association.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 23.—The twenty-seventh annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association opened yesterday. Dr. Harrison, of Selkirk, Ont., was in the chair. Among those present were Dr. Buckley, of New York, and Dr. Jonah, of Eastport, Me.

Montreal Detective Dead.

MONTREAL, Aug. 23.—Sergeant Murphy, a prominent member of the Montreal police force and at one time a leading detective, died last night.

Mrs. J. H. Horsnyder, 152 Pacific Ave., Santa Cruz, Cal., writes:

"When a girl at school, in Reading, Ohio, I had a severe attack of brain fever. On my recovery, I found myself perfectly bald, and, for a long time, I feared I should be permanently so. Friends urged me to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and, on doing so, my hair and now my hair is over a yard long and very full and heavy. I have recommended this preparation to others with like good effect."—Mrs. Sidney Carr, 1460 Regina st., Harrisburg, Pa.

"After a fit of sickness, my hair came out in combfuls. I used two bottles of

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for several years and always obtained satisfactory results. I know it is the best preparation for the hair that is made."—C. T. Arnett, Mammoth Spring, Ark.

THE EVIL AND THE REMEDY.

In a letter to the Star Mr. Goldwin Smith says:

"That corruption of a certain kind prevails largely in the Dominion, that it has become the regular system of government, and has produced profound effects upon the character of what was originally an excellent body of electors and one eminently fitted for the exercise of self-government, is a fact unfortunately beyond dispute. We need hardly go even into the repulsive records of particular scandals for the proof. The series of grants to railways and other local works, which is rushed through at the end of the session, when criticism and deliberation are impossible, tells its own sinister tale. It was a Conservative Senator who called the railway grants a system of bribery. For further evidence we have only to look to the campaign speeches and editorials in different localities which hold out as bribes to the electors promises of Government expenditure on local works with a cynical frankness such as I believe would hardly have been endured in France amidst all the corruption of the Second Empire. The Globe was able to quote the other day a Bishop, of all men in the world, as exhorting his flock to vote for a candidate who had got them a sum of Government money which the shepherd of their souls told them, magnificent as it was, doubtless was but an instalment of the amount that might be expected under the auspices of this most efficient benefactor to be expended for their advantage. By long familiarity with this evil system the moral sense of the public, as might have been expected, has been deadened to a lamentable degree. It is only necessary to name the Rykert case and the Caron case to show how indifferent we have become and how deep the descent has been. The re-ascent unfortunately, is desperately hard. Yet the difficulty must be surmounted if we are to find political salvation."

Mr. Smith points out the evil, which would appeal to the public conscience as an exceedingly grave one, had not that conscience been, as pointed out, greatly blunted with long familiarity. The people seem to expect such things from the Dominion Government, and the organs of the latter which condone excuse, justify or ignore grave political crimes when committed by the Dominion Government, become astonishingly energetic and denunciatory over a trifling irregularity with which the Ontario Government may be charged. The evil known, the people have the remedy in their own hands. Hon. Mr. Laurier proposes that the Government should not spend more but less of the people's money; that the burdens of the taxpayer should not be increased but lightened. The remedy for the evils that exist, are honest government, and retrenchment, and that can only be accomplished by removing the present Conservative Government and placing a Liberal Government in its stead. The present government for fifteen years has been going from bad to worse, from extravagance to extravagance—has been growing continuously more and more corrupt. Mr. Mills, of Bothwell, estimates that a retrenchment in expendenditure of four million dollars a year can be effected. The Globe points out that retrenchment would not be a very different matter. The Globe says:

"Mr. Mills estimate seems to sanguine, we have only to glance at two or three facts which appear on the most cursory view of the public expenditures. A firm of contractors makes nearly a million dollars of profit on works which costs a little over two millions. Another contractor throws into a campaign fund $25,000 as a recognition of the political influence which obtained the subsidies for the road he was building. On the Sheik's Island dam, a comparatively small work, the country loses $125,000. The Montreal bridges are built at a loss of over $200,000, more than doubling their fair cost. A franchise act costs for the first revision half a million dollars, and for each subsequent revision nearly a quarter of a million. Senecal's Printing Bureau commissions amounted to some $50,000. It must be remembered that these proofs of extravagance were obtained from reluctant witnesses, and in spite of efforts on the part of the Government to thwart inquiry. They are simply instances of the manner in which the public funds of the country have been administered during the protectionist regime. If it be said that a Liberal Government could do no better, we have only to point to the manner in which the expenditure of Ontario has been managed during the same period. The Ontario Legislature has voted very large sums of money in subsidies to railway companies. Who has ever heard of these being misappropriated for campaign funds? Several millions have been spent in the erection of the new Parliament buildings, the asylums and other provincial buildings. It is admitted on all hands that these works have been carefully, economically and honestly done, and that we have received full value for every dollar we have expended. Canada would be better off by many millions if the Federal expenditures had been as well looked after.

A CATECHISM.

Question—What is this I hear so much about—this Industrial Insurance?

Answer—It is ordinary life insurance on a plan especially adapted to the requirements of the great mass of the people. Sometimes it is called family insurance.

Q.—Why so?

A.—Because all the healthful members of a family are eligible—all between the ages of 2 and 70.

Q.—Is there any difference in the cost of insuring male or female?

A.—No.

Q.—What is the expense of a policy on this plan?

A.—From fifty to sixty cents per week—according to the amount of insurance needed.

Q.—Are any extras required for an initiation fee, admission charge, medical examination, contribution to expense or otherwise?

A.—Not a cent. Nothing is required but the stated weekly premium. The industrial plan gives a fixed amount of insurance at a fixed cost, known definitely beforehand; this cost never increases, and policies are in immediate benefit.

Q.—Some time and trouble, I suppose, are necessary in going to your office to pay the premiums?

A.—None. The company sends its collectors to the homes of its policy holders every week.

Q.—Suppose we change our residence?

A.—Simply tell us where you are going and an agent will wait upon you.

Q.—How long do you take to pay claims after death?

Q.—Are there many companies doing industrial insurance in this country?

A.—A half dozen; but the Metropolitan is known the world over as the leading insurance company of America.

Q.—Then you must be doing quite a business?

A.—Well, yes, we have over 3,000,000 of policies now standing, over half of all the life insurance policies in force in the United States.

Q.—How much will it take the Metropolitan this year to pay its death losses?

A.—Over $6,000,000.

A.—Perhaps 60,000.

A.—Over $19,000,000.

Q.—It must take quite an army of man to attend to your business?

A.—Yes, over 10,000 people are in the company's service.

Q.—Is your work confined entirely to Industrial Insurance?

A.—No, ordinary life and endowment policies from $1,000 are issued, the premiums being payable annually, semi-annually or quarterly and the claims paid immediately upon receipt of proofs.

Q.—Have you a branch office in this city?

A.—Yes, one has already been established at 374 George street, Mr. William J McMullen, superintendent.

Q.—Will you need the services of agents or others in introducing your business here?

A.—Yes, a few, active, energetic men can secure steady, permanent and paying positions, with opportunity for merited advancement upon application to to the branch office. Address given above.

A Case of Diphtheria.

Last week, the family of Wm. Godfrey, George street, were visiting in Lindsay, when one of their children took suddenly ill, with a throat affection and died the next day. The disease was called bronchitis. The family returned to Peterborough, and a day or two after, another child took ill, in much the same way. Dr. Clarke, Medical Health officer, saw the case and pronounced it a bad form of diphtheria. On account of the central position of the house he endeavoured to have the child removed to the hospital, but was unable to do so as the infectious ward is undergoing repairs. The case has been thoroughly isolated at home and every precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of the disease. This is the only case of diphtheria in town or village.

The groom was assisted in the trying ordeal by Dr. W. C. Herriman, Orillia, a cousin of the bride. Miss Ella Choate, sister, performed the same service for the bride. Miss Winnifred Wilson, Toronto, and Miss Louisa Kelly, Grafton, were maids of honor. The bride looked charming dressed in white Indian silk. The bridesmaids and maids of honour were bewitchingly attired in Martha Washington costumes. The other young ladies were also fair to look upon. The bridal gifts were elegant, numerous, valuable and useful, showing the good taste of the donors.

KILLED BY A TROLLEY CAR.

Prof. G. M. Davidson Fatally Injured, Dies at the Nicholls Hospital—The Nature of the Accident—The Motorman not to Blame—Sketch of the Deceased Gentleman.

The creditable record of freedom from street railway accidents which the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway has achieved since the introduction of the line in Peterborough was broken last night by a fatal accident at the corner of George and Simcoe streets. About 6.30 the vestibule car No. 7, in charge of Motorman Robinson and Conductor Calvert, was coming up George street on its northern trip. When near the corner of George and Simcoe streets, Prof. G. M. Davidson, late choir master of St. Andrew's church, attempted to cross from Fairweather's store to the opposite corner. The motorman noticed him before reaching the corner and at once rang the gong and reversed the motor as was the custom when nearing the principal corners. The unfortunate man did not head the warning, and the car which was brought almost to a standstill, struck Mr. Davidson in the head, felling him to the ground, the car coming to a halt about two feet from where the unfortunate man lay. He was picked up unconscious and carried into Ormond & Walsh's drug store, and Dr. King summoned. He was bleeding profusely from the head and ears and it was found that he suffered a severe fracture of the base of the skull. After his injuries were attended to, he was removed to the Nicholls' Hospital. Mr. Davidson never regained consciousness and died about five o'clock this morning. No blame can be attached to the motorman, as it is said, he rang the bell, reversed the motor, and did all in his power to bring the car to a stop, as is proven by the fact that the car stopped within a few feet of where the unfortunate man lay.

Coroner Dr. Fife was notified and an inquest, inquiring into the cause of his death, will be held this evening.

The deceased gentleman was unmarried and about 60 years of age. He was a native of Leith, Scotland,—was left an orphan at the age of 18 years, and by his exertions brought up a family of younger brothers and sisters. He has no relatives, as far as known, in Canada, the sister that recently lived in Tara, Bruce county, having removed to Chicago, where another sister resides, at 815 Fiftieth street.

Four years ago, Prof. Davidson came to Canada. He found employment at his profession in Toronto. From there he went to Tara, where he stayed with his sister. He gave a series of concerts in that vicinity, and was well-known throughout the countryside. He afterwards went to Collingwood as choirmaster of the Presbyterian church there. From Collingwood he came to Peterborough a year ago last May. Some time after he became choirmaster of St. Andrew's church, and held the position until the 19th of April last, when his resignation was accepted. He has since been engaged in teaching music, having a large class in town, and a class of several in Lakefield. He was a fine musician and a composer of considerable merit, having set to music some songs of John Imrie, Toronto, the noted writer of Scotch songs. Prof. Davidson was courteous and gentlemanly in his demeanour, and even under the influence of his besetting sin, he did not forget the behaviour of a gentleman.

His remains will be interred from the Nicholls' Hospital to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock to Little Lake cemetery.

PETERBOROUGH CENTRAL EXHIBITION.

A Meeting of the Directors Held Yesterday Afternoon—Sir John Thompson and Hon John Haggart Invited to Open the Exhibition.

A meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition was held yesterday afternoon in the parlours of the Morgan House.

President Elliott occupied the chair, and there were present Messrs. Rutherford, Kennedy, Vance, Davidson, Hall and secretary W. J. Green.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read, the appointment of judges for the different classes and events were taken up and a careful selection made.

The secretary read a number of communications in reference to events in connection with the exhibition, all of which were discussed and disposed of. It is expected that Sir John Thompson and Hon. John Haggart will be present to formally open the exhibition.

Arrangements were also completed with reference to fireworks, balloon ascension, and acrobatic performances, of which future mention will be made.

After the meeting, the directors visited their grounds and found everything in satisfactory condition. The race track and centre of the grounds were a perfect level and in excellent shape, and no better grounds are to be found in the province. The grand stand and buildings were also inspected, and found in good order. The directors have spared no expense in making the grounds what they are at present, having spent $600 in repairing them. They also intend erecting a dining booth, in order to give meals to visitors to the exhibition in first-class style.

The prize list this year is larger than ever, and in the racing events, larger amounts are being given, and together with the other attractions, the exhibition this year promises to be a most successful one, and to far surpass the exhibitions of former years.

IT COST HIM EXACTLY $417.

A Haliburton Cattle Drover Drugged and Robbed—He Came to Toronto to See the Elephant, Fell in With Evil Companions, and as a Result is Minus His Wallet and Its Contents, But Still Has His Watch.

Douglas Kellatt, hotelkeeper and cattle drover, Haliburton, Ont., came to Toronto with little wisdom, much money, and a strong desire to see the sights. He saw the sights, or at least a goodly portion of them, but returned to his home with strong recollections of his experience, for it cost him no less than $417, which was in some manner extracted from his pocket between the hours of 11 p.m. Friday, and 7 a.m. Saturday.

Kellatt struck town on Friday, and meeting some of his friends at the Western Cattle Market was soon well under way towards getting gloriously drunk. Friday evening he was arrested on the street for drunkenness and taken to No. 3 police station. Here he explained to the officers who he was, and promised, if released, to go immediately to the Bull's Head Hotel, where he was stopping, remain there all night, and take the first morning train for his home. On the strength of this promise he was released, and Detective Harrison conducted him to his hotel.

Kellatt did not remain there long, however, but quietly slid out the side door. When morning came he found himself lying in a vacant lot on Bathurst street, with no distinct recollection of anything that had occurred after he had left his hotel. A pocket book, containing $417, was missing, but his watch and chain were left on him.

He neglected to report the matter to the detective department until Sunday evening, and he could not then say where he had spent the night, or whether his stupor had been caused by drink or by drugs. Although he remembers no one with whom he spent an hour after 11 p. m., Kellatt clings to the theory that he was robbed. A thorough search in the neighbourhood of the vacant lot failed to reveal any trace of the missing money, and Kellatt's chances for recovering his money are anything but hopeful.

THREE TOWNSHIPS WILL OBJECT

On Tuesday afternoon a meeting of the councils of North Monaghan, South Monaghan and Otonabee was held at the Court House, and it was decided to fight the outfall sewer. The reeves of the three townships were appointed a committee which will look after the interests of the townships in the arbitration, and to take whatever action is necessary. There promises to be a bitter fight between the townships and the town over the outfall sewer. Mr. Geo. Edmison has been retained, as solicitor, on behalf of the townships interested.

The arbitrators in the outfall sewer question met yesterday afternoon in the town clerk' office. Mr. Geo. Edmison was present on behalf of the townships interested and his cross-examination of Mr. J. E. Belcher was objected to by Mr. E. B. Edwards, town solicitor, on the grounds that he was dealing with the sanitary aspect of the case. The arbitrators adjourned at the cross-examination of Mr. Belcher and will endeavour to arrive at some conclusion as to whether they will receive evidence in regard to the pollution of the river.

We like your Hop Tea very much better than any other Tea we ever used before and find it much cheaper than the 40 cent Black Tea, as I use only a little over half the usual quantity.

SPRIGHTLY SUMMER SPORTS.

On the Lacrosse Field, the Grease and the Diamond—Triple A. Topics—The Bicycle and Football.

LACROSSE.

The Peterboroughs journeyed to Millbrook yesterday, with the following team to play Port Hope in the draw, in the district series of games:—Dobbin, Wasson, Mein, McCabe, Brown, Begley, Davidson, Phelan, Galley, Lipsett, Glover, Rickey, and C. LeBrun, captain. At the appointed hour the Peterboroughs were on the field and lined up, but Port Hope had flunked and failed to show up. This act, on the part of Port Hope, entitles Peterborough to the championship of the district. Section 12, of the Rules of Lacrosse says:

"In case of any club failing to put in an appearance at one of the matches so arranged, without having given good and sufficient reasons, within three days after such match, the sufficiency of which shall be decided by the judicial committee, it shall be ruled out of the series for the remainder of the season, and shall not be eligible to re-enter for one year, but all scheduled matches remaining to be played by said club, will be awarded to the club or clubs with whom said matches should have been played; the games that have been played by said club shall be counted for or against their opponents as they have resulted before their default."

The action of Port Hope in this matter if their default was avoidable is neither gentlemanly or sportsmanlike. The Peterboroughs went to considerable trouble in this match, and never dreamed but that Port Hope would be manly enough to show up on the field, even with a team of "ringers." The team Peterborough had in Millbrook, yesterday, was a purely local one, and if they were defeated by a legitimate Port Hope team they would have taken it in good grace. Manager Patterson, of Port Hope, must admit that he received notice from Mr. H. McConaghy that the draw must be played but he remained mute, as well as the newspapers of Sleepy Hollow, which were unusually active and bitter in their lacrosse criticisms this year, but for the past four weeks they have been silent in this respect. It can easily be explained. The Mighty Ontarios have fallen! Tite and Jennings have left them to seek new pastures. Their treasury is depleted, and they could hardly scrape a team together in their town to cope with any juniour team of our town. This is "pure lacrosse!" Mr. Patterson accused the press of Peterborough of using the Port Hope team dirty, but he has shown to the teams of this district that he can "foul his own nest." The course that Port Hope has pursued this season is one that any town should be ashamed of, and they will stand out prominently in lacrosse circles as a team which has prostituted the National Game, and introduced the almighty dollar and mercenary motives into one of the most gentlemanly games in order to win glory and defeat teams that are endeavouring to save lacrosse from the gutter.

BASEBALL.

A picked team of the different baseball nines in Toronto played Cobourg yesterday the former winning by a score of 10 to 9.

FOOTBALL.

All lovers of Association football are reminded of the meeting in the parlours of the Palace Restaurant this evening. Football will boom this season and a large attendance of the lovers of the game is requested.

The Rugby football meeting announced to take place last evening in Mr. R. B. Roger's office, was postponed until next week, the date of meeting to be announced later.

CRICKET.

RANGE AND RIFLE.

The Ontario Rifle Association Matches—Pte. Fitzgrrald Leads in the Walker Match—Other Scores Made.

Some better scores marked yesterday's shooting at the Ontario Rifle Association ranges yesterday, though the weather was not even absolutely perfect. Captain Dennistoun, of the 57th battalion, is doing some remarkably fine shooting in the revolver match, leading with a score of 35 out of a possible 49.

In the standing of the teams in the Walker match, an unofficial list shows that the 57th Battalion team made the creditable score of 281, the highest (286) being made by the Queen's Own team.

In the Walker match, seven rounds each at 500 and 600 yards, Pte. Fitzgerald, of the 57th, carried off the palm making the highest score in the match (64) and winning the prize of $20. Pte. Fitzgerald is to be congratulated upon his excellent record, and as the score goes to show, he must have bothered the bull's eye with remarkable success. Capt. Dennistoun in this shoot also captured a prize of $5 by a score of 61.

More than all, the liver—and that's the key to the whole system. You have pure blood or poisonous blood, just as your liver chooses. The blood controls the health, the liver controls the blood, the "Discovery" controls the liver.

You can escape just about half the ills that flesh is heir to, by being ready for them. Brace the system up with this medicine, which prevents as well as cures. For all diseases caused by a disordered liver or impure blood—dyspepsia, biliousness, the most stubborn skin, scalp and scrofulous affections, the "Discovery" is the only remedy so certain and effective that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back. You pay only for the good you get.

THACKERAY'S KINDNESS.

The Great Novelist Acts as a True Friend to a Sick Strangers.

As, toward the end of October, a little over thirty years ago, the night train of the Chemin de Fer du Nord was about to leave the station at Paris an English gentleman got into a first class compartment, and, stowing away his small valise, took his seat in one of the vacant corners. He noticed that on the seat opposite to him was a gentleman who appeared to be ill. His face was deathly pale; he was breathing very hard, and he appeared to be in great pain.

"Are you ill, sir? Can I be of any assistance to you?" the gentleman asked.

"I am very ill," the sufferer replied faintly. "I am subject to a very painful malady, and feeling an attack coming on while in Switzerland, I resolved to go home—to England. It generally gives me a week's warning, but I feel I shall not reach Calais alive."

"But you must not go on, my dear sir," said his fellow traveler, feelingly.

"I am a perfect stranger in Paris. I have come right through from Geneva, and I do not know a word of French," replied the sick man, almost in a state of collapse.

"It will never do for you to travel in that state. Come, let me help you out before the train starts."

The kindly gentleman was not a moment too soon. But by the kindly aid of a porter he got the sufferer out of the train, placed him gently in a cab and had him taken to the hotel which he himself had just quitted and where he knew the sick man would receive every attention. Caring for him on the way with all the tenderness of a woman he bade him cheer up, for he knew a physician who was one of the highest authorities on the particular disease from which he was suffering.

All the night the gentleman was exceedingly ill, nor did he improve much the next day. The following morning a relation of the sufferer—who had been telegraphed for—arrived, and the kind-hearted gentleman who had put off his journey to England, thrown away his railway fare and spent two nights and a day almost constantly by the sick man's side, handed over the sufferer to the care of his friend.

Then, and not till then, did this good-hearted man decide to resume his interrupted journey.

Going into the patient's room in the evening to bid him good-by, he said:

"I must now wish you farewell, as I have important business in London. I wish you a hearty godspeed toward recovery."

The sick man was extremely ill and not able to do more than press his benefactor's hand and whisper a few words of gratitude.

The relative of the patient, who was his sister, followed the gentleman out of the room and said:

"You have not done me the honor to tell me to whom I and my brother owe so signal an act of kindness as that which you have shown to an utter stranger. Had you not so generously and disinterestedly taken compassion on him, I fear his relatives and friends would never have seen him again alive. In thanking you again for your kindness, therefore, I should like to know to whom we are so much indebted. Besides, you forfeited the cost of your railroad ticket. If you will allow me to reimburse you the amount——"

"Do not mention it," said the gentleman; "it is of no consequence."

"You will at least do me the pleasure of permitting us to know your name?"

"Certainly. I will give you my card."

With these words the gentleman took out his card case and handed the lady his card. She read upon it the name "William Makepeace Thackeray."

It was some weeks before the invalid was well enough to resume his journey, but after his return to England one of the first visits he paid was to call upon the great novelist, in company with his sister, to thank him personally for the great kindness he had shown him when, as he believed, he should have died but for his timely assistance.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

CURIOUS INDIAN BOOKS

THE ALPHABETS OF THE ABORIGINES AND THEIR DIALECTS.

Fifty-five Languages and 500 Different Patois Contained in the Library of a Washington Ethnologist—A Periodical Printed in the Chinook Jargon.

Perhaps the most remarkable small library in this country is the property of James C. Pilling, the well-known ethnologist of Washington, says the Post of that city. It is the largest existing collection of books in Indian languages, and of these languages there are no less than fifty-five in North America north of Mexico. All of them are distinct tongues, as different from one another as Chinese and English.

More than one-half of the 500 dialects into which the fifty-five languages referred to are divided are preserved in books. It is believed that the first book printed on this continent was in an Indian language—the "Nahuatl"—published at the City of Mexico in 1539. The first Bible printed in America was in an Indian tongue—the celebrated Eliot Bible. This is one of the most costly of all rare books. About forty copies of it were specially prepared, with a dedication to Charles II. One of these in good condition is now worth about $2,000.

The first printing done west of the Rocky Mountains was in the Nez Perce language. It was a primer for Indian children, turned out from the mission press at Clearwater, Idaho, in 1839. The press that did the work had been brought by the missionaries all the way from the Hawaiian Islands.

The first book printed in Dakota was a dictionary of the Sioux language, produced in 1866 at Fort Laramie. It was prepared by two officers of the United States army, Lieutenants Hyde and Starring, to pass away the weary hours during a long and cold winter at that lonely outpost of civilization. They were aided in the work by an interpreter and by the Indians who loafed about the fort. The type was set up by the soldiers, and fifty copies were struck off on a crude hand press. Only two copies are now known, one of them belonging to General Starring, of New York, a brother of the author, and the other to Mr. Pilling.

The Cherokee Alphabet.

The only existing alphabet that is the product of one man's mind and in which a literature has been printed was the invention of a half-breed Cherokee Indian. His name was Se-quo-yah, and he had no education whatever; but it occurred to him that he could express all the syllables in the Cherokee tongue by characters. Finding that there were eighty-six syllabic sounds in the language, he devised for each one of them a peculiar mark. From some of the marks he took characters of our own alphabet, turning them upside down. With these symbols he set about writing letters, and by means of them a correspondence was soon maintained between Indians of his race in Georgia and their relatives 500 miles away.

At present this alphabet—or, more properly speaking, syllabary—is in general use among the Cherokees. In no other language can the art of reading be learned so quickly. Whereas a fairly bright child learns to read well in English in two and a half years, a Cherokee youngster is able to acquire fluency in reading books written in this syllabary within two months and a half. In 1827 the American board of foreign missions defrayed the cost of casting a font of type of the characters. The literature composed with them is now very extensive, numerous books and some of the newspapers of the Cherokees being published in the syllabary.

The Wa-Wa.

Later, in 1840, an improved syllabary was devised by Rev. James Evans, a missionary among the Crees. It was phonetic and the characters were simpler, being composed of squares and parts of squares and circles and parts of circles. The zealous clergyman cut his type out of wood and made castings from the original blocks with lead from tea chests, which he begged from officers of the Hudson Bay Company. He manufactured ink out of soot and on a hand press of his own construction printed many little tracts and leaflets for the benefit of the Indians. With some modifications his characters have come into general use not only among the Crees, but also among many tribes of the northwest which speak languages in nowise akin to that of the Crees, and scores of books have been printed in them.

The queerest periodical in existence is a weekly now published by a French priest at Kamloops, British Columbia. It is called the Kamloops Wa wa, which means "writing" and is in the Chinook jargon. This jargon is a sort of international speech, composed of half a dozen different Indian tongues, mixed with fragments of English, French and German. It is the language of trade intercourse among all the people of the sparsely settled northwest as far as Alaska.

Origin of the Chinook Jargon.

The mission field of the holy father who publishes this periodical extends over about 500 square miles. Much of his time is spent in making long journeys between distant settlements, and during his pauses for rest on the way he amuses himself with editorial work. The weekly is written in three columns—the first column in jargon, the second in shorthand characters and the third in English. The matter is current news of the mission, sermons, prayers, etc. It is multiplied by the mimeograph and distributed among the priest's widely scattered parishioners. The paper on which the printing is done is blue, green, pink or yellow, according to the taste of the people who give it to the good father. The periodical is delivered free of charge, Mr. Pilling being, in all probability, the only paying subscriber.

The jargon was started by the early white explorers who visited the Pacific coast. Lewis and Clark, the first adventurers in that direction, were followed by the people of the American Fur Company, sent out by John Jacob Astor. The passing of these commercial travelers among the tribes of Indians resulted in a composite vocabulary, which is now used by people who speak twenty different languages, not one of them alike unto another. Yet they understand this common business tongue, which in a manner corresponds to the Asiatic "pidgin English." Every Washington and Oregon man talks Chinook.

In the Chinook Jargon white men are divided into two kinds—"wo-hars" and "god-dams." The former is a term for teamsters and the like, the derivation being obvious, while the latter is the designation for gentlemen, who, as everybody knows, used to swear terribly in the old days. A name for the white men in general is "Boston." This is believed to be derived from an historical incident, namely, the capture by the Nootka Indians at Nootka Sound of a vessel called the Boston, from the Town of Boston, Mass., in 1803. Every soul on board of her was put to death save only two, a sailmaker and a man named Jewett. The former died, while the latter was rescued by an American ship two and a half years later.

For fifteen years Mr. Pilling has been engaged in the preparation of bibliographs of the native languages of the United States and Canada, and so far ten of these, each relating to one of the more important families, have been published by the bureau of ethnology, the eleventh being now ready for the press. He is now beginning one on the Nahuatk language of Mexico, in which the earliest American printing was done and in which more material has been published than in any other of the North American tongue, except, perhaps, the Algonquin.

A House Without Stairs.

A unique house is being built in Paris for a private gentleman. There will be no staircase in it, and yet it will be a house several stories high. This sounds like a paradox, but it is explained in this way: The street in which it is being built is the Rue Muller, which has a step gradient. A large frontage has been secured, descending to the Rue Lamarck. As the ground rises, the level of the floor rises, and there are five gradations, equivalent to five stories. It is in this way that visitors to the house will step directly out of the street upon the fifth floor, as well as all the others.—British Carpenter and Builder.

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

If you are suffering from La Grippe, Templeton's "Pink Powder" will give you immediate relief. For sale by all druggists.

Nature Has Provided

A remedy for every ache and pain, and science through ceaseless activity and experiment is constantly wresting the secrets of her domain. A new and wonderful discovery has recently been made by means of which tens of thousands will be freed from pain. Nerviline, or nerve pain cure, represents in very concentrated form the most potent pain relieving substitutes known to medical science, and strange to say, it is composed of substances solely vegetable in origin. Polson's Nerviline is the most prompt, certain, and pleasant pain remedy in the world. Try Nerviline for toothache, neuralgia, cramps, &c., always safe and efficient.

My feet were so badly swollen that I could not wear my shoes. I got Yellow Oil, and to my astonishment it gave instant relief, and two bottles completely cured me. Mrs. W. G. McKay, Berwick Ont.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Behring Sea Matters Discussed by the Cabinet—The Russian Thistle.

OTTAWA, Aug. 23.—It is understood that the Cabinet was considering the Behring Sea matter yesterday. Sir Hibbert Tupper, who returned from Washington, was in attendance.

Sir Hibbert Tupper was asked yesterday if anything had been done in respect to the appointment of a successor to the late Philip Veale, fish curator. The Minister replied that he did not know that he was dead. He was away when Mr. Veale died. There was of course no appointment. It is understood that Sir James Grant has recommended the appointment of R. C. W. MacCuaig.

The much dreaded Russian thistle (salsola kati trogus) has been discovered by Prof. Macoun growing along the line of the C. P. R., a short distance east of Smith's Falls. Prof. Macoun is of the opinion that the seeds from which the plants he found grew were transported from Dakota in cars carrying grain from that region to the Atlantic seaboard. Much of that freight now passes through Smith's Falls. The plant has been rapidly spreading in the western states during the past five years, but until this year, when specimens were found in Manitoba, it was not known to occur in Canada.

The Ontario Government has refused to consider the petition of several Ottawa license victuallers who were "scratched" this spring to have their licenses renewed and have written the license commissioners of the city to that effect. As a result several shops that have been kept open with the hope of obtaining a renewal of their licenses must now close at once.

The Dominion Rifle Association meet, which opens at the Rideau rifle ranges here on Monday morning, promises to be one of the best yet held by the D. R. A. There seems to be more interest this year in shooting than ever before, and the crack shots from the Canadian militia are expected from all over the country. The three men from the Blake, Messrs. Sullivan and Beale, gunnery instructors, and Isaacs, petty officer, are expected to take part in the shooting. Over $2,000 in prizes will be competed for on Monday in the Nursery match, the Hamilton Powder Company match and the Dominion of Canada match. The meet will last until Friday.

Sentenced for Fraud and Seduction.

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 23.—Judge Creasor has sentenced John D. McNab, surveyor, to five years in the penitentiary on each of two charges of fraud brought against him by Miss Louisa Wood, whom McNab seduced during the past winter, and persuaded to give him a power of attorney over her property. McNab is a married man with a family, has lived here all his life and is educated and clever at his profession. The sentences are to run concurrently. The judge made some very severe strictures on the prisoner's unfaithful conduct towards his wife, and expressed the conviction that a warning must be given to the community and such a sentence imposed as would make it clear that such conduct on the part of heads of families cannot be tolerated. The prisoner was greatly agitated on hearing the sentence.

Sword Championship of Canada.

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 23.—The assault-at-arms last night between Sergt.-Major Morgan, of Kingston, Ont., and Sergt.-Major Kelly, of Halifax, for the championship of Canada, was won by Kelly who scored 25 points in the 5 combats to his opponents 9. The sword contest was the only one that was close. Several boxing bouts filled in the time between the competitions.

Excursionists Have a Thrilling Escape.

RAT PORTAGE, Ont., Aug. 23.—The steamer Monarch, 160 tons burden, struck a rock and went to the bottom on August 19 at Long Sault, Rainy river, and 50 excursionists escaped by a rope. None were lost. The steamer lies in fifty feet of water. News of the wreck was brought in by an excursionist who returned last night.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria.

Skipped His Bail.

DETROIT, Aug. 23.—Milo H. Davis, one of the four members of the Board of Education who were arrested at a session of the board last week charged with taking a bribe, and who was released on $5,000 bail, has disappeared. He left the city last Friday, ostensibly to visit relatives in different parts of the State, but he has not been seen by any of them. His wife has not heard from him and she is nearly distracted. His bondsmen and friends express the belief that he will be here for his examination, which is set for to-morrow. He had about $300 on his person when he left home.

A Negro Killed by Whites.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 23.—Gabe Brock, an old negro, was killed, and Mrs. Mary Edwards, an aged white woman, was seriously wounded while driving to this city. Brock was attacked by James Murrell and John Linchard, white men, who opened fire on him from ambush. Brock was shot dead, from the waggon, and Mrs. Edwards received two wounds in the face. The shooting was the result of a previous dispute between the negro and the white men. Murrell was arrested and Linchard escaped.

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" Ill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Vivian Burnett, the original of Frances Hodgson Burnett's book, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," is lying critically ill of typhoid fever at the residence of his father, Dr. Swann M. Burnett, in this city. Dr. Burnett, in response to a cablegram sent to him and his wife, who were in Europe, reached the city Monday night from England, and Mrs. Burnett is now on her way to this country.

The Prince Rewards Captain Carter.

COWES, Aug. 23.—The Prince of Wales mustered the crew of the Britannia yesterday before his departure for Hamburg. He commended all for their excellent performance of their duties and presented to Captain Carter a pocket aneriod compass inscribed: "A present from the Prince of Wales to Captain Carter in recognition of Britannia's winning six successive races from the Vigilant."

Saloonkeepers Defy the Bishop.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 23.—An evening paper yesterday prints interviews with a large number of the Catholic saloonkeepers of this city upon Bishop Watterson's stand against the liquor traffic as engaged in by the members of the church in his diocese. Almost without exceptionsthey are defiant against the order and say they will never leave the church, nor quit the saloon business.

A Woman Nailed to a Tree.

LONDON, Ky., Aug. 23.—Near the mouth of Sexton Creek, 16 miles from Manchester, a young woman named Anderson who had borne a bad reputation, has been found nailed by her hands and feet to a tree, with life nearly extinct. No clue has been found to the perpetrators of the crime, although it is thought to have been committed by women.

A Practical Trades Union in Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—Fifty trades unions of this city have voted that their members shall work on short time in order that employment may be furnished to workingmen who are idle. The number of these unemployed workingmen is very large.

A Dog With a Bad Name.

KLAMATH FALLS, Oregon, Aug. 23.—W. 3. Thompson was taken from jail yesterday and lynched by a mob. Thompson was held in jail on a minor charge, but had a bad reputation.

A Hamilton Burglar Arrested.

HAMILTON, Aug. 22.—Albert Rabitoy, aged 15, was arrested by Detectives Reid and Campbell yesterday on a charge of breaking into H. E. Thornhill's jewellery store on last Friday night and stealing three silver watches, a number of rings, and other jewellery. Nearly all the stolen stuff was recovered. Rabitoy confessed to having broken into Thornhill's store and also Mill's hat store and the Domestic Specialty Company's store, all of which places he had robbed. He refuses to divulge the names of other parties who were his confederates. Although very youthful, the prisoner has a bad previous record.

The people quickly recognize merit, and this is the reason the sales of Hood's Sarsaparilla are continually increasing. Hood's "on top."

A NOVELTY
—AT—

(From the New York Dry Goods Economist.)

"Jasper is a novelty in dress goods. It is of foreign production, popular character and reasonable price. Retailers are showing their opinion of its merits by their eager purchases, and shoppers in want of a dressy and useful gown will voice the correctness of the retailers' preparation.

Its appearance combines both a crepe and a fancy figure and embraces two figures in the same design. The material composing this fabric is entirely fine worsted yarn. The two colours found in the fabric are distinct and separate; one colour is confined entirely to the warp threads and the other colour is found only in the filling threads.

As the filling threads supply one colour and the warp threads the other colour to the fabric, so one set of threads produces one effect and the other set of threads produces the second effect in the design.

The crepe effect is caused entirely by bringing some of the warp threads on the surface and the figured effect is produced by bringing some of the filling threads on the surface. As the warp threads are of a different colour from the filling threads, the crepe effect and the figured effect are consequently of two different colours.

The crepe effect is formed by certain warp threads being raised at the proper places in the pattern for five or six picks of the loom, when that number of filling threads are thrown in under these raised warp threads. The wrap threads that have been raised are next made to work in a regular weaver for four picks, in which one pick of warp is bound in with one pick of filling.

The variation of the motion of the warp threads does two things. When they are raised for five or six picks they produce threads lying on the surface of the cloth like stitches from a needle, and the large number of these covering the surface of the fabric gives the crepe effect. When these warp threads are made to work in a regular weave the fabric is built up, the loose stitches producing the crepe effect are bound in and good weaving material is insured.

The figured effect is produced in a contrary method from the crepe effect. As the warp threads are raised and the filling threads thrown under them to produce the crepe, so the warp threads are depressed and the filling thrown in under them to produce the figured effect.

In the crepe the colour of the wrap threads only shows and in the figure the colour of the filling threads only shows. There is in each a contrast of pattern and of colour. The Jacquard motion of the loom produces both effects and contrasts with unerring accuracy, guided by the pattern which the manufacturer has designed.

There is no dyeing to be done to the fabric, for the coloured threads that form it give its color. After being woven, it is finished in the manner regularly employed with such goods. Its construction and material insure its giving every satisfaction to the wearer. Its pattern is popular and safe. Its colour gives two tones without being an iridescent and its crepe effect is a complement to this order of weave without actually being a crepe.

IRISH LAND COMMISSION

They Report the Rents Fixed by Courts Materially Excessive.

THE PRESENT SYSTEM UNJUST

They Recommend That the Occupant Be No Longer Compelled to Pay Rent on His Improvements—Expenses of Litigation Should be Lessened.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The report of the Irish Land Commission was issued yesterday. The commission say that the evidence before them showed that the Irish rents fixed by courts between 1881 and 1885 are now materially excessive. The present system, they say, appears to seriously impede the administration of justice to the tenants, owing to the expense and delays. The courts generally have denied the tenant a share in the value of his improvements.

The commission recommend that the occupant be no longer compelled to pay rent on his improvements. All of these ought to be regarded as made by him unless the contrary be proved. It is urged that a commission be appointed at the next session of Parliament to inquire further into the subject. The above matter is covered by the majority report. The minority report admits the desirability of lessening the expense of litigation and revising rents in Ireland, but contends that in the fixing of the judicial rents the Act has been construed in the tenants' favor.

Articles Contraband of War.

In the House of Commons Edward Gourley, Advanced Liberal, asked whether the selling of vessels, coal and rice to China at Shanghai would contravene the foreign enlistment act. Sir Edward Grey replied that if the neutral powers should supply articles contraband of war to the Chinese at Shanghai, the Japanese Government would withdraw its promise not to attack that port and would at once begin operations against it.

FATAL RAILWAY WRECK.

Three Men Killed on the Chicago and Northwestern in Wisconsin.

FORT ATKINSON, Wis., Aug. 24.—Three men were killed yesterday in a wreck on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad near here. Three others were badly hurt. The train was a freight and running at the rate of 20 miles an hour. The men killed were in one end of a box car, partially filled with hardwood lumber and they were buried under the debris.

The names of the men killed were: Thomas Ingalls, Chicago; Charles Klein, Chicago; Stephen Onkeff, Austin, Texas. The accident was caused by the axle of the lumber car breaking.

Three Drowned in a Mine.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 24. Michael Brady, James Morgan and Joseph Curry were drowned in a drift in the Glengarry mine. An abandoned mine adjoins the property on the west. The shaft of the old works was filled with water and the three unconsciously tapped it at a depth of 100 feet in the workings of the Glengarry. The water rushed in with great force and engulfed the mine. Several other miners had close calls for their lives.

Two Workmen Killed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—James Giblin, 56 years old, and Edward Murray, 34 years old, were killed yesterday while at work on the new building of the United States appraisers' warehouse, at Christopher and Greenwich streets, by falling from a ladder.

President Hippolyte Recovered.

A Serious Shooting Affray.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Aug. 24.—A shooting affray occurred at Wood Island by which a young man named William J. McMillan will likely loose his life. McMillan with some other boys went to a neighboring house where there lives an old bachelor McNeil, and his spinster sister. The boys began teasing him and he took a gun loaded with sparables and fired at the boys through the window, hitting McMillan in the abdoman. Doctors say he cannot live.

Stabbed Thirteen Times.

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—John Nightingale, a stonemason, got into a fight with two others, Mandible and Foote, and as a result now lies at the general hospital with thirteen knife wounds in his body. The men had been drinking, and it is supposed he was stabbed by either one or both of the two men. Mandible and Foote are being held awaiting trial. Nightingale is so badly wounded that it is not thought he will recover.

Grappling for the Yacht Victims.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Aug. 24.—Grappling parties worked off Mahogany Island until eleven o'clock yesterday without success. At that hour Elijah Ross pulled up the body of Harry Hoyt and it was brought to town. The sunken yacht was also caught, but the tackle broke and the boat sunk again.

MYER MYSTERY SOLVED

RESULT OF AN OLD QUARREL

Suspicion Rests on One Whom the Murdered Man Had Once Rivalled in Love—They Quarrelled the Day Before the Murder.

MONTREAL, Aug. 24.—A special received here from Valleyfield says: "The tragic death of Theodore Myer, of St. Barbe, is no longer shrouded in mystery. The authorities have ascertained most of the facts connected with his death and their suspicions are so strongly grounded that an arrest is expected to take place at any moment.

"Last night Coroner Demers, of St. Martine; Crown Prosecutor Elliott, of Beauharnois; and Chief of Police Perrier, of Valleyfield, drove to St. Barbe. The inquest was formally opened and the jury empanelled, after which an adjournment was made.

"St. Barbe is a small hamlet, but when the correspondent arrived there Daoust's hotel, kept by a brother-in-law of the murdered man, was so crowded that it was almost impossible for the officials of the Crown to gain admittance. The proceedings were purely formal, and inside of half an hour the party were on the way back to Valleyfield with the exception of Crown Prosecutor Elliott, who, it is believed, remained to take the steps necessary for an arrest.

"The residents of Ste. Barbe, and in fact the people for many miles around, are considerably excited over the tragedy, but they close up several degrees tighter than a clam when a newspaper man appears on the scene. They would, however, talk among themselves, and the facts elicited do not differ to any extent from the statement already published. Myer, it seems, was driving to Dundee to see his father-in-law, and on reaching Dupons' hotel at Cascaville, was informed by a relative that his journey would be useless as his father-in-law was away. Myer then accepted an invitation to join a card party. They had not been playing many minutes before a man named Corry appeared on the scene and invited the party to drink with him. Several of the crowd did but Meyer took a cigar.

"The deceased and Corry, it transpires, once loved the same person, the one that now mourns the loss of a kind husband and father of six little ones. The two men commenced to talk over old times and a sad sore was re-opened which led to a serious quarrel. Nothing more than hard words were exchanged, however, and after procuring a pint of high wines Corry departed apparently for home, and Myer did likewise; both leaving within a few minutes of each other. The story of Myers coming home a corpse has already been told."

The deed of the assassin was witnessed by no one and the evidence against the suspected man is almost entirely circumstantial. Crown prosecutor Elliott came back at noon from St. Barbe and has gone on an important journey."

TO WALK AROUND THE WORLD.

HAMILTON, Aug. 24.—Miss Zoe Gayton, the transcontinental pedestrian, who walked from San Francisco to New York in 176 days is in the city. She is having a preliminary canter in company with her manager, Mr. William Marshall, going to Portland, Oregon, where she proposes to start on a walk around the world on a wager of $20,000. She arrived from Niagara Falls on foot, having walked from Albany, N. Y., and left for Detroit last evening.

Mr. J. H. Church, a San Francisco capitalist, backs her in her next effort for $10,000 against $20,000. She will walk from Portland to New York, then by steamer to Liverpool, from whence she will walk across to Dover, take steamer to Calais, and walk to Triest and so on. She expects to average twenty-six miles a day while walking and to complete the journey in eighteen months. Miss Gayton is a vigorous looking woman about 30 years of age and looks fit for the task.

TALK AT THE CAPITAL

Hon. J. A. Chapleau Said to be Wanted in the Cabinet.

HON. MR. ANGERS MAY RESIGN

An English Rubber Manufacturing Firm Seeking Duty Exemption to Enable Them to Establish a Factory in Canada—Tarte After a Position.

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—Mr. M. Frankenburg, a representative of the Globe Rubber Company, of Manchester, Eng., was here looking for information from the Comptroller of Customs that would encourage his company to erect in Canada a manufactory of rubber goods such as would be used for clothing purposes. To a reporter he said that the Government seemed to offer no inducement to manufacturers of this class of goods. Woven waterproof cloth, such as would be used in the manufacture of rubber goods, could not be imported into Canada from England at a lower rate of duty than 12½ per cent. or the same rate as was charged for rubber goods in a manufactured state. Mr. Frakenburg states that he has yet hopes of getting an exemption from duty on the class of material he requires and also on the machinery for the manufactory. The city of Quebec, he said, has offered him a bonus of $3,500 to erect his factory in that city. It would employ between two and three hundred men, and be the largest factory of its kind in Canada.

Rumored Cabinet Change.

It is learned on pretty good authority that a strong effort will be made to get Lieut.-Governor Chapleau back into the Government. It is, however, very doubtful if he will consent to come. Hon. A. R. Angers had a long interview with the Premier before the latter left for the west, and this was the matter discussed: The proposition is to place Mr. Angers on the Supreme Court Bench and put Mr. Chapleau in his place. Had Sir John Thompson's bill of last session, which was for the purpose of allowing the judges of the Supreme Court to retire after a certain period on full salary, passed the House, there would have been no difficulty in carrying out the arrangement, but at present none of the judges seem to care about resigning on the amount prescribed to them by statute. One thing is pretty certain, and that is that Mr. Angers will not be in the Government when an appeal is made to the electors. His presence in the administration has not added any strength to it, it is claimed.

Trade Commissioner to Australia.

J. S. Larke, a former Oshawa manufacturer who contested South Ontario against Hon. John Dryden some years ago, and who was the chosen of Canadian manufacturers for the position of Canadian Commissioner at the world's fair, hopes to secure the position of Dominion Trade Commissioner to Australia. At a banquet to Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, in Toronto, Mr. Larke outlined the duties of such an office and advised its creation, and since that time he and his friends have been urging the creation of the position. It is asserted that Mr. Larke has an official promise of an early appointment to the position.

The Mikado's Cousin.

A cousin of the Emperor of Japan, Prince Komatsu, passed through Ottawa on the C. P. R., en route for his native country, via Vancouver, B.C. He travelled in a special car, which contained, besides himself and his secretary, eight or nine Japanese army officers, who have been ordered to return home to engage in the war with China. The Prince has been in Paris some time educating himself, but when the news reached him that his relative, the Mikado, had declared war against China, he forthwith set out on his return, urged at once by his loyalty to his cousin and sovereign and by his patriotism. He sailed from Paris to New York and from there took rail to the coast, passing through Montreal and Ottawa en route. He sails from Vancouver for home on the Empress of India on Monday.

THREE YOUNG WOMEN DROWNED.

The unfortunates were Mary Lee Read, Belle Chambers and Elimore Garland. The young ladies were bathing in the Amite river when one of their number got beyond her depth. She screamed and the other two went to her assistance and all three were drowned.

Columbus Men Again Go Out.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 24.—The employes of the Hocking Valley railroad at Nelsonville went out on strike yesterday because Receiver Waite has not recognized the old committee of the employes that managed the former strike. The strike promises another tie up on this road.

Scotch Strikers Arrested.

GLASGOW, Aug. 24.—In connection with the coal strikes serious rioting has occurred and several pits have been wrecked by disorderly mobs. Donaldson, the leader of the striking miners, and five other persons prominent during the strike have been arrested.

The U. S. Treasury Balance.

THE REVIVAL OF BUSINESS.

Everybody recognizes the likelihood of a collapse following a boom. It is, perhaps, not as generally recognized that in periods of dulness there is often going on a process of recuperation and conservation of energy which ultimately shows itself in a renewal of good times. In the United States both the elevations and the depressions are more marked than in this country. Our neighbors spend money more freely, embark in new enterprises more readily than we do, and the last few years have illustrated both the advantages and the drawbacks of the two systems. For some time Canadians looked wistfully at the rush of immigration into the United States, the wonderful growth of their cities, the rapid filling up of their new territories. It is idle to suppose that there was not in all this an element of real growth and substantial prosperity. But there was also an element of inflation, something which was not only unproductive in itself, but injurious to the more solid fabric of business. Railroad business was carried on recklessly in advance of the wants of the country. The watering of stocks gave a false appearance of increase of wealth, the only real result being an increase of the wealth of members of monopolies, trusts and combines at the expense of the community. In considering the value of a stream of immigration, account must be taken of quality as well as of quantity, and a large proportion of the new arrivals were of such a character as not to add to the real strength and prosperity of the community. Many of them also showed a preference for city as against country life, thus increasing a tendency which was already too strong. The fiscal system of the country has for its basis the creation of an artificial dearness of commodities, and against this there were continually working the forces of science, tending to a cheapening of production of all kinds. Finding that protection could not maintain the price of wheat, the farmers lent a willing ear to the preaching that the real trouble was in the monetary standard of value, that wheat was too cheap because money was too dear, and that the result of their toil was being absorbed in ever-increasing measure by the gold-bugs. So, side by side with the agitation for tariff reform proceeded a demand for a change in the monetary system, for free silver or a readjustment of the relations between the two metals. The Congress of 1890 defied the tariff reformers by carrying protection to a greater height than ever, made an effort to deal with the evil trusts and combines, and compromised with the silver men by a measure compelling Government to purchase silver at a fixed rate, issue silver certificates against it and coin a certain proportion of the metal. In 1892 the tariff reformers gained what was supposed to be an overwhelming victory at the polls. From that time until this moment the tariff has been in uncertainty, and during the greater part of 1893 the currency question was also a subject of continual agitation and controversy. In the summer of 1893 came the great crash in business, the fall in the values of stocks, the failure of banks, the closing down of factories. Mr. Cleveland's message attributed these things mainly to the silver legislation of 1890. It cannot be said, however, that the repeal of the silver-purchasing clauses, effected after three months of discussion, produced any sudden or marked change in the situation. It appeared to be only one element in the gradual process of recovery. It was not so much a remedy in itself as a withdrawal of an unsound and ineffectual attempt to remedy other evils. The tariff remained still in abeyance and the recuperative process was slow. Now that a measure, however inadequate, seems likely to become law, business men in the United States, of both political parties, agree that the improvement will go on at an accelerated pace. The republic possesses enormous recuperative power and no one can doubt that it will soon be once more enjoying its former prosperity.

Canada has not experienced such vicissitudes of fortunes, good or bad. In the past few years its bankers and business men have been pursuing a cautious, conservative policy, and our commercial and financial institutions, though severely tried, did not share in the disasters of 1893. The great natural industries of the country have not been enjoying marked prosperity, and the market for some of our most important products was seriously injured by the McKinley law. There was some compensation in the increase of our exports to Great Britain, and so far as this increase represents a profitable trade there is no reason why we should not maintain it, whatever improved access to the American market we may obtain. So far as the United States is concerned it is reasonable to suppose that Canada will profit, not only by the increased market for lumber, barley, wool, live animals, etc., but by the general results of a return of prosperity across the border. We suffered by their misfortunes, though the force of the blow was broken for us, and we may expect that business conditions will improve here in sympathy with theirs. We have had no disturbance in the currency and no demand for free silver. Our political issues are tariff reform and the application to the administration of public affairs of those principles of prudence, honesty and common sense which have been safeguards of our commercial system.—Globe.

Found the Body of Matheson.

KINCARDINE, Ont., Aug. 23.—The body of Angus Matheson, who mysteriously disappeared last fall and who was thought by a number of his friends to have been murdered, was found yesterday by the Government dredge while at work in the harbor. The body is badly decomposed and still has on the fur coat he wore on the night of his disappearance.

A Modern Sham.

Physicians are sometimes slightly put to their wits' ends to find a suitable excuse for neglecting an office patient when wishing to devote a few minutes to something else, but a Philadelphia specialist quite distinguished himself in this line with one of his lady patients the other day. He was about to treat her foot with electricity, and she had just removed her stocking in preparation when the mail arrived. Desirous of reading one of the letters immediately, this diplomat gracefully secured time by saying, in his most professional tones, "Just expose your foot to the atmosphere for a little while."

This Sale will be a record breaker.

Rev. Mr. Hirst Exonerated.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 24.—Rev. A. C. Hirst, president of the University of the Pacific and a pastor of Simpson Memorial Methodist Episcopal church in this city, has been cleared by the ecclesiastical court of the charges of gross immorality preferred against him by Prof. Rogers. The verdict says: "We find the charges maliciously and absolutely false. After a most careful examination of the testimony it is our judgment that the charges have their origin in a wicked conspiracy to defame the character of the accused."

Paying Off the Militia.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 24.—Three Indianapolis banks have advanced $40,000 to Governor Matthews to pay off the State militia for services during the riots at Hammond and in the mining region. There was no regular fund in the State Treasury from which the amount could be legally drawn. It is understood Governor Matthews mortgaged his fine stock farm in Vermillion county to secure the loans. He will appeal to the next Legislature to reimburse him.

The Pope's Denunciation of Zola.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—The Pope's denunciation of Zola's "Lourdes," in his letter to Mgr. Ricard, has stirred Catholics in France deeply. It is supposed to indicate that his Holiness makes belief in Lourdes' miracles a dogma. Previously there has been no clear declaration on this subject. Zola is revelling in the advertising which the papal letter has given him and is giving interviews to reporters concerning his next book. The title, he says, will be "Rome."

Testing the Pneumatic Gun.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., Aug. 24.—The test for rapidity of the pneumatic gun yesterday was as great a success as the test for accuracy on Wednesday. Ten shots were fired from the 15 inch gun within 15 minutes. The gun allowed 40 minutes for this trial so the pneumatic torpedo and constructian company did it in 25 minutes less than required. The full calibre explosive shells will be fired to-day.

Objections to Dilke's Tour.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—It is stated the French government will not permit Sir Charles Dilke to make a tour of France's eastern frontier fortresses, which he is said to have planned for the parliamentary recess. The French press protests against allowing foreigners to pry into French arsenals and forts.

Embezzled a Hundred Thousand.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 24.—Assistant District Attorney Samuel B. Griffith said that Harry A. Gardner, the defaulting cashier of the Second National Bank of Altoona, is en route for China or Japan and has with him $100,000 in bank notes. Gardner was seen in Portland, Oregon, a few days ago.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 24, 1894.

Local wholesalers report the demand for sugar dull. Prices, however, are unchanged at $4.45 to $4.55 for granulated and 3¾ to 4¼c for yellows.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—Wheat is firm at about 53c outside for new. On the street 200 bushels brought 55c. Oats on the street sold at from 29 to 30c. Some 300 bushels came in. Peas are just beginning to move. For the time being they are king of the market and quoted higher than wheat. From 55 to 56c outside is the ruling price.

At St. Louis sheep receipts were 1,700. Market dull and dragging. Natives, $1.65 to $2.60; lambs, $1.60 to $3.25.

At E st Liberty, Pa., the sheep supply was light; demand light; extra, $3 to $3.20; good, $2 to $2.30; fair, $1.40 to $1.60; common, 50c to $1; yearlings, $3.25 to $3; lambs, $2 to $3.80.

The bank returns at London bear all the records. The reserve is nearly £81,000,000 and the coin and bullion £89,597,400, an increase for the week of £793,000. Of this £483,000 was gold imported, and the rest was from home. The speculative markets were better, especially for Americans, which closed at about the best.

At East Buffalo there was a very light demand for anything, but good to choice fat stock, and the amount of trading done was rather light at that. The export demand was very limited and lower prices were paid for both ewes and wethers. Sales of the best lambs were at $4 to $4.30, no very extra being on sale. Two loads of Canada lambs on sale yesterday were shipped out for sale. The market closed decidedly dull and weak for all kinds except strictly choice lambs, but the bulk of the offerings were sold.

The New York stock market completely changed as compared with its hitherto well balanced condition. The leading stocks was scarce, and buying orders of considerable size were plentiful. There is good authority for the statement that prominent capitalists, among whom are mentioned Drexel, Morgan & Co., the Rockefellers, the Goulds, and others equally prominent, are actively taking the bull side. In the early trading the bears fairly scrambled for stocks. Later in the day a few of the more venturesome again took the short side, but without any perceptible effect on values. Sterling exchange is much weaker and reflects a check of London selling.

CURED TO STAY.

Dr. E. A. Rose Disappoints the Doubters—He Once had Diabetes, but has it no More—Attending to his Big Practice.

PORTLAND, Ont., Aug. 20.—The account which appeared in many Canadian papers a few months ago of Dr. E. A. Rose having been cured of diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills, attracted widespread attention at the time. Many doubters, though, protested that the cure was not a permanent one. The best proof that these doubters were wrong is the fact that for a year back Dr. Rose has been attending to his practice which has always been a large one, in this village and the surrounding country, and has never had any return of the disease. His health is first-class and the doctor is not compelled to take any of the precautions as to diet or otherwise that are always ordered for people threatened or troubled with diabetes.

Dynamite in Sheaves of Wheat.

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 24.—While threshers were at work on the farm of George Whitmer, on the western edge of the city, a box of dynamite was found concealed in a sheaf of wheat. Half an hour later a dynamite cartridge which had been secreted in another sheaf was fed to the separator and exploded, wrecking the machine and setting fire to the barn. Messrs. John Whitner, Jacob Meyer and Charles Lacey attempted to rescue the horses in the barn. They failed, and Meyer lost his life in the attempt, while Whitner was fatally and Lacey painfully injured. Four horses, one mule and several cattle were burned to death, and Whitner's entire wheat and oat crop and many farm implements were destroyed.

Two Clever Female Sharpers.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—The police are looking for a Mrs. Bellah and a young looking woman about 26 years of age, who accompanied her in male attire as her son. They claim to be from Philadelphia and are now supposed to be in this city. Claiming to be distant relatives of the late President, and pretending to be gathering material for a history of the Lincoln family in the United States, they are charged with travelling about the country victimizing people connected with the eminent family by securing their endorsements on worthless drafts.

Raided the Moonshiners.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A special from Danbury, N.C., says: "A squad of revenue officers, commanded by A. H. Vanderford, has just had an exciting raid on the moonshiners in the famous Smith settlement, in the northeastern part of this county. It has been ascertained that James Taylor, a noted moonshiner, and another moonshiner named Cardwell were killed, and three others, including a negro, were dangerously wounded. Before reaching Taylor's the officers destroyed five stills and a large quantity of whiskey, beer and low wines.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

The Flood Gates Opened.

Yesterday morning the stop logs at the head gates on Rogers' mill race were taken out and the water let in the mill race which has been completely dry for the past five weeks, in order to allow repairs being made and new flumes and crib work being added to the Dickson Company's flour and saw mills. Formerly the water-wheels of the flour mill were situated under the mill and the waste water from these wheels were constantly blocking the outlet, obstructing and lessening the water power. The wheels have now been removed and will be put in position in boxes erected between both flour and saw mills. This will be a decided improvement, and when the improvements necessary are completed the mills will be in first class running order.

Mr. W. J. Devlin's Challenge.

Mr. J. Devlin, harness-maker, presents a pair of short straw horse collars, at the Peterborough Central exhibition, and challenges any other shop in the county or Midland district for competition. Those who compete in this event cannot import a man to manufacture them. The maker must be a citizen of the place he is working in at least six months, and the competitor must prove that the collar was made in his establishment, and he must also be working for a man that competes. In making this challenge, Mr. Devlin does not claim that he is the only collar maker that can make a first class collar, but issues this challenge, he says, in order to give the public an opportunity of finding out who makes the best collar for fit, finish and style. Besides, the rest of his harness is not neglected on account of his claim to making a superior class of collars. There will, no doubt, be great rivalry among the harness-makers of the district in this event.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM.

Sudden Death This Morning of Hon. C. F. Fraser.

TORONTO, Aug. 24th.—This morning Hon. C. F. Fraser, late Commissioner of Public Works in the Ontario Government, was found dead in his bed chamber, adjoining his office in the Parliament Buildings.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, Aug. 24th.

This morning at the police court the adjourned hearing of the charge against Thos. Dunn (laid by Chief Rossel) for conducting a hotel without the necessary accommodation, as required by the town by-laws 703 and 704, was resumed. Inspector Cochrane produced the minute book of the commissioners, showing that on July 31st a license was issued to Thos. Dunn "without accommodation" as permitted by statute. The minutes further showed that in April, 1893, a regulation had been passed by the Board of License Commissioners of West Peterborough, declaring that a number not exceeding two persons, qualified to have a tavern license in the town of Peterborough, be exempted from having all the accommodations required by law.

The magistrate held that, inasmuch as this regulation had never been repealed or amended, it was still in force, and the licenses issued under it were valid. The charge was dismissed.

The same circumstances and conditions applying to the case of E. Brown and C. LeBrun, similarly charged, that charge was also dismissed.

The case of Frank Fairen, who had been charged with keeping a hotel without the required stable accommodation, was brought up. Evidence was given to show that he had all necessary accommodation required by law, and the charge was dismissed.

Brown Bros. were charged with selling liquor to A. Rountree, who had no license, for the purpose of re-selling the same. Mr. Brown was not aware that selling liquor under such circumstances was contrary to law; notwithstanding this a fine of $20 and costs was imposed, as in a court of law, ignorance of the law is no justification of even an involuntary breach of its provisions. In all these cases, Mr. Edwards represented the town, and Mr. R. R. Hall appeared for the defendants, and in T. Dunn's case Mr. R. E. Wood represented the license commissioners, in a view of a possible conflict between the town by-laws and the provisions of the statute.

THE LATE HON. C. F. FRASER.

In a brief despatch in another place in this issue, is recorded the death of the Hon. C. F. Fraser, who has occupied a prominent and creditable position in Provincial politics for the last twenty years. It will be remembered that for some time past Mr. Fraser has been in delicate health, a circumstance that led him, to the regret of both political friends and opponents, to retire from public life, so far as his position in the Cabinet was concerned. On Feb. 28th, in the Ontario Legislature, Sir Oliver Mowat announced the retirement of Hon. Mr. Fraser, and in so doing, paid a warm tribute to the value of his services and the phenomenal integrity that had marked his administrative acts during his long tenure of office. Mr. Meredith, the leader of the Opposition, also joined the Attorney-General in paying a warm tribute of praise to the retiring minister; and all his fellow-members regretted the severance of associations that had been so pleasant. The deceased gentleman was fifty four years of age, having been born in Brockville in 1839. His early youth and manhood were spent there and largely by his own exertions and energy he gained an education that fitted him for the bar to which he was admitted in 1865. He was made a Q.C. in 1876. In his native town Mr. Fraser was held in high esteem for both his personal and public qualities. His consideration for members of his own family was a conspicuous subject of praise. As a public character his great abilities secured him the position of the representative of his riding and of a minister of the Ontario Government. In 1873, Nov 25th, he was appointed a member of the Executive Council and was Provincial Secretary and Registrar from that date till April 4th, 1874, when he was appointed Commissioner of Public Works, a position which he held with the greatest success till Feb. 28th, 1894, when the results in great part of assiduous devotion to the duties of his office—broken health compelled his retirement. In the death of Hon Mr. Fraser the public loses a servant who has filled his trust in an irreproachable manner, and a statesman of mark in Ontario in every public capacity which he occupied. While he was a debater of ability and force, unexcelled in the house during his twenty years of tenure of his portfolio, his executive ability and indefatigable labour in the Department of Public Works, was perhaps the position in which he won his laurels most worthily. He has never spared himself, and every detail of his department came under his personal knowledge. While the administration of his department was marked by energetic ability, yet in these days of political venality and jobbery, the entire freedom from questionable methods that marked it, is his highest praise. His spirit as a minister is embodied in the new parliament buildings. In view of the elaborate and elegant nature of the work, their cost is wonderfully moderate, and in view of the fact that not a single dollar was improperly expended or went to enrich any contractor, and that its erection was perfectly free from jobbery — these buildings will be a fitting and enduring monument to a provincial statesman. But these buildings are not the only evidences of his fidelity. He was at the head of his department for over twenty years and has controlled and superintended expenditures of about five millions of dollars, and in connection with no part of this has there been even a charge of favouritism, mal-administration or corrupt expenditure of a single dollar. This is a record of which a public man may well be proud and one that will be embalmed in the history of the province he served so well, as an example to the youth of the country, who will, in the course of time, take the responsibilities of public life upon them. As a public servant, Mr. Fraser's career entitles him to the distinction of having, for a score of years, "worn the white flower of a blameless life."

The day's proceedings will wind up with a grand promenade concert and dance, in the Skating Rink, in the evening, for which event Simons & Connors have also been engaged to give one of their characteristic and humorous performances, consisting of dancing, tumbling, acrobatic feats, etc. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance at both events.

LIVE LAKEFIELD'S CIVIC HOLIDAY.

ITS HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL CELEBRATION.

The Citizens and Village Take a Holiday—The Sports and Races in Connection with its Celebration—The Regatta and the Concert—A Celebration Creditable to the Villagers and the Committees.

Live Lakefield celebrated her civic holiday, on Thursday, with great spirit and success. The weather was exceedingly propitious. It was neither too hot nor too cold, though the dust was considerably more abundant than was necessary. The sport committee had been somewhat afraid of rain, though all the rest of Lakefield and the surrounding country—the shriveled grass, the baked, parched earth, drooping trees, and the panting flocks and herds, would have welcomed copious showers. A smoky haze, through which the August sun gazed with a red eye, as though he had been out with the boys the night before, fringed the horison and shut in the village from the outer panarama of scenery with which nature has decked her vicinity. The villagers were early astir. With closed doors to home and shop, forth came merchants, mechanics and labourers, maidens and matrons, young and old, who for the day had thrown aside the plodding cares of every-day life, and threw their hearts into the celebration of their civic holiday. Both village and people were in holiday attire. Business was entirely suspended, an enthusiastic villager declaring that everything was shut up except his wife's mouth. The citizens joined en masse in celebrating the annual civic event, and young vied with the old in giving Lakefield a grand gala day.

THE MORNING PROGRAMME.

The programme for the day generally was an attractive and varied one and showed the committee had not spared themselves in providing an excellent amusement bill of fare for the citizens. During the forenoon the village brass band paraded the streets and played their favourite selections, while skirmishing lines of boys and girls in sportive mood, stirred with the strains of the music, frolicked along the line of march and set the pace for the search for enjoyment that marked the citizens during the day.

THEY PLAY BALL.

The first programme event of the day was the baseball match between a nine of Auburn and a home team. The game was played on the agricultural grounds and the score—18 to 8—was somewhat in keeping—Auburn got the 18 and Lakefield got the 8. The game was fairly well contested, but Lakefield had to yield to the superior pitching of their opponents from Auburn. The Lakefield lads, however, play a square manly game and have the elements of a good team, which a little more practice would make it. The following is the score as far as kept:—

HURLING THE DISCUS.

Among the other features of the morning was a quoit match between two local teams. This match afforded considerable amusement to those interested in the sport. The result was as follows: First, J. Robinson and Arthur Kidd, 2; second, Levi Payne and J. H. McWilliams, 1.

This ended the morning sports and everybody adjourned for dinner. About noon the people began to assemble for the sports that were to be a prominent feature of the occasion. The sports were held at the Agricultural grounds, where the events of the morning had taken place. They consisted of horse races and the usual sports and games.

The latter were well contested, but the racing events were not exciting, the races being somewhat of a processional character.

THE RACES.

The races were run off by an energetic racing committee, whose names appear in the list of committees. The judges were Dr. Beatty and James Dinwoodie. The first event was a running race, in which there were four entries. The purses, $8, $5 and $2 for first, second and third, respectively. The following is a summary of the results, best two in three heats:—

| | |
|---|---|
| The Jones mare | 1 1 |
| Crazy Jack (M.G. Walker, town) | 3 2 |
| Madill's mare | 2 4 |
| Carveth's horse | 4 3 |

The first three were winners.

In the named trotting race, purse $10, $7 and $3, there were three entries and the result is as below:

| | |
|---|---|
| F McKee's mare | 1 1 |
| H Garbutt's mare | 2 2 |
| G Preston's colt | 3 3 |

There were also three entries for the three minute open trot, for purses of $25, $1 and $5. The result was as follows:—

| | |
|---|---|
| M Connors' Fred S | 1 1 |
| Elmhirst's "Ontario Chief" | 2 2 |
| —— gray mare | 3 3 |

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

These events attracted considerable attention and were well contested. The most of the successful contestants were from Peterborough. These are the results:—

Men's running long jump—1st T. Ridpath, 17 ft. 6 in.; 2nd — Murphy, 16 ft. 9 in.

Men's hop, step and jump—1st J. W. Thirnbeck, 38 ft. 5 in.; 2nd — Murphy, 38 ft. 5 in.

THE REGATTA.

The sports and races were run off promptly and satisfactorily. At the conclusion the crowd adjourned to the lake side, where the regatta was run off. The wharf was fringed several feet deep with spectators. The beautiful sheet spread out in front of them with its farther shore fringed with the refreshing green of the trees, was alive with canoes and skiffs, spectators of the canoeing events, but it must be stated that they did not all agree to keep the course clear.

The first event to claim attention was the open single canoe race with either single or double paddles; prize, a single racing canoe, value $30. The entries were W. Jarvis and W. McIlmoyle, Lakefield, and Stephen Nicholls, Bobcaygeon. The race, at the start, was with Nicholls, who depended upon a single blade, while his opponents had double paddles. Nicholls seemed to have lost considerable by not steering as direct a course as his opponents. On the return from the turning buoy, both McIlmoyle and Jarvis forged ahead, keeping well together. McIlmoyle was in the lead till within a canoe length or two of the finish, when Jarvis made a strong spurt and crossed the line about half a canoe length ahead. Considerable discussion of this finish could be overheard, the puzzle being how McIlmoyle could have lost the race when he apparently had it in hand. The general verdict seemed to be that single paddles were "not in it" with the double blades. Nicholls is a game young canoeist and has beaten some first class men. Yet he was left behind in this race, though he paddled well and did not seem to be greatly distressed with his mile of stiff paddling.

In the boys double canoe race there were several entries, and the race was lively. It was a half mile course—from the turning buoy to the finish. Masters Andrew Miller and Robert Kidd had not much fear of competition when they crossed the line, as they had considerable daylight between them and the next brace of paddlers.

The other event, the double canoe race for adult paddlers, did not materialize, the three required entries not filling, but something else filled and furnished fun galore. This was the water tournament. For this there were a dozen or so entries. Half of the canoes ranged themselves on one side and facing the finish line. An equal number of canoes were told off against them, each having his antagonist named. In each canoe was a man standing, while an assistant sitting in the stern propelled the canoe against the enemy. Each tilter was armed with a "lance" like tilting knights of old, though the tip bore what looked like a bath sponge. Each knight aimed as he met his opponent in mid career to "unhorse" him. The effect was a wild charge with the lances, with the result in most cases that both contesting knights and squires were plunged into the water and the canoes overturned. This happened to all but Douglas Baptie and his squire, G. Postlethwaite, and to these was awarded the victors' crown as conquerers in the tournament.

This finished the day events of a successful day's celebration which attracted no small number of persons to the village, Peterborough contributing a large share of the crowd. The events of the day were well managed and the civic celebration reflects credit upon the committees having the affair in charge. The following gentlemen composed the several committees:—

Lakefield well deserves the title the EXAMINER has bestowed upon it—"Live Lakefield." It is a bright, brisk, pretty village, full of stir and life and its citizens have more than the usual enterprise and public spirit usually manifested by village communities.

A PRIVATE ENTERPRITE.

During the afternoon a private enterprise was in full swing in the grounds of the Tremont House. The LaBel Brothers gave a clever performance on the slack wire and trapeze. In his slack wire performance, Mr. Harry LaBel proved himself a clever equilibrist and went through his delicate work gracefully and without any halt or hitch. Mr. Maurice LaBel on the trapeze performed some of his original and surprising acts. His high rope walking was a clever exhibition, executed with a degree of confidence and skill, which only long and careful training could acquire. Mr. Will Bowman assisted as clown, and varied the performance with his funny comacalities, tumbling, etc., amid the cheers of the large crowd of spectators.

The Change from Girlhood to Womanhood — is fraught with dangers. At this period the young woman is especially sensitive, and many nervous troubles, which continue through life, have their origin at this time. If there be pain, headache, and nervous disturbances, or the general health not good, the judicious use of medicine should be employed. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best tonic and nervine at this time. The best bodily condition results from its use. It's a remedy specially indicated for those delicate weaknesses and derangements that afflict womenkind at one period or another.

For all women, at all times of life, in all cases of peculiar nature, the "Prescription" is the safe agent that builds up, strengthens, and cures.

In catarrhal inflammation, in chronic disorders and displacements common to women, it is guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money is refunded.

A great many medicines "relieve" Catarrh in the Head. That means that it's driven from the head into the throat and lungs. But, by its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy perfectly and permanently cures.

COREA'S KING SIDES WITH JAPAN.

He Renounces His Vassalage to the Chinese Emperor.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Neither the foreign office nor the Chinese legation has received any news of the battles mentioned by the Times correspondent yesterday. At the legation the officials say that General Yeh, who formerly commanded the Asan, has joined his force of 2,000 men to the Chinese northern army at Ping Yang. The success of this movement, the Chinese say, prove that the Japanese troops in Corea are either weak or negligent.

A despatch to a news agency in this city states that the king of Corea has declared himself independent of the Chinese government, and has appealed to Japan for assistance to expel the Chinese from the country.

The Japanese nobles have subscribed $80,000,000 as a fund to be used in the prosecution of the war. The fund draws no interest.

FIVE PERSONS KILLED.

PARIS, Tenn., Aug. 23.—As a Paducah, Tenn., and Alabama railroad north-bound train was nearing Hazel, Ky., about 15 miles north of Paris, last evening, in passing a crossing it struck a waggon loaded with people and five of the occupants met their death as follows: Misses Jennie and Lillie Ray, aged 18 and 20, daughters of J. T. Ray; his son, Tobe Ray; and two young ladies, the Misses Hannon.

Robbery on the High Seas.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 23.—The six men of the crew of the schooner Emma, charged with assaulting and robbing the bum boatman, Gillman, of Mooretown, Ont., of some money and a hatchet while both vessels were alongside the Canadian shore, off Stag Island, July 26, were examined before United States Commissioner Graves yesterday. The charge against the men has been reduced from piracy to that of robbing a vessel on the high seas. The result of the examination was that Gray, Willis and McLaughlin were discharged. Captain Cooper, of the Emma, was held in $500 bail to await the action of the grand jury. Johnson was held in $1,000. The testimony against Murphy was not very strong, and he was held in $200 bail. The attorneys for the defence claimed that there is no law by which to hold any of the men except, perhaps, Johnson, who took Gilman's purse and hatchet from his boat.

Sir Charles Tupper Ill.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Sir Charles Tupper, the Canadian High Commissioner, while returning from a visit to Scotland, was taken ill on the train. His attendants advised that he should be taken from the railway carriage and placed under medical treatment, and this was accordingly done as soon as the train drew up at the ancient Episcopal city of Chester, some sixteen miles from Liverpool. Sir Charles caught a chill while journeying on the train, but his physician expresses no fear of his ultimate recovery. The are many Canadians travelling in Great Britain this month, and several who called at the office of the High Commissioner this morning were alarmed at the first serious reports of the sudden illness of Sir Charles.

An Excursion Steamer Aground.

PICTON, Ont., Aug. 23.—The steamer Carmona, chartered to take an excursion from Napanee and Bay Parts to Oswego, went aground yesterday in the mouth of the harbor. She has about 300 excursionists on board. She is hard on in mud bottom. The steam barge Resolute, the Magnet and the Merritt are working to relieve her. The passengers were transferred to the steamer Merritt and taken back to Napanee.

Escaped from Wentworth Jail.

HAMILTON, Aug. 23.—Harry Cartwright, aged 19, a prisoner serving two months' sentence in the county jail for theft, escaped from that institution yesterday, and has not yet been captured. Cartwright's sentence would expire on Saturday, but he was to have been taken to Toronto for trial on another charge and it is probable the knowledge of this fact prompted him to make his escape.

Chicago Distillery Closes Down.

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—The Shufeldt Distillery was shut down yesterday in accordance with the notice given by the Whiskey Trust. There is now but one distillery in operation in Chicago.

Killed by a Bursting Wheel.

PAPINEAUVILLE, Que., Aug. 23.—Albert Brasseau, aged 23, single, was accidentally killed here yesterday while working in Desjardines' foundry. He was doing some polishing at an emery wheel when the casting he held got jammed between the wheels, causing the grinding wheel to break. The flying pieces struck Brasseau, killing him almost instantly.

Received the Degree of D.D.

WHITBY, Ont., Aug. 23.—The faculty and Senate of the North Nebraska Normal College at their closing exercises this week conferred the honorary degree of D.D. upon the Rev. Robert Cade, late pastor of the Methodist Tabernacle here, now in Port Perry and formerly of Port Arthur and Sault Ste. Marie.

Experimenting With Snake Bites.

The Charges Against General Eseta.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The warrants have not yet been served on Eseta and his four companions. They are charged with murder, arson and robbery.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 23, 1894.

The grain market here was quiet. Sales of new wheat outside were reported at 52c white; 53c was being asked for old. On the street old brought 57c and new 55c. Some 300 bushels came in. Street sales of oats comprised 600 bushels which brought from 29 to 30c.

The Chicago wheat market was bearish on lower cables, the close being 3-4 to 7-8c lower. Corn showed considerable firmness and held its price better than wheat. Oats were strong, September closing unchanged and cash 1-4 to 1-2c higher.

At East Liberty the sheep supply was light and market dull. Extra, $3 to $3.20; good, $2.20 to $2.60; fair, $1.50 to $1.90; common, 50c to $1; yearlings. $1.75 to $3.25; lambs, $2 to $3; veal calves, $6 to $6.20; heavy and thin calves, $2.50 to $5.

A further rise in silver was the only feature in London. Reports are current that the Indian mints are probably going to coin a British trade dollar to take the place of a Mexican dollar. The stock markets were dull, with no business but realizations. Americans were weaker, particularly Atchison and Norfolk.

In New York the early market was narrower, professional operations being the feature. Bear operations were more in evidence. They were confined especially to the railroad shares, and did not result in any appreciable decline. The industrial group led in point of activity and advanced. The money and exchange markets are in a less satisfactory shape from a Wall street point of view. The attention of the street is becoming more closely centred upon Western crop prospects. Recent reports are more assuring, as they indicate a larger corn crop west of the Mississippi river than was thought possible ten days ago.

When the Nerve Centres Need Nutrition.

MR. FRANK BAUER, BERLIN, ONT.

Perhaps you know him? In Waterloo he is known as one of the most popular and successful business men of that enterprising town. As managing executor of the Kuntz estate, he is at the head of a vast business, representing an investment of many thousands of dollars, and known to many people throughout the Province. Solid financially, Mr. Frank Bauer also has the good fortune of enjoying solid good health, and if appearances indicate anything, it is safe to predict that there's a full half century of active life still ahead for him. But it's only a few months since, while nursed as an invalid at the Mt. Clemens sanitary resort, when his friends in Waterloo were dismayed with a report that he was at the point of death.

"There's no telling where I would have been had I kept on the old treatment," said Mr. Bauer, with a merry laugh, the other day, while recounting his experiences as a very sick man. "Mt. Clemens," he continued, "was the last resort in my case. For months previous I had been suffering indescribable tortures. I began with a loss of appetite and sleepless nights. Then, as the trouble kept growing, I was getting weaker, and began losing flesh and strength rapidly. My stomach refused to retain food of any kind. During all this time I was under medical treatment, and took everything prescribed, but without relief. Just about when my condition seemed most hopeless, I heard of a wonderful cure effected in a case somewhat similar to mine, by the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and I finally tried that. On the first day of its use I began to feel that it was doing what no other medicine had done. The first dose relieved the distress completely. Before night I actually felt hungry and ate with an appetite such as I had not known for months. I began to pick up in strength with surprising rapidity, slept well nights, and before I knew it I was eating three square meals regularly every day, with as much relish as ever. I have no hesitation whatever in saying that the South American Nervine Tonic cured me when all other remedies failed. I have recovered my old weight—over 200 pounds—and never felt better in my life."

Mr. Frank Bauer's experience is that of all others who have used the South American Nervine Tonic. Its instantaneous action in relieving distress and pain is due to the direct effect of this great remedy upon the nerve centres, whose fagged vitality is energized instantly by the very first dose. It is a great, a wondrous cure for all nervous diseases, as well as indigestion and dyspepsia. It goes to the real source of trouble direct, and the sick always feel its marvellous sustaining and restorative power at once, on the very first day of its use.

MORE OR LESS FUNNY.

A FEW STORIES WITH A HUMOROUS TURN IN THEM.

A Reassured Parson—No Longer Did the Timid Clergyman Fear While the Sailors Swore—Riding Out a Kansas Gale—The Rights of a Railroad Passenger.

Jackson Peters leaned back in his chair, says Harper's Weekly, and slowly blew a cloud of smoke toward the ceiling. "Jones," he said, "I want to ask your opinion in regard to the probability of a story which was told me the other day."

"Well, Jackson?" was the guarded reply of the cautious Jones.

"It struck me," continued Peters, "that a man who had told as many—that is to say, a man who has told as much of what I may call awe-inspiring truth as you have ought to be a good judge of the probability of a story. It was a cyclone story which I was going to ask you about."

"Most cyclone stories are palpable lies, Jackson."

"No, doubt. The point is this: He said he had seen straws driven through inch boards by the force of the wind."

"It never happened, Jackson. That is a stock lie told of every cyclone that blows. Your friend imposed upon your youth, my boy. He would never have dared to tell such a manifest and self-heralded lie to Robinson or Smith. I must admit, though, that the force of the wind in a genuine cyclone is considerable. When I lived in Kansas in the '70s I had a quantity of poultry, but it was blown away in the first cyclone of the season except a black Spanish rooster. He clung to a grass root with his bill, and allowed his tail to crack and whip in the wind like a yacht penant. He rode out the gale, though most of his feathers were blown off. Subsequently I found some of them imbedded over half an inch in my grindstone."

"Yes," returned Peters, "I presume my friend was trying to impose on my adolescence."

"I think so, Jackson. I had considerable experience with cyclones that summer in Kansas. But I learned to handle myself so that I did not mind them much. I soon saw the fallacy of depending on cyclone cellars and that sort of thing. The fundamental difficulty of all such things is that you try to hold yourself firmly in one place. It is as if a ship in a gale should tie up to a post (supposing midocean posts for the time being), instead of driving before the tempest. The first cyclone that summer, of course, I went down cellar, like other folks. My horse was soon blown away. The next thing I knew the cellar went, too, rolling over and over like a silk hat. I was soon spilled out. With infinite labor I crawled back in the teeth of the wind, intending to take refuge in the hole the cellar came out of. To my consternation, I found that had blown away, also. I then followed the example of the rooster, clung to a root, and allowed my legs to flutter and snap in the gale like a weather signal flag."

Reassured by Bad Language.

A good story is told by the Illustrated London News of a timid clergyman just arrived from a trip abroad. Coming home on the Berlin, of the American Line, the weather was alarmingly tempestuous. The wind blew a hurricane, the vessel naturally rolled and the parson took fright. He left his stateroom and staggered along to the office of John Kavanagh, the purser, who is a bit of a wag, and said:

"I'm sure, Mr. Purser, you'll pardon me, but I feel so dreadfully agitated. Kindly inform me, are we in any positive danger?"

Kavanagh replied: "Come with me a moment," and he led the way to the forecastle. "Now," continued he, "bend your ear down there and tell me what you hear?"

"Now do you for a moment think that those sailors would go on in that profane fashion if there was real danger?" asked the consoling Kavanagh.

"True, true," replied the parson, somewhat calmed by the assurance. "One may sometimes pluck the sweet flower of comfort from the vile cloaca of sin. The ways of Providence are indeed inscrutable," and back he crawled to his room, in a degree reassured.

Two hours later the storm had increased in violence, the wind raged and howled more wildly, and huge waves broke over and seemed to submerge the great ship. The parson was out of his room again, more scared than before, and was seen silently, nervously fumbling his way along the wet deck to the forecastle. He was deadly pale and trembled with excitement. He listened. The sailors were shouting and a tremendous oath amid the din reached his ear.

"Thank heaven," murmured he; "they are still at it; they still blaspheme. There is no danger yet; the Lord be praised!"

Insisted On His Rights.

A west-bound train had just pulled out of the Union station at Albany, says the Express, and the conductor was harvesting tickets. All the seats were taken and several passengers were obliged to stand up. Among the latter was a diffident-looking, mild-mannered man, who, much to the conductor's surprise, refused to give up a ticket.

"When I get a seat you get a ticket," he remarked mildly, but firmly; "you are probably aware that the company cannot collect fares from passengers whom it does not provide with seats."

"Oh, come now, that don't go; I want your ticket, see?" Thus spoke the conductor, in a tone that indicated that he believed he would intimidate the mild-mannered man.

"We'll see about that," growled the conductor, who was becoming quite warm in the region of the collar.

"I would if I were you," remarked the passenger, still mildly, smiling pleasantly.

Then the conductor hustled around and finally found a brother conductor who was going up the road away, whom he induced to give up his seat to the mildly firm passenger.

"There's a seat for you; now give me that ticket," said the conductor in a ferocious tone.

"Certainly, here it is."

Nature Has Provided

A remedy for every ache and pain, and science through ceaseless activity and experiment is constantly wresting the secrets of her domain. A new and wonderful discovery has recently been made by means of which tens of thousands will be freed from pain. # ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

Clear Case of Contempt.

The dispenser of the finest brands of western justice sat on a soap box, says the Detroit Free Press, with a law book spread before him on an up ended whisky barrel.

"Who arrested this man?" he asked as the prisoner stood up before him.

"Hoss stealin'."

"Kin you prove it?"

"You betcher life we kin; we ketched him in the act."

The judge looked ugly.

"Will you swear to it?" he asked.

"Course we will; didn't we jist tell you we ketched him at it?"

"All right, gents," said the judge blandly, as he laid his gun across the law book, "I'll fine each an' every one of you $10 and costs for contempt of court in fetchin' him here, and dismiss the case agin the prisoner. You oughter strung him up when you ketched him."

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

CRICKET.

The Millbrook Reporter in referring to the report of the Millbrook-Peterborough cricket match which appeared in the local press, says: "The above appeared in both the Review and Examiner, verbatum et literatim, no doubt handed in by some disappointed one, who could not carry back his defeat on Saturday night with the good grace of sporting etiquette and we much fear that the visit to the Millbrook cow pasture must have developed the bovine spirit of the extract. Oh, no, you uninjured dear boys, the fact is you were completely bowled out and were not men enough to admit it. The grounds may not be up to the Peterborough crease, but your chances were as good as Millbrook's, and as for injuries said to have been received, no mention was made of such before you returned, neither were the local players aware of anything of the kind. Acknowledge the corn like men and get down to practice for a few weeks, when you may be able to put up something better, but don't cuss the grounds like a poor workman blaming his tools."

Peterborough went to Toronto yesterday, the Empire says, and met East Toronto on on the baseball grounds. They came, they saw, and were conquered by an innings and 98 runs. The visitors, however, had not their best eleven in the field, and had to play four substitutes. Houldsworth, in Peterborough's second innings, compiled 27 in good style, and was the only one of the visitors to come off. Asson was top scorer, with 64 without a chance. Attewell took 6 wickets for 7 runs, Edward Smith, 7 for 30, E. Maddocks 3 for 12, and Snyder 3 for 13. The score in reading form is:

East Toronto (186)—Snyder, b Montgomery, 13; C. Maddocks, b Montgomery, 3; Larkin, lbw, Houldsworth, 4; Attewell, pro., b Montgomery, 37; Edwards, c Collins, b Houldsworth, 2; Asson, b Horkins, 64; E. Smith, b Stocker, 34; Till, c Gordon, b Horkins, 10; G. B. Smith, c Burnham, b Horkins, 8, E. Maddocks, b Stocker, 2; Crichton, not out, 3; extras, 6.

Peterboro' (23 and 65)—Goldsmith, c Snyder, b Attewell, 0; b E. Smith, 0; Halliday, c Larkin, b Snyder, 4; b Maddocks, 7; Houldsworth, b Attewell, 0; b E. Smith, 27; Montgomery, b Attewell, 3; c Crichton, b Smith, 2; Burnham, b Attewell, 0; b Maddocks, 2; Horkins, lbw, Attewell, 0; c E. Smith, b Maddocks, 0; Collins, not out, 3; b E. Peterborough in their match to-day with Rosedale will be much stronger, says the World, as three of their best men will arrive in town this morning. They were yesterday four men short, whose places were filled by Messrs. Dr. Gordon, Collins, Holmes and Glasben, of East Toronto Club. Peterborough play one sub only to-day, Mr. E. Smith, who takes the place of Mr. Sam. Ray, the veteran being now ill.

PROF. G. M. DAVIDSON'S DEATH.

An Inquest Held Last Evening to Inquire Into the Cause of Death—Dr. King Examined—A Post Mortem Examination to be Held—The Inquest Adjourned Until This Evening.

An inquest to inquire into the cause of the death of the late Prof. G. M. Davidson, was held at the Nicholls Hospital last evening before Coroner Dr. Fife. The following jury was empannelled:

John McKee, foreman.

| | |
|---|---|
| Wm. Hicks, | H. S. Thompson, |
| Chas. Alexander, | Robt. McWhinnie, |
| J. Carey, | A. Kingscotte, |
| Geo. Wholton, | H. Newton, |
| J. McClennan, | Wm. Madill, |
| Wm. Davidson, | Chas. Westlake, |
| H. B. Meharry. | |

After the jury had been empannelled they retired to view the body in the vault. On examination of the head there was found a lacerated and ragged cut on the left side of the head about three-quarters of an inch to the left of the parietal region. The jury then returned to the reception room of the hospital where the inquest was held.

Dr. King was the first witness examined. I was called to Ormond & Walsh's after 6 p. m. on Wednesday to see a man who was injured by the street railway. On going there I found a man lying insensible in the store of Ormond & Walsh. On making an examination I found a wound on the left side of the head in the parietal region, about three-quarters of an inch to the left of that region; also found blood issuing from the ear of the left side. These were the only marks on the head I could make out. I telephoned Mr. Bellegham and asked him to bring a light wagon and mattress to remove him to the hospital and then notified Dr. Fife, medical attendant at the hospital that I had sent a surgical case to that institution. On seeing the man at drug store I had very grave doubts of his recovery and was dealing with the case of a man with compression of the brain and a fracture of the base of the skull. This was the only kind of injury that could be associated with symptoms that were present. This opinion was concurred in by other medical gentlemen who examined him at the hospital. I came to hospital and assisted Dr. Fife, physician in charge, and Drs. Boucher, Bell and Goldsmith. Dressed the wound and did what was proper to be done in such a case. Considered the line of action meted out was what was necessary in a case of that nature. The cause of his death was compression of the brain and fracture of the base of the skull, as fractures of this kind, due to effusion of blood, are always fatal. The pressure on the brain appeared to be due to the effusion of the blood upon the brain or in the skull. The treatment meted out to him in the hospital was the only treatment that could be given to a case of that character.

To a juryman,—Could not say fracture was caused by car. Was not an eye witness of the scene. If it called for a post mortem they would probably find out.

The patient made no complaints. He was quite insensible. He never regained consciousness. Blood had ploughed up the cerebral matter. In reply to a question of a juryman, as to whether the deceased man's condition before he was struck would have anything to do with his being insensible, the witness said that if he had disease of blood vessels, the shock might rupture them. Did not know his condition before he was struck. I can't say anything about the man. A juryman enquired if a man was under the influence of liquor, could the blood vessels of the brain be ruptured from the effects of the fall. The doctor stated that it depended upon the severity of the injury and the condition of the blood vessels. He did not know the condition of the man before he was struck.

To Mr. Poussette, (who appeared for Street Railway)—Could not conjecture cause of accident. Might be caused by stones on the street. A car might produce the wound on the head.

This concluded Dr. King's examination.

Mr. J. Carey, a member of the jury, presented a telegram from the sister of the late Mr. Davidson, in which she requested that he be buried in Peterborough.

Considerable discussion followed as to the advisability of holding a post-mortem examination to ascertain the real cause of death. It was finally decided by a vote of the jury that Drs. King and Bell proceed with the post-mortem, and that the inquest be adjourned until 7.30 this evening in the council chamber, when the report of the post-mortem will be presented.

The remains of Prof. G. M. Davidson will in all probability be interred at four o'clock this evening.

A NOVELTY
—AT—

(From the New York Dry Goods Economist.)

"Jasper is a novelty in dress goods. It is of foreign production, popular character and reasonable price. Retailers are showing their opinion of its merits by their eager purchases, and shoppers in want of a dressy and useful gown will voice the correctness of the retailers' preparation.

Its appearance combines both a crepe and a fancy figure and embraces two figures in the same design. The material composing this fabric is entirely fine worsted yarn. The two colours found in the fabric are distinct and separate; one colour is confined entirely to the warp threads and the other colour is found only in the filling threads.

As the filling threads supply one colour and the warp threads the other colour to the fabric, so one set of threads produces one effect and the other set of threads produces the second effect in the design.

The crepe effect is caused entirely by bringing some of the warp threads on the surface and the figured effect is produced by bringing some of the filling threads on the surface. As the warp threads are of a different colour from the filling threads, the crepe effect and the figured effect are consequently of two different colours.

The crepe effect is formed by certain warp threads being raised at the proper places in the pattern for five or six picks of the loom, when that number of filling threads are thrown in under these raised warp threads. The warp threads that have been raised are next made to work in a regular weave for four picks, in which one pick of warp is bound in with one pick of filling.

The variation of the motion of the warp threads does two things. When they are raised for five or six picks they produce threads lying on the surface of the cloth like stitches from a needle, and the large number of these covering the surface of the fabric gives the crepe effect. When these warp threads are made to work in a regular weave the fabric is built up, the loose stitches producing the crepe effect are bound in and good weaving material is insured.

The figured effect is produced in a contrary method from the crepe effect. As the warp threads are raised and the filling threads thrown under them to produce the crepe, so the warp threads are depressed and the filling thrown in under them to produce the figured effect.

In the crepe the colour of the wrap threads only shows and in the figure the colour of the filling threads only shows. There is in each a contrast of pattern and of colour. The Jacquard motion of the loom produces both effects and contrasts with unerring accuracy, guided by the pattern which the manufacturer has designed.

There is no dyeing to be done to the fabric, for the coloured threads that form it give its color. After being woven, it is finished in the manner regularly employed with such goods. Its construction and material insure its giving every satisfaction to the wearer. Its pattern is popular and safe. Its colour gives two tones without being an iridescent and its crepe effect is a complement to this order of weave without actually being a crepe.

HON. C. F. FRASER DEAD

FOUND LYING IN HIS ROOM

He Had Just Returned From His First Trip as Inspector of Registry Offices —Sketch of a Life of Energy and Usefulness to the Country.

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—Hon. C. F. Fraser, ex-M.P.P., lately appointed Inspector of registry offices, died suddenly at an early hour yesterday morning. He was found lying on the floor in his chambers at the Parliament buildings by Nightwatchman Charles Peppin, and it did not require a second glance to tell the astonished watchman that Mr. Fraser was dead.

Mr. Fraser had been away from his offices for a fortnight on an inspection tour of the registry offices of northern Ontario, and after a rather rough passage arrived in Owen Sound on Thursday night at nine o'clock, whence a train brought him to the city. On his arrival here, Mr. Fraser complained to his companion, Dr. Cumberland, Inspector of Asylums and Prisons, of not feeling well after the long voyage.

At 6 o'clock in the morning, upon the arrival of the morning papers at the building, Mr. Peppin, as was usual, distributed these to the various offices. He entered Mr. Fraser's apartments, and was about to lay down the papers and go ont as usual when he noticed that the gas was still turned on. The watchman made an examination and he found Mr. Fraser lying on the floor a corpse.

Mr. Fraser, as is well known, had been ailing for some time when Sir Oliver Mowat, at the last session of the Ontario Parliament, announced that he had placed his resignation as a Minister of the Crown in the hands of the Government. Immediately after the last general elections the appointment of Mr. Fraser to the office of Inspector of Registry Offices was gazetted. This was his first trip for inspectoral purposes, and he had only made an inspection of three offices in the Lake Superior district.

The news of the sudden demise of one who until lately was so prominent a figure has created a sensation at the Parliament buildings as well as throughout the city. The flag is flying at half-mast.

His Energetic and Useful Life.

The Hon. Christopher Finlay Fraser was born at Brockville in October, 1839. He was of Celtic origin, his father being a Scotch Highlander and his mother of Irish birth and parentage. His early days were spent as an apprentice in the office of the Brockville Recorder, and from the proceeds of his earnings managed to procure an education more extended than the scant means of his parents could afford. In

HON. C. F. FRASER.

1859 he entered the office of the Hon. A. N. Richards, late Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia, and began the study of law. In 1865 he passed a creditable examination and was called to the bar and commenced to practise in Brockville, where he soon secured a good business connection.

He had always taken a deep interest in politics and in the first general election under Confederation, in 1867, he presented himself as a candidate on the Liberal side, sustaining a defeat by a small majority. Four years later he offered himself to the electors of South Grenville, but was again unsuccessful, being defeated by the late Mr. Clark. In the same year, on the death of Mr. Clark, Mr. Fraser again contested the constituency, and this time was returned. His election was protested, and tried before Sir Oliver Mowat, then on the bench, and resulted in his being unseated. He was re-elected, and entered the House the same year as Sir Oliver, who had resigned his judgeship to enter politics. Mr. Fraser's ability was soon recognized, and in less than a year he was given the portfolio of Provincial Secretary and Registrar, and in 1874 he was appointed Commissioner of Public Works, which position he held until the close of the last session.

Until 1876 Mr. Fraser continued to represent South Grenville in the Legislature, but in the latter year he was returned for Brockville, and has since sat as member for that city. During eighteen years of active political life, he served the province with zeal and ability and was a most hard-working and most efficient chief of his department. In the House he was a ready and powerful speaker, and alert and sometimes aggressive. He was a favorite with his political friends, and he enjoyed the esteem and good-will of the House. In private he was known to be a sincere, warm-hearted, genial and loyal friend.

Mr. Fraser as a legislator was distinguished by the broad Liberal principles he displayed in the discussion of all measures brought before the House. He prepared and successfully carried through the Act giving the franchise to farmers' sons, which was afterwards the basis of the present Manhood Franchise Act. The great work of his life, however, may be said to be the magnificent legislative buildings which stand in Queen's park as a monument to his undoubted ability and energy. The care and energy devolving upon him throughout the construction of the Parliament buildings could have been undertaken by no one but a thoroughly competent man, and the satisfactory completion of the buildings has reflected great credit on his energy and executive ability.

Mr. Fraser's last great speech was made in the House on April 24 last when he opposed the motion extending the ballot to Separate Schools. He was opposing the measure in vigorous language when he was compelled to take his seat unable to proceed.

The province at large will lament the sudden demise of one who has for so long been known for his ability and attention to the public affairs entrusted to his care.

Deceased leaves a widow and several children at Brockville, where his remains will be taken for interment.

COD FISH FREE OF DUTY.

The Renewal of the Duty in Cuba Confirmed—The Parry Sound Railway.

OTTAWA, Aug. 25.—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell has received a cable from Sir Charles Tupper stating that the Governor General of Cuba had been advised to admit Canadian and Newfoundland cod fish free of duty. This places the Canadian trade on the same terms as that enjoyed by Norway and Sweden through the treaty negotiated between that power and Spain.

The cable also announces that Sir Charles is much improved in health.

Sir Henry De Villiers, who represented Cape Colony at the intercolonial conference, has written the Minister of Trade and Commerce to state that since his return to South Africa he has become more than ever confident of the possibility of working up a considerable trade between that colony and the Dominion of Canada.

General Manager E. J. Chamberlain, of the O. A. and P. S. railway, has returned to the city, after making a trip up the line of the Parry Sound railway. He says the construction is going on rapidly, over 2,000 men being now employed on the works. Eight miles more remain to be constructed to connect Parry Sound town with the northern junction line. These eight miles will be built next summer.

The appointment of Mr. N. A. Belcourt as county crown attorney has brought about an important change in a number of law firms in the city. Mr. Belcourt has retired from the firm of Belcourt, MacCraken & Henderson, and hereafter that firm will be known as MacCracken, Henderson & MacKay, Mr. W. N. MacKay having been added to the partnership. It is understood that Mr. Belcourt is forming a partnership with Mr. F. B. Latchford and Mr. J. Ritchie.

THE ST. BARBE TRAGEDY.

Arrest of the Suspected Murderer of Farmer Myer.

MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—A special from St. Barbe, Que., says: "The suspected murderer of Theodore Myre of St. Barbe has been arrested. He was taken on a farm ten miles from the scene of the tragedy by Chief of Police Perrier. Three very important witnesses for the crown have been found.

Mass was conducted at the residence of the deceased by the parish priest. Two hundred farmers were present and the scene was a pathetic one. There is a strong feeling of dissatisfaction among the people of the district generally, complaining of the way the administration of justice has been for a number of years and is now conducted. They say the process is too tedious and expensive and that criminals are given ample time to escape before any move is taken by the authorities. The relatives and friends of the murdered man are complaining in strong terms of unnecessary delay in holding the post mortem examination and inquest, nothing apparently having been done, and the body is fast decomposing. The inhabitants state that it is a piece of bad management that no detective was placed on the case at once. The authorities at Caseville are indignant that a report should have gained currency that a drunken brawl took place there and the murder was committed there, as there was no drunken orgie and the murder actually took place some two miles from Caseville."

Canadian Steamer Seized.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 25.—The Canadian steamer Cambria, running excursions from Detroit to points in Lake Ontario and the Georgian bay country, was seized by the United States marshal on three libels, aggregating $3,500. The libelants were Mrs. H. C. Penny, Mrs. W. D. Penny and Mrs. Delano, all well-known ladies of Detroit. The boat was bonded and taken out of the marshal's hands. The ladies charge ill-treatment on the boat. They held tickets for staterooms, but found them occupied by other passengers and were unable to obtain sleeping accommodation. The captain claims that all the trouble was caused by the local agent selling tickets to more passengers than the boat could accommodate.

Protest Against Sabbath Desecration.

HAMILTON, Aug. 25.—The Sunday Observance Association will hold a public meeting in the First Methodist church on Thursday evening to protest against the desecration of the Sabbath by running of boats, cars, etc. The organization work is going on and the association is hopeful of making a successful crusade against the big corporations who violate the commandments by breaking the Sabbath day.

Young McMillan Dies of His Wounds.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Aug. 25.—William McMillan, of Wood Islands, who, with one or two others, visited the house of a crusty old bachelor named James McNeil on Wednesday night, and who was shot by the old man, lingered in great agony till yesterday when he died. He was 25 years of age, and McNeil is upwards of 75. An inquest was held last evening.

FATAL MINE DISASTER

THIRTY-SEVEN TAKEN OUT DEAD

As Many More Believed to be Entombed in the Burning Mine and May Meet the Same Fate—The Men Died From Suffocation.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 25.—A terrible catastrophe occured in the Oregon Improvement coal Co's. mines at Franklin, 34 miles from this city last evening. Already 37 dead bodies have been recovered from the mine and it known that many others are imprisoned in the fiery furnace. The number is as yet only a matter of conjecture and it is probable that none will escape.

The officials in this city are reticent and refuse to give out any information beyond the fact that the mine caught fire and that 37 dead bodies have already been removed.

The fire, it is said, caught in breast No. 62 in the sixth level. The latest report was to the effect that the fire was still raging and heroic efforts were being made to recover men known to be in the mine. A telegram from the scene states that the 37 men killed probably died from being suffocated by smoke as the bodies do not show burns of a fatal nature.

Another telegram states that the fire is thought to be out and the damage will not be so extensive as at first supposed.

EXPLOSION IN A COLLIERY.

A Man Killed, a Boy Fatally Injured, and Others More or Less Hurt.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 25.—Shortly after noon yesterday an explosion of gas took place in the workings of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company colliery at Gilberton, by which McCormick, fire boss of Shenandoah, was killed. He leaves a wife and five children.

Lewis Ball, a Polish driver boy, aged 18, was fatally injured and nine others were more or less hurt.

There were two distinct explosions. The first was heard by men at the head of the slope, and inside Foreman Leahy, who was at the top, immediately descended and was caught by the second. The explosions took place in the third of the east Buckmountain gangway between Breasts Nos. 38 and 40 where some of the victims had been at work robbing pillars.

Gilberton colliery is not considered a gaseous mine and only one accident of this kind is reported there. No account of the accident can be given by the men because those who are alive are so badly burned around the head and mouth that they cannot talk.

BABIES GROW AND REMAIN HEALTHY.

Physicians Everywhere Recommend it.

The majority of the mothers of Canada are now thoroughly convinced that Lactated Food is the best, safest and most nourishing of all infant foods ever put on the market.

After severe tests thousands of mothers have discarded other makes of food and now use only the Lactated.

Physicians strongly recommend Lactated Food at every opportunity, and many of our ablest medical writers urge its use as a perfect substitute for mothers milk.

Mrs. L. P. Smith, of Truro, N. S., writes about Lactated Food as follows:

"I have been using Lactated Food for the past seven months, for my baby with great success. When he was three months old, I stopped the use of other foods, as he was then seriously ill and weighed only ten pounds. I gave him Lactated Food only, and now, at the age of ten months, he is well and hearty, and weighs twenty-five pounds."

A MIGHTY WORK.

Families Made Happy.

HOMES ARE CHEERED AND BRIGHTENED.

Paine's Celery Compound Carries Blessings to Old and Young.

A Wonderful Cure in Coldbrook, N. S.

A Case That Was Pronounced Incurable.

The Sufferer Saved From a Dark Grave.

The Cured Man Praises Paine's Celery Compound Every Day.

Father, mother, sisters and brothers should all feel an interest in making home happy, bright and joyous.

Home cannot be a bright and happy spot while some loved one is laid low with disease and suffering.

There always prevails much anxiety, doubt and fear, for the safety of the sufferer. The trusted family physician may be doing his utmost to banish pain and disease but his efforts are too often vain and fruitless.

Into all afflicted homes Paine's Celery Compound comes like a bright angel of mercy. As soon the great healing medicine is used, hope is revived, faith strengthened, faces look brighter and everyone interested feels that heaven has sent an agent of life that cannot fail.

No living mortal can estimate the blessings that Paine's Celery Compound has bestowed upon Canadian homes. The work of life-saving wrought by the great medicine is marvelous and astounding; the record of cures will endure forever.

Every day bright and telling testimony is sent from all sections of our Dominion declaring that Paine's Celery Compound saved and cured, after other means had utterly failed.

One of the very latest cures reported, is that of Mr. John A. Church, of Coldbrook, N. S.

Here we have an array of solid facts that speak in thunder tones of warning, and at the same time they are calculated to inspire every despairing heart with true hope and comfort.

Here we have a man who suffered in pain and agony for long months, spent all his money for medicines that could not cure, and who was given up to die.

Mr. Church accidentally heard of Paine's Celery Compound, and made use of it; the medicine restored and renewed his life.

Mr. Church tells his story as follows:

"It is with pleasure that I give testimony in favour of your marvellous remedy Paine's Celery Compound. In the spring of 1892, I had an attack of La Grippe, which put me into such a condition that I could not sleep or eat. I was completely run down, had extreme nervous prostration, and lay for days in a half stupified state.

"After spending all my money for medicine which did little good, I gave up to die, when one day a paper on Paine's Celery Compound was brought to me. I at once procured the medicine, and derived great relief from the first bottle. I slept better, ate better, and digestion improved. After using nine bottles I felt like a new man. I can truly say that Paine's Celery Compound snatched me from the grave, and gave me a new lease of life.

"I earnestly urge all sufferers to use Paine's Celery Compound, feeling sure it will cure them. Do not spend your money for medicines that cannot cure you."

Child Killed by a Train.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 25.—Nellie Packard, about 12 years of age, of Niagara Falls Centre, while walking up the Michigan Central tracks between Clifton and the Falls was struck by the M. C. R. work train on the curve about midway between the two places and run over, her little body being badly mangled. Death was instantaneous.

Tug Sunk by a Steamer.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., Aug. 25.—The steamer Fayette Brown, coal laden and bound up, crashed into the tug Cheney tied up at the north pier below the locks yesterday. The tug was crushed and sunk in 16 feet of water. Her owners claim she is a total loss. The Cheney was valued at six thousand dollars.

Postoffice Destroyed by Fire.

HALIFAX, Aug. 25.—A disastrous fire occurred at Great Village, Colchester county yesterday. A building owned by J. M. Blaikie and used as a post office, with all its contents, excepting money and registered letters, was completely destroyed. The origin of the fire is supposed to be the work of burglars.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Aug. 25.—Walter Hogg, of Wilmot Valley, a middle-aged farmer in good circumstances, went out to the field where his bull was tethered, yesterday, and the animal turned on him and gored him to death.

Active Exercise

and good food in plenty, tends to make children healthy. If children suffer, however, from Scrofulous, Skin or Scalp Diseases—if their blood is impure and pimples or boils appear, they should be given the right medicine. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery brings about the best bodily condition. It purifies the blood and renders the liver active as well as builds up health and strength. Puny, pale, weak children get a lasting benefit and "a good start" from the use of the "Discovery." It puts on wholesome flesh, and does not nauseate and offend the stomach like the various preparations of Cod liver oil. It's guaranteed to cure you, or your money is returned.

SEEKING THE FOE.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Yokohama correspondent of the Times telegraphs: "The Japanese fleet is patrolling the China sea seeking the enemy and trying to prevent the rice tribute from going north. The Japanese troops in Corea are estimated at from 35,000 to 50,000."

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The despatch to the Central News from Shanghai stating that James Wylie, a Scotch missionary, had been murdered by Chinese soldiers at New-Chwang is confirmed by later advices. These advices assert that the attack upon Mr. Wylie was unprovoked. The missionary was clubbed, kicked and stabbed to death in the public street. A demand was made upon the authorities that the persons concerned in the commission of the crime be turned over to a civil magistrate, but the officials refused to surrender the guilty parties. The British residents of New-Chwang will, it is stated, petition their Minister to send a war vessel to the scene of trouble.

It is also asserted that the report of severe fighting at Ping Yang is without foundation. The only engagement that has occurred there has been an attack upon a Japanese picket by a small detachment of Chinese cavalry.

The Central News has advices from Shanghai to the effect that a Tokio despatch received there states that a small detachment of Japanese scouts met a force of Chinese at Chungho on the 17th inst., and in the engagement that ensued five of the scouts were wounded and a lieutenant was killed.

THE TRANSVAAL REBELLION.

CAPETOWN, Aug. 25.—Advices received here from Pretoria, dated August 7, say that the unexpected submission of Chief Malaboch has been joyfully received throughout Transvaal.

The details of the chief's surrender show that Malaboch, under cover of a white flag, accompanied by his brother, his two young sons and four Indunas, emerged from the caves in which they had sought refuge and surrendered to the Boers. But the chief did not surrender until his enemies had employed every means, including the smoke of large fires, to drive him from his place of refuge.

The chief was very downcast after his surrender and twice attempted to commit suicide by plunging into the camp fire. Upon both occasions he was rescued with great difficulty and was badly burned. While Chief Malaboch and his party were being escorted to the laager of the Boers, one of the Indunas was shot while attempting to escape.

Dr. E. A. Rose Disappoints the Doubters—He Once had Diabetes, but has it no More—Attending to his Big Practice.

PORTLAND, Ont., Aug. 20.—The account which appeared in many Canadian papers a few months ago of Dr. E. A. Rose having been cured of diabetes by Dodd's Kidney Pills, attracted widespread attention at the time. Many doubters, though, protested that the cure was not a permanent one. The best proof that these doubters were wrong is the fact that for a year back Dr. Rose has been attending to his practice which has always been a large one, in this village and the surrounding country, and has never had any return of the disease. His health is first-class and the doctor is not compelled to take any of the precautions as to diet or otherwise that are always ordered for people threatened or troubled with diabetes.

For Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Cramps, Colic, Diarrhœa, Dysentery and Summer Complaint, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is a prompt, safe and sure cure that has been a popular favorite for over 40 years.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Horticultural Show.

The annual exhibition of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society will take place in the Market Building, on Thursday afternoon and evening, 30th inst. Those interested in exhibiting should note date, and the general public will no doubt patronize the exhibition, which is expected to be one of the most successful yet held in Peterborough. 2d

Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late Prof. G. M. Davidson took place yesterday afternoon, from the Nicholls Hospital, to the Little Lake cemetery. The floral offerings sent by the friends of deceased, literally covered the casket, and consisted of crosses, wreaths, crowns and other floral tokens. The services at the grave and at the hospital were conducted by Rev. A. MacWilliams. Mr. James Carey, who had charge of the funeral, is deserving of the warmest praise. He arranged the funeral and looked after the burial of the unfortunate man, and assisted in raising aid from the friends of the deceased to give him a suitable funeral.

Attractions For Everybody.

Arrangements are perfected for one of the grandest days in the history of Peterborough—Monday, Sept. 3rd, 1894. Besides an unusually attractive programme of athletic sports, bicycle and horse races, etc., the committee have secured the services of Simons & Connors, Peterborough's favourites, LaBell Bros., the renowned acrobats, tight rope and slack wire artists, and trapezists, who have exhibited before immense audiences in all the leading cities and towns in Canada and the United States; also a battalion of well-drilled school boys, in an exhibition of military movements, under the direction of Sergt-Major Rundle; calesthenic exercises by a class of young ladies, and other special features. The Fire Brigade Band will be in attendance. Admission to driving park, 25c. Children 15c. Special rates have been secured on railways and steamboats. 1d

At the Opera House.

It was a small audience that assembled at the opera house last evening to witness the production of D'Enney's famous drama, "The Two Orphans," but those who were present witnessed an excellent presentation of this popular play. The company is a first-class one in every respect. Mr. Fanshawe in the role of the cripple did himself credit and kept up the reputation he has achieved of having no equal in this character. Misses Flora and Mabel Frost as the two orphans were worthy of special mention and won the sympathy of the audience. The role of Picard was acceptably taken by Mr. W. W. Powers, whose delineation of this character was well received. One of the features of the evening was the singing of Miss Mabel Frost, who has a remarkably sweet voice and gives promise of becoming quite a star. Miss Irene Duckett in her singing also received merited applause. The costumes of last evening are also worthy of mention, being rich and very suitable to the characters. The company present "Peck's Bad Boy" this afternoon and the new version of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" this evening.

The Glorious Climate of California.

The many friends in town of Mr. Geo. Chrowe, who was at one time employed as drug clerk at Ormond & Walsh's drug store, will be pleased to learn that he is rapidly recovering from his pulmonary troubles. From a letter received by his brother, Wm. Chrowe, it is learned that after he had left Canada he went to Denver, Col., to seek health and strength, but the climate not being suitable he left there for Albuquerque, New Mexico. He remained here only six weeks, the climate in this locality failing to improve his condition. He next journeyed to San Barnindo, Cal., and from there to Redlands, in the same state, where he is at present. He writes that the climate is all that could be desired, and the doctors have strong hopes of his complete recovery. The country has also its drawbacks in the innumerable scorpions, tarantulas and snakes which infest that region. Mr. Chrowe writes that it is an uncommon thing to wake up in his tent in the morning and find a snake coiled up in the bed coverings. The many friends of Mr. Chrowe will be pleased to learn of his improving in the glorious climate of California.

PETERBOROUGH POST OFFICE.

Converted into a Government Office—The Postmaster and Staff Placed on Salaries Under Government Control

A few days ago the EXAMINER published a forecast of the action of the government in relation to the local post office, which was substantially correct, there being a little variation in details from the official action taken. Mr. James Stevenson, M. P., was in Ottawa on Friday and learned that Peterborough post office had been created a government office, the change to date from August 1st. The postmaster is put upon a fixed salary of $2,000 which will, it is said, not be increased. His assistants are also placed on salaries in proportion. The salaries are payable by the government on the 15th of each month. The income of the office is such that by this arrangement the government, that is, the people, will save from $1,500 to $2,000 per year and the salaries are more evenly distributed.

Returning From the Lakes.

The Lakefield train and Stony Lake steamer were taxed to their utmost capacity yesterday with the families of those who have been spending the school holiday term at the cottages on Stony Lake. Had it not been for the school opening the population of Stony Lake would have remained steady for a couple of weeks longer. A pleasant feature of this summer's boating on Stony Lake is the fact that no fatal accidents have had to be chronicled.

A Runaway Accident.

A runaway accident occurred this morning near Whyte's foundry. Mr. McCall and wife, of Cavan, were driving to market and when near the railway track and quite close to the foundry, the horse became frightened at a passing train and ran away. Mr. and Mrs. McCall were thrown out on the road and received severe injuries to the body. They were taken into the residence of Mr. Kennedy and medical aid summoned. Mr. McCall and wife are pretty badly shaken up.

PROGRESS IN PARK IMPROVEMENT.

Reference to the Plans for Improving "Jackson Park," the Old "Quarry" Grounds—How Art Co-operates With and Assists Nature—A Fine System of Drives—Springs, Lakes, Bathing Grounds.

Peterborough is noted for her plentifully timbered streets, nearly every one of which is abundantly provided with shade trees in more or less advanced stages of growth, but all affording a grateful shelter to pedestrian from the heat of the summer sun, and forming a restful picture for the eye to dwell upon. Travellers who have visited every part of the province say that there is no town or city in Ontario so well provided with shade trees. And in the matter of parks the same can be said; at least, if it cannot be said now, the saying will be applicable in the course of a year or two. The portion of the town north of Brock street is especially well provided with parks. We have Court House Park, Central Park, Dickson Park, and the fine system of parks—supplied by the munificence of the late Mrs. Nicholls—the Ashburnham Park, Inverlea Park, and the park at the "Quarry" now to be known as the "Jackson" Park—the maiden name of Mrs. Nicholls. This beautiful spot has this summer been subject to no little improvement in the way of fitting it up for public enjoyment. The situation of the park is generally well known. It comprises a

PLOT OF ABOUT 30 ACRES

and is rectangular in shape. It is bounded on the south by Smith street; on the north by High street and on the east by the Mill Road. From this latter it extends west to the Chamberlen estate farm, opposite the residence grounds of Mr. E. B. Edward's, "Rocklands." The natural configuration of the grounds makes the park an admirable spot for such a breathing place. Generally speaking, the two sides and front are elevated and broken by a deep and wide valley, through which the creek brawls in a gracefully sinuous course, alongside of which, runs the track of the Midland Railway. The high land at the northern part of the eastern side, dips abruptly into the valley, and the plateau on the western side, towards the northern end, descends more gradually and merges into the valley. This plateau is plentifully timbered with thrifty, second-growth pines, interspersed with some fine deciduous trees, birches, beeches, lindens and maples. The ground has been tastefully laid out by Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E., and his plan has made excellent use of the fine natural facilities. A beautiful system of drives has been laid out and in part the grading has been done, gravel applied and the drives made ready for use. There are three entrance gates—one at the eastern corner of the front; one in the valley just east of the bridge on Smith street, and one in the front, about the middle of the western plateau, facing the boundary. The drive leading from the eastern gate descends gradually into the valley and by a graceful sweep curves round the northern boundary, beyond the creek and, at the north-western part of the park, joins the western drive, which latter emerges at the westernmost gate. At this point the western drive bifurcates and trending eastward, curves so as to pass, by three or four graceful turns, through the densely shaded growth of timber, till at the north eastern end of the plateau it joins the central drive that sweeps round the base of the hill. This drive begins at the gate in the valley near the creek and running under the bluff, passes round the base of the hill, its course being parallel with the stream. At the north-western end of the plateau the drive leaves the stream line and curving to the left, climbs the hill by an easy grade till it joins the outer drive. This is a beautiful drive. On the right as one goes north the beautiful little valley, with the brook slipping among the boulders and shaded by clumps of cedar, spreads out its pretty expanse; on the left the steep acclivity of the plateau, with its green face studded with cedars and other trees, rises abruptly. Not far from the entrance gate the drive curves to the left and climbing a slight elevation, passes under the interlacing branches of a venerable cedar on the left and a spreading beech on the right. At the roots of cedar a crystal clear spring of water oozes out for which a suitable basin is to be placed. Further on to the left to join the brook in the valley, and at the northern sweep of this drive around the hill, to the right, is one of the finest, clearest and coolest springs to be found in the country. At the middle entrance gate, there is a huge basin scooped out of the hill, formed by former quarrying operations. The drive expands and encircles this basin, the central mound being planted with cedars. The scarp of the bluff-like hill that forms this basin on the north and west, is to be cleared, smoothed and planted with cedars.

SKIRTS THE FOOT OF THE HILL,

The portion remaining of the park on the eastern side of the railway track is to receive a special treatment. The retaining banks of the old mill pond remain. The dam is to be rebuilt and the result will be the formation of a little lake of irregular outline and considerable size and depth. To provide water for this, a dam will be placed in the creek, on the west side of the railway track, the dam to be capable of regulation, as required at times of high water. The basin formed by this dam will be used for bathing purposes, the place being well secluded. From this pond a pipe of sufficient size will be passed under the railway track to supply the little lake on the east side of the track. The overflow of this lake will pass off by the natural channel into the creek again. Two or three crossings are to be made over the railway track to connect the eastern and western portions and from the Mill Road, foot paths will descend into the valley on the eastern side of the park.

Of the improvements outlined the drives around the base of the plateau and through it have been graded and gravelled. The timber has all been underbrushed and all dead wood removed, and the grounds cleaned up and put down to grass. The improvement is marked and when the growth of a year or two develops the natural beauties which Mr. Belcher has so well preserved and heightened, this beautiful resort will be one of the most delightful in the town. Seats have been placed at different points and already many persons visit the park to enjoy the comforts it is so eminently calculated, by both nature and art, to afford.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE THIS MORNING.

The Grocery Store and Dwelling of Mr. Michael Collins Badly Gutted by Fire This Morning—The Contents a Total Loss—Narrow Escape From Death of the Inmates—The Brigade's Splendid Work.

This morning about half past two o'clock a fire was discovered by a passer-by in the grocery store of Mr. Michael Collins, Hunter street, near the Carew House. The firemen responded quickly to the alarm and it was not long before a stream was playing on the flames. Mr. Collins, who occupies the top flat as a residence, was awakened and had barely time to escape in his night clothes. Miss Minnie Tracey, ex-teacher in the Separate school, and Miss M. O'Donnell, of Rochester, N.Y., were visiting at the residence of Mr. Collins, and they narrowly escaped being burned to death. Miss O'Donnell was carried out of the burning building in an unconscious condition by Mr. Collins, being almost suffocated by smoke. Dr. Brennan was speedily summoned and this morning the young lady had fully recovered from the shock. Both young ladies lost all their clothing, Miss Tracey having everything in readiness to take the train this morning for Almonte, where she was to take charge of a school. Miss Tracey had also a beautiful upright piano in the parlour of Mr. Collins, and this also is completely destroyed. The contents of the store and dwelling are a total loss. The cause of the fire is a mystery, as when Mr. Collins was awakened he found the store beneath one mass of flames. The building, which is badly gutted, is the property of Mr. N. T. LePlante, and is insured. The members of the fire brigade worked like heroes and were promptly on the scene and but for their efforts the fire would have gained considerable headway. A small dog belonging to Mr. Collins perished in the flames. This morning Misses Tracey and O'Donnell found their watches and purses in the debris, their dresses having been burned but the purses and watches were uninjured. Mr. Collins' loss, it is understood, will be considerable, as there was only a small insurance on the stock.

LACROSSE.

The members of the Shamrock lacrosse club journeyed to Millbrook, yesterday, and succeeded in defeating the team of that village by a score of two to one. For the Shamrock's, Bedley and Galley were the scorers. The members of the team all showed up in good form, and made some remarkably neat playing. Natrass scored the only game for Millbrook, and the playing of the team was excellent, Millbrook having splendid material for a first class team. The Peterborough boys stated that they were treated in a gentlemanly manner by the Millbrook boys. Following are the teams:

CRICKET.

Peterborough cricketers sustained a crushing defeat at the hands of the Rosedale cricket club, Toronto, yesterday. Geo. S. Lyon, of the Rosedale, captain of the Canadian International eleven, piled up 238 runs against Peterborough and was not out even then. His bowling was also effective, taking five wickets for seventeen runs. Rosedale, during the game, only played eight batsmen, their total being 390. For Peterborough, Allison carried his bat through 25, making the highest score for the home team, Stocker coming next with 4,—the innings closing with only 47 runs.

SPRINTING.

The 100 yards dash on the P.A.A.A. grounds yesterday evening between Messrs. LeBar and Sanford, was witnessed by a large gathering. Mr. C. LeBrun acted as starter and Mr. Humphries as referee, both gentlemen giving entire satisfaction.

In the first heat Sanford started well, and was pushed well by LeBar, but the Belleville man won in about 11 seconds.

PRESSING PETERBOROUGH'S CLAIMS.

For the Proposed Military School Site.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M.P., West Peterborough, was in Ottawa on Wednesday in pursuance of his life-long policy of doing all in his power to promote the material advancement of Peterborough. He had a long interview with Hon. J. C. Patterson, Minister of Militia, urging upon him the claims of Peterborough to being selected as a site for the new military school should the Government decide, as proposed to establish another in Ontario. Mr. Stevenson pointed out to the Minister that in this matter; Kingston and London adequately represented the eastern and western portions of Ontario, and urged upon the Minister's consideration the advantages of Peterborough as occupying a central position in relation to the central and northern portions of the Province, the excellent railway facilities, the abundance of sites in healthy localities, etc. In reply the Minister said he fully recognized the claims of Peterborough to consideration in this matter, that he was personally well disposed towards giving Peterborough the school site, and would do his best to impress his views upon his colleagues in the matter, who had, of course, the deciding of the question.

Mr. Stevenson's patriotic endeavours should be backed up by the citizens generally and nothing should be left undone to influence the Government in favour of Peterborough's selection as a site of the proposed military school. In the EXAMINER of Saturday, Aug. 11th, an article appeared, which set forth at length the claims of Peterborough to the site of the school in question.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

Dr. Edgar, Medical Superintendent of the General Hospital, Hamilton, visited the Nicholls' Hospital yesterday. He expressed himself as well pleased with the situation and equipment of the hospital, and was delighted with the fine state of order in which the grounds were kept. He has gone to Burleigh for a few days' fishing.

Miss Rountree, a member of St. John's church choir, who has been suffering from typhoid fever at the Nicholls' Hospital, is improving.

Mr. Alf. Terrill, who has been nearly two months in the Nicholls' Hospital is recovering nicely from a relapse attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. Jas. Harper, who is also at the Nicholls' Hospital suffering from typhoid, is very low to-day.

A REPTILE SWALLOWED WHILE DRINKING IN THE DARK.

Excruciating Agony Suffered by Mrs. Westfall—Nerves Shattered, and Death Looked for as the Only Relief.

From the Trenton Courier.

The editor of the Courier having heard of this strange case of Mrs. Simon Westfall, made enquiry and learned the following facts: Mrs. Westfall said that one evening some three years ago she went to the well and pumping some water drank a portion. As she did so she felt something go down her throat kicking and told her mother so at the time. Little she thought of the agony in store for her through drinking water from a pump in the dark, for a female lizard found its way into her stomach and brought forth a brood. After a while the sight of milk would make her tremble and she had to give it up. The disorder increased so that the very sight of milk would produce effects bordering on convulsions. She lost her appetite but would feel so completely gone at the stomach that she had to eat a cracker and take some barley soup frequently to quiet the disturbance within. She took medicine for dyspepsia and every known stomach disease but got no relief. She changed doctors and the new doctor having had an experience of this nature before, gave her medicine to kill and expel the lizards. For three years the poor woman suffered all kinds of physical and mental agony. Her whole system, kidneys, liver and stomach were out of order. Her heart would flutter and palpitate so faintly as to be imperceptible and a smothering feeling would come over her, that it was often thought she had given her last gasp. Her memory was almost gone, her nerves shattered so that the least sudden movement would bring on collapse through extreme weakness. Sitting or standing she would be dizzy and experience most depressed feelings and lowness of spirits. After the removal of the reptiles the doctor sanctioned the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and she took three boxes, but found no apparent relief. She then gave up their use believing she was past the aid of medicine. At this time a Mrs. Haight who suffered twelve weeks with la grippe and who was completely restored by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, urged Mrs. Westfall to begin the use of Pink Pills again. She did so and soon she perceived their beneficial effects. Her appetite began to improve and for two months she has steadily gained strength, health and steadiness of nerve and memory. She can now do her household work and feels as well as ever. She says she cannot speak as strongly of Pink Pills as she would like to and feels very grateful for the great good resulting from the use of this wonderful medicine.

Mrs. Haight, before referred to, is enthusiastic over her own perfect recovery from the after effects of la grippe, feeling as well as ever she did in her life. She also corroborates the above statement regarding Mrs. Westfall's cure.

These pills are a positive cure for all troubles arising from a vitiated condition of the blood or a shattered nervous system. Sold by all dealers or by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schnectady, N. Y., at 50 cents a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. There are numerous imitations and substitutions against which the public is cautioned.

WARSAW.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A very pleasant social event took place a short time ago in our village in the marriage of Miss Lumsden, our leading dressmaker, to Mr. Marr, a shoemaker doing a good business on Water street east. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Andrews, at the residence of Mr. Lumsden, Keene. A number of the friends of the contracting parties were present. Miss Lumsden, the bride, was assisted by her sister. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Fred Calder of our village, and the presents were costly and numerous. The happy couple arrived home to the village early in the evening, where they have purchased a fine residence on Water street. During the evening a large number of the young people, including some from the leading families of the village, called to express their pleasure, and present the newly married couple with a number of beautiful presents. Mrs. Marr entertained her guests in a pleasing manner, and after a sumptuous supper the friends took their departure, expressing their best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Imitated the New York Tragedy.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 25.—Robert Howard shot Grace Rhodes through the lungs and then put three bullets into himself. They are mulattoes. Both are fatally wounded. Howard had read of the De Marcus-Fournier tragedy in New York and as the Rhodes woman spurned his affections he decided to follow the example of De Marcus.

Salvadorean Refugees on Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—The Salvadorean refugees were brought before the United States district judge yesterday on warrants charging them with murder, robbery and arson. The judge denied a motion to commit the prisoners to bail and continued the case until September 8.

Fight With Moonshiners.

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 25.—A desperate fight occurred here yesterday between Vinson Shrader, a moonshiner, and a posse of officers. As a result Police Chief Baldwin and U. S. Marshal Brown are dying and Shrader is in jail, but will probably be lynched before morning.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TORONTO, August 25, 1894.

The quantity of stock arriving at the Western cattle market was so large that all the space available both in the old and new market was filled. There were 61 carloads in all.

THE FARMERS' MARKET.—At outside points new wheat is being offered freely at 52 1-3c, while old is easier at 54 1 2c. On the street 300 bushels sold at 54c to 55c. Oats steady at unchanged prices. Some 500 bushels came in and were disposed of at from 20c to 30c. Another load of barley, the second of the season, appeared on the street. It brought 41c.

Wheat was weak in Chicago, the close being 1-4c to 1-2c lower. Corn also showed a downward tendency, cash closing 1c and May 1-8c to 1-4c lower. Oats lost 3 8c to 3-4c on the day's trading.

At St. Louis, sheep receipts were 331. Market slow. Natives, $2 to $2.20; lambs, $2.75 to $3; stockers, $1.25.

At East Liberty, Pa., the sheep supply was light. Extras, $3 to $3.20; good, $2 to $2.30; fair, $1.40 to $1.60; common, 50c to $1; yearlings, $1.50 to $3; lambs, $2 to $3.80.

The upward course of the New York stock market continues. The stocks were easily absorbed and seeing this the bull forces rallied and put back prices. The real strength of the market lies in the fact that heavy interests are taking hold with a new vigor. The bears make the contention that this interest is only making a market on which to sell stocks. The market, considered in detail, presents many interesting features.

Nothing Strange

Intelligent people, who realize the important part the blood holds in keeping the body in a normal condition, find nothing strange in the number of diseases Hood's Sarsaparilla is able to cure. So many troubles result from impure blood, the best way to treat them is through the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla vitalizes the blood.

WORKING THE I. O. O. F.

A Sharp Individual Who Has Been Doing the Order in Boston.

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 24. — Inquiry comes from Boston as to a man named Col. Allnut who has been imposing upon the I. O. O. F. order there and is now doing a term of three months for obtaining money under false pretences.

Allnutt is well known in this city. He came here about ten years ago and opened a jewellery business. He seemed to have had lots of money and spent it lavishly. He claimed to be an heir to an English estate and also that he was a Colonel in an English regiment. He took a prominent interest in society and sporting affairs. His funds gave out and when he left the city he was a veritable tramp, since then he lived by working the Oddfellows, as he he has been published a number of times.

The Liberal Leader at North Bay.

NORTH BAY, Aug. 24.—Mr. Laurier and party arrived here yesterday. A large crowd was at the station to meet them. Mr. Laurier was escorted to the town hall, where an address was read by Mr. Bunyan, mayor of the town, on behalf of the council. The hall was crowded and the reading of the address, which was non-political and welcomed Mr. Laurier, was closely listened to. Mr. Laurier's reply was very graceful and well received. After the address an informal reception took place, at which Mr. and Mrs. Laurier were introduced to a number of the citizens. In the afternoon a meeting was held in the Palace rink. Mr. McKenzie, president of the North Bay Reform Association, presided, and after a few introductory remarks called on Mr. Loughrin, Mr. Levesque and Mr. Murray, who each in brief speeches welcomed Mr. Laurier. Mr. Fisher then spoke briefly, followed by Mr. Gibson. Mr. Laurier in his address dealt mainly on the question of reciprocity and the Franchise Act and spoke of the advantages and the desirability of free trade with the United States.

Janes to be Taken to England.

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—The Englishman named Janes, who was arrested at Hamilton on July 29th by Inspector O'Leary, of the Dominion Police, for embezzling £500 from his employer at London, England, has been held in Hamilton ever since. Detective Inspector Outram, of the English force, sailed from Liverpool on July 9 and arrived in Canada about ten days later. The statute in regard to such prisoners provides that they must be held for fifteen days before being taken out of the country. This period expired on August 13, but owing to the movements of the Governor-General the warrant could not be signed promptly. When the warrant was signed and received here it was forwarded at once to Hamilton. Detective Outram will be at liberty now to take his prisoner as soon as likes.

A Hamilton Man's Suicide.

HAMILTON, Aug. 24.—D. H. Gould, who kept a shoe store on James street, near Robert street, committed suicide at noon yesterday by putting his mouth over a gas jet and inhaling gas. When discovered, Gould was too far gone to be resuscitated. Deceased was 60 years of age and was well-known throughout the city. He had lived in Hamilton for many years, having been engaged in the confectionery business as well as in the boot and shoe trade, and was reputed to be very wealthy. No reason can be assigned for Gould's rash act, but it is generally believed he was suffering from mental aberration at the time. He leaves a widow and one son.

How Lockhead Met His Death.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 24.—At the inquest into the death of James Lockhead, whose body was found at the foot of Bay St. on Sunday morning last, the jury, after hearing the evidence of Drs. Edgar and Stark who held a post-mortem examination, and other witnesses, returned a verdict that deceased had died from asphyxiation through being chocked by partially digested food getting into the breathing apparatus. Lockhead had been intoxicated on the night previous. He had no relatives in this country.

THE FAST STEAMSHIP SCHEME.

A Writer in the London Times Takes Up Mr. Huddart's Cause.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—A letter appears in the London Times over the signature of Mr. Benedict Ginsburg, in which the writer deprecates the assertions of the Messrs. Allan, of the Allan Steamship Line, that the St. Lawrence is unsafe all the year around for a fast Atlantic mail service. Mr. Ginsburg says the St. Lawrence river is not more dangerous than other parts of the ocean. He believes that a 20 knot speed could easily be maintained.

The writer believes that the Allans are endeavoring to discredit the plans of Mr. James Huddart in order to protect themselves and their slower vessels now running on the St. Lawrence route. Mr. Huddart is endeavoring to organize a strong company to take up the offer of the Dominion Government. He worked hard in pushing forward the advantages to be derived from the service, and is wrathy at the fact of its being characterized as foolish and impracticable by rival steamship owners.

Beaverton Buildings Burned.

BEAVERTON, Ont., Aug. 24.—Fire broke out yesterday in the bakery of F. McArthur and was not controlled until the office of the Beaverton Express and Oddfellows' hall, also Mr. Blueman's large brick dwelling and other dwellings, had been consumed.

Canadian Medical Association.

HALIFAX, Aug. 24.—At the meeting of the Canadian Medical Association yesterday, Dr. Wm. Bayard, of St. John, was elected President. The meeting next year will be held at Kingston, Ont.

Nature Has Provided

A remedy for every ache and pain, and science through ceaseless activity and experiment is constantly wresting the secrets of her domain. A new and wonderful discovery has recently been made by means of which tens of thousands will be freed from pain. Nerviline, or nerve pain cure, represents in very concentrated form the most potent pain relieving substitutes known to medical science, and strange to say, it is composed of substances solely vegetable in origin. Polson's Nerviline is the most prompt, certain, and pleasant pain remedy in the world. Try Nerviline for toothache, neuralgia, cramps, &c., always safe and efficient.

THE AMERICAN TARIFF.

Another Clerical Error Discovered in the Wool Schedule.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Special deputy collector Conch will again go to Washington to-morrow to lay before the Secretary of the Treasury another conundrum which has been discovered at the custom house here in the new tariff bill.

It relates to the wool schedule and is found in section no. 2,897. This reads: The reduction of the rates of duty here-in provided for manufactures of wool shall take effect on Jan. 1, 1895.

In the woollen schedule just before woollen and worsted yarns, knit fabrics, shawls, etc., made wholly or in part of wool and worsted hair of goats and alpaca are mentioned and the custom house officials here want to know whether the phrase "The rates of duty here in provided for manufactures of wool" shall be construed as a general phrase applicable to the wool schedule or only to manufactures of wool as distinguished from manufactures of worsted goat hair or alpaca. The latter interpretation would be far-reaching, these officers say. If the phrase limits wool, a portion of the wool schedule would become operative as soon as the bill became a law; that is, manufactured worsted, goat and alpaca hair, etc., would not have to wait until January 1, 1895, to be admitted into this country under the rates that the new bill would establish.

A Chicago Broker Suicides.

Chinese and Jap Laborers Fight.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—A news agency of this city has received information from Honolulu to the effect that trouble has arisen between the Chinese and Japanese laborers employed in Hawaii and that several fights have occurred. The trouble is the result of the Chinese-Japanese war.

Ten Miners Buried.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—A Recorder special from Durango, Mexico, says: In the Lamieronero district, southeast of this city, a cave-in occurred in one of the mines, burying ten miners. Six of the men were rescued alive, but the others were dead when found.

PALATABLE DISHES.

Corned Beef.—If very salt, soak over night; if not, wash off the brine and cover well with cold water. Should not boil, but simmer slowly from four to six hours, according to the size of piece.

Apple Float.—Pare and core six good ripe apples, put on to steam until tender, then press through a sieve and set aside to cool. When cold, add a cup of sugar and the juice of a lemon. Beat the whites of six eggs very stiff and add the apples a spoonful at a time. Serve immediately in glasses.

Popovers.—Beat two eggs together, add half a pint of milk and a dust of salt, then slowly add a half-pint of sifted flour, stirring all the time, make very smooth so there are not any lumps; grease the gem irons and keep them hot, then fill half full and bake in a moderate oven half an hour or more. Do not have the oven too hot at first.

Elder pickle is made of the tender young shoots of the elder tree. These are peeled, soaked for twelve hours in a strong brine, then drained and boiled in a spiced vinegar made in the proportions of two quarts of vinegar to two ounces of root ginger, two tablespoonsful of whole peppers and the same of allspice. Pour this vinegar boiling hot over the elder shoots and leave them for a week, when they will be ready for use.

THE HARRISON CASE.

More Serious Than Was at First Suspected—At Times He Was Prostrated by His Sufferings—Now He is Cured.

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 13. The case of Richard Harrison, mentioned in these columns last week, was a more serious one than appeared at first sight. He was afflicted for some years with backache, the direct result of kidney disease. In damp weather especially his sufferings were intense, and frequently prevented his doing any work. To an active, energetic man, such an affliction was most grevious and he tried many alleged remedies without relief. J. D. Tully, the well known druggist here, recommended Dodd's Kidney Pills, which Mr. Harrison used and is now thoroughly cured. He only regrets that he did not use Dodd's Kidney Pills before, for he knows that if he had he would have been well long ago.

The Verdict of the Coroner's Jury Last Evening—Death Caused From Fracture of the Skull—The Recommendations of the Jury.

The adjourned inquest inquiring into the cause of the death of the late Prof. G. M. Davidson, was held in the Council Chamber, last evening, before Coroner Dr. Fife. Mr. A. P. Poussette was present in the interests of the Street Railway and examined the witnesses. Jas. Tully was the first witness:—I am employed at Gough's Bros. Was on the street, saw the man fall, did not see what way he was going. Was bringing in the goods. The car was crossing in front of China Hall. Fell head towards east. Fell straight back on his head. Car was not going at full speed. They stopped the car about length of itself.

Frank Mercer, sworn, said:—I knew deceased to see him. Saw the accident on Wednesday evening. I was standing in store door, about 150 feet from accident. I saw car No. 7 going north. Motorman was getting it under control. Car was not going fast. Motorman was applying brake when I saw him. Deceased, when I saw him, was coming on to the track from west side of George street. He was pretty close to car which was then moving. The motorman was pulling on brake when Mr. Davidson was crossing the track. He got on next rail before he was struck. Seemed as if car struck him on the right shoulder. When car struck him it gave him a half turn and he fell on his back. He fell in the direction facing Ormond & Walsh's drug store. Could not tell if his head struck the ground. I think the car gong was ringing. It did ring before the car struck him.

To a juryman—Deceased seemed to take his time crossing the track. Did not realise his danger.

Wm. Robinson, sworn, said: I was motorman on car No. 7, on evening of accident. The car was going north at the time, 6:25 p.m. I did not know the deceased personally. He was opposite Matthew's pork packing house when I saw him first. Did not notice him again until I reached crossing near Kingan's. A lady hailed the car on the east side and I told her to cross. Davidson was on the west side when I next saw him. The brake was partly set. I then pulled brake up and reversed the car. Deceased was about ten feet from crossing when I saw him the second time. The car went barely half the length of itself after it struck Mr. Davidson. It was not all clear of south crossing. Was ringing gong at the time. Kept gong ringing about 10 feet until we got over crossing. Rang it very hard on this occasion—more than usual. Car No. 7 responds quickly to the brake—better than the other cars. Davidson was moving slowly when I saw him. Would be no difficulty for a sober man to get clear of the car. The reason the car was running slowly, was that we always slow up before we come to south side of crossing. That is the orders. The car was at Times office when we turned off the power. Mr. Davidson was on the north side of crossing when he was struck. Was beyond the last rail. It struck him in the right shoulder, swinging him around on his heel. Was on his back when I got off the car and went to him. Was the first person to go to him. I asked several parties to help me to carry him into the drug store. I noticed broken stones on the road where blood was.

To a juryman,—He had plenty of time to get across. A man going on business would have crossed two or three times. The north-east corner of car struck him on the shoulder. He never made any sign that he realized his danger.

Dr. King, recalled, presented the report of the post mortem examination as follows:—

To Jos. Fife, M. D., Coroner and Jury:

In accordance with instructions received at the inquest held at the Nicholls Hospital last evening on the body of G. M. Davidson, the undersigned this day have held a post mortem examination and beg leave to report as follows:

In addition to the external injuries described last evening, on opening skull we found large quantities of liquid and clotted blood, principally on the right side, over surface of brain and beneath coverings caused by the rupture of one or more blood vessels. On removal of brain, we found a fracture of the skull, commencing on the left side and extending downwards and inwards to the centre of its base. On opening body we found lungs engorged with blood, particularly light. Heart, slight deposit of fat on surface; otherwise healthy. Liver, enlarged, pale in colour; gall bladder full; spleen somewhat contracted; kidneys healthy. Other organs show no changes of importance. The autopsy showed that deceased died from a fracture of the base of the skull with concussion, followed by compression of brain, which compression was caused by extravasated blood from one or more blood vessels.

RICH. KING, M. D. C. M.,
R. W. BELL, M. D. C. M.

Peterborough, Aug. 24th, 1894.

Albert Manning sworn, said was on the back end of car on the the last side when accident took place. I saw Mr. Robinson working hard at the brake. The car stopped and I saw motorman jump off. The conductor jumped off and I followed him and saw the deceased on the ground. Car was moving very slowly at the time. The gong was rung all the way up street. Deceased was lying on his back when I saw him. I helped to raise his shoulders and head off the ground. I noticed cut on side of his head when I lifted him up; also blood on the ground. Could not say if there was any stones on the ground.

Thos. Calver, sworn, said. I am conductor on car No. 7. It was between 6:20 and 6:25 when the accident occurred. The car was going very slowly when accident occurred.

Was slowing up to stop at other side of crossing. Got orders to stop. The gong was rung before we came to the crossing quite a while. Did not see deceased before the accident. First I noticed him was after the car stopped. He was on his back, I carried him into drug store. Next morning I noticed blood and sharp stones where he fell.

To a juryman—Did not see car strike him. The car did not go quite length of itself. Did not notice lady hail car. Conductor stops car to let passengers off. Motorman stops car to let them on, and watches for passengers on both sides of the street.

Wm. McCallum, sworn, said: Saw Mr. Davidson about 6.15. Came into my place for pork and beans. Appeared very stupid. Did not seem to realize what he was doing. He was inclined to go to sleep. I shook him up and told him to go and get rested. He started to go out the door. He did not seem to realize that he had anything to eat when I asked him for money. He paid me for what he got. He seemed to be under the influence of liquor. He gave me the correct money. Did not see him after he left me. Saw him under the influence of liquor two or three days before accident. He would come in once in a day quite often for something to eat. He seemed more stupid on this occasion than ever before. He appeared to be rather deaf at times, whether from liquor or natural causes, I cannot say.

David Lackie, sworn, said,—Have seen Mr. Davidson several times. Saw him about six o'clock that evening in reading room of Grand Central. Appeared to be drowsy. Appeared to be having something to drink. I spoke to him and told him to wake up. He went to the door, wiped his face with handkerchief, and next place I saw him, was on opposite side of street. He walked fairly steadily. I was in my door when deceased was passing in front of the car. Could not tell how far he was from car when in front of it. The car was going slow, but did not notice if gong was ringing. Car did get all the way over the crossing. That was all I saw.

The foreman thought at this juncture that the evidence of the different witnesses examined seemed to be of the same nature, and it was decided to give the case to the jury.

Mr. A. P. Poussette and coroner Dr. Fife, briefly addressed the jury dealing with the evidence submitted. The jury then retired, and after an hour's deliberation returned with the following unanimous verdict:—

"That he came to his death from fracture of his skull, caused by being struck and knocked down by an electric car belonging to the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Co., on Wednesday, August 22nd, at the corner of George and Simcoe streets, while he was under the influence of liquor. We exonerate the railway company from all blame and would recommend that in future they permit their motormen to attend only to the motor and brakes and not to direct passengers. We would also recommend that guards be placed in front of cars.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago, it would have saved me $200.00 and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body, and got under my nails. The scales would drop off me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring-worm, psoriasis, etc. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was $5 worth. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture (No. 2, page 47) in your book, "How to Cure Skin Diseases," but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and limbs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me.
